at the State House, and give attention to his combined duties of postmaster and protector of the people against the encroachments of the politicians upon the popular prerogatives.

Great Fire at Gorham.

The fire at Gorham, Monday afternoon, was the most serious one that ever occurred there; it broke out in a barn at about 12:30 o'clock, and before it was got under control the business portion of the town was destroyed, seventeen business firms being burned out; the post office and Mountaineer printing office, and the Grand Trunk railroad depot and sheds, were also burned, and thirty families were rendered homeless. Total loss about $50,000; insured about one-half. A special train from Portland, ninety-one miles away, arrived with five fire engines on board in time to do good service in quenching the fire in the coal sheds of the railroad.

The Army Appropriation Bill Vetced.

President Hayes on Tuesday sent his veto message on the army appropriation bill to the House, but owing to the death of Congressman Clark the House adjourned without reading the message—which is a "stalwart" document.

Remarkable Rescue.

By the caving-in of a coal mine at Wilkesbarre, Pa., last week, six men were imprisoned, and with them a boy who bravely went into the mine a long way to warn them of their danger, after the ground had commenced falling at the entrance. Rescuing parties at once set to work to sink a new shaft, and kept at it day and night, notwithstanding that the whole ground seemed alive, and the work was prosecuted only at the greatest peril; and on Monday morning the imprisoned persons were released, after a confinement of five days and a half. When the relief party reached them, a portion of the men were found cooking a breakfast of mule steaks, taken from a mule which the boy who was sent to warn the men of the impending disaster had fortunately taken with him, and which was killed on the second day of their confinement. The balance of the party were engaged in changing the direction of an air course. A stream of water running through the mine quenched their thirst. They were found in good condition, having suffered very little from confinement.

They Have Been Invited.

An exchange says: "The Philadelphia Times is of the opinion that the west can give employment to hundreds of thousands of industrious negroes in tilling the soil, and if the south can invite the northern capitalists, mechanices and operatives to fill the gaps made by the negro exodus, both races in the south will be much advantaged by the change." But something more than a southern invitation to northern capitalists, mechanics and laborers is needed, and that is—the acceptance of the invitation by the northern people. The fact is that the south has been inviting northern immigation for years, but as yet with little effect, the average mechanic and laborer of the north having a prejudice in favor of voting as he pleases without having his brains blown out or his back scarred with the bull-whip, and of having his vote counted after it is cast. A just enforcement of the laws is the only effectual invitation the south can extend to northern men.

The Rival Navies.

The declaration of war between Chili and Peru makes the following statement of the effective naval force of each a matter of interest:

Peru has the iron-clad frigate Independencia, mounting one 300-pounder, two 150-pounders and twelve 70-pound guns; the Huascar, a turreted ram, carrying in the turret two 300-pounders, and two deck 40-pounders; the monitors Manco Copac and Atahualpa, each with two 500-pound Rodman guns; the wooden corvette Union, with twelve 70-pounders in her battery; the Telcomayo, a fast gunboat, with two 70-pounders and two 40-pounders; and several transport steamers and sailing ships.

The Chilian navy consists of the iron-clad frigates Admiral Cochrane and Blanco Encalada, each with six 300-pound guns in casemate; the wooden corvette Chacabuco, with nine 150-pounders, 70-pounders and 40-pounders; the Esmeralda, with twelve 68-pounders; besides two small gunboats, one (the Magellanes) mounting four 7-pounders, and the other (the Covadonga) two 150-pounders.

The Peruvian navy is said to be manifestly superior in the matter of officers.

A Love Affair.

Southern statesmen are very much disgusted with the contemptuous comments of the northern press on the recent demonstration of the ex-rebel Colonel Lowe, and with the ridicule which his "posting" of Gen. Logan as a coward has called forth; neither do they quite relish the remarks made about "the code" and those who can be bullied into submitting to its ridiculous requirements. Gen. Logan's personal courage has been proved on too many occasions for his reputation to suffer now from the attacks of an absurd blatherskite like Lowe, and his contemptuous ignoring of the latter's silly bombast shows that he is a sensible man as well as a fearless one. Even the thoroughly partisan Washington Post has had a fit of common sense on this occasion, and says: "The best thing for Col. Lowe to do is not to challenge Gen. Logan to fight a duel, nor post him as a coward, but go and prove what he has said about him to be true."

News and Notes.

Congressman Rush Clark, of Iowa, died suddenly at Washington on Monday afternoon. He was in his seat in the House on Saturday, and was not taken ill until three o'clock Monday morning. Mr. Clark was a republican, and a member of the last Congress.

In Rockville, R. I., Saturday, Spalding Coon, fifty-five years old, shot his wife through jealousy, and was arrested by his son. The woman, who is probably fatally hurt, bears a good character, while her husband is a hard case.

W. C. Cassebohn, first assistant city treasurer of San Francisco, committed suicide Monday afternoon, shooting himself through the head. He left a note addressed to the coroner, stating he had been led into stock speculations by Alex. Austin, late city tax collector, who also suicided, a defaulter to a large amount; that he had lost $35,000 in speculation; had used up $20,000 of the city's money to cover margins, and being unable to make it good, saw no resort but to follow Austin's example. The deceased was a native of Germany, and aged fifty years.

The official report to the Persian government of the earthquake at Miaoch on the 22d of March says that twenty-one villages were totally destroyed, and 922 persons, 2660 sheep, 1125 oxen, 124 horses and 55 camels were killed.

Saturday evening, four boys were rowing a boat on the river at Abercorn, Quebec, when the strong current carried them over the falls, and one was drowned.

An exodus of the French population from Canada has commenced. Every train from Sorel, Quebec, is laden with old and young, going to factories in New Hampshire and Massachusetts to seek employment.

At a school exhibition in Edenton, N. C., Friday evening, a coal-oil lamp was capsized, setting the place on fire. A panic among the children and older people ensued, during which many children were trampled upon and several fatally injured. The fire was fortunately extinguished by a few cooler-headed people.

Captain Boyton arrived at New Orleans on Saturday, after his long swim down the Mississippi.

Mrs. Pearce, wife of the postmaster of Bristol, R. I., made two ineffectual attempts to commit suicide on Monday. Her husband was mysteriously shot in the head while asleep in bed one morning last week.

A special term of the court in Franklin county, Ky., has been called to try Thomas Buford, who shot Judge Elliott in the street, for the crime of murder. Buford belongs to a "first family," yet it is possible he may be punished, as his victim was also highly connected and his family influential. Buford had better have confined his enterprise to the killing of niggers and white republicans.

William and Rebecca Hanson of Tioga county, N. Y., have just received tidings of a daughter who donned male attire and ran away from home twenty years ago to escape the importunities of a boorish lover whom her parents commanded her to marry. She served as cook for some time on the lakes and the Mississippi river, and in 1861 she enlisted in the Union army, was made sergeant in 1863 and served under General Thomas in 1864. After the war was over the captain of her company, who had discovered the secret of her sex in some way, made her an offer of marriage, which she accepted, and went with him to Cuba, where they have been for some years raising sugar cane and children.

Joseph Strader of Middletown, N. Y., a dwarfed hunchback, who kept a little store in the town of Wawayanda, N. Y., was found Monday morning dying in bed, over the store, which had been robbed. He was apparently drugged, and died two hours after.

Gen. James P. Brownlow, late a cavalry officer in the federal army, and son of ex-Senator Brownlow, died at his mother's residence at Knoxville, Tenn., April 26th.

George S. Barnard died in New York city on the 27th of April, at the age of fifty years. He was elected recorder of that city by the democrats in 1857; in 1860 he was elected justice of the supreme court of the State by the Tammany-Tweed ring, and was re-elected in 1868. An unscrupulous partizan and utterly unprincipled man, his judicial powers were shamefully prostituted, and his corruption was so glaringly open that he was kicked off the bench in 1872 at the end of an impeachment trial. He was a worthy coadjutor of Cardozo and McCunn; three more worthless scoundrels than the trio named never disgraced the bench of any State of the American Union, and it is safe to say never will.

AROUND HOME.

The next annual meeting of the York County Agricultural society will be held in Berwick, Me., September 23d, 24th and 25th. The towns of Somersworth and Rollinsford, in this State, will be invited to participate in the exhibition.

A platform car was thrown from the track of the Eastern railroad on the bridge at Newburyport, at eight o'clock Monday evening, by the breaking of a transon bolt, and in consequence the Pullman train was two hours late on its arrival in this city.

If any of our readers have a copy of the annual report of the Secretary of the Navy for the year 1865, which they do not care to keep, we should be glad to receive it for a naval officer who writes to us for that purpose, and to remunerate the owner for the book.

The Boston Post of Tuesday says: "Charles H. Dalton has resigned his position as director of the Eastern railroad, but the resignation has not been accepted. It is is not improbable that Hon. Willard P. Phillips or Hon. Frank Jones will be invited to take the presidency as the successor of Gen. Rockwell."

The schooner Lizzie M. Stewart, formerly of this port but some time ago sold to parties in Nova Scotia, sailed from Yarmouth, N. S., on the 15th of February last, bound for Barbadoes with a cargo of dried fish, lumber, etc., and not having since been heard of is supposed to be lost with all hands. She registered eighty-ty-six tons, and carried a crew of six men.

The Maine Methodist Conference has made the following ministerial appointments for this vicinity: Kittery Navy Yard, W. W. Baldwin; Kittery, (to be supplied); South Eliot, R. H. Kimball; Eliot and Scotland, G. R. Wilkins; York, D. B. Randall; Ogunquit, A. Cook; Maryland Ridge, Isaac Lord; Kennebunk, John Cobb; Kennebunk Depot, W. B. Bartlett; Kennebunkport and Cape Porpoise, B. Freeman; Goodwin's Mills, James Trask; Berwick, J. A. Cerey; South Berwick, G. F. Cobb.

The Granite State base ball club of this city have organized for the coming season, and will play their first game with a picked nine at the Plains, Thursday afternoon, May 1st. In the evening they will have a benefit, in the shape of a social hop, at Mechanics' hall, Metcalf's quadrille band having kindly volunteered their services. This will positively be their last dance. The socials given by them during the past winter were well attended and appreciated. The boys have a good team and are now ready to receive challenges from any and all clubs wishing to try them.

NON-RESIDENTS.
Ex-Gov. E. A. Straw, Manchester	$60 55
Thomas Cummings, Boston	33 00
Heirs James H. Dow, Portsmouth	34 60

Non-residents pay $460.16 of the whole amount ($5000) to be raised this year by the town. The rate of taxation is $1.10 on $100, exclusive of highway tax, forty-four cents on the same amount—which is a labor tax to all who are disposed to cancel it in that way.

There are 309 taxable polls in town, and twenty not subject to that tax, there being that number of voters over seventy years of age. There are 6400 acres of land, which with the buildings thereon are rated at $370,836; 267 horses are valued at $15,705, and 86 oxen at $3920; 479 cows and young stock are put down as being worth $9822, while 92 sheep have $368 set against them; there are 12 hogs at $60, and 56 dogs—which are not valued at all, but pay a tax of one dollar each. There is $15,850 stock in national banks, and $18,550 in money. The mills in town are taxed for $1440, and 60 carriages for $4825. Stock in trade is set down at the modest figures of $1650, which may lead some to infer that the half-dozen stores in town don't keep much of a stock on hand, even if they do a thriving business.

Now that the taxes are all made out, it will be perfectly safe for those who, for some reasons or other, have failed to hand in their "iron-clad inventory," to present them, as their taxes will not probably be increased this year at least.

Miss Elzada M. Goss will teach the west school this summer, Miss Sarah A. Goss the center school, and Miss Mary E. Odiorne the east school—all Rye girls. At the south district there seems to be a hitch somewhere, so that the matter of a teacher remains in abeyance; it is to be hoped that our friends in that "wealthy" district will not remain so divided as to cause any serious check to the cause of education.

C. D. Garland, Esq., one of our selectmen, has opened a grocery store at his residence, about half-way between the centre and Greenland depot. With six stores in full blast, and three bread and grocery wagons on the road, it is safe to predict that there need be no apprehension felt at present of a famine in those articles.

The snow has about all disappeared, and the roads are hard. Mosquetoes have appeared, and the farmers have been ploughing and planting for a week past. NAT.

RICE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The trustees of the Rice Public Library of Kittery, Me., held their annual meeting on Tuesday.

The report of the secretary shows the number of books added the past year to be three hundred and sixteen. There have also been selected from the library of the late Daniel Austin one hundred and sixty-four volumes of valuable books, which since the close of last year have been added to the library. Nine hundred and fifty persons have taken 21,750 books from the library the past year. The whole number of books at present in the library is 1592.

The report of the treasurer shows the principal fund, $30,000, to be well invested, as is $1625 of accumulated income.

The receipts last year were	$13,575.87
Investments and expenditures	13,303.21
Balance in treasury	$272.56
The income the past year was	$1922.00
Less accrued interest on investments	205.27
Net income	$1656.73
Expenditures	$1319.31
Balance	$337.42

The reports were accepted and the usual appropriations of the accruing income, were voted.

Hon. Ichabod Goodwin was re-elected president. Gov. Goodwin was then chosen treasurer, in place of the late Wm. H. Y. Hackett, but declined to accept that office. Ephriam C. Spinney, Esq., of Kittery, was then elected. William H. Hackett was elected secretary.

A ballot was then had for a trustee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett, and Rev. Joel Wilson was unanimously chosen. The meeting then adjourned.

Mr. Wilson, the new trustee, is a native of Kittery, and has always taken a deep interest in the welfare of the library.

NEWTON.

Charles P. Smith, of Portsmouth, administrator of the estate of Zadoc H. Smith, late of Newton, to James B. Kimball, of Newton, land and buildings, $900.

The Blessing of Strong Nerves

Is recoverable, not by the use of mineral sedatives, but by a recourse to effectual tonic treatment. Opiates and the like should only be used as auxiliaries, and then as sparingly as possible. Vigorous nerves are quiet ones, and the most direct way to render them so is to reinforce the vital energies. That sterling invigorant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will be found all-sufficient for this purpose, since it entirely removes impediments to thorough digestion and assimilation of the food so that the body is insured its due amount of nourishment, and consequently of stamina. Rheumatic tendencies and affections of the kidneys and bladder are also counteracted by the Bitters, which is besides a pleasant medicinal stimulant, infinitely purer than the raw excitants of commerce, which react injuriously upon the nervous system.

A Time Contract for 25 Years.

The chance of receiving $30,000 for Two Dollars by an investment in the Louisiana State Lottery at New Orleans, will continue for the next fifteen years, as the charter of the company runs on until 1893, and its vested rights cannot be invaded by an act of legislation or other proceedings, as long as the management is honestly conducted, and the worst enemy it has instigated by malice has never raised a suspicion of the strict integrity which characterizes its business affairs. For further information, address M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La.

That Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg's is prepared by a regular practicing physician who has used it for fifteen years. Its great sale is but a just tribute to it.

Your Lungs are affected! Use Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 25 cents.

Highly Concentrated, in order to do the work effectual, is the Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg.

Style, elegance, location, moderate prices, and choice of either the American plan $2.50 to $3.00, or the European plan $1.00 per day, and upwards, meals in the elegant Restaurant attached to the house, all unite in giving the traveller more, for the same money, at the Grand Central Hotel, New York, than elsewhere.

Pleasant to take, is what most people like and this is found in Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup and yet it does the work every time.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City. eod&wlmow7t

Politics!.

The greenback Congressman Russell, of North Carolina, in a recent speech, told the House that "it is well known that two democrats, one from Florida and the other from North Carolina, hold seats on this floor, not by the voice of the people, but by the fraudulent mandates of returning boards."

The most amusing speech of the session in the House of Representatives was that of Congressman Horr of Michigan. In the course of his remarks, which were directed against the greenback heresy and the pretensions of the south, he administered the following bit of advice to the people of that section: "What Mississippi needs to-day is more corn and cotton and less cussedness; more mills and more manliness; less murders, less moonshiners. What would improve South Carolina is more hams and fewer Hamburgs. She should raise hogs and horses more, and hell less."

—The earliest spring—The bull-frog's.

—One of the problems which puzzles a musician is how to strike a bee flat without getting stung by its demisemiquaver.

—"Subscribers coming in at the rate of fifty a day," said an editor; and the rival paper explained that they were coming in to order their paper stopped.

—At a recent autograph sale in Boston the highest price paid was $32 for an autograph letter of John Keats, and the lowest was $2.62 for one of Balzac. A letter from Charles Dickens brought $14.75; Benjamin Franklin was considered worth $18; Patrick Henry, $5.50; and J. Fenimore Cooper only $3.59.

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1873. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.
(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:
Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. E. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. K. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Tubercular, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our medical men in superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of one of the ablest specialists.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Advisor" (1,000 pages, sent paper-bound for $1.50; or thoroughly bound in Cloth, Gilt Back, $2.00 postpaid.
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Cataract (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancer, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Medical Common Sense," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to women, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for those diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficient remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, do no ill, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the diseases for which it is recommended, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottles.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has proved a cure, and for which it is offered as a remedy never before attained by any medicines: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppression when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not claim this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

CITY OF PORTSMOUTH.

Assessors' Notice.

THE INHABITANTS of the City of Portsmouth are hereby required to exhibit to the Assessors of said City a just and true account of their Polls and Estates, ratable by law on or before the fifteenth day of April.

And all persons who do not comply with the above requirements in handing in an inventory of their ratable estate, and making oath to the same will have no legal claim for abatement.

The Assessors, or any Justice of the Peace, or the City Clerk, are proper persons to administer the oath; and each individual making his inventory shall have an endorsement on the same, certifying that it has been duly sworn to, and the same to be handed to one of the Assessors, or left with their Secretary at the City Clerk's Office on or before the said Fifteenth day of APRIL.

THE
Alpine Silver Mining Co.,
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSABLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined bodies.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of money, quickly developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing as one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

IT can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immense medicine advertised by BANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what can be done by a scientific application of this remedy. The hard incrusted matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications, the ulcerated and inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membranous linings of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the seed poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen,—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through my nostrils. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy to ease me at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of BANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored, I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made my familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. F. DERBY.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Funny Divorce Case.

Washington probably has as many curious phases of the divorce of husband and wife as any other city in the country. Every day brings something new. The last is in a somewhat notable family we see together daily, apparently in harmony. They consist of husband, wife and two little babies, who lived together at the home of the husband's parents until the wife's certificate of divorce came along some weeks ago, from Indiana, (grounds, "incompatibility of temper,") and, thereupon, the wife packed up her trunks, gathered up one of the children and moved over to the home of her own parents, who are well-to-do people. It was all very pleasant; the ex-husband, with his one-half of the progeny, politely accompanied the ex-wife and her division of offspring, and had her baggage stowed away in her new home; after a little family chat all round the table, the male division withdrew with his baby. At the door, "Ta-ta, come and see me when you can," quoth she. "I will, my dear; you must come around and see us when you can," quoth he. The babies were kissed by the several parties in interest, and the ex-husband and his half of the nuptial issue went off cheerily homeward. And so they kept it up; daily visits. The wife was born in this city, and never has been a dozen miles away from it. Neither of the parties has ever seen the Hoosier State; but an Indiana court decreed them divorced.—Washington Capital.

Planting at the Right Time.

Among the seeds which it is safe to put in early, and before the earth has become warm, we may name peas, radishes, beets, cabbages, lettuce, onions (both seeds and sets,) as well as leeks and garlics. Tomato seed may be sown early, but the plants will not grow until warm weather. Among the more tender sorts which early planting will not hasten, the various kinds of squashes, melons, and corn are the best known. The seeds of all these soon decay if placed in cold, moist or wet soil.

Potatoes may go in early, because the tubers are generally placed so deep that a slight freezing of the surface will not reach them; and, if the young growth should be cut off, new shoots soon spring up from the main stems or tubers below.

With all the different kinds of meadow, pasture and lawn grasses early sowing is far preferable to late, because they are naturally hardy and grow in cool weather, and the young plants will be making roots even when there is but a slight growth of leaves.

But with the annual grasses—millets, sorghums, and the like—the case is quite different, as they are all tender plants, natives of hot climates, and their seed soon rots in a cold, wet soil. The slightest frost will kill the young plants, so that what would be termed late sowing should always be practiced with these tender annuals; that is, after all danger of frost is past and the ground has become warm and comparatively dry. The new pearl or East India millet is even more sensitive to cold than the sorghums or common species and varietics of millet. The pearl millet is by far the most productive forage plant we posses, but does not thrive in a cold soil or grow rapidly except during the hottest weather.

It is well to make haste in getting in the crops in early; but there is such a thing as overdoing the matter, by putting in seeds before the land is in proper condition for their reception or the weather is warm enough to insure growth, and it would often be better to plow and harrow the land twice before sowing small seed or planting it with corn, even if a little time be lost, than to sow on land full of lumps or soaked with water.

A Word to Doubters.

There is a good old English maxim that teaches us to "believe every man honest until we know him to be a villain." American custom seems to have reversed this law and appears to make every man a villain until he has proved himself an honest man. As with people, so with things. Every article placed in our markets can lay claim to popular favor upon intrinsic merit and value alone. Continued popularity, therefore, is proof positive of intrinsic excellence Dr. Pierce's Family Remedies are far more popular to-day than ever before. The people have tested them and know them to be genuine remedies for the diseases they are recommended to cure. The Golden Medical Discovery and Purgative Pellets are the best alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies that can be used in chronic diseases of the stomach and liver. The world-wide popularity of the Favorite Prescription, as a never-failing remedy for Female Diseases, would have alone secured to its discoverer the fame he has so richly won. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, of which Dr. Pierce is also proprietor, is recommended by those who have tested its virtues as a safe and reliable remedy for catarrh in its worst forms.

—A short time ago a Danbury man had forty dollars stolen from him. The thief was subsequently struck with remorse and sent back twenty dollars, with a note to the effect that as soon as he received more remorse he would send back the rest.—Danbury News.

—A Colorado lawyer didn't admire the judge before whom he was trying a case, the other day, and referred to him as "an ass trying to munch hay." The court fined him five dollars for contempt, but remarked at the same time that he would remit the fine provided the attorney would apologize. The lawyer went through his pockets, and finding but half the amount required, said: "Ahem! ahem! I'll take down the hay, but will copper the ass. Here is $2.50, judge."

THURSDAY, MAY 1, 1879.

The Veto.

The message of President Hayes rejecting his objections to the act making appropriations, just passed by Congress, is a full and exhaustive argument in support of the return of the bill without his approval. He enters upon a consideration of the history of the legislation which the bill proposes to repeal, and avows that the attaching of the repealing clauses to a bill requisite to the performance of some of the most necessary duties of government, involves questions of the gravest character. The statute sought in part to be repealed was adopted in 1865, by the concurrent vote of both of the leading political parties of the country. It was re-enacted in 1874. Other sections of the United States statutes are quoted to show that as the law now stands, there can be no military interference with elections. There has been since June, 1878, no complaint even of the presence of United States troops at any place of election in any State. There is no necessity, therefore, for the legislation in this regard in the bill.

But the bill goes further: it would, if enacted into law, deprive the civil authorities of the United States of all power to keep the peace at Congressional elections. These elections are a national concern. Every State and every party is entitled to the share of power which is conferred by the legal and constitutional suffrage. Every voter is entitled to his vote, and to have it counted.

The constitution of the United States, by two provisions, authorizes Congress to regulate Congressional elections: 1. Congress may declare the times, places and manner of electing Representatives to Congress. 2. The right of the citizen to vote shall not be abridged on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude. The supreme court of the United States has affirmed the right of Congress to protect this right to vote. Experience has shown legislation for such protection to be necessary. The statutes of the United States authorize the United States marshal and his deputies to keep the peace and preserve order at the federal elections. These laws it is the duty of the executive department of the government to enforce. The intent of this bill is to prohibit the civil officers of the government from carrying out these provisions of the law—that is to say, to prevent the officers of the United States from protecting the citizen in his exercise of the right of franchise. This legislation has been attached to the appropriation bill for the purpose of coercing the Senate and President at the last session, and at this session for the purpose of coercing the President to approve legislation which would not be approved if sent to him unattached to an appropriation bill. This doctrine of coercion, if maintained, will result in a consolidation of unchecked and despotic power in the House of Representatives. It is a denial of the constitutional right of the Executive to share in the legislative power; a right which is expressly given him. The House of Representatives does not exclusively speak the will of the people; their most authentic and solemn expression is found in the constitution.

President Hayes very pertinently suggests that if legislation is to be attached to appropriation bills, and made the condition of furnishing supplies for the carrying on of government, because the House thinks it has a grievance, there will never be an end of causes for such tacking. A treaty, a decision of the supreme court, an appointment by the President, anything will serve as a grievance. Believing that the bill is a dangerous violation of the spirit and meaning of the constitution, the President sends it back, urging upon the House a return to the wise and wholesome usage of the earlier days of the Republic, which excluded from the appropriation bills all irrelevant legislation.

It will be seen that there is absolutely no answer to the argument of the President, that the bill proposes to do away with the power to enforce laws left upon the statute book. Thus, this bill does not touch the authority of supervisors of elections; it simply says that they shall not have from the source of their authority power to enforce their authority. The bill purposes to do just what a State would do, if it passed a law acknowledging its indebtedness in a certain sum, but refused to lay a tax to pay its debt. But is going further and insisting upon the necessity and constitutionality of the law proposed to be repealed, as well as upon its enforcement, the President has the solid ground of the constitution upon which to stand.

The situation, then, is this: The democrats in Congress have avowed their purpose not to make appropriations for the carrying on of the government, if the President should veto their appropriation bills containing irrelevant legislation, accompanied by the threat that the President must accede to their will or there would be no supplies. The President, exercising his undoubted constitutional privilege and authority, has vetoed one such bill, and will in like manner, for the same general reasons, veto any bill open to the same objections. What is to be the result? To adjourn without providing for the carrying on of the government, as was threatened, would be suicidal for the democratic party; to continue the appropriations for six months would be only to postpone the day of final decision, leaving the country agitated and alarmed; to abandon their purpose and pass the appropriation bills pure and simple, which would be the constitutional and patriotic course, would be to acknowledge that all the cost and commotion of the extra session was wholly indefensible, and that a revolutionary attempt had been made which reflection had shown to be impossible of execution. The course thus far pursued by the democrats has been, by the best and ablest of them, stigmatized as revolutionary; but it has been continued with the acquiescence of these same thoughtful members, and with the approval of the party at large. The issue was made by the democracy; it is still undecided; the President and the minority in Congress will stand firm; the people are watching the votes; canvassing the veto and the reasons for the veto. The next move is to be made by the democrats in the House of Representatives.

But to consider this matter simply as one affecting political parties, would be to fail in recognizing its real importance. It is common learning that parties and sections of the country change sides upon political and economical questions; but this doctrine of the democracy strikes at the very root of our system of government, in that it destroys the legislative function of the President, usurps for the House of Representatives all power, and places the federal interest in the lower house of Congress at the mercy of a mob, or of a State. Whether one desires such a consummation or not, the acceptance of this doctrine would be destructive of our present form of government. We do not believe that the country will permit its institutions to be changed in this way. Nor do we any more believe that by any course which the democracy may take, it can recover the influence it has lost in consequence of these radical measures. The people are sometimes thought to be indifferent to their political interests, and in truth they permit in their servants conduct which costs much in money, and quite as much in dignity of the constituency; but when the fundamental of free governments are touched with malicious and destructive hands, the spirit of independence and of liberty is aroused as by the first gun of the rebellion. The House of Representatives will not yet effectually usurp all the powers of all the branches of government.

A New Telegraph Company.

The New York Tribune of April 30th states that the Union Telegraph Company was incorporated in that city the previous day with a capital of $10,000,000. The three corporators named are Jay Gould, who subscribes for one half the stock, David H. Bates and Charles A. Tinker, who take the remainder. The nucleus of the company is the Central Union Company, which has about fifty miles of line in actual operation. The line is to be completed from New York to Chicago within three months. Its extension to the far west and south is said to depend upon the co-operation of railroad companies, many of which now do a general business on their local lines. The president of the new company will be David H. Bates, whose resignation as general superintendent of the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph Company took effect April 30th.

News and Notes.

An immense land slide occurred at Veas, in the province of Jean, Spain, a few days since, demolishing five houses. Thirty persons were killed and fourteen injured.

The Bulgarian assembly of notables on the 29th of April unanimously elected Prince Alexander of Battenberg to the throne of Bulgaria, with the title of Alexander I. Previous to the election of the Prince of Battenberg, it was announced that no Russian was eligible.

A negro incendiary named Porter was hung by a mob at Starkville, Miss., on the 28th ult. He had burned two barns.

At St. Petersburg the Russian police are arresting citizens by wholesale, and on the slightest suspicion against any person his whole family is arrested, and on most frivolous grounds these persons are hurried off to Siberia by hundreds.

The mutilated, decomposed remains of a negro found a few days since in a swamp, ten miles north of Starkville, Miss., are supposed to be Bill Gilmer, a negro who shot a white man named Wood six weeks ago. When discovered he had two bullet holes in his head.

The regular lighting of Monumental park at Cleveland, Ohio, with the electric light has commenced, this being the first regular public lighting with an electric light in any city in the United States.

Prof. Lewis Swift, of Rochester, N. Y., has been elected a Fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society of England, for his astronomical discoveries.

George J. Curtis, a well-known insurance man of Boston, has been arrested upon a charge of having forged drafts upon Curtis & Co., of Chicago. He was arraigned and held in $2000 for examination May 7th.

James O'Brien and a colored man, name unknown, while pitching coppers at St. John, N. B., got into an altercation. The latter drew a knife and fatally stabbed O'Brien.

The British steamer Nile has been wrecked on a reef near Corunna, Spain, and twenty men lost out of her crew of twenty-three.

Commercial drummers are closing up their business in North Carolina and leaving the State, the last Legislature having laid a tax of $300 upon each member of their tribe.

New Orleans has got rid of a half a million of its debt by going into the market and buying up its bonds in small quantities at twenty-five cents on the dollar.

A consolidation of the two New York elevated railroad companies is probable at an early date, and the stock of both roads is jumping up in anticipation of this change.

Cremation is gaining ground in Germany as well as in Italy. Hamburg has followed the example of Gotha, in authorizing its practice, at the option of the friends of deceased persons.

Simon St. Gemes, a New Orleans murderer who was tried four times for killing Francis Hoffman, and finally acquitted, now voluntarily confesses the crime, though, of course, claiming that he acted in self-defence.

If only all duels would result like that which was fought at Glendale, Montana, the other day, the world would perhaps look upon the "code" with more favor than at present. J. Littlefield and A. H. Foster had for some time been enemies on account of a suit which both were urging for the hand of the same woman. Foster was finally successful in his suit, married the woman and settled down to the enjoyment of domestic life. Littlefield's ugly feeling did not leave him, however, even after his rival had married, and he sent Foster a challenge to fight. Foster assented and when they met they fired simultaneously, and both fell dead. Both men were sporting characters, and did not especially adorn the community which is now deprived of them.

The Senate appropriation committee will put an amendment on the legislative bill, appropriating $25,000 for the relief of the destitute negroes who have emigrated from the southern States to Kansas.

Prof. Gamgee has not yet succeeded in inducing the national board of health to recommend the construction of a refrigerating ship to destroy the yellow fever in vessels arriving at American ports. The members of the board do not regard favorably the theory advanced, and will not give their sanction to the experiment.

Judge Samuel Lee, of Sumter, S. C., whose indictment on a trival charge by the democrats speedily followed his nomination as postmaster at the last session of Congress, has been appointed to a clerkship in the treasury department. Senator Butler prevented action on his nomination as postmaster.

Mrs. Yates, supposed to have died in childbirth, was buried at Proctorville, twenty miles above Ironton, Ohio, on the 26th ult. Two of her brothers, suspecting foul play, asked for an investigation by the coroner and the arrest of Dr. Yates, her husband. The latter resisted, driving back the constable with a revolver. Yates then took to the river, compelled the ferryman with a pistol to carry him across, and drove back a pursuer who attempted to cross after him in a skiff. Yates escaped to Kentucky.

John A. Logan is in a predicament. He is challenged to fight a duel by one "Colonel" Lowe, who won his military title in trying to destroy his country. Logan, this man intimates, is a coward. As Logan was engaged in only about a hundred battles during the war for the Union, and as his reward for gallantry was merely promotion from a private citizen to a major-general, it is possible that he may be compelled to go out into a field and shoot at some unknown man, in order to make his countrymen believe him brave. —Tribune.

Dr. Pollock, the skillful surgeon chiropodist from Portland who was in this city some weeks ago, will return on Saturday, the 10th inst., and remain a week, with headquarters at the Commercial house. Persons afflicted with any trouble of the feet will find him an expert at remedying such.

Robert Houtch, of Great Falls, a Boston & Maine railroad engineer who had been in that road's service since the strike, was struck by an engine in the yard at Lawrence, Mass., on the 28th ult., and had one leg torn off, and his head badly injured. He lived but a short time after the accident.

The case of Benjamin F. Patrick, late general ticket agent of the Eastern railroad and now charged with embezzlement from the road, was called in the superior criminal court at Boston on the 29th ult., but was continued until the next term of the court. Patrick is confined in jail in default of bail.

A tabernacle one hundred feet long and eighty feet wide is to be built on the camp ground at Old Orchard, to be finished in time for use at the various mass-meetings the coming season. The Old Orchard people expect President Hayes to visit their locality this summer, if Congress only adjourns in time to permit it without interfering with executive business.

Mr. Webster, the "liquor spotter," addressed a temperance meeting in the town hall at Exeter on the evening of Sunday, April 27th, and having on that occasion been introduced as acting under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, a member of the Exeter branch of the union writes that the organization in that town had no previous knowledge of him, and had received no letters of introduction or recommendation of him from local unions elsewhere; also that he is unknown to the president of the State organization. The writer says the Exeter union does not employ or endorse Webster.

Portsmouth parties had on deposit in the several savings banks at Dover on the first day of April last the following sums: Savings bank for Strafford county, $12,819; Five Cents savings bank, $9.17; Cocheco savings bank, $4,926.42- Other towns in this immediate vicinity had deposits as follows: Strafford county bank—Newcastle $679, Rye $1115, Newington $790, Greenland $705, North Hampton $45, Hampton $71, Stratham $4776, Newmarket $41,804, South Newmarket $10,026, Epping $1450. Five Cents savings bank—Newcastle $10.89, Greenland $553.87, Hampton $24.01, Newmarket $3,321.48, South Newmarket $5,743.46, Stratham $222.03. Cocheco bank—Stratham $220.22, South Newmarket $109.70, Newmarket $2,289.25. The total amount of deposits in the three banks named is $1,873,917.

The Dover Democrat recently published the valuation of each town in Strafford county for the year 1878, as returned by the assessors, which shows the imperative necessity of some law by which each town may be made to bear something near its just share of the burdens of taxation. For instance, take the item of money at interest. Dover, with a total valuation of $7,642,752, returns $453,630 as at interest, while Rollinsford, with a valuation of $1,051,159, has but $15,950 at interest; Rochester, valued at $2,464,669, has only $2,500 at interest; and Somersworth, with a valuation of $2,502,754, returns no money at interest. It is evident enough, without argument, that the burdens of taxation have been very unequally distributed, and if the iron-clad inventory law results in a fairer distribution it will be popular—that is, with all who previously have been compelled to pay a higher tax than was just, for those whom it compels to pay a hitherto evaded tax will hate it like poison, and denounce it as outrageously inquisitive and oppressive.

John W. Sani of Concord, M. W. Grand Patriarch of New Hampshire I. O. O. F., visits Mount Sinai Encampment, No. 19, of this city, on Friday evening. Mount Sinai Encampment have invited the members of Strawberry Bank Encampment to visit on the same evening.

The barque Philena Winslow, built at Kennebunkport, was recently lost in the South Atlantic. She sprang a leak and sank in about forty minutes afterwards. The next day Capt. Cheney, with a part of his crew, landed on an island, and the mate, Alexander Davis of Kennebunkport, with the balance of the crew, landed on an island adjoining. Both parties were taken off the same day, one by one vessel and the other by another, and landed on the island of St. Helena, from whence they arrived home on the 18th ult., one hundred and ninety days beyond the time they were due had all things gone well.

SUPREME COURT.

WEDNESDAY, April 30; Allen, J.

In case State vs. Eben Kenniston of Epping, indicted for having in his possession counterfeit money with intent to pass the same, several law questions were raised and the case was continued to the October term.

In the case of State vs. Isaiah Cook, indicted on a charge of forgery for ordering (from Newmarket) four quarters of beef of Gowen & Higgins of Lawrence, Mass., and signing the name of Charles Churchill, the defence being that it was not forgery, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. Harriman for State; Marston and Call for defence.

Thomas E. Drake, of Boston, the "liquor spotter," was then arraigned on an indictment found in October last, for perjury in swearing that he purchased whiskey of Samuel Tibbets of Newmarket. Harriman and Page for State; Gen. Marston for the defendant. The prosecution showed that Drake did swear as stated, and then called Mr. Tibbets, who testified that he did not sell any whiskey on the day specified by Drake, to him or anyone else, and that he does not keep and has not at any time kept in his saloon any kind of spirituous liquors for sale. This testimony was corroborated by a number of reputable citizens of Newmarket, such as the man who furnished ice to the saloon, and others who were accustomed to enter the place more or less frequently, who swore that they never saw or knew of any spirits being sold by Mr. Tibbetts.

The case for the State was here rested, and Drake was put on the stand in his own defence. He swore that he did buy a glass of whiskey of Tibbetts, and paid ten cents for it.

David Webster was then called, and went squarely back on the counsel for the defence. It seems that Webster called on Gen. Marston at his office an evening or two previous, retained him as counsel for Drake, and told him just what testimony he was prepared to give; but as soon as he was put on the stand he became a positive know-nothing in the matter. This exasperated the plain-spoken counsel, who proceeded to give his opinion of Mr. Webster, somewhat as follows: "He is a coward and a villain, and the meanest man I ever met, and I have met some mighty mean ones. He ought to be kicked from one end of the earth to the other, if there is any end. If the liquor dealers, or the temperance men, can in any honorable way have him indicted and send him somewhere—say to State prison, where Mr. Page said Drake ought to go—I should be gratified. If he ever darkens my door again he will need a doctor pretty soon!"

There was some applause in the court (which was crowded to the extreme) at Gen. Marston's indignant expressions; but Judge Allen, who presides with marked dignity, instantly checked the demonstration, and instructed the sheriff to clear the court of spectators if it was repeated. Webster was as white as a ghost of the most approved pattern, as he listened to the scathing denunciations of the learned and irate counsel.

A number of witnesses were then called by the State to testify as to Drake's reputation for veracity, among them Capt. Lyford W. Graves, of police station five, Boston, and detective officer Charles Glidden of the same station—which is on the street in which Drake lives; Chief of Police John E. Tidd of Woburn, Mass., and Ex-Chief Z. A. Richardson of Winchester, Mass., all of whom swore that Drake's reputation was bad, and that they would not believe anything he might say under oath.

The case was given to the jury, and at eight o'clock they had not agreed upon a verdict.

Naval Matters.

Commander Henry F. Picking has been ordered to hold himself in readiness for duty as commander, and Lieut.-Commander Horace Clinch as executive officer of the Kearsarge.

The efforts to make ship timber capable of resisting water and fire, and at the same time to render it impervious to the ship-worm, seems to have been successful. The blocks are saturated with sulphate of copper, the residuum of the solution is let off, and a vacuum is formed again, and a solution of chloride of barium is introduced. The chloride of barium forms in a short time a chemical combination with the sulphate of copper, forming insoluble salt of sulphate of baryte, and the timber is ready for use. A commission recently visited the Boston navy yard and made an exhaustive examination of the results of the experiment. A piece of timber was tested, and found to be thoroughly impregnated, indicating the success of the experiment.

New Publications

Wild Life in a Southern Country, by the author of "The Gamekeeper at Home." 16mo., cloth, $1.25. Messrs. Roberts Brothers of Boston publish this book, which like "The Gamekeeper at Home" attracts us by the uninterrupted interest which possesses us to accompany him through his rambles, while he gives us at every turn beautiful sights where perhaps we saw nothing before. Indeed the author seems so gifted with the power to see the beautiful and enjoyable in every rural spot, so capable of making the most commonplace incident full of absorbing interest, that one cannot forego the enjoyment of a full draught at this literary fountain, does he take a single sip. The writer who can see and portray so much that is beautiful, interesting, charming, in the simple sights of country life, and can make his readers participate in the enjoyment, is certainly a felicitous addition to the circle of authors whose works will be worth a second reading, and whose volumes may be taken up in almost any mood of their reader with an assurance that happy moments will always be the result of their perusal. It will be a favorite book for the satchel of the summer tourist.

There have lived in New England two celebrated lawyers of whose biographies and writings certain readers, and the best readers too, never tire. Daniel Webster and Rufus Choate will always have admirers in this country, and it is for this reason, we infer, that leading publishers from time to time issue new editions of their biographies and speeches. Messrs, Little, Brown & Co., of Boston, have recently published a third edition of the life of Rufus Choate by Samuel Gilman Brown, president of Hamilton college. The preceding editions of the life of Mr. Choate have for some time been out of print, and the present edition, some-what enlarged, will be welcomed, alike by lawyers and laymen, as an authentic record of the great advocate whose genius allowed him to occupy a place in his profession to which few can ever attain. The same firm will also shortly produce a one-volume edition of the great orations and speeches of Daniel Webster, prefaced by an essay by Edwin P. Whipple on Mr. Webster as a master of English style. This will prove a valuable work, and the subject will be worthy of the ability of Mr. Whipple, whose analytic criticism will be eagerly read by scholars and statesmen throughout the world of letters.

—A well-bucket is like a sad event because its deep-lowered.

—"Pride in a woman destroys all symmetry and grace," says a proverb. If this be true there's lots of symmetry and grace demolished every time a new spring bonnet comes up a church aisle.

—At the entrance of a restaurant in Pesth, where young ladies are employed to stand and wait, is posted a notice reading: "Gentlemen are requested to abstain from kissing the waitresses on the stairs, as this is a fruitful source of breakage, and impedes the service." Human nature being same the world over, the placard calls in a great many customers who are anxious to see the girls whom they are enjoined not to kiss on the stairs.

Owing to the fact that a majority of the judges of the Supreme court have been or are now connected with defendant corporations in the case in equity of John H. Pearson against the Boston & Lowell railroad and connecting lines, it is thought there will not be a court in which to try the case.

Samuel Hill, of Fitzwilliam, aged eighty years, for some time wandering in his mind, was found dead Monday night, April 28th, in an old well.

Daniel Tebbets of Barnstead had his horse and wagon stolen from his barn on the night of the 28th ult., it is supposed by the Laconia bank robbers.

The Nashua manufacturing company is having a boat built and tackle rigged for dragging its canal for the bodies of those who commit suicide by drowning in it. It must be a highly popular place to drown in.

The Self-Cocking Revolver.

At a wedding in South Carolina last month, an incident occurred aptly illustrating social life in the southern States. The bridegroom, who belonged to the "first southern families," took exception to the phraseology of the officiating clergyman, and remarked: "You shouldn't say 'three uns whom the Lord had jined together,' but 'them uns.'" The preacher who prided himself on the "high-toned" quality of his language, quietly dropped his hand into his pocket of his surplice, and interpolated: "You jist paddle your owe canoe, young feller, or your trouble begins sune enuff. I'm runnin' this tea party, I am—as I said afore—my beloved kearers—those uns as the Lord"—Just then the bridegroom made a motion toward his hip, but before he could draw, the minister fired from his pocket, and the young man fell dead at his feet. Instantly the whole church was filled with blazing pistols In less than five seconds the only person left alive was the bride, who had ducked behind the pulpit early in the action. The half-married female gazed musingly around, and remarked as she started for home: "These self-cocking revolvers is playing the mischief 'round here, and that's a fact?"—San Francisco Post.

The Blessing of Strong Nerves

is recoverable, not by the use of mineral sedatives, but by a recourse to effectual tonic treatment. Opiates and the like should only be used as auxiliaries, and then as sparingly as possible. Vigorous nerves are quiet ones, and the most direct way to render them so is to reinforce the vital energies. That sterling invigorant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will be found all-sufficient for this purpose, since it entirely removes impediments to thorough digestion and assimilation of the food so that the body is insured its due amount of nourishment, and consequently of stamina. Rheumatic tendencies and affections of the kidneys and bladder are also counteracted by the Bitters, which is besides a pleasant medicinal stimulant, infinitely purer than the raw excitants of commerce, which react injuriously upon the nervous system.

That Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg's is prepared by a regular practicing physician who has used it for fifteen years. Its great sale is but a just tribute to it.

Your Lungs are affected! Use Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

COOL AND REFRESHING after shaving is the bay rum sold at such reasonable prices by C. B. Barrett & Co., 45 North Market Street, Boston.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 25 cents.

Highly Concentrated, in order to do the work effectual, is the Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg.

Style, elegance, location, moderate prices, and choice of either the American plan $2.50 to $5.00, or the European plan $1.00 per day, and upwards, meals in the elegant Restaurant attached to the house, all unite in giving the traveller more, for the same money, at the Grand Central Hotel, New York, than elsewhere.

Pleasant to take, is what most people like and this is found in Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup and yet it does the work every time.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. THE NEW HAMPSHIRE
GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels entered at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1873. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.
(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:
Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
ASO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LEWIS HOSMER, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and still have been added to the Faculty.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially and peculiarities of a superior order for the cure of all those diseases more peculiar to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," 168 pages, sent post-paid for $1.00 or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book," 100 pages, twenty cents (in stamps).
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Hernia, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Varicose and Ulcerated Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We treat successfully by a simple yet well-tried without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. Our pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and on that only, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician, and to so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid, I am prepared to offer, of the elements for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Habitual Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats fearlessly of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription is by Druggists.

Alpine Silver Mining Co.,
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing; one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to the question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for no disease that has been mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple and neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

IT can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, irritating matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the ulceration and inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membrane lining of the head restored and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen,—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through my nostril. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy or it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored, I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no dropping in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made inquiries of him in my presence. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. F. DERBY.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Fashion Notes.

White dresses and delicately-tinted organdies and colored grenadines all show the new striped effects.

Black grenadines are made over silk with the new curtain draperies parting at the waist and forming draped sides with fringe.

The basques on dresses made for young girls are decidedly longer than those worn last season, and the fastening is usually in front instead of at the back.

Jet is more seen than last year, and is becoming decidedly fashionable; black satin and dark dinner dresses are very much trimmed with tulle and jet embroided with jet and gold beads.

A popular bonnet of the season will be of black chip trimmed altogether with black satin for the lining, black feather tips and an addition of the gold embroidered lace.

The neck ornaments of breton lace are only double frills with headings of mull muslin or crepe. They are made more dressy by the addition of ribbon bows or clusters of flowers suiting the costume.

Irish poplin is seen in light colors such as silver gray, white and fawn color. It is likely to become popular again now that paniers have returned and stiff fabrics are reinstated.

There is a great demand for silk painted by hand in bands for trimming dresses. Some strips have garlands of flowers, a bee or butterfly here and there on black or white silk.

Compared with silk, woolen fringe has lost its prestige, and been remanded back to the upholstery department, strict fashion not admitting of the use of silk fringe for the trimming of woolen materials.

Some imported colored wraps in gray camel's hair cloth are in the visite shape edged with fringe. English walking coats for this season are stitched with rows of stitching, and have odd buttons, frequently of horn or smoked pearl.

All manner of fancy ribbons are extensively used on dresses, forming cascades down the front and made for trimming in long loops placed in groups. Some of them are exceedingly novel being worked with gold and silver in satin in odd designs.

The newest linen collar flares about an inch from the neck and has rounded corners, delicately hemstitched. The cuffs correspond. The latest cuff is either straight or square and many of them have little hemstitched revers.

Japanese fish skin, with a gold lacquer, is the oddest material for a parasol stick. Some of the new parasols have their handles tipped with birds' heads, upon which the plumage is gilded and colored to imitate nature.

The new styles of fastening children's costumes, is to have lengthwise straps of insertion around the waist, and through these the ribbon is run. The ribbon is necessarily folded and is not so wide as was formerly used for that purpose.

Spring hosiery shows lighter tints and more plain colors than have been seen for some time. There are some pretty chene patterns in the cotton goods, and exquisite open work designs in new thread both unbleached and striped.

The newest combs are in silver, and not so high in shape as heretofore. They are richly engraved and form a desirable ornament for the coiffure. Tortoise shell combs, daggers and swords are all worn, and the latter ornaments give a distinguished appearance to the coiffure.

Pretty little side satchels are of duchesse lace and combinations of duchesse, valenciennes and point d'Alencon laces, lined with silk in cell and rose colors. They are attached to the person under a dainty bouquet, and sometimes garnished with artificial flowers.

Casaquins (long basques) are in medium shades for day wear, and in light colors for evening dresses. Those for dinner and soiree dresses are to be worn in such light colors as cream, pale blue and snow pink, studded with pompadour bouquets. Many are trimmed with breton lace.

Light India cashmere, in various shades of berge, is to be a very popular material for spring costumes. Several new fancy woolens in good taste have been manufactured; the most prominent is Pekin declaiac, with satin stripes, and frequently the stripes are of different colors.

Wrappers of white pique for morning wear, are cut in the plain, loose princess shape, with a watteau pleat in the back and deep embroidered flounce upon the bottom. The sleeves and pockets are trimmed with an embroidered band. Linen lawn, dainty and cool-looking always, will be made into morning wrappers, and short costumes for out of door wear.

The Alsatian bow increases in breadth, brocaded ribbons being the favorites for this huge, double winged butterfly bow, as broad as it is high. The Normandy bow ought to be of black velvet; it is of narrower ribbon than the Alsatian, and spreads out on the sides instead of rising a foot above the bow. Some Normandy bows have long ends, which cross the back and hang below the braided tournure.

—Mrs. Ponsonby de Tomkyns (sotto voce to her husband)—"Ponsonby!" "Yes, my love." "Who is that singing so divinely?" "Signor Jenkini, my love, the famous new tenor." "Signor Jenkini, is it? Then get yourself introduced to Signor Jenkini as soon as he's done his song and secure him for Monday fortnight." "But, my love, Signor Jenkini charges forty guineas!" "Tell Signor Jenkini that it's to meet the Duchess of Stilton, and he won't charge anything at all!" "But, my love, the Duchess of Stilton will never come to see the like of us!" "She'll come fast enough to hear Signor Jenkini! Do as I tell you!" Ponsonby did as she told him, and everything happened as she had anticipated. The Duchess came, and a good many more smart people besides; and the Signor sang for nothing, but to the immortal honor and glory of the house of Tomkyns.

Portsmouth Chronicle

FRIDAY, MAY 2, 1879.

The Army Bill Fails to Pass.

In the House on Thursday, a vote was taken on the question of passing over the President's veto the bill to permit free fraud at elections; there were 129 ayes and 110 noes, so the bill failed to pass. Nine greenbackers voted with the republicans, and three with the democrats.

A Foolish Expedient.

It is announced that the planters of Arkansas are patrolling the levees and refusing to allow the negroes to leave the State, and that the captains of the river steamboats refuse to take the would-be refugees on board, the planters having forbidden it. There is nothing to wonder at in this; the absolute success of the Arkansas planters in depriving the freedmen of the civil and political rights guaranteed them by the constitution, would naturally lead them to suppose that any other infringements on the colored people's liberties will be quietly acquiesced in by the nation; and the steamboats, which depend wholly on the planters for business, would not dare disobey their commands. But this action shows, even more than political bull-dozing, the state of virtual slavery in which it is the purpose of a large part of the southern whites to keep the negroes, and loudly proclaims the causes that produced the exodus. And it will fail of its intended effect, for the knowledge by the blacks that the whites propose by force to take away the last vestige left them of personal liberty—the right to go where they please—will tend to increase the exodus into a wholesale stampede, rather than to check its progress.

Who Pays the Bills?

In his speech on the army bill Senator Conkling gave the following suggestive facts: During the last fiscal year the amount of national taxes paid into the treasury was $234,831,461.77. Of this sum $130,000,000 and a fraction was collected under the tariff laws, levying duties on imported merchandise, and $103,000,000 and a fraction on American productions. Of this total, $235,000,000 in round numbers, twenty-seven States, which adhered to the Union during the recent war, paid $221,204,268.88. The residue came from eleven States, namely: Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia. These eleven States paid $13,627,192.89. Of this sum more than $6,500,000 came from the tobacco of Virginia. Deducting the latter sum from the former, and the eleven States paid $7,127,192.89.

News and Notes.

The village of Orenburg, Russia, has been totally destroyed by fire, it is believed owing to political discontent, many suspected nihilists having been sent there by the government.

The statement telegraphed from Starkville, Miss., about the hanging of a negro barn-burner by a mob, is contradicted. The fellow was lodged in jail to await trial.

Schooner Bennington, bound from Boston to Havana, was abandoned at sea, her captain and two seamen being drowned. The rest of the crew were rescued by the British barque Portena, and landed in England. The British barque Kate has arrived at Lynn, Eng., with the crew of the American schooner Thomas T. Tasker, abandoned in a sinking condition.

The cotton factory at Atlanta, Ga., started with a flourish of trumpets but a few years ago, seems to have come to an ignominious end. The machinery was supplied from Lowell, but as it had not been paid for it has been sold and removed by other parties, the factory being only able to buy in the elevators and shafting.

Howard Dawes, Allen Thayer and a man named Howard have been arrested for tarring and feathering Henry Taylor, at East Cummington, Massachusetts. The motive for the alleged outrage was to punish Taylor for visiting Thayer's wife, who has left her husband and is living with her father.

The Massachusetts legislature adjourned sine die at a quarter past nine o'clock on the evening of Wednesday, the 30th ult., after a session of one hundred and twenty days. Both branches concurred in the bill to abolish the State detective force and provide that the governor may appoint not more than two district police for each judicial district, and shall appoint two for the inspection of factories. The civil damage bill passed by the legislature, which permits the recovery of damages resulting from the sale of liquor from owners of buildings wherein the liquor is sold, was signed by Governor Talbot before the adjournment.

Charles Thompson, a seaman, recently tried in New York on a charge of murder for killing the mate of the barque Niphon on the high seas, was acquitted, it being sshwn that he only acted to protect himself from the officer's abuse.

Three Boston boys, viz.: George E. Burrell, thirteen years of age, the son of Charles O. Burrell, a brush manufacturer, John F. Scott, aged thirteen years, son of a teamster, and Frank Moran, aged fourteen years, whose father keeps a liquor store in East Boston, were picked up in New York by the police on the 30th ult., about half-starved. The Burrell boy said he ran away from home on account of harsh treatment by his father; the other two went to New York to "see life," and when found by the police had seen all they wanted to at present.

A bold attempt was made on Wednesday, the 30th ult., to rob the Workingmen's savings bank at Allegheny, Pa. The bookkeeper had gone to dinner, leaving the cashier, George L. Walter, alone. Two men entered the bank, and one advancing to near the counter, asked silver for a dollar bill. When the cashier advanced with the change he was confronted with a cocked revolver, and told to make no noise or he would be shot. Dropping the silver, Walter seized the revolver and succeeded in wrenching it from his assailant, who then clambered up and got inside and was reaching for the money on the counter when Walter opened fire on him, firing two shots at him and also two at the other robber, who meantime had climbed over the front counter and was advancing to the rear of the room. The strangers, dismayed by the reception, turned towards the doors and fled, and have not yet been arrested. The thieves succeeded in carrying off $2300, but in their hurried flight they dropped a package containing $700, which was picked up on the street and returned to the bank. The thieves succeeded in getting across the river to Pittsburg, where the clue to their whereabouts was lost.

Hugh L. Slavin, a New York truck driver whose team had a collision with August Belmont's a week or so ago, whereby Belmont was thrown out and severely injured, has been sentenced to the city prison for ten days and to pay $100 fine, for negligent driving. He'll know better than to get in a millionaire's way again.

Superintendent Oakman, of the Utica division of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad, and Miss Bessie C. Conkling, daughter of Senator Conkling, were married at Utica, N. Y., on the evening of the 30th ult. Mrs. Conkling with Gov. Seymour gave away the bride, Senator Conkling being detained in Washington.

A jury in Boston has awarded $6000 damages to Adam Jansen for injuries received in January, 1876, at the hands of John M. Schwoerer in a row in a lager beer saloon.

Policeman Gilman, of New York, on the night of the 29th ult. saved Mrs. Lasch and two daughters from being burned to death in a burning building on Prince street. The officer was quite badly burned in his brave act.

The farmers of California complain that all agricultural enterprise in that State is unprofitable because labor is higher now than fifteen years ago. This does not agree with the statements of Mr. Kearney.

A stage was stopped at Eureka, Nevada, on the night of the 29th ult., by three men, and the passengers and express box robbed. On the same night two men went to a livery-stable in Eureka, bull-dozed the hostlers, took two of the best horses in the stable, and rode off, pursued by a sheriff and posse, who overtook the thieves next morning and had a fight with them. One of the thieves, John Sullivan, who belonged in Massachusetts, where his wife still resides, was killed, and the other wounded.

By a fire in Montreal, April 30th, forty buildings were destroyed and seventy families turned out of doors. Loss $50,000.

Robert Amstrong's house at Newburg, Ont., was burned on the morning of the 30th ult., and his father, aged one hundred years, was burned to death.

Ten prominent members of the Standard Oil Company have been indicted in Pennsylvania for fraudulently conspiring to cheat and defraud the public and the producers by creating a monopoly of the oil trade, to prevent lawful and legitimate competition in the production of crude petroleum. The indictment also charges conspiracy and concerted action to squeeze out of a lawful business all interested save themselves, and that by using the New York Central and Erie roads they have compelled the Pennsylvania and the Alleghany Valley railroads to carry oil at ruinous rates under threat of taking away all trade that otherwise would naturally flow to these lines.

President Babcock has had a great pressure brought to bear upon him to make Newport a stopping place for the "Providence Line." After a full consideration of the subject he has decided not to do so, as such a stop would destroy one of the best features of the line. The public are to be congratulated that this line will continue to make its trips without the most disagreeable annoyance incident to an intermediate stop between New York and Providence.—Boston Traveller.

New Hampshire Items.

The sixth anniversary of Pembroke academy will be observed Wednesday, May 28th. His Excellency Gov. B. F. Prescott is to be president of the day; Rev. John D. Emerson will deliver an oration; Mrs. H. N. Eaton will read a poem; Hon. Joseph Kidder is to be toast master, and Capt. W. R. Patten, marshal. Former principals and students of the gymnasium are invited to unite with those of the academy in making the occasion a pleasant one. The alumni will regard this as an invitation to be present.

A man, supposed to be Samuel Moulton, was drowned in a brook on the line of the Nashua & Lowell railroad, just below Nashua, on the 30th ult. It is thought he may have fallen in while drinking. The deceased was about sixty years old.

Freeman Perkins of Lancaster, recently arrested for breaking into Jeremiah Ricker's house at Jefferson and stealing $306, was pardoned out of State prison in May last.

Dr. A. J. Thompson, of Salem, Mass., recently deceased, was a native of Laconia, in this state, where his remains were buried. Dr. Thompson was surgeon of the 18th New Hampshire regiment during the war, and post surgeon of Natchez, Miss., in 1865.

The village of Walpole is in a high state of excitement over the finding of the body of a full-grown infant behind a barn, within ten rods of the town hall. A post-mortem examination shows it to have lived about forty-eight hours, and that it came to its death by violence. It was recently placed where found, wrapped in tarred paper. The authorities are making every endeavor to find the guilty parties, but have no success yet, and no clue.

Hon. C. V. Dearboro, National Bank Examiner of this State has made an investigation of the condition of the Laconia national bank, lately robbed. He states that $3505 in money was stolen, most of which was in bills of the bank, including $800 unsigned; $133,000 in notes was carried off, all but $20,000 payable to the order of the bank, $113,000 being valueless to the robbers, not being negotiable; $20,000 were business notes of residents of Laconia and vicinity, all of whom have been notified, so no loss is apprehended to the bank on account of the notes; also $2200 in United States coupon bonds were stolen which had been pledged as collateral, but it is the opinion of the examiner that the bank is not liable for the latter loss. The decision is that the bank will not loose more than the amount first stated.

AROUND HOME.

Charlotte Thompson, the eminent actress who recently appeared at Music hall as "Jane Eyre," will return on Monday evening, May 12th, when she will take the part of "Julia" in "the Hunchback."

On the evening of the 25th ult., as Mr. Orren S. Green of Rye was driving along a road in that town, his horse was thrown by stepping upon a stone, and one of his fore legs being broken he had to be killed.

Duprez & Benedict's Minstrels will give an entertainment in Music hall on Thursday evening of next week, with an entire change of bill since their last visit. Tickets are on sale at Preston's at twenty-five cents each; reserved seats thirty-five cents.

Drake, the liquor spotter, was brought before a justice in Exeter on Thursday, on four charges of perjury in connection with the recent indictments found against parties in this city for selling liquor. Two of the complaints were dismissed, and on the other two Drake was held to answer, bail in $300 being required in each case.

A short, stout man fifty-five years old, with gray hair and no whiskers, left a horse and wagon, stolen from Pittsfield on the night of Monday, the 28th ult., at Purinton's stable in Dover, at seven o'clock Tuesday morning, changed his clothes, and took away a light carpet bag, containing tools, which rattled. It is supposed that he was connected with the Laconia robbery.

Dr. A. C. Pollock, the chiropodist who so satisfactorily treated many of our best citizens for corns, bunions, ingrowing nails and other troubles of the feet, a months or so ago, is again at the Commercial house, where he can be found until the 10th inst. He is a thoroughly competent practitioner, and treats patients at their homes, outside of his office hours, without extra charge.

Albert P. Davis, a freight conductor on the Concord railroad, met with a severe accident in the yard at Manchester, about nine o'clock on the evening of the 30th ult. He was about to shackle some cars when his foot slipped in one of the drains under the track and he was thrown forward, his right arm being in consequence caught between the bunters of the cars, and crushed from the wrist to the elbow. It is probable that amputation will be necessary.

The Eldredge Brewing Company put their new production, lager, in the market on Thursday, and we believe the general verdict of the connoisseurs in lager is that the article is fully equal to the best imported. There will be an extensive and immediate demand for this mild beverage in this vicinity, if the manufacturers can keep their brew up to the standard of the first sample, which they will spare neither pains nor expense to do.

The store of William Downs & Son was burglariously entered on Wednesday night of this week, by some person who broke the glass and sash in the door on Market street, making an opening large enough for him to crawl through. The thief got only a few coppers, leaving behind a large package of tobacco which he had made ready to remove, but finally left near the hole at which he entered. The burglary was evidently the work of a novice.

The sacred concert on Sunday evening next, with the talent advertised, promises to be a success. The reputation of the 9th Regiment Band of Boston, that has given so many Sunday evening concerts, is a guarantee for the excellence of the music, and as for Gilder and Lee, all who heard them when they were here before will certainly be on hand this time, for they will not appear here again. The Higgins family of Boston are too well known to need any commendation.

Mr. T. A. Whittle, who lives in York, near Mount Agamenticus, has "laid on our table" two eggs previously laid by his hens. They are big eggs, evidently double-yolked, and with no little end at all, both ends being alike in size and shape. One of them is seven and three-quarters inches around, measured the longest way, and each measure six and a quarter inches around the shortest way; one weighs three ounces and three-quarters, the other being a half-ounce lighter. Mr. Whittle has a breed of hens that lay such eggs as these right along, a single-yolked one being uncommon.

John S. Folsom, Esq., and family, left Manchester on Wednesday, the 30th ult., to take up their residence on the beautiful "Salter place" in Greenland, recently purchased by Mr. Folsom.

BASE BALL.

The first game played this season by the Granite State base ball club came off at the Plains on Thursday afternoon, game being called at about three o'clock, their antagonists being a picked nine. The game was won by the Granite States by a score of forty to twelve.

In the evening the club and their friends had a social dance in Mechanics' hall, which was well attended and apparently well enjoyed, Metcalf's quadrille band furnishing the music. This is the last dance the club will give this season.

Mr. D. Crowley is captain of the Granite States as now organized. The club is now ready to receive communications from any and all other clubs desirous of measuring bats with them. Address P. O. box 1484.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

Commodore John C. Beaumont, the new commandant at the navy yard, assumed command on Thursday at eleven o'clock A. M. He was received at the landing by Captain Jonathan Young, who has been in command of the yard since the death of Commodore Guest, and all the officers of the yard and the marine corps in full uniform. A salute of eleven guns was fired from the navy yard, and another from the U. S. S. Plymouth in the lower harbor.

Lieut. William H. Turner, who has been connected with the signal office in Washington, reported for duty at this station on Thursday, and will act as aid to the commandant. Mr. J. D. Keene, the new commodore's secretary, also arrived on the same day.

The Kearsarge is being coaled and having her outfit put on board.

MEMORIAL DAY.

At the special meeting of Storer Encampment, Post No. 1, G. A. R., held Thursday evening, the following subcommittees to act in conjunction with the Citizens' Memorial Day Committee were unanimously approved:

Invitations, J. Horace Kent, Dr. J. W. Parsons.

Flowers, Edwin A. Tilton, Dr. James R. May.

Finance, John H. Locke, James A. Waterhouse.

Decoration of Graves, John H. Locke, J. Nelson Goodrich.

Evening Exercises, M. M. Collis, Oliver S. Loomis, I. Nelson Goodrich.

Programme, Daniel J. Vaughan, George E. Hodgdon.

Printing, Oliver M. Knight, I. Nelson Goodrich.

CITY COUNCILS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening:

A communication was received from the proprietors of Music hall, accepting the annual license at $125.

Petitions from Andrew Lynn and others, asking for a sewer on Winter street, and of L. K. Lydston and Benj. Cheever, asking an extension of sewer on Hanover street, were referred to committee on sewers, to report.

Requests of Charles D. Mathes, asking for relay of sidewalk in front of No. 1 Langdon street, and of Jos. E. Adams, for permission to open sewer on Atkinson street, were granted under the usual restrictions.

The question of causing the removal of the portico or storm-house from the front of the Halliburton house on Islington street, the same being on city land as alleged, was referred to the committee on streets with power.

A communication was received from Mr. Abner Hall, asking permission to use the south ward room for holding non-sectarian divine services on Sunday. Referred to Ald. Mugridge, with power.

The consideration of the city treasurer's resignation was postponed for one week.

The committee to whom was referred a petition of the Woman's Temperance League, reported that no further legislation is needed on the part of the board, and recommended that the petitioners have leave to withdraw. Adopted.

Adjourned for one week.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The Rockingham County Sunday School Association will hold its fourth annual meeting on Wednesday, the 28th inst., in the Methodist church at Salem Depot, N. H. The order of exercises will be: At 10 o'clock A. M., devotional exercises; at 10:30, reading of secretary's report; at eleven o'clock, sermon by Rev. George B. Spalding, D. D., of Dover. An intermission will then be had, the exercises to recommence at 1:30 o'clock P. M. with a praise meeting, and at 1:45 the general business will be taken up; at two o'clock there will be a discussion on the topic "What are the elements of a successful Sunday school? How may we secure them?" Rev. Edward Robey, D. D., of Greenland, will open the discussion, and be followed by Rev. N. Day of Newton, Rev. Eugene M. Grant of Portsmouth, and others. At three o'clock Rev. O. S. Brackett of Manchester will deliver an essay. Each Sunday school in the county is invited to send its superintendent and pastor, and two delegates, as business representatives; and all members of Sunday schools are invited to attend. The people of Salem will cordially receive and entertain all who attend the convention, and it is hoped that every school in the county will unite to make it an interesting and profitable gathering.

SUPREME COURT.

THURSDAY, May 1; Allen, J.

The jury in State vs. Drake, for perjury, brought in a verdict of guilty at two o'clock A. M. Sentence deferred. Exceptions will probably be taken.

The civil docket was taken up.

The Blessing of Strong Nerves

is recoverable, not by the use of mineral sedatives, but by a recourse to effectual tonic treatment. Opiates and the like should only be used as auxiliaries, and then as sparingly as possible. Vigorous nerves are quiet ones, and the most direct way to render them so is to reinforce the vital energies. That sterling invigorant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will be found all-sufficient for this purpose, since it entirely removes impediments to thorough digestion and assimilation of the food so that the body is insured its due amount of nourishment, and consequently of stamina. Rheumatic tendencies and affections of the kidneys and bladder are also counteracted by the Bitters, which is besides a pleasant medicinal stimulant, infinitely purer than the raw excitants of commerce, which react injuriously upon the nervous system.

That Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg's is prepared by a regular practicing physician who has used it for fifteen years. Its great sale is but a just tribute to it.

Your Lungs are affected! Use Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

COOL AND REFRESHING after shaving is the bay rum sold at such reasonable prices by C. B. Barrett & Co., 45 North Market Street, Boston.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

Highly Concentrated, in order to do the work effectual, is the Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg.

Style, elegance, location, moderate prices, and choice of either the American plan $2.50 to $3.00, or the European plan $1.00 per day, and upwards, meals in the elegant Restaurant attached to the house, all unite in giving the traveller more, for the same money, at the Grand Central Hotel, New York, than elsewhere.

Pleasant to take, is what most people like and this is found in Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup and yet it does the work every time.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D., New York City. cod&wtnoy78

To the Hon. Judge of Probate

FOR THE COUNTY OF ROCKINGHAM.

RESPECTFULLY REPRESENTS MARCELLUS BUFFORD, administrator of the Estate of HOWARD M. MESSER, late of Portsmouth in said County, deceased, that the Personal Estate of said deceased is not sufficient to pay the just demands against his estate by the sum of one hundred and ninety-three dollars, but he died leaving real estate situate in said Portsmouth, bounded southwesterly by Cass street, northwesterly by land of Mary M. Foss, northeasterly by land of Andrew H. Jones, and southeasterly by lot of Samuel S. Frye; wherefore he prays that he may be licensed to sell at public auction all of said deceased's interest in said real estate, being a fee simple subject to any rights of dower and homestead of the widow of said deceased and of any and all of his infant children in and to the same for the payment of said demands.

The 12th day of April, A. D. 1879.

MARCELLUS BUFFORD, Administrator.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Rockingham, ss.

Probate Office at Exeter in said County, April 12, A. D. 1879.

Upon the foregoing Petition it is ordered, that a hearing be had thereon at the Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth in said County, on the second Tuesday of May next; and that the Petitioner notify the heirs of said deceased and all persons concerned or interested therein, to appear at said Court, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, by causing said petition and this order to be published three weeks successively in the Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

Naval Matters.

The Alaska sailed from Victoria, V. I., for Sitka, Alaska, April 22d.

The Powhatan went up to the Norfolk navy yard on Monday, the 28th ult., to take aboard 300 tons of coal, preparatory to sailing for Port Royal, S. C.

The Senate has approved of the advancement of Paymaster John H. Stevenson fifteen numbers in his grade, for eminent and conspicuous conduct and extraordinary heroism in battle.

Political.

The New York World advises the democrats in Congress to pass the appropriation bills, and present the propositions relating to the election laws in a separate bill. If this is vetoed, the issue will then be made up squarely, and an appeal may be taken to the people. That is good advice, and the leading democrats would give all their old boots had they taken it at the last session of the late Congress, instead of forcing a called session of the present one.

An odd question is pending before the supreme court of Missouri. At the last election in Callaway county in that State, there was an independent party in the field, which nominated and elected its officers on the platform that a collector should not be paid over $1,500, nor the probate judge and county and circuit clerks over $1,200. The regular Bourbons could not stand having fees cut off more than half in this fashion, and have sued to oust the successful candidates, on the ground that their promise to do this was a direct bribe, and made their election illegal. They say the offer to serve the public at less than prevailing salaries, is an attempt at bribery.

Capt. Creary, the efficient postmaster of the Senate, has been "bounced" by the democrats to make a place for a copperhead politician of New Jersey. Captain Creary enlisted as a private early in 1861, and carried a musket for twenty months before he was promoted, taking part in ten battles. He was in the Second Michigan infantry, which was brigaded with the First Massachusetts, and he subsequently served as chief clerk and aid to Gen. Berry, of Maine. He was wounded at Fair Oaks, Fredericksburg and Malvern Hill. It will be remembered that in debate a few days ago Senator Wallace indignantly denied that the democrats proposed to remove Union soldiers from the Senate offices. What particular service the new incumbent rendered the confederacy is not stated.

A Word to Doubters.

There is a good old English maxim that teaches us to "believe every man honest until we know him to be a villain." American custom seems to have reversed this law and appears to make every man a villain until he has proved himself an honest man. As with people, so with things. Every article placed in our markets can lay claim to popular favor upon intrinsic merit and value alone. Continued popularity, therefore, is proof positive of intrinsic excellence Dr. Pierce's Family Remedies are far more popular to-day than ever before. The people have tested them and know them to be genuine remedies for the diseases they are recommended to cure. The Golden Medical Discovery and Purgative Pellets are the best alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies that can be used in chronic diseases of the stomach and liver. The world-wide popularity of the Favorite Prescription, as a never-failing remedy for Female Diseases, would have alone secured to its discoverer the fame he has so richly won. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, of which Dr. Pierce is also proprietor, is recommended by those who have tested its virtues as a safe and reliable remedy for catarrh in its worst forms.

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1873. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION BUFFALO AND LONDON CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.
(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business for exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which, has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers: Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JNO. P. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen to the Faculty.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of unusual judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Strictures, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Tubercles, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most efficient and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and I do confident say I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid; say who were life of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and which it controls more surely than any other medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a single set of purposes, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats fully of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

Alpine Silver Mining Co.,
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leaning mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made at the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing, one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, would seem to answer this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple yet neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but so nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

That can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hardened matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is softened with a few applications; an alleviation and inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membrane lining of the head purified and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal disease.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen,—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through one nostril. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy at midnight before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored, I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headache, and in every way being as I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.
FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made my familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. F. DEADY.

The Back Hair.

False hair having come to be recognized as a necessity of the modern female existence, it may be of interest to know how this constantly increasing want is supplied. Live hair, bought "on foot" (to use the technical term of the trade,) constitutes but a very small percentage of the stock in market, as there are few who wish to part with their locks for money, and those who have superfluous locks to spare grow fewer and fewer every year. When second-hand tresses were needed to furnish wigs for a few elderly ladies, agents found no difficulty in securing a sufficiency among the peasant maids of Auvergne and Brittany. The present demand, however, greatly exceeds the supply, and it is asserted that Paris alone uses more than all the available crop in France, and that Marseilles (the great centre of the traffic in hair) deals with Spain, the Orient and the two Sicilies, for forty tons a year of dark hair, of which she makes upwards of 65,000 chignons annually. Under the name of "dead hair" are classed the "combings" which thrifty servant girls save up and sell, the clippings of barber shops, faded curls, worn out switches, etc. The scavengers, of every city, both at home and abroad, value nothing short of a silver spoon among the refuse so much as a snarl of combings, however dirty, as it will find a ready sale. Such findings are afterwards washed with bran and potash, carded, sifted, classed and sorted, and then made into the cheap front curls, puffs, and chignons that abound in market. Much of this enters into the cheaper grade of the 350,000 "pieces" annually made in France, of which enormous trade England is said to be the best customer, and America almost as good. Late reports on the commerce of Swatow, China, shows that a large export trade in "dead" hair, gathered in the stalls of barbers, sprang up in 1873, during which year 18,000 pounds were exported to Europe. In 1875 the exports of this refuse arose to 134,000 pounds, with a commercial value of over $25,000. It is an undoubted fact, too, that pauper corpses are often despoiled of their hair to meet this same demand of an increasing commerce. Those, then, who sport more than their own natural locks, can never be sure whether these are redolent of the sepulchre, the gutter, or the servant girl's comb.

The Delights of "Before the Mast."

A boy who ran away to sea writes as follows of his hardships:—Work was begun at six o'clock A. M., by the watch on duty, and continued by alternate watches until shortly after six P. M., when look-outs were set. It may be wondered what was found to occupy a crew of sailors for a whole voyage, outside of the working of the ship. I scarcely remember now, but I know that there never was an idle moment. When work was wanting the officers were fertile in inventing means for making it.

There was daily cleaning and scrubbing of paint, polishing of brass, sweeping of decks, assistance to be rendered to the ship carpenter and sail maker, masts to be slushed down, ropes to be tarred, blocks to be removed and sheaves to be scraped and black leaded, worn paint to be scraped off and repainted, frayed cordage to be spliced and wound, broken ratlines to be replaced, rust to be hammered off the anchors and chains, "dunnage" to be got out for fires, stores to be removed from the "lazarette," new sails to be bent on, new rope to be made pliable, a pen of squeaking porkers to be attended to, and when all other resources failed, sennet to be braided and oakum to be picked.

No matter what the work, it seemed to require the same amount of cursing and kicking on the part of the officers. Not a day passed on the voyage but I was clubbed, kicked, rope's-ended or struck with the fist by one or the other of the mates. This will perhaps interest those youths who delight in the standard dime novel: "Will Wilkes, the Wild Wahoo of the Wallabout;" "Carousing Christopher's Careless Cruise; or, the Criminal of Klamshell Cave," and that sort of thing, for, in those remarkable literary productions, the fourteen-year-olds boss their officers in a way that would make an old sailor weep even to read about.

As the callow heroes of these sea tales are accustomed to dine in the cabin in a truly luxurious manner, it may also interest their young admirers to know something about the cuisine of the ship City of Boston, which I can assure them, is not widely different from the other merchant vessels. For breakfast, dinner and supper we had hard tack in unlimited quantity, the only article of diet of which there was ample sufficiency; four or five times a week we were served with "salt horse," which was in a partial state of decay and which could be smelled fore and aft whenever a barrel of it was opened; once a week two tainted little mackerel were given out with a couple of miniature potatoes; on Fridays we were regaled with a dab of boiled rice; on Saturdays there was a villanous compound formed of "salt horse," pieces of hard tack and thin molasses and called "cracker hash;" once a week there was a weak soup of dried peas, while Thursdays and Sundays were eagerly looked forward to as bringing duff, which it is hardly necessary to state, is dough boiled in a bag and in some cases—not in ours—primed with plums. It was divided into fragments of an ounce or two and dished up with a few drops of molasses. What was called coffee—but which the packages containing it asserted in unblushing bold type to be chickory—was given out at breakfast, warm, and slightly sweetened with molasses. The tea was a mysterious compound which gives me stomachic qualms to think about even now. It tasted like a mixture of wormwood and hay, with just enough molasses to render it particularly nauseous. We merely drank it because it was warm and prevented our being chilled at nightfall.

Portsmouth Chronicle

SATURDAY, MAY 3, 1879.

Horrible Affair.

At North Sandwich, Mass., on the 1st inst., Charles F. Freeman in a freak of religious insanity butchered his daughter Edith, aged five years, by way of sacrifice. The man had become greatly excited during the last few days while attending a series of revival meetings. About a week ago he claimed to have received a "wonderful revelation," and has not eaten or slept since. He said that the Lord directed him to sacrifice his little daughter, and that she would rise again in three days. Thursday morning he sent word around the village that he would make the revelation known and offer an orthodox sacrifice at three o'clock in the afternoon. A number of people assembled at his house, but previous to their arrival the horrible deed was performed, with cool deliberation, and accompanied with what was intended to be an impressive religious ceremony. The little one was transfixed with a knife by her insane father, and her blood was poured out upon a table, which was improvised as an altar. The madman had not been secured up to Friday afternoon; he had driven everybody from his house and threatened death to any who should interfere, and having plenty of firearms no one dared to attempt his capture. He is about thirty-five years old, and has a wife and daughter living. He is perfectly sane on all but religious matters.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 30th.

The town talk is the President's message. From the republican standpoint it is an admirable document, able, logical and truthful. From the democratic standpoint it is sophistical, and a mere special plea. Both sides are surprised at its emphasis in standing upon the republican ground. The republicans, who feared the President would waver and offer some weak point for compromise, are highly elated; while the democrats, who did not believe that the President would burn his bridges against them, are apparently very deeply disappointed. The more conservative of them say that the thing for them to do now is to pass a resolution extending the provisions of the last appropriation acts to next winter, and go home to their constituents for justification, but it looks as though they might be powerless to control the caucus, which seems inclined to fight to the bitter end. The President, by his language, indicates that he is opposed to the repeal of the laws objected to by the Democrats, whether upon appropriation bills or otherwise.

Some excitement has been created in political circles by reports from different parts of the country that Sec'y Sherman is laboring, through revenue officers and others, to work up the Sherman movement, looking towards the Presidency. His ambition is well known, and he has been considerably flattered of late. But this "movement" does not take well even among republicans, and certainly the radical men of the party do not take to it. In fact, they feel very bitter towards the secretary. In talking with a prominent radical, I learned that the hostility was not to Sherman alone, but, to use his language, to "any one who had anything to do with the sale of Louisiana to the Nicholls white-liners." This man declared that the republicans would not support any man who a hand in the "policy" of Hayes. Besides this, it is not likely that the "Sherman movement" can gain any hold in the south. Only two men at present seem to have any hold there. They are Windom and Grant. Senator Windom's staunch republicanism is known there and everywhere, and his popularity among colored voters would give him nearly the solid southern vote in the National Convention to-day were Gen'l Grant out of the way. As it is, he is believed to be the favorite there, and certainly he has a support in the northwest which John Sherman cannot take away from him.

One of the greenback-labor congressmen has been slopping over, and got himself into trouble. A meeting of laboring men here last night soundly denounced Congressman Murch, of Maine, as a fraud, he having made great promises and never fulfilled them. They desire his constituents to understand that he is not what he pretends, but that all he cares for is his salary and perquisites.

Mr. Tilden's enemies are pretty busy now hunting up evidence against him—his democratic enemies I mean, for his republican enemies are disposed to let him go on and capture the democratic nomination if he can. They have gone away back to 1848 to find that he was a free-soiler and helped nominate Van Buren at Buffalo. A good deal of ugliness is also manifested on account of charges that he is determined to rule or ruin the party, and many democrats threaten not to submit to that kind of talk any longer.

It is finally settled, I hear, that Hon. Geo. C. Gorham will be secretary of the republican congressional committee. He is an able political manager, and his services could not well be dispensed with. The committee will go to work at once with a view to strengthening the party in California, and elsewhere in the States having early elections. The democrats don't appear to be moving in the same work yet.

A good deal of malice or a good deal of ignorance, or perhaps both combined, animates the average newspaper critic who undertakes to show that the jetty improvements at the mouth of the Mississippi, under the direction of Capt. Eads, are a failure, or have been unfaithfully made so they are likely to fail. I am not probably far out of the way when I repeat my former opinion, that most of these criticisms are the offspring of malice, sharpened by the fact that Capt. Eads has refused to pay the said critics for other opinions. The latest error—like all the rest stupid, because the government officers here are ready to give any correspondent the facts—is that Capt. Eads has forfeited his future payments because of his failure to obtain a certain depth of channel above, as well as through and below, the jetties. In fact, the engineer is not bound by his contract to perform all the criticism implies; but again in fact he has performed all it implies, and much more than he is bound to perform. There is no dispute I believe, now, as to the depth in the jetties being twenty-seven feet, which is greatly ahead of the demand at this time. As to the rest, the engineer officer of the United States has certified that Capt. Eads has obtained a navigable depth of twenty-four feet through the shoal at the head of the pass. If he had not obtained this before the expiration of the present year the act of 1875 would have been null and void, and no law would have existed under which the contractor could collect another dollar. By the law he has until December, 1880, to secure twenty-six feet at the head of the pass, and it is probable that this will be accomplished a year ahead of time. This ought to set at rest the clamor about this work. I enter into this explanation because this work is one of great importance to the country, and these malicious assaults are embarrassing to the government as well as to the contractor; and if the success of the jetty system were less solidly assured they might endanger its progress by creating distrust. As it is, the authorities and Congress believe that Capt. Eads has earned more than he has received, and there will be no obstacle placed in his way.

Commissioner Le Duc is considerably exercised because Congress is disposed to take from him the authority to investigate the cattle disease, and the patronage that goes with it. The feeling in favor of giving that work to the national health board is growing, and there seems to be no reason why that board cannot attend to it without great additional expense.

KNOX.

News and Notes.

The three Boston boys recently picked up in the streets of New York in a starving condition by the police, were all fired with a glorious ambition to have wonderful adventures by the constant reading of dime novels and "boys' illustrated papers."

The citizens of Arlington, N. J., are organizing a vigilance committee to patrol their streets nights, as a protection against a gang of burglars who have robbed twelve houses in as many nights.

By a runaway accident in New York, Thurday, George Douglass, son of the proprietor of the New York riding academy, was killed, and a companion had his arm broken.

In Chicago, May 1st, Mrs. Ada Roberts fatally shot Theodore B. Weber, a prominent shoe dealer of that city. The woman charges that she was seduced by Weber, who entered into certain pecuniary arrangements on that account and afterward refused to keep them.

The recent great fire in Orenburg, Russia, is now attributed to carelessness. Nine hundred and forty-nine dwellings were burned, together with one mosque, four mills, two hundred and ninety-two shops, several tar, coal and firewood stores, timber yards, meat market, fruit market, and all the government buildings. The Czar has contributed ten thousand roubles for the relief of the sufferers.

Mrs. Sarah J. B. Hale, who for half a century was editor of Godey's Lady's Book, died Wednesday evening in New York.

The trial of Charles Drews, Frank Stichler, Israel Brandt, Isaiah Hummel, Henry F. Weis and George Zechman at Lebanon, Pa., for the murder of Joseph Raber in December last resulted in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. The convicted men are backwoodsmen whose chief occupation is wood-chopping. Raber was a friendless old man of sixty-five who worked at whatever he could find to do. His life was insured by these people to the amount of $20,000, and he was then murdered by Drews and Stichler, who pushed him into the creek and held him under water until life was extinct, not, however, without a violent struggle. The prisoners were convicted on the evidence of one Peters, a soldier in the regular army, who had married the daughter of Drews, and of his wife, both of whom saw the murder committed, and on that of a brother of Stichler, who had been offered money to go into the conspiracy.

A posse of citizens attempted to arrest a gang of horse thieves at the house of one Pierson, fourteen miles from Forsythe, in Tracy county, Mo., on the 29th ult. The thieves resisted, and in the melee James Cegburn and William Bates of the posse were killed and another severely wounded; Pierson of the other side was mortally wounded, and a man named Lockhart is suppose to have been killed. The rest of the outlaws escaped. Great excitement prevailed, and a large party went in pursuit of the gang.

Political.

Henry Wilson took an active part in 1861 in favor of retaining nearly thirty democratic officers and employes of the Senate, which included nearly all who had not openly advocated rebellion or left for Dixie. These democrats have been retained by the republicans until their death or resignation, and some yet hold their places. Last Thursday afternoon Henry Wilson's brother, Samuel Colbath, a poor old man who has for many years been a doorkeeper in one of the Senate galleries, was removed because he is not a democrat. On the same day five other Senate employees, all Union soldiers, were removed to make places for ex-confederates.

A correspondent of the Boston Journal writes from Washington that the unity of the republicans is in striking contrast to the disagreement in the democratic councils. The only certain fact in the present situation is, the democrats are hopelessly divided. The more prudent and conservative men are loud in their denunciations of the hotspurs who have brought the party into this position, and are profuse with regrets that they themselves did not insist upon a different course. Said one of these gentlemen, who is an ex-confederate, and who has always been opposed to the movement, "We have been successful in two things; we have united the republican party and secured our own defeat. Our party has made a terrible mistake. The extra session was the first blunder. The compromise that was offered by the republicans last session, through Foster and Garfield, was much more than the democrats now even ask, but they refused it, forced the extra session, and the result is that we shall not only not obtain what was offered in that compromise, but we shall be ignominiously beaten. The party discipline will be broken, and the republican party will be united in a solid phalanx against us in 1880. We have even succeeded in reconciling the stalwart republicans to the President. The democrats as a party are signing their own death warrant."

—The beauty of a man's parting his hair in the middle appears to be that it gives both ears an equal chance to flap.

The Firemen's Relief Fund now mounts to $1582, which is deposited in he savings bank and drawing good interest.

Owing to a previous engagement made by the quadrille band connected with the Dirigo band of Kittery, the City Guards will not have their street parade until Monday evening.

Mount Sinai and Strawberry Bank Encampments, I. O. O. F., of this city, have voted to accept the invitation of Bunker Hill Encampment of Charlestown, Mass., o visit them on the 17th of June.

Grand Patriarch John W. Saul and Grand High Priest George S. Lamos, of the Grand Encampment of Odd Fellows of the State of New Hampshire, paid an official visit to Mt. Sinai Encampment of this city on Friday evening.

Willis G. Myers and John S. Montgomery are drawn as grand jurors, and Frank Sides and George H. Dennett as petit jurors, from ward two, to serve at the session of the Circuit Court of the United States in this city on the 8th inst.

The following staff appointments by Brig. Gen. J. M. Clough, of New London, commanding the 1st Brigade, New Hampshire National Guard, have just been announced: Lieut. Col. David S. Corser, of Webster, assistant adjutant general; Maj. William R. Patten of Manchester, judge advocate; Maj. James G. Sturgis of Manchester, medical director; Maj. David Urch of Portsmouth, assistant inspector general; Capt. George W. Nichols of Manchester, brigade quartermaster; Capt. John S. Rowell of Exeter, commissary of subsistence; Capt. Edson G. Stark of Manchester, and Lieut. Fred P. Wilson of Portsmouth, aid-de-camps.

Mr. Thomas Freeman of this city, a well-known fisherman, had a narrow escape from drowning a few days since. He was out in his fishing boat, and while standing on the forward cuddy engaged in hauling his trawls, by some mischance pitched headforemost into the water, coming up directly under the bottom of the boat. He managed to clear himself, and on reaching the surface found the boat behind his back and rapidly drifting away. By using tremendous exertion, encumbered as he was with heavy fisherman's boots and an abundance of thick clothing, which dragged him deeper and deeper in the water every moment, he managed to reach the boat when almost exhausted, and grasped the end of the mainboom, by the aid of which he hauled himself aboard. As there was no person with him and no other boat near, Mr. Freeman's escape from death was almost miraculous.

A Grand Lodge of the United Order of the Golden Cross for New Hampshire was instituted at Dover on Thursday last by Deputy Supreme Commander Joseph H. Morgan of Massachusetts, assisted by Grand Herald J. B. Trueworth and Grand Keeper of the Records Mrs. Clara M. Morgan. The five lodges in the State were represented. The following officers were elected: Past Grand Commander, C. K. Sanford, Rochester; Grand Commander, Stephen W. Clarke, Portsmouth; Grand Vice-Commander, Mrs. M. S. Collins, Nashua; Grand Keeper of the Records, G. C. Waterman, Dover; Grand Prelate, E. M. Grant, Portsmouth; Grand Warden of Inner Gate, Mrs. Philip Eaton, Nashua; Grand Warden of Outer Gate, J. B. Clark, Great Falls; Representative to Supreme Commandry, one year, John S. Haines, Great Falls; Representative to Supreme Commandry, two years, R. S. Whiteman, Nashua.

Miss Lillian Chandler, the violinist, and her sister, Miss Lucie Chandler, accompanist and vocalist, who gave such unqualified satisfaction to the audience at the entertainment in Music hall in aid of the Children's Home some weeks ago, will give a concert at the same place on the evening of Tuesday, the 13th inst., when they will be assisted by the Eichberg instrumental quartette, composed of young ladies, and by Master Robbie Chandler, a violinist of nine years' experience in this sinful world. Miss Lillian Chandler, notwithstanding her youthfulness, is a wonderfully accurate and pleasing performer on the violin, and is well on the way to become a "master" of that most difficult of all instruments to master; and her sister, who is a vocalist of much more than ordinary merit, will sing several pieces on this occasion. The instrumental quartette of young ladies we have never had the pleasure of hearing, but their name alone is a guaranty of more than common proficiency. Mr. George Nowell is also down on the programme for several piano solos.

A temperance meeting in connection with the Legal Suasion League will be held this (Saturday) evening in the Methodist vestry.

Mr. Henry L. Harlow, leader of the late United States naval band, who has been to Europe and is at present sojourning at the west, is to return to this city in the fall and organize an orchestra of selected material. He will be heartily welcomed back.—Journal.

The selectmen of Exeter have just completed the inventory of property in the town for the year 1879, which amounts to $2,771,896. The amount of the inventory for the year 1878 was $2,328,134, making the increase this year $443,762. The rate of taxation will be $12.65 on one thousand dollars of valuation. The rate last year was $14.56 on a thousand.

Teachers have been engaged for the public schools in Hampton as follows: District one, primary school, Miss Luella A. Dow, grammar school, Miss Flora E. Taylor; district two, primary, Miss Isabel Cole, grammar, Miss Maria Perkins; district three, Miss Mary H. Godfrey; district four, Miss Augusta S. Lane; district five, Miss Edna M. Hardy, of Hampton Falls; district six, Miss Clara G. Philbrick.

The programme for the sacred concert on Sunday evening contains fine selections, and the entertainment will undoubtedly be attractive. Those who are to take part in it are well known to all who read the Boston papers, and the great demand being now made for Lee to sing at concerts in that city almost every evening in the week, proves him an artist of high rank, and Gilder is one of the finest pianists in the country.

Eben Kenniston of Epping, now under indictment for having in his possession counterfeit money with intent to pass the same, was on Wednesday, the 30th ult., before the police court at Exeter on complaint of his wife, and was ordered to give bonds in the sum of $200 for his good behavior for nine months. On a complaint of David D. Cook against Kenniston, for surety of the peace, the hearing was adjourned for three days.

Last September the grand jury of York county found an indictment against Mr. George Bowden of York for alleged arson in setting fire to the house of one Matilda M. Todd of Kittery. We have known Mr. Bowden for many years and we took no stock in the charge against him, believing it to be a put-up job by some enemy. We believe the case never came to anything, as it was pretty clear that the witnesses swore falsely. Now Mr. Bowden has commenced an action for civil damages to the amount of $15,000 against Nat. G. Marshall of York, and the sheriff has attached all of Marshall's property. This suit grew out of the indictment referred to; the inference is that Bowden believes and expects to prove that Marshall was at the bottom of it for malicious purposes.—Dover Democrat.

CITY COUNCILS.

The Common Council on Thursday evening considered the appropriation bill, the original draft of which we have already published. Several items were increased in amount, viz.: For fire department, from $9,000 to $10,000; repairs and rents of school-houses, from $1,500 to $2,500; schools, in addition to literary fund, from $20,000 to $23,000; sewers, from $1,600 to $2,500; total increase, $5,900. The bill as thus amended was passed.

A memorial from the Woman's Temperance League was accepted, and after discussion the following preamble and resolution were adopted:

Whereas, The Board of Mayor and Aldermen reported adversely on the petition as presented by the Women's Temperance League,

Voted, That the petition as presented to the Common Council be accepted and adopted, and referrred to the Mayor to carry into effect the request presented by the Women's Temperance League regarding the enforcement of the law.

To the Hon. Judge of Probate

FOR THE COUNTY OF ROCKINGHAM.

RESPECTFULLY REPRESENTS MARCELLUS BUFFORD, administrator of the Estate of HOWARD M. MESSER, late of Portsmouth in said County, deceased, that the Personal Estate of said deceased is not sufficient to pay the just demands against his estate by the sum of one hundred and ninety-three dollars, but he died leaving real estate situate in said Portsmouth, bounded southwesterly by Cass street, northwesterly by land of Mary M. Foss, northeasterly by land of Andrew H. Jones, and southeasterly by land of Samuel S. Frye; wherefore he prays that he may be licensed to sell at public auction all of said deceased's interest in said real estate, being a fee simple subject to any rights of dower and homestead of the widow of said deceased and of any and all of his infant children in and to the same for the payment of said demands.

The 17th day of April, A. D. 1879.

MARCELLUS BUFFORD, Administrator.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Rockingham, ss.

Probate Office at Exeter in said County, April 12, A. D. 1879.

Upon the foregoing Petition it is ordered, that a hearing be had thereon at the Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth in said County, on the second Tuesday of May next; and that the Petitioner notify the heirs of said deceased and all persons concerned or interested therein, to appear at said Court, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, by causing said petition and this order to be published three weeks successively in the Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

The jury at Concord, in the case of Charles O. Moulton of Pembroke, indicted for selling liquor, were out all night and reported a disagreement. They were sent back by the judge, and returned a verdict of guilty.

A large bear, supposed to weigh 350 pounds or more, recently made his appearance near the residence of Charles Kent of Lyme. Mr. Kent and his hired man sallied forth with weapons to meet the enemy. The bear taking warning fled to the woods, and secreted himself among the rocks. Mr. Kent lives some distance from neighbors, and has fine sheep and bees to attract such a visitor.

In consequence of the high water in the Merrimac a considerable portion of the works of the Amoskeag and Manchester mills at Manchester suspended on Thursday, and nearly 2000 operatives were temporarily put out of work. No serious danger of a freshet is apprehended, as the ice is all out of the river.

Considerable damage has been done in Plymouth, Lancaster, Woodsville and Bath, by freshets in the rivers.

Nine suits, involving about $10,000, have just been commenced by the town of Dorchester against nine prominent residents of that town. During the war defendants advanced money to the town to hire substitutes to fill the town's quota for the purpose of avoiding a draft. Afterward the town voted to refund the money, and it did so through its selectmen. Dissatisfaction with the arrangement among a few Dorchester citizens at that time has been increasing ever since. Being in a majority at the last March meeting, they elected a new board of officers, instructing them to bring suit forthwith against the parties receiving the money; also against the selectmen who paid it. Much ill feeling has been engendered over the matter, and the cases excite interest throughout the county. The suits will be entered in the supreme court at Plymouth next week. A long and bitter fight is expected.

—"Greatly to his credit"—A bank deposit.

—"Dear singer! Thou hast never ta'en my hand, nor looked into my face all tenderwise," sings Mary Clemmer to John G. Whittier. Of course he hasn't, Mary, he is no such man.—Lowell Courier.

—"Shirley Dare" says: "I wish American ladies and gentlemen would take to the fashion of wearing hand-knit thread, wool and silk stockings." She adds that such stockings "can be bought for four dollars per pair." This is a woman who a few years ago was a penniless widow, with several children on her hands, and glad to get two dollars a column for writing up millinery openings.

The Blessing of Strong Nerves

Is recoverable, not by the use of mineral sedatives, but by a recourse to effectual tonic treatment. Opiates and the like should only be used as auxiliaries and then as sparingly as possible. Vigorous nerves are quiet ones, and the most direct way to render them so is to reinforce the vital energies. That sterling invigorant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will be found all-sufficient for this purpose, since it entirely removes impediments to thorough digestion and assimilation of the food so that the body is insured in the amount of nourishment, and consequently of stamina. Rheumatic tendencies and affections of the kidneys and bladder are also counteracted by the Bitters, which is besides a pleasant medicinal stimulant, infinitely purer than the raw excitants of commerce, which react injuriously upon the nervous system.

That Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg's is prepared by a regular practicing physician who has used it for fifteen years. Its great sale is but a just tribute to it.

Your Lungs are affected! Use Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

COOL AND REFRESHING after shaving is the bay rum sold at such reasonable prices by C. B. Barrett & Co., 45 North Market Street, Boston.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 25 cents.

Highly Concentrated, in order to do the work effectual, is the Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg.

Style, elegance, location, moderate prices, and choice of either the American plan $2.50 to $3.00, or the European plan $1.00 per day, and upwards, meals in the elegant Restaurant attached to the house, all unite in giving the traveller more, for the same money, at the Grand Central Hotel, New York, than elsewhere.

Pleasant to take, is what most people like and this is found in Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup and yet it does the work every time.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE
GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
—THE—
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers: Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. Jno. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially accurate facilities at a superior service for the cure of all chronic diseases peculiar to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Fits, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous disorders, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. Our "Medical Common Sense Common Sense Medical Advisor" (1,000 pages, sent for the price of a "Farmer's Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents postpaid).
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Kidneys, Bladder), etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without capital operation, Cancer, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a single end or purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent postpaid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of these affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

Alpine Silver Mining Co.,
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSABLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety, and well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

IT can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, incrusted matter that has collected in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the ulceration and inflammation subsides, and the entire membranous linings of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen.—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through one nostril. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy or it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my ears by coughing and compelled me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored, I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headache, and in every way better and I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made my familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. F. DERBY.

THE WATER MILL.

Listen to the Water Mill, all the live-long day—
How the creaking of the wheels wears the hours away.
Languidly the water glides, useless on and still,
Never coming back again to that water mill;
And a proverb haunts my mind, as the spell is cast,
The mill will never grind again with the water that is past.

Take the lesson to yourself, loving heart and true;
Golden years are passing by, youth is passing too—
Try to make the most of life, live no honest way;
All that you can call your own lies in this, to-day.
Power, intellect, the strength, may not, cannot last;
The mill will never grind again with the water that is past.

Oh, the wasted hours of life that have glided by;
Oh, the good we might have done, lost without a sigh;
Love that we might once have saved with a single word,
Thoughts, conceived, but ne'er pursued, perishing unheard.
Take the lesson to your heart,—take, oh, hold it fast!
The mill will never grind again with the water that is past.

Oh, love thy God and fellow man, thyself consider last;
For come it will when thou must scan dark errors of the past.
Soon will this flight of life be o'er, and earth release from view,
And heaven in all its glory shine, where all is pure and true.
Ah, then thou'lt learn, more clearly then, the proverb, deep and vast,
The mill will never grind again with the water that is past.

Political.

The mayor of New Orleans has issued an order closing all colored churches at ten o'clock in the evening. They are not to be allowed to hold any services or meetings after that hour.

A northern newspaper correspondent, who was sent to Mississippi to investigate the negro exodus, on arriving at Jackson called upon Governor Stone and asked if he would be permitted to talk with the negroes on the plantations. "I don't know about that," said the governor; "our people are a little jealous of any interference. It might not be pleasant for you if you were mistaken for an emigration agent." Finally the governor gave the correspondent a "pass" explaining his object, and the man went his way. And yet they tell us that there is the utmost freedom and security in Mississippi.

New Hampshire Items.

An unoccupied house in Laconia, belonging to B. F. Wiggin, was burned by an incendiary fire, Friday morning.

The twenty-third annual examination of the State reform school occured last Thursday. The institution is under the management of John C. Ray, and at present there are one hundred and twenty inmates. The exercises were of a very interesting character, and at the conclusion eighteen of the boys were presented with testimonials for good behavior, and twelve received discharges.

Rev. Mr. Morrison, an itinerant minister, eloped with a young girl from Wentworth, a few days since. Great indignation is felt, as Morrison, who had been staying with the farmer having charge of the girl, is a thorough scamp, and the girl is an orphan.

Llewellyn Brackett has turned State's evidence in regard to the incendiary fire at Nashua, implicating himself, John H. Stone, A. H. Farnsworth and Clarence E. Marble. He was held in $2000 until the May term of the court.

A Word to Doubters.

There is a good old English maxim that teaches us to "believe every man honest until we know him to be a villain." American custom seems to have reversed this law and appears to make every man a villain until he has proved himself an honest man. As with people, so with things. Every article placed in our markets can lay claim to popular favor upon intrinsic merit and value alone. Continued popularity, therefore, is proof positive of intrinsic excellence Dr. Pierce's Family Remedies are far more popular to-day than ever before. The people have tested them and know them to be genuine remedies for the diseases they are recommended to cure. The Golden Medical Discovery and Purgative Pellets are the best alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies that can be used in chronic diseases of the stomach and liver. The world-wide popularity of the Favorite Prescription, as a never-failing remedy for Female Diseases, would have alone secured to its discoverer the fame he has so richly won. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, of which Dr. Pierce is also proprietor, is recommended by those who have tested its virtues as a safe and reliable remedy for catarrh in its worst forms.

Portsmouth Chronicle

MONDAY, MAY 5, 1879.

Barnabee in Pinafore.

The present rage is Pinafore. It is every where present. On the stage in nearly one hundred and fifty different representations, in the music in the air, in the daily joke, and in the newspapers, there is Pinafore in front of us, and every where to be seen and heard. Starting with the determination not to be captured by the Pinafore, yet we went, saw and were conquered several times, but the last visit to the ship seemed the best. In deed, Pinafore grows upon one; it seems better every time it is witnessed, and the good points become more and more appreciable as one becomes familar with this comic opera of nearly a year's successful run. We had the satisfaction of seeing our former townsman, Mr. Barnabee, recently in the part of the Right Hon. Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B., First Lord of the Admiralty, on the stage of the Boston theatre, in Pinafore. It is the rage in Boston just at present, to visit the Boston theatre and see Pinafore. Of course the management here have everything in the way of appointments and properties in the best possible condition. The stage represents the broad deck of the man-of-war, with bona-fide guns on gun-carriages of the most ancient order; running-rigging in coils and bolayed against the masts, which have lower and topsail yards, shrouds, etc; sailors lay aloft, man the yards, and abound all over the ship; boatswain's whistles pipe, bells are sounded, signals hoisted, and with exception of some one in charge of the deck, which seems at times deserted, even for a ship at anchor, one would suppose he was really on board a man-of-war. The company is numerous, the chorus excellent, and the costumes and music, in short all the accessories, are well up to the established standard of the Boston theatre representations.

But, Sir Joseph comes on board ("and so do his sisters and his cousins and his aunts"). The Boston audience knows Sir Joseph, and there are but few in the theatre, which is nightly filled to its capacity, with a cordon of standees all around the rear seats, who are "not for Joseph." Barnabee makes up admirably; he is of stately height, admiralic proportions, and his legs in the breeches and stockings of his rank, seem like his assumed office, to be a fortune in themselves. Indeed, at the end of the trio song of when Sir Joseph escorts Josephine to the door of her father's cabin, and minces back to Capt. Corcoran, the house comes down, and encore after encore compels the frequent repetition of this episode. In Barnabee as a comedian we see all that effervescent, bubbling fun of his boyhood days, and the cultivated culmination of his early platform efforts; but in the deep, rich voice that fills every space of the grand auditorium of the magnificent theatre is the keen relish that rivets the attention of every spectator. It is then, with his magnificent physique, his careful make-up and stately tread and poise, with the large and powerful chorus around him, that our musical hero proclaims in clarion, though dulcet notes,

"Let the air with joy be laden,
Fill with songs the air above," etc.,

"I am the monarch of the sea,
The ruler of the Queen's navee,
Whose praise Great Britain loudly chants,"— and then in contrast with this announcement the pert, prompt and petite Hebe at his side leads off with the inevitable "sisters and his cousins and his aunts"—that we, by aid of the well-trained orchestral accompaniment, enjoy to the full the opera, and determine within ourselves that the correct thing in these days is to see Barnabee in Pinafore.

Mr. Barnabee appears graceful, dignified and at ease in this role, and he has the advantage over all others we have seen in this part, in his stately movement, his good proportions, his rich voice, his admirable appreciation of the humorous, and his facial powers, which can allow him at once to change from the simpering, second-childhood, sighing lover, to the proud, dignified and authoritative "lord who rules the water." The opera is the great attraction in Boston at the present time, and the interest to witness it seems unabated in the modern Athens, none the less than in London or other large cities.

A Bad Exhibit.

The city of Portland has made an unfortunate investment in the Portland & Rochester railroad—a road built, it would seem, to carry traffic away from Portland, while other lines for which municipal aid was granted were constructed with a view to bring trade to the "natural seaport."

It appears that the P. & R. R. R., for four years, has been earning about $21,000 annually above the working expenses, while the interest on the bonded debt has been accumulating at the rate of $98,000 a year. There is no immediate prospect of any considerable increase of business. On the contrary, the provision of necessary rolling stock and extraordinary repairs of bridges will probably take the whole surplus earnings for two years to come.

In view of these circumstances it is thought that if the city can dispose of its interest for $200,000, it will be best to sell. The city holds $1,150,000 in the bonds of the road, with overdue coupons amounting to $325,000 more. For these bonds, $1,150,000 in city bonds were exchanged, of which $82,000 have been returned for the sinking fund, leaving $1,069,000 outstanding. The interest on these bonds is $64,000 a year, and for this annual payment there is no return and no prospect of any return. Holding the property involves this annual outlay. If it can be sold for $200,000, so much of the debt can be extinguished, saving $12,000 a year. The following shows the state of affairs of the bankrupt corporation:

Bonded debt to the city	$1,150,000
Bonded debt to individuals	350,000
Principal of bonded debt	$1,500,000
Arrears of interest	400,235
Floating debt	76,035
Total debt	$1,976,270
Annual interest on bonded debt	$98,000
Annual earnings above working expenses	21,500

If the interest of the city should be transferred for $200,000 to the holders of the $350,000 in bonds sold to individuals, their investment would be $550,000, and the annual interest on this amount, at four per cent, would be $22,000. It appears that the road might be made to pay this sum, and the arrangement would accordingly put the line on a solvent basis, while the realization of $200,000 cash for securities now worthless would enable the city to save an annual payment of $12,000 for interest.

Such a scaling as this would of course come out of the tax-payers of the Forest City, who have good courage and bravely meet their losses. The integrity of the Portland people is appreciated, as we see at home their municipal bonds sell at 106 to 110, and bonds issued in aid of railroads from 105 1-2 to 107 1-2, while Maine Central consolidated bonds (seven per cent, we believe,) bring but 95.

The citizens have requested the city council to authorize the mayor to advertise the city's interest in the P. & R. R. R., and to invite bids therefor.

There is one thing sure; to be remunerative, the indebtness of the railroad must be scaled down to a very low figure.

The Massachusetts Horror.

Charles F. Freeman, the religious maniac who murdered his little daughter as an acceptable sacrifice to God, at Pocasset, near North Sandwich, Mass., was arrested and lodged in jail at Barnstable late Friday afternoon, together with his wife, who approved of the murder and held a light while it was being committed. The miserable father stabbed the child to death as she lay sleeping in bed. The little one awoke, and pleadingly raised her arms, saying simply, "Oh, papa." The inhuman father took his dying child in his arms and held it to his bosom until it expired. The mother meantime carried from the room the elder daughter, who was in bed with her sister, and had awakened. The little one made no outcry, but quietly nestled in the arms of its executioner as though falling asleep. Next morning the murderer called in some thirty persons of his own religious belief, told them what he had done and showed them the child's dead body, and explained that God had commanded him to do the deed, and would renew the child's life on Sunday; and the strangest thing of all is that the company actually agreed to keep the matter secret, and did do so until the evening, when a girl told of it. Even the grandmother of the little one that was slain upholds the father in the course he pursued, and glories in this evidence of his implicit faith and obedience to God's commands. A number of others, who were present when Freeman made his declaration, are equally earnest in their approbation of his actions. And yet these people are, to all appearances, as sensible and practical in all other respects as their neighbors. Most of them are well-to-do farmers. Steps will be at once taken to secure the arrest of all of those present at the meeting at Freeman's house, on a charge of being accessory to the deed after the fact in endeavoring to conceal the atrocious crime. There is a strong demand on the part of the citizens that some such action should be taken. The sect to which Freeman and his wife belong call themselves Adventists.

News and Notes.

These brilliant parents who think boys should have hatchets and guns to play with, will be interested to know that in Newburyport lately, a son of Rev. Mr. Himes, eight or nine years old, was playing in the basement with a playmate of about the same age. The playthings they had were a hatchet and a chopping block. The playmate being of an inventive turn of mind proposed a new game, thus: you lay your finger on the block and see how near I can strike without hitting it. This was agreed to, the finger was laid; but, alas! the little fellow had not so much experience with little hatchets as the father of his country, for he hit too near, and completely severed the forefinger of the right hand at the first joint.

At Bath, Me., May 1st, was launched from the yard of Goss, Sawyer & Packard the schooner Hattie S. Williams, 900 tons register. This is said to be the largest three-masted centreboard schooner on the American coast, if not the largest in the world, her carrying capacity being over 1200 tons. She has 170 feet keel, 40 feet beam, 5 1-2 feet between decks, depth of lower hold 12 1-2 feet; deck 183 feet in length over all; her masts are 94, 95 and 95 1-2 feet; spars of the best Oregon pine. The vessel has all the modern improvements in rig and outfit; cabin roomy and elegantly finished; with an 8-horse power engine for heaving the anchor, hoisting sails, and for receiving and discharging cargo. She is designed for the coal and coasting business, and will stow over 1200 tons of coal, or 50,000 bushels of corn, and will be in command of Capt. Herbert A. Dean, who is one of the owners.

An inmate of Columbia county (Wisconsin) jail, named Wood, committed for burglary, has escaped from jail, and the sheriff's daughter, a young lady sixteen years old, is also missing. The sheriff offers a reward for the recapture of the prisoner, and speaks of his daughter's absence as being a case of forcible abduction, but the general opinion is that it was an elopement.

The number of vessels belonging to or bound to or from ports in the United States reported totally lost and missing during the month of April is sixty-six, of which thirty-three were wrecked, fifteen abandoned, four burned, two sunk by collision, seven foundered, and five are missing. The list comprises two steamers, four ships, twelve barks, six brigs and forty-two schooners, and their total value, exclusive of cargoes, is estimated at $1,165,000.

A Bridgeport, Conn., girl jumped the rope 225 times, began to have fits immediately afterward, and nearly died.

A gospel tramp told the people of Dexter, Me., the other day, that they had better have an open and unrestrained grog-shop than a Universalist church.

James Calvin's stable at Newport, R. I., was burned Saturday morning, and an hostler and thirty-eight horses were burned to death.

"Telegraphic" postal cards have just been introduced in Paris, and should prove a great convenience. They are to take the place of telegrams and are to be sent almost instantaneously from one part of Paris to another by the pneumatic tube system already constructed, and to be used hereafter exclusively for town despatches. For ten cents one can send a message of any desired length within the limits of a postal card, to be delivered in half an hour after printing. Sealed messages may also be sent for a charge of fifteen cents, the forms on which these are to be written having twice the capacity of the postal card. Telegraphing throughout France is done at the low rate of about one cent per word, but the new system will make the average service in Paris much cheaper.

E. Smith of Warrenton, Va., eighteen years old, while endeavoring to frighten his father because of cruel treatment, Friday, shot him dead.

John Denison, assistant postmaster at Brandon, Vt., was suspended from office Friday by a special agent of the post-office department, on the charge of stealing from the mails. He is a young man of hitherto respectable character. Quite a number of letters containing money have been lost at this post-office, and it is said that the evidence against young Denison, who is about twenty-one years of age, is very convincing of his guilt.

Naval Matters.

Medical Director Thos. J. Turner and Medical Inspector A. L. Gihon have been appointed delegates to represent the medical department of the navy at the meeting of the American Medical Association, which convenes at Atlanta, Ga., on the 6th of May.

The marine general court-martial, which convened at the Boston navy yard April 8th, for the trial of Lieut. F. A. Mullany, upon four different charges, finished its labors April 29th, and the record of its proceedings were forwarded to the navy department on the following day. Before the conclusion of the trial, the misconduct of the accused before the court made it necessary to place him in charge of a provost-marshal, and caused his counsel, Mr. William S. McFarlane, to formally withdraw from the case. Master R. H. McLean, U. S. N., of the receiving ship Wabash, was appointed provost-marshal, and the limits of the accused were reduced to that vessel for the time being.

The Marion came out of the dry dock at Norfolk, Va., on the 1st inst., and proceeded to coal. She was to sail on Tuesday for the West Indies and the Gulf.

—John Jenkins of Momence, Ill., whose father was the first white man that raised a crop of corn in Cass county, Mich., and who avers that when a boy he was as familiar with the Indian language as with his own, says that the usual definition to the word "Chicago" is entirely erroneous. Forty-five years ago the place was called Tuck Chicago, "tuck" meaning wood or timber, and Chicago signifying gone, absent, without. Tuck Chicago, therefore, literally meant "timber gone."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

AROUND HOME.

Gen. Natt Head was in town on Saturday.

The new Mission hall, corner of Bow and Market streets, will be dedicated with appropriate ceremonies on Tuesday evening, May 6th, at 7:30 o'clock.

The schooner Emily A. Staples last week discharged in fine condition her cargo of pressed brick from Philadelphia, for the new National block. The bricks were brought packed in hay.

The schooner H. B. Gibson has been chartered to proceed to Sunnyside, Prince Edward's Island, with a general cargo of merchandise, and to load on the return trip with potatoes for Cyrus L. Brown.

Earnest Lodge of Good Templars, at Kennebunk depot is represented as being in a flourishing condition, and doing much good for the temperance cause; scarcely a family in the village but has one or more members connected with the lodge.

Thirteen persons, seven males and six females, were baptised at Noble's island on Sunday morning at nine o'clock, by Rev. John A. Goss of the Christian church. Though the hour was early, a large number of people witnessed the ceremony.

A special police officer in Biddeford arrested a Frenchmen for making a row, and was carrying off his prisoner when the latter's wife appeared on the scene, armed with woman's natural weapon, the broom, and put the "special" to total rout and an ignominious retreat.

Speaker Wade, of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, who was to be in town this week to attend the trial of case Roberts against the city of Nashua, started last week on a trip to Kansas, and the trial of the case before the Circuit court will doubtless be postponed.

Duprez & Benedict's Famous Gigantic Minstrels will give one of their excellent variety entertainments in Music hall on Thursday evening next, the price of reserved seat tickets being put down to thirty-five cents, and as the company always gives a good show there will be a large attendance.

A number of gentlemen in Kennebunkport and Kennebunk will in a short time purchase a cargo of coal in company for their own use, thereby saving a dollar and a half on a ton. It has been the custom in those towns, for a number of years, for large consumers to secure their supply of coal by this method.

Judge Luques of Biddeford and L. L. Lithgow, Esq., of Augusta, are to put up a cottage at Cape Arundel, Kennebunkport, in time for occupancy this season; this will make three cottages that have been built by these gentlemen within two years. The Ocean Bluff hotel at Kennebunkport will be ran this season by the parties who run it last year, Messrs. Stimpson, Devnall & Davis, who during the winter manage the Carleton house at Jacksonville, Florida.

A town-meeting was held at Wells on the 29th ult., to see what course the people would vote to pursue in regard to the recent burning of the town farm buildings. A committee of three was appointed and instructed as follows: first, to see what can be realized from the sale of the present farm land; second, to see at what price a snug little farm with suitable buildings can be purchased for; third, to prepare a plan and receive proposals for rebuilding on the old site. An adjourned meeting will be held on the 29th inst., to hear the committee's report.

Charles H. Thayer's dramatic company will on Wednesday evening next present at Music hall, for the first time in this city, the new comedy entitled "Next door neighbors," which they have for some time had in rehearsal. The Boston Herald said of its first performance: "It is two hours and a half of uninterrupted fun, and kept the audience in one continual roar of laughter. With every accessory in the way of handsome scenery and new and appropriate dresses, it made a pronounced hit." The company bring their own scenery, painted expressly for this play. Reserved seats can now be secured at Preston's, at fifty cents each.

Nathaniel Wiggin, Esq., of Greenland, has removed from the March place, and John L. Seavey of this city is to occupy it this season.

A new gas post has been erected on Austin street, opposite the division line between the estates of Commodore Pickering and David Kimball, Esq.

The Music hall quartette, assisted by Miss Emma J. Flanders, gave a concert at Greenland on Friday evening, to a good and highly appreciative audience.

The first regular meeting of the Portsmouth Medical Society was held at the office of Dr. Jones on Friday. Dr. Parsons reported an interesting case of follicular inflammation, which was discussed by all the gentlemen present. Dr. Jones was assigned to read a paper at the next meeting, and Drs. Dearborn and Sherburne to report each a case.

Dr. Pollock, the chiropodist, will remain in this city until three o'clock Saturday afternoon, when he takes the train for Portland. In the meantime any one troubled with obstinate corns, bunions, ingrowing nails or other pedal annoyances, will do well to secure his services. He attends only to troubles of the feet, and is remarkably skillful in remedying such.

The ship yard of Capt. N. L. Thompson, at Kennebunkport, presents a scene of unusual activity; there is one porgie boat on the stocks nearly completed, and her machinery is being put in preparatory to launching. This boat is of the same model and size as the two recently launched, and is designed for New York parties, who contracted about four months since with Capt. Thompson for three boats. There are also two fishermen, one fruiter, a barque and a large ship on the stocks progressing towards completion. There are two large frames lying in the yard which will be put up in the summer. The wages of the workmen were recently advanced to $1.25 per day, which is as much as is given in any ship yard in New England. Capt. Thompson employs about one hundred men, and is driving business notwithstanding the discouraging outlook. David Clark has in his yard the frame of a barque which will soon be put on the stocks.—Biddeford Times.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

The sailing frigate Sabine is to be hauled under the sheers at the navy yard and her lower masts taken out. The masts will be used for the Lancaster, if found to be sound.

Several caulker's have been required, and will be added to the force already at work on the dry dock.

Lieut. Commander Horace Elmer is ordered to hold himself in readiness to join the Kearsarge as executive officer.

REAL ESTATE CONVEYANCES.

The following transfers of real estate in this vicinity have been left for record in the office of the register of deeds:

PORTSMOUTH.

George Annable of Portsmouth, to John Sise of Portsmouth, land and buildings on Court street, $1.

Theresa M. Marston of Hampton Falls, to Samuel Adams and John H. Broughton, both of Portsmouth, land, $25.

Lucy M. Sise of Portsmouth, to Geo. Annable of Portsmouth, land and buildings on Court street, $1.

Joseph D. Martin of Portsmouth, to William E. Jackson of Portsmouth, land, $1.00.

Arthur T. Wilbur of Hampton, to Charles Main of San Francisco, land, $500.

Benjamin D. March et al., of Portsmouth, to John Sise of Portsmouth, land and buildings on Court street, $1.

EPPING.

Horace Davis of Epping, to Betsey Shannon of Epping, land, $6.

Erastus Cutting of Epping, to Burton W. Cutting of Manchester, land and buildings, $500.

Burton W. Cutting of Manchester, to Maria N. Cutting of Epping, land and buildings, $500.

ANOTHER SWINDLING DODGE.

Notwithstanding the exposure of numerous schemes by which farmers have been swindled within a few years past, all of them depending for success on the swindlers getting the farmers' signatures to some apparently innocent agreement, the game still holds good; in spite of previous experiences, and the reiterated advice and warnings of the press, reputable and intelligent farmers are still found who will sign their names to papers offered them by smooth-tongued and "honest-appearing" travelling agents, which papers they afterward find have been unaccountably transmuted into notes of hand which they have to pay.

The latest dodge of this kind is exposed in a letter by a York county correspondent, who says that a few months ago Mr. Ellis B. Usher, a well-to-do farmer of Bonny Eagle, was induced "to take the agency" for the sale of a new pruning knife, which was represented as meeting with a rapid sale. They were sold at five dollars each, and Mr. Hager, one of the agents, said he would give Mr. Usher one dollar for each knife sold. Mr. Usher finally consented to act as agent, with the understanding that if any knives remained unsold they would be taken back by the other parties. Mr. Usher signed a paper purporting to be an obligation that he would act in good faith, but which—probably after manipulation—proved to be a note for $180, the price of forty-five knives. The knives came, but did not at all compare with the sample shown, and a few weeks later Mr. Usher received a letter from Mr. I. P. Farrington of Portland, stating that he held his (Usher's) note for $180. Mr. Usher called on Farrington and found it to be the paper he had "innocently" signed for Hager. Mr. Farrington had cashed the note, and Mr. Usher was obliged to pay it. Further inquires led to its being learned that the knives were made in Portland, and that several other parties had been caught in the same manner. Mr. Usher was able to pay a note of $180; it would be interesting to know if he has ever felt able to take a newspaper.

—One of the most interesting sights in life is that of a spirituelle young lady sharpening a lead pencil with a table knife.

—Some of the country doctors in England are employing bicycles or tricycles instead of horses, as a means of locomotion. The bicycles used by them are of iron, the rim of the wheel is covered with rubber, and they can move over tolerably rough roads and up quite steep grades, making from eight to ten miles or more in an hour.

—A Bangor young woman is going to present Longfellow with a penholder made out of the famous vessel "Ironsides." Its base is circled with gold, in which are set three handsome stones. One of these is phenactie from Siberia, another zircon from Ceylon and the other red tourmaline from Maine. The pen is made from the fetters that bound Bonnivard in Chillon castle.

THE SUBSCRIBER takes this method of informing the public that he has purchased the Steamer JAMES SAMPSON, and will continue to run her as formerly between Portsmouth and Kittery. This boat was built in 1876, and is constructed of the best material; has double engines and is first class in all her appointments. It will be my aim to merit the public confidence, and I assure them that the boat will be in charge of reliable and competent men. Thanking the public for their generous support in making this a permanent institution, I shall as heretofore run the JAMES SAMPSON on stated times, and will inform the public of any change.

—A correspondent in Walterborough, S. C., describing the recent cyclone there, cited, as a remarkable occurrence, "a sheep was found lying in the road with every particle of wool taken from it as cleanly as a razor could have done it."

—"It is a very unclerical practice, and I must say, a very uncleanly one. Tobacco! Why, sir, even a hog would not smoke it!" "Dr. C——," replied his amused listener, "do you smoke tobacco?" "I? no, sir," he answered gruffly, with much indignation. "Then, pray, which is most like the hog, you or I?"

The Blessing of Strong Nerves

Is recoverable, not by the use of mineral sedatives, but by a recourse to effectual tonic treatment. Opiates and the like should only be used as auxiliaries and then as sparingly as possible. Vigorous nerves are quiet ones, and the most direct way to render them so is to reinforce the vital energies. That sterling invigorant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will be found all-sufficient for this purpose, since it entirely removes impediments to thorough digestion and assimilation of the food so that the body is insured its due amount of nourishment, and consequently of stamina. Rheumatic tendencies and affections of the kidneys and bladder are also counteracted by the Bitters, which is besides a pleasant medicinal stimulant, infinitely purer than the raw excitants of commerce, which react injuriously upon the nervous system.

That Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg's is prepared by a regular practicing physician who has used it for fifteen years. Its great sale is but a just tribute to it.

Your Lungs are affected! Use Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

COOL AND REFRESHING after shaving is the bay rum sold at such reasonable prices by C. B. Barrett & Co., 45 North Market Street, Boston.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 25 cents.

Highly Concentrated, in order to do the work effectual, is the Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg.

Style, elegance, location, moderate prices, and choice of either the American plan $2.50 to $3.00, or the European plan $1.00 per day, and upwards, meals in the elegant Restaurant attached to the house, all unite in giving the traveller more, for the same money, at the Grand Central Hotel, New York, than elsewhere.

Pleasant to take, is what most people like and this is found in Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup and yet it does the work every time.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. THE NEW HAMPSHIRE
GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
—THE—
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poison, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-Rheum, Scald Head, or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you may date from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has satisfied the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of this age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, compounds of calomel, croton oil, or bulky herbs. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.
Being entirely vegetable, a mild cathartic cure is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulder, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharges falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stoppage of nose, or obstruction of nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scales from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, indistinct or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharges generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" in a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

THE
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSABLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and nostrums without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety, and well they may, for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

I can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hardened matter that has lodged in the head passages is removed with a few applications; the ulceration and inflammation subsided and healed; the entire membranous linings of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal disease.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen,—My case is briefly as follows: I have had catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through my nostrils. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy or it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored, I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no dropping in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

☞ Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made me similar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. F. DERBY.

COSTUMES.

No woman need be very tired or very busy, for we find ready made garments at such reasonable figures that persons of the most moderate means can afford to purchase. Linen suits are of course a thing of the past, but in their place for general wear we find neat wash costumes, made half tight jacket, overskirt and underskirt, marked as low as six or seven dollars. The patterns are in great variety—checks, plaids, stripes, polka dots, and small floral figures. Colors are equally diversified; both grave and gay, and ground works dark as well as light. At higher prices costumes are of satine momie cloth, or cateline, to say nothing of figured jaconets for indoor wear, while in white, costumes are in all gradations, from the lawn morning dress at $5 to elaborate dotted, plain and figured muslins finished with Breton lace and bows of ribbon. Soft, thin wool costumes commence at about $14. Ulsters in thin mixed wool are excellent for hard usage consequent upon summer traveling, etc, and these commence at $6, a very nice one costing $10. Mohair ulsters begin at $4.50; linen ulsters at $8. Nevertheless there are many ladies who wish to make their dresses at home or have them made, so I will add a word or two in regard to new and desirable designs. The Deosia princess dress may be mentioned, among these as quite elegant, and having the advantage of being adapted both to sick, wool and wash material. Trimmed skirts are very fashionable, and here we find the Florimel train, especially suited to handsome fabrics. The Nelida basquene or Valerie basque would give a distinguised finish. The Birena is an excellent model for an overskirt of wash material, while in the way of a half fitting jacket, the Serena can be recommended.

MILLINERY.

Dainty dress bonnets are sometimes made of white or colored Canton crape, trimmed with fine flowers and Breton lace, ribbon or satin. Satin, or satin ribbon, indeed, we see employed perpetually. There is a rage for it, and in dressy costumes it is constantly substituted for silk. Fine black straws are also trimmed with black or white Breton lace, and flowers, and black lace bonnets similarly finished are made on frames. Mixed straws in colors to match the fashionable mixed goods are greatly in vogue, but not to the exclusion of brown or beige colored. Middle aged ladies, for ordinary wear, select the English walking hat, or if it is desired to show the forehead, shapes flaring to one side, or prettily curving around the face and without strings may be substituted. Young ladies wear turbans, shapes fancifully caught on the sides, or round brims coming low over the forehead and rising at the back, where rich boquets of flowers fill in the vacancy.

OUT-DOOR GARMENTS.

There is quite a rage for beige and the pale yellow shades—especially the former. The fancy crops out everywhere in millinery costumes, and in out-door garments, for there is a run on beige colored cloth sacques and mantelets, commencing at about six dollars and going up to twenty. They are worn with costumes of any kind. These ideas however do not preclude the sale of black silk and cashmere garments more or less richly trimmed with French or black Breton lace fringe and jet. Leading stores ask enormous prices for these latter styles, but they can be made to order at comparatively moderate figures.

BEWARE OF WIGS.

Should an innocent-minded individual, (a country merchant for example) visit our city, let him not fall a victim to the charms of some fair lady who (apparently) is endowed beyond her sisters, with an abundant mass of Titian red hair. I feel it my duty to state plainly that that unsophisticated looking creature wears a wig. Others who don't wear wigs are fresh from the dyer's hands, and the question might be proposed for a debating society which of the two methods of looking fashionable is to be preferred. Why red hair (also called gold) should be fashionable and which of the two roads to distinction should be taken, is beyond me to determine.

THE LATEST MANIAS.

Homilies were indicted alll over the country on the folly of a young lady who married beneath her, but directly after we find others who do just the same thing and papas with carriages are everywhere in a state of alarm. 'Tis strange how example becomes contagious. Since the fact has become known that three printers woke up one morning to find themselves winners each of five thousand dollars in the Louisiana State Lottery, I have received I would not like to say how many letters on the subject. Each and all I advise with the wisdom of an owl, but what's the use? So, my good friends, if you are determined to risk your two dollars on a ticket, preachments on my part are not likely to cause you to desist. If you don't win that five or fifty thousand dollars, you'll always think you might have done so. Do not understand me as decrying the Louisiana State Lottery in particular, for beyond question its dealings are fair, and if you must take a risk you certainly run less risk in that than in any other institution of the kind. Ladies sometimes write asking me also to select different articles for them, etc. I am always happy to be of service but not always having time at command, I have formed, as is becoming known, a connection with the purchasing agency conducted by Mrs. Ellen Lamar, 877 Broadway. She devotes herself exclusively to the wants of out-of-town residents, and is an example of what may be done by integrity and energy. In person or by agents she often visits five or six leading houses before a selection is made, and thus having the entire city at command she has the largest opportunities for choice, for oftentimes an establishment which is excellent in one department is weak in another. Circulars with prices are forwarded on application, and letters of enquiry receive careful answers.

Another Gift to the Manchester Public Library.

The Manchester Union, speaking of another presentation of books to the City Library by Hon. Moody Currier, says: "This gentleman has just presented the library with a large collection of classical books in the Latin and Greek languages. There are nearly 300 volumes in all, and these, together with previous donations, put the library in possession of about all that can be desired in Latin and Greek literature. The books comprise nearly 200 different authors and their works, among which may be found the works of Aristophanes, Aristotle, Boetius, Catullus, Celsus, Cicero, Cornelius Nepos, Demosthenes, Diodorus Siculus, Dionysius, Euripides, Eusebius, Homer, Justinian, Livius, Lycurgus, Lucretius, Ovidius, Phaedrus, Pindar, Plaro, Plautus, Pliny, Plutarch, Seneca, Strabo, Tacitus, Themistrus, Theophlastus, Valerius, Xenophon, Zonares, and many whose works are not easily obtained. This collection of ancient classics is a valuable acquisition to the library, and one which will be a lasting and characteristic remembrancer—monumentum ære perennius—of the donor. The books may not be often called for or read, but the possession of a collection so complete of nearly all the ancient writers whose works have been preserved to our times, will give a character and standing to the library for thoroughness; and the scholars, if few, who resort to them will recall with pride the generosity of one who, in age, has never ceased to cherish and to cultivate the classical studies which interested his youth, and who has been himself an example of the touching eulogium pronounced by Cicero upon studies."

Mr. Currier has at different times given other quite valuable works to the library, an institution which under the patronage of the late Chief Justice Bell, Judge Daniel Clark and others reflects credit upon Manchester. The pleasant feature in this practical liberality of Mr. Currier is that although a scholar and capitalist, he knew that a present donation of volumes of books made while he can enjoy seeing the results of his generosity, is of far more value than a legacy to be enjoyed in years to come, and his example in this respect we should like to see oftener followed.

Terrible Explosion.

At Stratford, Ontario, Monday, the Grand Trunk freight sheds and one hundred and fifty cars were destroyed by a dynamite explosion, and several men blown to fragments. The wreck the explosion made beggars all description. Underneath the dynamite car, a hole several feet deep had been scooped out by the explosion. The end of a brick freight shed and a portion of the roof were blown down, and several frame buildings were leveled to the ground, and long strings of freight cars lying in the yard were utterly wrecked. The business part of the town is nearly a mile from the scene of the explosion, but it shared in the disaster.

News and Notes.

Egbert Cogswell, fifty years old, shot his wife dead and then cut his own throat, at New Preston, Conn., on Monday. Rum did it.

The funeral of the little girl, Edith Freeman, took place at Pocasset on Sunday afternoon. The insane co-religionists of the child's father conducted themselves most disgracefully at the grave, one of them, named Alden P. Davis, insisting on making a speech upholding the motives of the murderer and his wife. The grave was watched at night by armed men, as it was expected the deluded people would attempt to remove the body and then declare that God had raised the child to life again.

Edwin Hanlon of Toronto, Canada, and John Hawdon of Delevsl, England, had a boat-race on the Tyne river at Newcastle, Eng., on Monday, for $1000 a side. The Canadian oarsman won easily by six lengths.

Rev. Samuel Adlam, formerly pastor of the First Baptist church of Newport, R. I., was found wandering in the streets of that city Sunday in an insane condition.

The grand jury at San Francisco has indicted Dr. Samuel P. Chaliant, who recently killed Josiah Bacon of Boston in his room at a hotel in San Francisco.

The southern end of the new workshop building at the new State prison at Concord, Mass., was destroyed by fire on Saturday. An explosion took place while the convicts were at dinner, and the flames immediately burst out. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a chemical torpedo, prepared by some of the convicts. Loss $20,000; insurance $25,000.

A terrible wind and rain-storm prevailed Friday along the line of the Utah & Northern railway. A freight train near Round Valley, Idaho, composed of sixteen cars, some loaded with silver bullion, was blown from the track, and some of the cars carried a distance of seventy-five feet.

William Lallance and George Rhodes, while on a hunting and fishing trip, crawled into the drum-house of the coal works at New Haven, near Pomeroy, O., Thursday night, to sleep. About one o'clock in the morning the house burned to the ground, the sleeping young men being consumed.

Sunday was a sort of religious jubilee at Newburyport. The Catholics had a grand procession in honor of the Virgin Mary. The Cadets were out in uniform, and the girls of the Society of Guardian Angels in white dresses and veils. At the Episcopal church, in the evening, Bishop Paddock preached to an overflowing house, and confirmed fourteen persons. The Baptist church immersed five persons and received others by letter, and four of the Orthodox churches received new members to communion.

Jean Salem Paquet, late cashier of the Hochelaga bank at Montreal, was found guilty on Saturday of embezzlement. The amount of his defalcation was $80,000, which he invested in the phosphate mines.

The fire which destroyed Calvin's stable at Newport, R. I., Saturday, also swept away six cottages and a ropewalk. Jack Shay, a lad previously suspected of incendiarism, was arrested for setting the fire, but was discharged on the ground of insufficient evidence.

A six-days' heel-and-toe walk commenced at Gilmore's Garden in New York, Monday morning, fourteen contestants starting. The first prize is $1000, and a silver belt valued at $1000; second prize, $750; third, $500; fourth, $250.

The grand jury at Baltimore has found a true bill against Denwood B. Hinds for murder, and Henry T. Hinds, his brother, as accessory, for killing Isaac D. James. The case will be removed from the city for trial.

A nine year old daughter of Mr. George Gray of Lewiston, Me., fell and broke her arm the other day. She stumbled over a grate box, and a suit against the city has been talked of. This is the third time the child's arm has been broken.

The spinners in five of the mills at Fall River, Mass., have voted to strike. Several hundred operatives in the Williston mills at Easthampton, Mass., have struck against a reduction of 12 1-2 cents a day, and the mills are partially suspended. The tack-makers at Taunton threaten a strike, on account of a reduction in wages. In New York city, hundreds of 'longshoremen are on a strike, for a similar reason.

A singular case of diphtheria occurred at Roxbury, Mass., recently. A little boy was taken seriously ill with the disease, and care was taken to keep his pet dog out of the sick room. By some oversight the dog gained entrance, sprang upon the bed, lapped the face and lips of the boy, being extremely glad to meet his young master. The boy recovered, but the dog died with all the symptoms of diphtheria.

By an order in the Dominion Council, the importation or introduction of American cattle into the provinces of Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island is further prohibited until the 6th of June.

Ella Warren, a sister of Frank Bassett, the murderer, has been granted a divorce from George Warren of Bridgeport, Conn. They were married a year ago. Two or three days after their union the bridegroom swallowed a dose of laudanum with suicidal intent, but a stomach pump saved his life. As soon as he got well he ran away.

It is said that Senator Conkling's absence from the wedding of his daughter to Mr. Oakman at Utica was due not so much to the press of business at Washington as to his opposition to his daughter's marriage to Mr. Oakman, who, though a worthy gentleman, possesses no great wealth. The senator, however, has given his daughter a bridal gift of a handsome house in Utica.

There is a railroad in Peru which cost $32,000,000 on which only one train a week is run, and that sometimes has but one passenger.

The New York mills, near Utica, N. Y., have been compelled to issue the announcement that any employe caught twice playing base ball will be discharged.

In looking over the bill of costs of Waldo county, Me., the other day, the clerk of courts was struck with the patriotic and literary titles which some of the army of tramps assume. Among others he found George Washington, Oliver Cromwell, Uriah Heep, David Copperfield, Oliver Twist and Martin Chuzzlewit.

A Philadelphia firm is now shipping street cars to England, Germany and Australia. Most of them are "double-deckers," and are calculated to carry ninety persons each.

A despatch from Vicksburg, Miss., on Sunday, says: A telegram received last night from Leota Landing, seventy miles above here, says that one hundred and fifty negroes bound Kansas-ward are on the bank of the river, and have picketed the roads. No conflict has yet occurred between the whites and blacks." Why there should be any conflict between them, unless the whites propose by force to prevent the blacks from emigrating, is not intimated.

Charles J. Haley has been appointed postmaster at Bar Mills, York county, Maine.

—The original of Gen. Dix's famous "haul down the American flag, shoot him on the spot" despatch is in possession of his son, Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix of New York.

—"The moon is always just the same," he said, languidly, "and yet I always find some new beauty in it." "It's just so with the circus," she answered. He took the hint and bought tickets for two.

—Col. Drake, who put down the first oil well in the United States twenty years ago, is to have a monument at Titusville, Pa. Drake died poor, it is said, without reaping any advantage from his discovery.

AROUND HOME.

Judge Allen spent Sunday in this city, as the guest of Col. J. Horace Kent.

There was an unusually high tide Monday night. The south pond flowed right up to the Richards avenue fence.

Schooner E. P. Rogers, laden with pig iron, was at the draw of Portsmouth bridge on Monday, bound up the river.

Coal freights from Philadelphia to this port are quoted at $1.55; a schooner was chartered last week to bring 950 tons. To Boston freights are $1.50.

There was quite a heavy white frost visible along the wharves, Sunday morning, and the day was cool and breezy. Monday was the first really spring-like day of the season.

The dry-goods house of T. Frank Stackpole, Nos. 7 and 9 Market street, closed its doors Saturday night. The Mercantile Agency announces the liabilities at $5000; stock, $2000.

Dr. R. C. Grant on Sunday assumed his duties as bass singer in the choir of the Middle street church, in place of Mr. Jerome C. Butler, who has so satisfactorily served in that capacity for the past year.

There are three weirs now in position along the Maine side of the lower harbor, one at Fort McClary, one in the channel between Seavey's and Jamaica islands, and one off Pocahontas point, Gerrish's island. Between the three they should be able to keep the fishing vessels well supplied with bait.

The North church was attended on Sunday by very large congregations, forenoon and evening, when the farewell sermons of Rev. James W. Hubbell were delivered. Mr. Hubbell carries with him to his new place of labor, at Danbury, Conn., the good wishes of very many to whom he has endeared himself during his residence in this city.

To be in the fashion, there was a strike—a little one for half a cent—in this city on Monday. Two of the men employed as wheelbarrow-men in discharging the steamer Pottsville, gave out during the forenoon, and two others took their places. The latter shortly struck for an increase of half a cent on a ton, which the employers agreed to, and the strike ended happily. The gang employed in discharging the Pottsville numbers forty-two men all told, including the trimmers on the coal-cars.

The Sunday evening concert at Music hall was well attended, and gave very general satisfaction, the singing of William H. Lee, the boy soprano, being especially pleasing. The Higgins family's performances, and the piano solos of Mr. Frank Gilder, were well received. The ninth regiment band of Massachusetts is a fine musical organization, but the instruments are rather heavy for a concert hall, and the selections were not all appropriate for the occasion, in the opinion of many people.

The pulpit of the Middle street church was on Sunday morning richly decorated with flowers, the wax-like callas, mingled with brilliant foliage, producing a fine effect. The occasion was the re-appearance in the pulpit of the pastor, Rev. W. H. Alden, D. D., after an absence of several weeks on account of ill health, the words "Welcome home," in evergreen, above the preacher's head, indicating the gratification of the society and congregation at his recovery and resumption of his ministerial duties.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. John White, engineer at Jones' brewery, went on board the coal steamer Pottsville, just arrived at Concord railroad warf, to look at her engines, and while going ashore on a plank, one end of which rested on a ratline, was thrown off by the canting of the plank, and struck heavily on the steamer's rail, falling from there into the water. On his coming to the surface it was seen that he was making no efforts to save himself, having been stunned by the fall, and two of the steamer's crew jumped overboard and rescued him. Mr. White remained insensible for some time after being taken out of the water, having received severe injuries about the head, and his escape from death was a narrow one; Dr. Folsom was called, and succeeded in bringing him to. The men whose prompt bravery of action saved Mr. White's life are Perry Cooper, colored, the steamer's steward, and John McAndrews, a fireman.

The Mechanics' Association at the meeting on Monday evening voted to have the Mechanics' hall building painted.

More pedestrians were on the streets Monday night than at any time for many months. Even the nine o'clock bell failed to clear the sidewalks.

The schooner Elizabeth M. Smith, Capt. Raymond, which arrived from Boston on Monday, brought a new boiler for the Appledore house, Isles of Shoals.

The store and stock of goods of Lewis E. Keyes & Son, with a house and stable, at Wells, were burned Sunday night, probably by an incendiary. Loss $9000; insurance $6500.

There was a serious fire in Durham, Sunday morning, when the paper manufactory of Page & Coffin was burned, together with a dwelling-house and other buildings. Loss $50,000; total insurance, $34,000, in Boston and Providence mutual companies.

An animal which the Biddeford Times decribes as about as large as a Newfoundland dog, shaggy, with a long tail, accompanied by a club, is frightening people in the outskirts of Biddeford. The Times further says: "People who reside in the vicinity of 'Newtown' and the lower sections of this city, now go armed, as a protective against the wild animal seen in that locality of late."

The City Guards, Capt. Ford, were out for street parade on Monday evening, for the first time since receiving the new National Guard uniform. The company made a fine appearance and attracted a good deal of attention. The Dirigo band of Kittery furnished music, and good music too, for the parade, this being also the band's first public appearance since receiving new uniforms.

To-morrow evening, at Music hall, Mr. Thayer and his comedy company will present the new and amusing play, "Next door neighbors." The Boston Post says of Mr. Thayer's role in this piece that "it is one of the best he has ever attempted, and he makes it a brilliant success;" and that "the piece is brim full of fun, comical situations and new incidents, and will probably be successful." Tickets at hard times prices; see advertisement.

The last of the three porgie steamers which Capt. N. L. Thompson of Kennebunk contracted to build for parties in New York, was launched on Saturday last, and has been taken to Portland to have her machinery put in. The schooner built by Capt. Thompson for Capt. William B. Keen, of Malden, Mass., which is to be added to the fleet fishing out of this port, was launched on the 24th ult., and will soon be ready for service; she is to be commanded by one of the Becker brothers, of Newcastle.

The ninety-fourth birthday of Mrs. William Nason, residing at Eliot, was observed on Saturday afternoon in a happy manner. There was a gathering of four generations and a number of friends and neighbors to sit down to a bountiful supper, and old and young hugely enjoyed themselves. The recipient of this party appeared as smart and lively as some at sixty, and gave particular attention to the pleasures. Her eyesight is so remarkable that she does not require the use of glasses in reading; her hearing is equally as excellent, and to bodily infirmities has been a stranger nearly all her life, which certainly has been a long and useful one. She has been particularly sought after as a midwife, and has probably attended more cases than any other woman in Maine, having we are assured, had a thousand within the space of sixty years, her last call being when she was ninety-two years old,—and in every one of these cases she was successful. Three years since she presented to her daughter, the wife of Samuel P. Treadwell, Esq., of this city, a spoon which was the property of Mrs. Nason's mother's mother's great-grandmother, and is about two hundred and fifty years old or more.—Times.

ELIOT AND KITTERY MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE CO.

The annual meeting of the Eliot and Kittery Mutual Fire Insurance Company was held in the vestry of the new church in Kittery on the evening of May 5th, and directors for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

Warrington Paul, Joseph Langton and John Wentworth, Kittery; Timothy Dame, John D. Frost, Eliot; Joseph H. Moody, Josiah D. Bragdon, York.

SUPREME COURT.

The fifty-five indictments against Portsmouth parties, with seventeen from other places, including South Newmarket, Derry and Newmarket, for selling liquor, have been put over until the October term of court.

William H. Bryant of Salem, who was indicted on seven liquor accounts, four for selling spirituous and three for selling malt liquors, and pleaded not guilty on all, afterward retracted and pleaded nolo contendere, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs each on the first four, and $10 and costs each on the other three, to stand committed until the order is performed. He went to jail. Three liquor indictments on the old docket are still pending against him.

Wm. A. McIntosh, who was captured by City Marshal Entwistle some time since at Lewiston, Me., was brought up before the court on appeal in the case called the "Hedding camp-meeting case," where the prisoner kept a booth within the prohibited number of miles of the grounds, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to thirty days at Brentwood. Another indictment against him, for stealing a tent, went over.

MONDAY, May 5; Allen, J.

Rundlett vs. Ladd was begun; question as to the title of real estate in Epping levied upon by Rundlett and claimed to be the property of Mr. Ladd, while Mrs. Dorothy E. Ladd claims it under a deed. Evidence not concluded. Hatch, Stickney and Wiggin for pltf.; Gaffney for deft.

In case Lawrence vs. Towle, given to the jury on Saturday, a sealed verdict was opened, in favor of the defendant. Hatch for pltf.; Towle for deft.

The court will probably adjourn by Wednesday.

MEMORIAL DAY.

A meeting of the Grand Army and citizens' general committees on Memorial day observances was held in the common council room on Monday evening, Col. Sise in the chair.

Dr. Samuel C. Whittier was unanimously chosen chief marshal, and Messrs. Samuel Dodge and T. E. O. Marvin were appointed to wait upon him and request his acceptance. Dr. Whittier returned the committee and briefly addressed the meeting, accepting the position. He was also elected treasurer.

James R. Morrison and T. E. O. Marvin were appointed a committee on carriages.

Rev. Eugene A. Grant and Rev. James DeNormandie were appointed chaplains.

Reports of several committees were heard, and the meeting then adjourned to next Monday evening at the same place.

At the regular monthly meeting of Sagamore Engine Co., No. 2, held Monday evening, it was voted to accept the invitation of the Memorial day committee for the company to parade on that day.

—"The wicked stand in slippery places," but for a perfect picture of reckless insecurity you want to look at a frightened woman trying to stand on a camp-stool to keep out of the way of a mouse.

—This is just about the time of the year when sentimental young girls with dreamy eyes and silkey golden hair pay three dollars a dozen for potato-bulbs in the hope of seeing them sprout and bud into rainbow-tinted, perfumed hyacinths.

—The longest subterranean construction in the world is in the mines of Freyburg, in Saxony. A series of galleries, which were begun in the twelfth century, reached in 1835 a length of 123 miles, and had yielded an immense quantity of silver. In 1833 a new gallery was commenced, which was finished a year ago, and is eight miles long.

The Blessing of Strong Nerves

Is recoverable, not by the use of mineral sedatives, but by a recourse to effectual tonic treatment. Opiates and the like should only be used as auxiliaries, and then as sparingly as possible. Vigorous nerves are quiet ones, and the most direct way to render them so is to reinforce the vital energies. That sterling invigorant, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will be found all-sufficient for this purpose, since it entirely removes impediments to thorough digestion and assimilation of the food so that the body is insured its due amount of nourishment, and consequently of stamina. Rheumatic tendencies and affections of the kidneys and bladder are also counteracted by the Bitters, which is besides a pleasant medicinal stimulant, infinitely purer than the raw excitants of commerce, which react injuriously upon the nervous system.

That Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg's is prepared by a regular practicing physician who has used it for fifteen years. Its great sale is but a just tribute to it.

Your Lungs are affected! Use Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

COOL AND REFRESHING after shaving is the bay rum sold at such reasonable prices by C. B. Barrett & Co., 45 North Market Street, Boston.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 25 cents.

Highly Concentrated, in order to do the work effectual, is the Cough and Lung Syrup of Dr. A. J. Flagg.

Style, elegance, location, moderate prices, and choice of either the American plan $2.50 to $3.00, or the European plan $1.00 per day, and upwards, meals in the elegant Restaurant attached to the house, all unite in giving the traveller more, for the same money, at the Grand Central Hotel, New York, than elsewhere.

Pleasant to take, is what most people like and this is found in Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup and yet it does the work every time.

An Engineer's Need of Nerve.

Unquestionably the bravest men in America are those who stand upon the footboards of the locomotives which draw the fast express trains. But few persons are aware of it, but on the leading railways, where connections must be made if possible, only engineers known to be brave and daring are given engines on express trains, and as soon as an engineer shows the least timidity about running fast he is taken from his engine and given one on a freight train to run. Two such cases have occurred recently on Indianapolis roads. Railroad officers state that the first sign that an engineer is becoming timid is that he will be five to ten minutes late, possibly a half hour, for some days or nights in succession. He is then called to an account, and unless his reasons are convincing another engineer is given his engine to run for a few times, and should he bring the train in promptly on time, the first-named engineer gets a freight train engine to run until he braces up. It is stated, however, that after an engineer allows his timidity to get a fair hold he seldom so far overcomes it as to have the bravery to step on to an express train engine and run it at the speed necessary to make the time. Quite recently, an engineer on one of the roads running west from here got an impression that some accident was to happen to him, and one night, when running a fast express, he constantly lost time. At the first station where the train stopped, the conductor berated him for running so slow. The engineer actually shed tears, and owned that fears had overcome him, and that he dare not run fast, and at his own request an engineer of a freight-train which stood at this meeting-point was given the train to run through that night, the conductor telegraphing the trainmaster, asking that the request be granted. The timid engineer has since run a freight train on the road.—Indianapolis Journal.

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mercurial Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Eruptions, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Ring Worm, Rash, Itch, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goiter or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and enlisted physicians promote it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.
Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impurity of Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensitive impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, constipation, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The Remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PATEE'S Douche. This is the form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and DIRECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood by any diseases accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures most attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. CITY OF PORTSMOUTH.

Assessors' Notice.
THE INHABITANTS of the City of Portsmouth are hereby required to exhibit to the Assessors of said City a just and true account of their Polls and Estates, ratable by law on or before the Fifteenth day of April.
And all persons who do not comply with the above requirements in handing in an inventory of their ratable estate, and making oath to the same will have no legal claim for abatement.
The Assessors, or any Justice of the Peace, or the City Clerk, are proper persons to administer the oath; and each individual making his inventory shall have an endorsement on the same, certifying that it has been duly sworn to, and the name to be handed to one of the Assessors, or left with their Secretary at the City Clerk's Office on or before the said Fifteenth day of April.

THE
Alpine Silver Mining Co.,
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splans, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well-defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction, will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing as one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

If Catarrh can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, encrusted matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the ulcerated and inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membranous linings of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen,—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through one nostril. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy to lie at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to impair my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored. I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the Cure on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.
FITCHBURG, Oct. 24.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made my familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. P. DERBY.
FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Chronicle Correspondence.

NEW YORK, May 5.

Congress has ceased to attract much attention, and democrats feel like those who shudder when some one is said to be walking over their graves. No wonder Frank Jones get sick of going to a democratic Congress!

If our Blaine concludes not to be a candidate for the next Presidential nomination, will the coming man be named Ulysses, or Elihu?

Business is getting back toward the old times of prosperity.

New York is preparing for a great international exposition, time and locality yet to be decided on.

How would Grant and Zach. Chandler do for 1880?

New York is preparing to grow wild over mining stocks, and a big "deal" in Comstocks is predicted shortly.

Thinking it over, how would Washburn and Booth do for next year?

Who is to be Senator from New Hampshire about July 1st, Hosea Carter, or Ex-Sheriff Drew, of Strafford?

Edison claims to have achieved wonders in the way of economy and usefulness by the invention of his new electric light. Sell gas-stocks short after Nov. 1st next!

New York hotels are crowded in these "moving times."

Coney Island is brushing up. A pier is being built to accommodate travel by steamers, and Prof. King is to copy the Paris Exhibition captive balloon feature—then go to Europe aerially, if he can. Thousands of curious people anticipate being anchored in the air at the island called Coney, this summer.

The historian at the St. Cloud has not recorded the advent of your correspondents "Nat" and "Ion" for such a length of time that it is now confidently claimed that they do not dare approach Gotham except under the venerable care of "Pakeha." 'T was not heretofore always thus!

What is the matter with some of the ex-mayors of Portsmouth that they wield hatchets against each other when all the rest of the United States are in a state of armed neutrality?

Ex-Secretary Belknap walks the streets of New York just the same as if he had not been informed that any act of his life appeared dishonorable to the public.

What has your worthy City Clerk failed in, that this paper reduces him from the rank of colonel to that of major? His native modesty should protect him from such ill-use. Your "local" who does such things should be dipped in Gen. Fremont's inland sea.

We are getting weather now, and a great deal of it. One day it is overcoat weather, and some other day one wants to don summer wear.

It is currently reported by Paymaster Frank G. Wentworth of the Custom House, that "Aaron" is contemplating a march on this city and suburbs. Hope he will have a good "send-off." The Seventh Regiment will be out to receive him, on the 30th.

"Pinafore" still rages, and two more theatres are to bring it out to close the season with. The famous Church Choir company of Philadelphia return to the "Broadway" next Monday. The excursion boats will bristle with "Pinafore" and "Fatinitza" music this summer.

A young debutante at one of the theatres received an avalanche of flowers that nearly filled one of the St. Cloud parlors, one night last week.

Parole, the trotter, is said to have won $250,000 for his master in the late races abroad. "Blood tells."

Two brokers had a walking match of nine miles on Sunday. A good deal of money changed hands.

The "Boston Museum" gains a good actor in the person of Mr. Coghlan, formerly of "Wallack's."

We have probably had the best of "George Eliot's" splendid "intellectuality." She is said to be growing feeble in health.

Ancient Sammy Tilden received a severe rebuff in his failure to control Tammany; for Tammany is the State, and Tilden without the New York delegation at his back, need not expect a renomination. Robe your esteemed fellow citizen, Andrew H. Jones, in a brown plush cloak, and let him walk slowly down Wall street, and half the men he met would mistake him for the man of "cipher" fame, so much do they resemble each other in looks.

Blaine, Conkling and Sherman are seemingly victims of a cat-and-dog fight, but all have wonderful recuperative powers, and 1884 isn't far ahead.

And referring to 1884, they all seem willing to let Gen. Grant unite the party for 1880, as either can easily be elected President by the republicans four years later, as by the new census the republican States of the west are expected to gain relatively some thirty-odd electoral votes. The patient waiter is no loser—"once in a while."

Mayor Cooper and the anti-Tammanyites of the Board of Aldermen are quarreling over the city spoils. John Kelly looks on and smiles. Tammany is liable to sweep the board at the next general election.

Gen. Chester A. Arthur's removal from the Collectorship of New York city may make him the next Governor of the State. So do the people sometimes do justice to martyrs.

The negro exodus from the south seems to be the only thing likely to enlighten the intelligent white man who governs but does not labor. Instead of thinking of laboring himself, the aforesaid i. w. m. contemplates the use of the "heathen Chinee." With Sambo in Kansas, and John in Mississippi, perhaps civilization may not after all be eternally or essentially "played out"—and the "culchah" of the south can still remain useful in the useless accomplishment of filling its members with cold lead, and feel indeed that all is lost except "honah, sah; honah!"

The observatory of Berlin announces the discovery of a new planet. This thing is getting too numerous.

The Herald has two new ideas, viz.—that "Russians spoil champagne by keeping it too cold"—a grievous fault to a Gothamite; and that "blind men never learn to smoke." Is Christianity indeed a failure?

Once more the Herald comes to the front, this time with an alleged proof that fruit though golden at morn, and silver at noon, is lead at night. "Because," remarks the wise sheet, "Adam ate the apple after Eve," which created internal commotion. There is no satisfaction in such as this, outside of suicide.

New Yorkers went wild over the Philadelphia Church Choir Pinafore girls because they were "so fresh." The unfortunate who did not "take his family" at least a dozen times to hear the singing, is deemed "out of style." DEKE.

Portsmouth Chronicle

WEDNESDAY, MAY 7, 1879.

News and Notes.

Hon. Harrison Garfield of Lee, Mass., a wealthy paper manufacturer and president of the Lee bank, was brutally assaulted on Monday by John Bottomley, also formerly a paper manufacturer. Mr. Garfield, who is about seventy years old, was knocked down and jumped upon by Bottomley in his own door-yard. Mr. Garfield was seriously injured, and the assailant was locked up to await the result.

Samuel Pavey and his son Taylor Pavey, extensive dealers in live stock, were shot and instantly killed near Leesburg, Ohio, Saturday night, by John Link, Pavey's step-son. Link, who surrendered to the marshal, says he was engaged in conversation with his mother at the gate of his residence, when the Paveys came up, and, after some words, attacked him with clubs, when, to save his life, he drew a revolver and shot them both. The cause of the difficulty was the ill-treatment by Samuel Pavey of his second wife, who was Link's mother.

At Overton, Texas, J. T. Young and John Riley, in jail for drunkenness, attemped to escape by setting fire to the building. The flames spread, and being unable to extinguish them the men were both burned to death.

Hanlon, the Candian oarsman, at the close of his race with Rawdon was immediately matched for a race with Elliott, the champion of Eng., for £200 a side, the championship and the sportsman's cup. Hanlon defeated Rawdon with ludicrous ease, actually stopping a number of times to sponge the water out of his boat, and then pulling away from his competitor again. In the betting on the championship race, Hanlon is the favorite.

George C. Harding, editor of the Indianapolis Herald, is in custody for firing a number of pistol shots at Calvin A. Light, editor of the Indianapolis Democrat. He failed to hit Light, but badly wounded a compositor. Another compositor jumped out of a two-story window while the shooting was going on, and broke both ankles.

Advices from southeastern Kansas say that about two thousand men have gone into the Indian Territory within the past week. Also that rich silver mines have been discovered just south of the Kansas line, and claims in large numbers are being registered daily in the squatters' registry office, two miles from Baxter Springs, Kansas.

Further advices from Upper Egypt represent conflicts between the Egyptian troops and the slave-dealers on the 13th and 14th of January, which resulted in the complete defeat of the latter, with a loss of 6000 killed, wounded and prisoners. Loss of the Egyptian troops, two hundred.

Norman Dudley of Warren, Me., aged fifteen years, shot another boy named Walker, accidentally, last Thursday, with a pistol with which he was fooling. The ball took effect in the Walker boy's shoulder.

Frederick Townsend, aged twenty-five years, committed suicide by strangulation, at Haverhill, Mass., Sunday. He was discovered Monday. Feeble health was the cause.

At Hampstead, Ark., as the congregation was leaving the Methodist church, Sunday, Col. Jared E. Kirby shot and killed John Steele, who in a quarrel fourteen years ago killed Kirby's father.

Stillman Eaton, of Westminister, Mass., went to his barn and cut his throat in several places, Monday morning, and then hung himself. He attempted suicide twenty-six years ago.

In the superior court at Hartford, Conn., Monday, in the case of Allen, found guilty of murdering Shipman, the State prison watchman, the motion for delay of sentence was denied, and Allen was sentenced to be hanged May 28, 1880, the same day as Hamlin, who had already been sentenced.

A freight train, Monday morning, ran over John Phillips in a covered bridge near New London, Conn. The body was horribly mangled. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that he was killed by the engine. His trousers were found some distance behind the place where his body, struck and were spattered with blood, a fact which led some to suspect foul play in spite of the verdict.

Elijah Hobart of Waterbury, Vt., aged about seventy years, was run over by an engine, while he was standing on the track at a crossing near the depot; both legs and one arm were broken, and his body badly bruised under the cow-catcher. The engine was stopped before the wheels struck him. He died in a few minutes.

A Starkville, Miss., despatch states that Johnson Spencer and Nevlin Porter, the barn burners and the attempted assassinators of Jordan Moore, were taken from jail Saturday night by a body of armed men, white and black, and hanged.

The authorities of North Sandwich, Mass., have decided to arrest Alden P. Davis, Charles F. Howard, Nathaniel Wing, Oliver Wing, Walter H. Wing, Phineas Gibbs, Jr., Harriet N. Swift and Ann Louise Howard, as accessories after the fact to the murder of the Freeman girl at Pocasset.

The average rate of interest upon the funded debt will be only 4.4 per cent on the 1st of August, after the completion of the refunding process, against the average rate of 6.4 in 1865. The improvement in the rate has been two per cent, and the decrease of the funded debt about three hundred and sixty million dollars. Decrease in the annual interest charge of the debt, $58,000,000. Meanwhile the country has vastly increased in real wealth, and our bonds, which were largely held in Europe, have been brought home and are nearly all held by our own citizens.—Boston Herald.

Important Railroad Case Decided.

In the Supreme Court, at Washington, Monday, the following decisions were rendered: No. 972, Central Pacific railroad company et al., appellants, vs. Albert Gallatin, appeal from the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of California; and No. 1083, Union Pacific railroad company, appellants, vs. United States, appeal from the Court of Claims. These two cases, which were argued together, involve the constitutionality of the so-called Thurman act, of May 7th, 1878. The object of that act was to secure the interest of the United States in the Union and Central Pacific railroad companies by providing that twenty-five per cent of the annual net earnings of these roads, including the whole of the compensation due them for services rendered to the government, should be paid to the treasurer of the United States, to be by him applied partly in payment of the accrued interest upon the bonds issued by the government to the two railroad companies, and partly the establishment of a sinking fund in the United States treasury for the final payment of the companies' indebtedness. The decree in the first-named case and judgment in the second are affirmed by this court with costs. The decision was announced by the chief justice. No written opinion was rendered, but one will be filed in due time. Justice Field dissented from the opinion of the court, and was joined therein by Justices Bradford and Strong.

Religious Schools.

If the essence of religion is in doing justly, loving mercy, and walking humbly, then our school directors are the most irreligious men in the world. They profess, but do not possess. They bind heavy burdens on others, but do not assist in lifting one of them even with a little finger. They insist on the Bible in the school-room, but they also insist on reducing salaries to starvation point. They want prayers and praises, and all the paraphernalia of religious worship, but go immediately away to impoverish the school of all that can make it worthy of respect from man, or regard by God. There are some things in this world better than praying, and some occupations much more commendable than reading the Bible. We would esteem that man a thousand-fold better, who never prays or reads the Bible, and does right, than one who is continually praying and preaching, but is constantly doing wrong.

The Christian world is convulsed over the question of Bible in schools. We have always advocated that, since it is the best book in the world, it should occupy a place in the school-room; but is there not something better than an open Bible there? You ask, What is it? We answer, Justice! Justitia fiat.

Boston, orthodox, cultured, self-asserted, church-going, praying, Bible-loving, Puritanic Boston, is going to reduce the salaries of its primary teachers. Now the question is not, can they do it? but is it right and justice to do it?

For the world they would not put the Bible out of the schools, but in a spasm of penuriousnes they will put a teacher of young children in there with a salary hardly sufficient to enable one to sustain life with comfort. They would close the schools if they were not religious, but they will not at all scruple to close the avenues of generosity and love. O ye Bostonians, in all respects you are too religious. Your alters are many, but it is our duty to call upon you to worship less and do more. Bind your heavy burdens upon those able to bear them. Let the tender, earnest, faithful teacher of young children receive your Christian consideration and action, as well as your prayers.—Barnes' Educational Monthly.

Garden Peas.

The best of all peas for the general crop is acknowledged by all who have sold or tasted it to be the Champion of England. This we should plant in large quantities. It is wrinkled, its flavor is sweet and delicious, and it bears profusely. Shorter than the marrowfat, it is plumper and narrower in the well-filled pods. It grows high and must be brushed. If any of our readers should ask us what two varieties to plant from, we should say: Little Gem for early and Champion for general crops. Yet those who wish for a little earlier may try Alpha or Waite's Caractatus.—N. Y. Herald.

—Governor Gear, of Iowa, was lately asked to pardon a convicted rum seller, and replied: "While I have great sympathy for Mrs. Newton, I also have great sympathy for the wives and children who have been made sufferers by the sale of whisky to their fathers and husbands by Mr. Newton. The petition cannot be granted."

—If Congressman Lowe is just spoiling for a fight he might gird up his warlike loins and go out and give Sitting Bull a whirl. S. B. is not the man to refuse to accommodate a gentleman who is anxious to shoot somebody, and his education and civilization have raised him just about to Congressman Lowe's level so far as concerns the etiquette and practice of the duel.—Burlington Hawkeye.

—An extraordinary but well authenticated fish story comes from Memphis. A gentleman in that city, who has a small pond stocked with fish, has recently noticed a mysterious disappearance of some of his finest specimens. At last he and several friends sat up one night to watch. About ten o'clock they saw the house cat steal to the edge of the pond and stratch in the ground until she caught a worm. She then came to the water's edge, and holding the worm in one paw, dabbled in the water with it. The fish were soon attracted to the spot, and rising to secure the bait they were, dextrously caught by the other claw of cunning puss, drawn ashore and devoured.

AROUND HOME.

The way the dust and gravel flew about on Tuesday caused many persons to long for the advent of the street sprinklers.

The Worcester Gazette says that Elder Waite will close his labors in that city next Sunday evening, and then come to this city again.

Webster, the liquor spotter was arrested in Manchester on Tuesday by Sheriff Kent and Deputy Sheriff Smart of Newmarket, and will be arraigned on a charge of conspiracy.

The schooner H. B Gibson, Sawyer master, with a full cargo of general merchandise for Sunnyside, Prince Edward's Island, went down the river Tuesday evening in tow of the tug Clara Batemen.

Robert Littlefield, William Morrison and John Crowley were before the police court on Tuesday, for drunkenness, and were assessed $9.90 each, fine and costs. The three went to Brentwood to work on the county farm.

Damon Lodge, Knights of Pythias, worked the amplified third rank in their hall on Tuesday evening. Delegations were present from Dover and Great Falls, and were invited to a collation after the evening's work was over.

Two young men were driving on Pleasant street, Tuesday afternoon, when one of them "lost his balance" and fell out, landing on his head. The blow would have killed him if—if—if he hadn't been very lucky; as it was he was helped back into the carriage, apparently in no worse a condition than when he fell out of it.

The steamtug Ann, Capt. Drew, arrived at this port on Tuesday from Boston, making the passage in eight hours. She is owned by Mr. C. H. Trickey and others, of Dover, and is intended principally for towing on the river to accommodate the Dover trade. She took up on Tuesday the schooner John Bracewell, Chatfield master, from Philadelphia with a cargo of coal.

To-morrow evening one of the very best minstrel troupes in the country, Duprez & Benedict's, will give an entertainment at Music hall. These managers have never given a poor show in this city, though they have been here many times during the last twenty-five years, and their well deserved reputation will no doubt cause the seats to be well filled with the lovers of minstrelsy. Reserved seat tickets are but thirty-five cents each, so almost everybody can afford to go. See advertisement.

This evening at Music hall the new and amusing comedy entitled "Next door neighbors" will be presented by Mr. Charles H. Thayer and his well selected company. Mr. Thayer as a comedian is well known here, and the comedy is spoken of as being amusing in the extreme, by the press of places where it has been performed. Two hours and a half can be very pleasantly spent at Music hall to-night, and at a small cost, tickets being placed at a very reasonable figure. See advertisement.

The family of Ex-Mayor Stevens, of Dover, was increased on Sunday morning by the addition of a three-months-old baby, very pretty and lively, which his hired man found in a basket on the verandah of Mr. Stevens' fine residence at Garrison hill, it having been placed there some time during Saturday night. The baby was warmly clad, and in the basket was a note stating that the mother lives in Massachusetts; the Dover police, however, are confident that she lives in Dover, and that they know who she is. The little stranger was hospitably entertained by Mr. Stevens' family, pending some proper permanent disposition of it.

There was a five-hours' go-as-you-please foot-race in American hall, Dover, Saturday night, all the contestants being under fifteen years of age. There were nine starters, the winner being Daniel York, who made 30 27-40 miles. The affair was well conducted and drew a very large audience; yet such exhibitions should be frowned down by public opinion, for that boys only fifteen years of age can keep up a speed of six miles an hour for five consecutive hours without inflicting serious permanent injury upon themselves, is not to be credited. It is bad enough when full-grown men, with their bones hardened and muscles toughened by years and labor, go on the track to show how much abuse nature will endure without utterly breaking down; but when their foolish example is followed by boys just at the time of life when any wanton abuse of the physical powers is likely to be most disastrous, what was before merely a silly nuisance becomes a positive and serious evil.

Portsmouth is to have a genuine Chinese laundry, Sin Lee having taken for that purpose the premises lately vacated by Mr. Charles H. Joy.

Mr. George E. Kent, of Exeter, has assumed the duties of superintendent of the Pittsfield Manufacturing Co., made vacant by the death of O. M. Davis.

Solon Andrews, a Biddeford submarine diver, has recently been unsuccessfully engaged in searching the bed of the river at Salmon Falls for the body of the Berwick boy supposed to have been drowned there some weeks since.

The boot crimpers at the manufactory of Strong, Burt & Moore, at Dover, left work on Monday on account of a reduction of ten cents per case. They offer to work with a reduction of five cents, but the proprietors have thus far refused to accept the proposition.

The Biddeford police on Sunday evening made a descent on a notorious den kept by one Mrs. Frank Garside, and caught four persons seated at a table, gambling. The four were all arrested, and next day paid $10.21 each, fine and costs. The woman was convicted of keeping open shop on the Sabbath, of selling liquor, and on a complaint under the "search and seizure" clause of the liquor law; her sentence was ninety days in jail.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

Capt. L. E. Fagan, U. S. M. C., has reported for duty at this navy yard.

First Lieut. S. H. Gibson, U. S. M. C., is ordered to command the marine guard of the Kearsarge.

Some of the crew of the Plymouth, whose time has expired, were paid off on Thursday, and a number of others were allowed a day's liberty on shore.

SUPREME COURT.

TUESDAY, May 6; Allen, J.

In case Rundlett vs. Ladd, a verdict was returned for the defendant.

Peirce vs. Burroughs, on equity docket, was heard on motion for a rehearing of the case. Hatch and Page for pliff.; Wiggin for deft.

RYE LETTER.

RYE, May 6th.

The individual who informed the writer of this that Miss S. A. Goss was to teach the centre school this summer, is requested to come forward and prove that such is the fact, otherwise we shall be obliged to take considerable stock in Mr. T. W. Rand,—who happens to be prudential committee in that district, and he said last Friday that he didn't know anything about it. The latest from the south district is to the effect that the superintending committee has issued a certificate to Miss Josie Marston, of North Hampton, and it is presumed she will teach that school this summer. School commenced in the west district on Monday, 5th inst.

Charles J. Brown, Esq., has about thirty thousand feet of lumber on hand, as the result of the tornado last August; and also more cord wood than he will require for the use of his family for a year or two to come.

The life-saving station closed its doors on the 1st of May, and the crew were discharged. The boys have had something to do the past winter, and have rendered assistance to five or six vessels.

Two notices for hearings in regard to widening roads are posted at the town hall. One is at the "south end" and the other at the east.

Gilman Varrell is to rebuild on the spot where his late house stood, at Foss' beach. He has received his insurance money.

Joseph J. Seavey is building a barn on the beach road, about a mile from the centre.

Mr. C. P. Mills, from the Theological seminary at Andover, has supplied the pulpit at the Congregational church for the past two Sundays.

Charles J. Brown and John O. Drake have been drawn as jurors to attend the United States circuit court at Portsmouth on the 8th inst.

The usual preparations are being made by those who take summer boarders, in anticipation of the usual influx of those health and pleasure seekers during July and August.

Mr. Charles W. Jenness is to run the four cottages and Terrace Hall at Little Boar's Head, this summer.

The greatest "yarn" of all is that going the rounds of the papers to the effect that a lady in this town, seventy-five years old, manufactured on an old-fashioned loom fifty pairs of woollen blankets during the past winter! Since the story was started it has been modified somewhat, by its author, who now says that she was her whole lifetime in weaving that number,—and there appears to be some doubt now as to whether it ever was as many as fifty pairs. EASTERN RAILROAD IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of this corporation was held at Congress hall in this city on Tuesday forenoon. The meeting was called to order by Hon. Moody Currier, president of the corporation, who presided; Col. William H. Hackett, clerk of the road, officiated as secretary of the meeting.

Francis Thompson, one of the directors, made a statement that the condition of the property was greatly improved, it being now free from debt and from litigation. The report was ordered to be printed and distributed, and further time was given the directors.

A committee o three was appointed viz.: John Sise of Portsmouth, Samuel C. Eastman of Concord, Thomas E. O. Marvin of Portsmouth,—to receive, sort and count the votes for directors of the corporation for the ensuing year. The committee reported the whole number of votes cast to be 2319, and the following-named gentlemen, having received the whole number of votes, were declared elected: Moody Currier, of Manchester; Dexter Richards, Newport; Edward L. Giddings, Beverly; Walter Hastings, Francis Thompson, Edward A. Abbot, Alfred B. Hill, Boston.

The meeting was then informed of the death on Monday night of Thomas J. Lee, late the treasurer of the road, and the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted by a rising vote:

Whereas, The members of this corporation this morning learned with sorrow of the sudden death of Thomas J. Lee, an officer of this corporation,

Resolved, That in the death of Mr. Lee this corporation loses an energetic, faithful and capable officer, whose deep interest in its behalf has been unabated since his connection with the Eastern railroad in New Hampshire.

Resolved, That we tender to the afflicted family of the deceased our heartfelt sympathies in this their hour of bereavement.

Resolved, That the clerk be directed to transmit to the family of the deceased a copy of these resolutions.

The meeting then adjourned, and the board of directors subsequently met and organized by the re-election of Moody Currier as president, and William H. Hackett as clerk; Edward A. Abbot was elected treasurer.

—A shirt-front is a thing to be studied.

—A queer scene was witnessed in Bangor, Me., the other morning. Two rats had come out on a lawn, when they were attacked by a robin. A severe battle ensued, resulting in the robin driving the rats back to their hole.

—The old superstition that it is unlucky to be often a bridesmaid arises from the fact that the girl who has figured at a great many weddings without the wish to act the principal part in one is too hard to please, and will never be won. Three times a bridesmaid is considered too often.—Picayune.

—A dog and cat in Hartford, Vt., have grown up together and are very fond of each other. One day the dog came in from the garden completely covered with burdocks, when the cat perceiving his condition, placed her fore paws on him and with her teeth picked off one at a time until the whole were removed.

—A set of furniture is mentioned in Massachusetts papers that became infested with hundreds of moths. The seven pieces were put in a room by themselves, and three gallons of benzine, costing ninety cents, thrown over them, out of a small watering-pot with a fine rose, "saturating through and through." In a few hours they were dry; all odor disappeared in three or four days; no injury was done to varnish, wood fabric or hair-stuffing, and now, months after, not a sign of moth has since been seen. The carpet was also sprinkled all around the sides of the room with equally good effect. This is said to be "a sort of trade secret among upholsterers."

Stimulate the Sluggish Kidneys.

In addition to its tonic and cathartic properties, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters exercises a beneficial influence upon the kidneys and bladder, when they are inactive, by stimulating them to renewed exertion, thus reopening, as it were, a sluice for the escape of impurities whose regular channel of exit is the organs of urination. Among these are certain abnormal and inflammatory elements, productive of irreparable injury to the system if not entirely expelled. The kidneys and bladder themselves are also benefited by this stimulus, as their inactivity is usually a preliminary to their disease and disorganization. They also experience, in common with other portions of the system, the potent invigorative effect of the Bitters, which furthermore corrects disordered conditions of the stomach, bowels and liver.

Don't Dry Up your cough, but cure it root and branch by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Elevated Railroads, Lines of Stages, Places of Amusement, Depots and Steamers—all these radiate from, or are situated in, the immediate neighborhood of the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, New York, which is now kept on both plans, the American $2.50 or $3.00, and the European plan $1.00 per day, and upwards. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Grand Central.

There was a disgraceful scene at a recent meeting of the reform club in Concord, when Lawrence D. Sanborn, an ex-president of the club, assaulted and threw from the stage the present president, Mr. Lyman A. Walker.

Returns under the inventory law, from all but twenty towns, are received at the secretary of State's office. There is no estimate of the increase of taxable property over last year, but the increase of money at interest returned, it is thought will reach $8,000,000.

John Matthews, an extensive and well-known lumber dealer and mill owner, of Lee, has failed. Liabilities, $20,000, about $8500 of which is secured claims.

The Physical Paradox.

It has been said that "the blood is the source of life." It is as truly the source of disease and death. No life, that is to say, no healthy tissue can be generated from impure blood, no organ of the body can normally perform its functions when supplied with impure blood. The fluid that should carry life and health to every part, carries only weakness and disease. Blood is the source of life, only when it is pure. If it has become diseased, it must be cleansed by proper medication, else every pulsation of the human heart sends a wave of disease through the system. To cleanse the blood of all impurities use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets, the most effectual alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies yet discovered. They are especially efficient in scrofulous disease.

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
—THE—
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities where is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough Blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Ross Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.
Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They act without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For sick Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated Feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in clumsy wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, leathery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, and sometimes coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total destruction of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant and may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which full medicine can be carried up, and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

THE
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSABLE.
Daniel J. Spinne, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well-defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried in vain every scheme or remedy whose relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so pertinacious in its health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

IT can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, incrusted matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the ulceration and inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membranous linings of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen,—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through one nostril. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy for it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored. I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.
FITCHBURG, Oct. 16.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made my familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. J. S. P. DERBY.
FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's improved inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists, and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Chronicle Correspondence.

BOSTON, May 5th.

We have had April showers enough this year in all conscience, that May flowers ought to be abundant, but alas! one can only become possessed of a poor little bunch of half-withered blossoms framed in wiry evergreen, by buying it of some raggamuffin of a boy or of our May flower woman. Have you ever seen our May flower woman? If you have been in the Hub in the season you cannot have failed to notice her, for she always stands in some doorway near the corner of Washington and Winter streets, with a basket of the little nosegays on her arm, and a patient look on her poor, pale, withered face. She wears a simple gown and shawl and bonnet, always neat, but oh! so poor and pitiful. Did you know that she comes from the hills of New Hampshire, where the May flowers grow in profusion, and that when she "was young and charming" (like little Buttercup) her youthful farmer-lover used to bring her great bunches of the lovely blossoms fragrant with dew, and they used to pledge each other that this should always be their chosen flower, and that they would ever remember? Did you ever hear how they were secretly married, these young things, who stood so in awe of the youth's father,—a stern, hard old man who was, for that place, rich, while she was only a poor orphan girl who toiled for her bread? And did you ever think that that pompous, well-to-do man who always stops every morning and night, as he passes, to buy a cluster of May flowers from this sad-eyed woman, is the very husband of her youth, who, by a long train of misfortunes and misunderstandings was led to forsake his young wife, and who has long been married to a Boston woman, whose tranquil happiness the poor, forsaken wife will never disturb, though she knows her husband well, while he never once has recognized in her the bride of his youth! Probably you may never have heard this sad tale, and a strict regard for truth as well as a fear of possible libel suits forces from me the confession that I never heard it either, but the old May flower woman is really there all the same, and pompous, well-to-do gentlemen do buy flowers of her, and it all may be true, you know; stranger things have happened!

Now I'll tell you something that I do know for a fact, for I got it from the best authority in the city on the subject. The authority is Mr. John Medina, and the subject is the latest style in ladies' coiffures. I know that I could not find a topic of more general interest to my lady readers, because although one's interest in new gowns or bonnets may possibly flag when the money wherewith to buy them gives out, one's hair must always be attended to anyway, for it costs no more to arrange it in style than out, and the former is vastly more satisfactory than the latter.

In the first place, Dame Fashion has put her foot down that you must and you shall wear your hair braided low in the neck, either in the double chatelaine braid, or in the single, broad, float three-strand braid which starts high on the head, and ends in two short curls in the necks—called the "Princeza braid." This is a very pretty style, though [illegible] compels one to say that it [illegible] false braid pinned [illegible] veracity frequently [illegible] generally a [illegible] on;—but so, too, are [illegible] the chatelaine braids. In these cases, the natural hair is puffed on top of the head, and when one has hair enough for the braid at the back, then, on the other hand, false puffs, or that new and favorite arrangement known as the "multiform"—a long, soft, pliable roll of hair—are pinned on top. There are very few who do not wear some hair besides that which is growing on the head, because of the difficulty of dressing one's own hair satisfactorily, to say nothing of the time involved, and the very usual lack of a hirsute sufficiency.

False frizzes for the forehead, in particular, are worn by everybody—"false fronts," our grandmothers would call them—and if one must wear frizzes at all (which there seems to be no denying) this is altogether the most sensible thing to do, for thereby one's own struggling locks have a chance to grow long and thick against the time when frizzes go all out of fashion. The prettiest style is the "wave spingle," which is a lock of naturally curly hair combed out into fluffy waves and attached to a long fine hairpin by which it is fastened beneath the puffs of the coiffure. The "Graciosa wave" is another style, being a long lock of deeply waved hair with hairpins at each end. The "Montague curls" are coquettish little flat rings of hair, two or three of which are attached to a tiny pin, and which may be struck in effectively in almost any part of the coiffure. Combs of all fanciful kinds are very fashionable now, and countless ornaments of gold, silver, jet, shell, ivory and other substances, all greatly used.

There is barely a chance still left to make "the grand tour" this summer with the Tourjee party, and I hasten to tell you of it, for it may be good news to you. The main party is completely full, and the register closed, but arrangements have just been made whereby twenty persons may go on earlier steamers than that chartered by the excursionists, and join the party in London, having had a grand opportunity meanwhile to run over Great Britian.

A most beautiful work has been that of one of our fairest home poets, Mrs. Zadel Barnes Gustafson, in bringing to the light of this more appreciative age the name and works of a strangely neglected genius of half a century ago, Mrs. Maria Gowen Brooks, who, under the nom de plume of "Maria del Occidente," published several volumes of poems of undoubted merit, but who was unsuccessful in touching the public heart. This seems quite incomprehensible now that the chief of her works, "Zophiel," an epic poem rarely beautiful in thought, fancy and expression, has been given back to us, together with a fragmentary sketch of the author herself,—almost all traces of whom had been lost—by her sister poet, Mrs. Gustafson. I am not ordinarily fond of poetry, I grieve to say, but took up this book intending to merely glance at it last evening, and then write this letter to you, but no letter did I write that night, neither did I retire till the wee small hours of morning had struck, and I had read the last lines of "Zophiel." Messrs. Lee & Shepard published it, and they also have just gotten out six numbers of the "popular edition" of Geo. M. Baker's "Reading Club," in each of which are fifty selections in prose and poetry, and which will be received with pleasure by elocutionists and readers everywhere.

Portsmouth Chronicle

THURSDAY, MAY 8, 1879.

The Mississippi Valley Labor Convention.

A convention calling itself "The Mississippi valley labor convention," and composed of delegates from almost every parish along the river from Vicksburg to New Orleans, has just been held in Vicksburg to devise means to check the exodus of the colored people from the south; a large number of colored delegates were present, but by the advice of their leading men they refrained from voting on any questions. The convention finally adopted resolutions declaring, among other things, "that the colored race is by the Constitution on the plane of absolute legal equality with the whites, and shall be accorded practical enjoyment of all civil and political rights guaranteed by the Constitution; and the members of this convention pledge themselves to protect the colored race from all dangers in respect to the fair expression of their wills at the polls."

Chief Justice Simrall, of Mississippi, said the convention was assembled "to pledge to the colored race a practical exercise of all the rights guaranteed to the colored man under the law."

James Hall, a prominent colored man, gave as his opinion for the causes of the exodus, high rent of land, exorbitant charges of merchants for the necessaries of life, the present defective school system, and the unjust restrictions on the colored men. He had strong hopes of a better feeling hereafter between the two races.

W. B. Pitman, a prominent lawyer of Vicksburg, said that if the resolutions of the convention were carried out in good faith the colored men would be satisfied and the exodus would cease.

The report closes by saying:

The general sentiment of the whites is to faithfully carry out the provisions of the resolutions adopted. The negroes have but little to say; many express their opinion that the result of the convention will be to stop the exodus for the present, until the next election, which will afford an opportunity to test the sincerity of the pledge made by the whites. The convention was noted for its wealth and intelligence, the leading cotton planters of the Mississippi valley being in attendance, as were also most of the prominent leaders of the colored people in the south.

It is certainly to be hoped that this conference will result in a better feeling between the whites and colored men of the south, and it seems positive that some good must come of it. But when a convention of southern planters solemnly pledge themselves "to accord the blacks the civil and political rights guaranteed them by the Constitution," and "to protect them from danger in respect to the expression of their wills at the polls," it is an open acknowledgement of the truth of the charges for years made by the republicans but steadily denied by the democratic press of the north, viz.; that the southern whites have not hitherto accorded the blacks their constitutional rights, and that the freedmen could only express their wills at the ballot box by facing "dangers" which had no right to exist.

News and Jetts.

A lady at Providence, R. I., lost a very valuable piece of lace a few days ago, but it was subsequently found woven into a robin's nest.

A grand trade procession was announced for the afternoon of the 6th inst., at Newport, R. I., but it turned out a grand fizzle. A brass band started, followed by one tradesman!

In the supreme judicial court at Cambridge, Mass., before Chief Justice Gray, a suit has been commenced by the father of Henry McCow against Roland Litchfield, to recover $4000 for the death of his son, occasioned by hydrophobia caused by the bite from a dog owned by Litchfield.

Wesley Bishop, the wife poisoner, of Norwich, Conn., is to be tried this month. He will not be allowed to plead guilty of murder in the second degree, as his counsel have desired, but will have to take the chances for his life.

A breach of promise suit for $10,000 damages has been entered by Mrs. Ellen A. Clous of Cambridge, Mass., against P. J. Kelly, a hotel keeper of Watertown.

The loss by the explosion at Stratford, Canada, is estimated at from half a million to a million of dollars. The explosive material was not dynamite, but blasting powder from Belœil, Quebec, on its way to Detroit, where it was to have been used in blasting the new tunnel under the river. Three men were killed, three seriously injured and three slightly hurt; all railroad men.

There were four suicides at Pittsburg, Pa., on the 5th inst. Andrew Heisel, out of work, cut his throat; Mrs. Mary Astern, worn out attending a sick child, also cut her throat; Patrick Glenn, a victim of religious mania, jumped into the river; and an unknown man also jumped into the river.

George Ricks was murdered by Thomas Harrington at Rockland, fourteen miles from Nashville, Tenn., on the night of the 5th inst., with a shot-gun, in a quarrel about a game of cards. Ricks' wife went to his assistance, and subsequently fought his murderer, beating but not killing him.

The United States courts have awarded the owners of brig Kremlin, of Boston, which was run down and sunk off Nantucket nearly a year ago by the British steamer Golden Grove, the sum of $47,-424.65, with interest from the date of the collision. The Golden Grove was libelled for $49,000 a few days after the accident, and gave bonds.

John Dobbs, alias Kerrigan, was arrested in Philadelphia on the 6th inst., while attempting to sell some of the bonds stolen from the Manhattan bank of New York. He is a notorious thief and bank robber, and owes the State of Connecticut six years of penal servitude.

A Burrville, Conn., widower sought a wife in Barhamsted recently. A handsome widow pleased him and he agreed to give her $1000 and the deed of a farm, which she accepted; but unfortunately her daughter put in an appearance and was so much more attractive that the ungallant wife seeker offered her $2000 and the farm, backing down with his offer with her mother. Being repulsed he renewed his attentions to her mother, who indignantly spurned him. Since then all the widows within the radius of two miles have been approached, with offers varying from the deed of the farm and $500 up to $2000.

New Hampshire Items.

A tramp printer calling himself Reynolds, and claiming to hail from the west, has decamped from Plymouth, leaving an unpaid board bill and taking a revolver and a sum of money.. He is supposed to be in the vicinity of Boston.

Cyrus Batchelder of Loudon was badly, and it is feared fatally, injured by being thrown from a wagon at Concord on the 6th inst.

W. M. Ladd, the Plymouth horse thief, was on the 6th inst. held in $1000 for trial.

Hiram Parker, an old man and very deaf, while crossing the Portland & Ogdensburg railroad track in Bartlett with his team on the 6th inst., was struck by the engine of a freight train. His horse was killed, his wagon completely demolished, and himself seriously though not dangerously injured.

On the morning of March 5th, Miss Hattie C. Witham, of Gorham, left her home and started to go to Boston via Portland. Since then she has not been seen, and it is feared that she jumped from the boat on the trip between Portland and Boston, while temporarily insane. Diligent search has been made for her.

A case of kidnapping occurred in Bath on Monday, the 5th inst. Last fall William F. Burton, a miller, had trouble with his wife, Rose Burton. They separated, she retaining the custody of the children. Since then Burton has made several unsuccessful attempts to get possession of the children, but seemed lately to have given the matter up, and went to work at the Vershire (Vermont) grist mill, Mrs. Burton living with her father, William H. Hubbard. On Monday Burton drove into the village, went into Hubbard's house, took the youngest child, three years old, went to a store and bought a hat and coat for the child, and drove rapidly away for Vermont, entirely unknown to Mrs. Burton until too late for successful pursuit. It is supposed that Burton returned to Vershire.

Naval Matters.

The court-martial which recently tried at the Charlestown navy yard Lieutenant Mullaney of the marine corps, and sent its findings to Washington, has been ordered to re-assemble for a new trial.

Rear Admiral Howell, commanding the United States naval force on the European station, reports to the secretary of the navy, under date of Ville Franche, April 21st, that the Trenton left Genoa on the 12th of April, and arrived at Ville Franche on the afternoon of the same day, having averaged eleven and a half knots per hour for several hours, with two-thirds power. The Enterprise was at Ville Franche preparing for a cruise to the northwest. The Alliance was at Naples, having some slight repairs made, but would continue her cruise in about seven days. The Quinnebaug sailed from Malaga, April 2d, arrived at Gibralter on the 3d, at Tangiers on the 6th, and sailed thence for Algiers on the 12th. The Wyoming sailed from Constantinople on March 14th, arrived at Alexandria on the 18th, and sailed thence to Jaffa on the 3d of April. The Despatch and Gettysburg were still at Genoa. The health of the squadron was excellent.

Political.

The Meridian Mercury, one of the leading democratic papers in Mississippi, demands the destruction of the free school system. This is its language: "The public school system is a Yankee importation, a forced invention of reconstruction, to afflict southern men and women. These southern States owe it to themselves to abolish these systems with a ruthless hand, and put the negro upon defraying the expenses of his own education."

At the city election in Indianapolis, on the 6th inst., the republicans gained three councilmen and one alderman, giving them a majority of ten on joint ballot, against a majority of two last year. The republican gain on the popular vote is from 5000 to 8000.

AROUND HOME.

The Eliza Weathersby Comic Opera Company will appear at Music hall May 26th.

Appleton Tredick has been elected first lieutenant of the Heavy Artillery, vice Ira C. Seymour, resigned.

The Gloucester, Mass., Bulletin says the boat Venus, of that port, measuring 8.30 tons, has been sold to parties in this city.

The National Mechanics & Traders' bank of this city will pay a dividend of three and a half per cent on the 15th inst.

Myrtle Lodge, No. 19, Knights of Pythias, was organized at Kennebunk on Monday evening of this week, with twenty-nine charter members.

Tableaux, representing Scott, will be given by the Eclectic club at Miss Morgan's Seminary on Friday evening, May 9th, beginning at eight o'clock. Tickets, 35 cents, may be obtained at the door.

A meeting of the Grand Army and citizens' committees on Memorial day evening exercises will be held at the common council room at 3:30 o'clock this (Thursday) afternoon, for the purpose of arranging the programme.

George Anderson was before the police court on Wednesday, charged with having been drunk, which charge was sustained by the evidence, and Anderson was sent to the city farm for thirty days, costs being taxed at $6.90.

Many Boston friends of Miss Norah Bartlett, the young and gifted Portsmouth debutante, are anxious to have her repeat her assumption of Julia, in "The Hunchback," in this city, and negotiations are pending by which they may be gratified.—Boston Transcript.

Duprez & Benedicts' Minstrels, with two sets of "end men," two bone players, two tambourinists, a fine vocal quintette and other attractions, will give an entertainment at Music hall this evening; programme new throughout. See advertisement.

The sprinkling carts commenced business on Wednesday of this week, to the marked gratification of everybody who had occasion to go out of doors or to open a window. For two days previous the people of Portsmouth had breathed a compound composed in about equal parts of air, dust and small rocks.

About midnight on Tuesday, the 6th inst., a marine walked overboard from the navy yard landing at the foot of Daniel street, having previously been fooling around some stronger fluid than water. Officers White and Nowell, who were near, went to his rescue and fished him out, minus his cap and plus a bucket of salt water.

"Next door neighbors" was played at Music hall on Wednesday evening to a very small audience, by Mr. Charles H. Thayer and his dramatic company, and was favorably received. There are many comically absurd "situations" in the piece, and a good deal of fun. Mr. Thayer has the most to do, and of course does it well; and the support is generally very good. The spectators certainly had fifty cents' worth of amusement apiece, and the entertainment deserved a much more liberal patronage. The play is in every way superior to "Baby."

The dedication of the Mission room, at the corner of Market and Bow streets, took place on Tuesday evening of this week, the apartment being filled with people. Rev. James DeNormandie gave an invocation, and remarks were made by Rev. Messrs. Owen, DeNormandie, Pitblado, Grant and White, and Messrs. Stephen W. Clarke, John S. Rand, Charles E. Myers and W. A. Loyne. The dedicatory prayer was made by Rev. Dr. Alden. The exercises, which were quite interesting, were interspersed with singing.

The Portland Press of the 7th inst. says: "Mr. Lewis Charleton, for many years a slave, will lecture on the 'Tortures of slavery' at Arcana hall to-night. Mr. Charleton is endeavoring to raise funds to build a church and school at Westminster, Md." This gentleman, we judge from the similarity of name and mission, is the individual who victimized a number of Portsmouth people to the tune of a few dollars each some two or three months ago, and who has been repeatedly posted as an imposter and beat by the religious people of Westminster, Maryland.

The annual examination of the State normal school took place on the 7th inst. By special request, Rev. Dr. Spalding of Dover in the evening delivered an address upon "The idea and accessity of normal school training."

Mr. John Bruce, of Dover, and his wife, retired to rest on Monday evening of this week, both apparently in their usual good health. When Mr. Bruce awoke, Tuesday morning, he found his wife dead by his side, she having expired during the night from paralysis of the heart. Her age was about sixty-three years.

The president-elect of the Manchester reform club is a son of the late Hon. David Murray, of Newmarket. He was ordained in Kensington in 1867, and has been settled in Kensington, Newburyport, Walpole, and North Hampton. His record as a soldier, a clergyman, a temperance worker, and a citizen, entitles him to the confidence of the public.

Dr. Charles W. Hackett, who recovered a verdict of nearly $40,000 from the Eastern railroad on account of injuries received on a train in Massachusetts, has consented to accept $30,000, the limit set by the court, so the verdict will stand. If the corporation decides to further contest the case, it can be carried to the United States supreme court on law questions which were reserved.

We publish by request the following extract from the general statutes of New Hampshire: "The selectmen of every town shall abate a sum not exceeding $3, from the tax of any inhabitant who shall construct, and during the year keep in repair, a watering-trough, well supplied with water, sufficiently elevated and easily accessible for horses and carriages, if said selectmen shall deem the same necessary for the convenience of travellers." This seems a sensible law, well qualified to induce the maintance of proper drinking facilities for dumb animals; but why the watering troughs should be "accessible for carriages" is a mystery.

The New England Reform Club Convention, representing all the reform clubs of New England, has combined with the National Christian Temperance Campmeeting Association to hold a great mass temperance meeting at Old Orchard, Me., commencing August 13th and continuing ten days; some of the leading speakers on temperance in the country have already been engaged, and the friends of temperance expect it to be the grandest in numbers and influence ever held in the Union. Several of the New England governors have signified their purpose of participating in the meeting, which will be under the management of a joint committee selected from each of the above-named organizations.

SUPREME COURT.

WEDNESDAY, May 7; Allen, J.

The court was occupied during the day in the final call of the docket, and in the afternoon adjourned without day.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The United States Circuit Court for the district of New Hampshire begins its May term in this city to-day. Judge Lowell, the District Judge, is detained in the trial of a case in the Maine district, and is not expected to reach here before Monday. His Honor Judge Clark will open the court this morning, and preside. The jurors have been summoned to appear this morning. The newly appointed District Attorney, Hon. Ossian Ray, will commence his official labors after the grand jury shall have been empanelled.

NAVY YARD ITEMS.

Capt. D. B. Harmony is detached from the command of the U. S. S. Plymouth. Lieutenant-Commander F. A. Cook, Lieutenant C. H. Stockton and Masters S. L. Graham and Boynton Leach are detached from the Plymouth, and placed on waiting orders.

Orders have been received at the navy yard to put the U. S. S. Plymouth out of commission. The crew will strip the ship, and the spars, rigging and boats will be taken to the yard in the tug Leyden.

Lieutenant William H. Turner is appointed to the command of the Leyden.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

At the regular meeting on Wednesday evening, May 7th:

The chairman stated that the sum voted as the appropriation for schools by the common council was in excess of the requirements. It was voted that the secretary be directed to appear before the common council and explain as to the sum needed.

A petition from parents of children attending the Jones grammar school for but one session daily, was referred to a committee consisting of the chairmen of the several district committees, with the request to allow the petitioners a public hearing if desired.

A motion was made to reconsider; discussion ensued, but the motion failed. The committee were directed to report at a meeting to be held in two weeks, when a meeting by an adjournment of this meeting will be held.

The committee from district No. 3 reported that Miss Nellie Ham had been selected to fill the vacancy in the 6th division of the Haven school.

Miss Katie Green's resignation as a teacher was accepted. The subject of appointing a teacher to this vacancy was recommitted to the district committee, with power to fill the vacancy.

Report of committee on teachers' meeting, postponing consideration of the subject, was adopted. Adjourned for two weeks.

NEW PORTSMOUTH DIRECTORY.

We notice that the time has again arrived for a new city directory, owing to the numerous changes that have occurred during the past two years. Greenough & Co., the old publishers, will issue it as usual, and no labor or expense will be spared to make it as near perfect as possible in such a work. A new map of the city will be engraved, taking in all corrections; and the work will be a welcome visitor to every business firm and resident of Portsmouth.

—"When is a man a coward?" asked a teacher. "When he runs away from a cow," answered a pupil.

—"It is only a spring opening, ma," exclaimed that awful boy, as he exhibited his torn trousers after a leap over a picket fence.

—The comedy of "Our Boys" has been played 1350 times consecutively at a London theatre, and will soon be followed by "Our Girls." It is different in this country. Here our girls are followed by our boys. But perhaps it is leap year in England.—Norristown Herald.

—The camel presents a very interesting phenomenon in his well-known humps. These protuberances consist really of reserve stores of fat, which the camel uses not only for keeping up the action of his heart and lungs, but also for producing locomotion in his frequent enforced fasts among the deserts of Arabia or India. The humps dwindle away as he marches, in a manner exactly similar to that of the bear's fat during his hibernation, only, of course, much more rapidly, as they have so much more work to perform. It may appear strange that the small amount of food we eat should suffice to carry our large and bulky bodies through all the varied movements of the day. But this difficulty disappears at once when we recollect how large an amount of energy can be laid by dormant in a very small piece of matter.

Stimulate the Sluggish Kidneys.

In addition to its tonic and cathartic properties, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters exercises a beneficial influence upon the kidneys and bladder, when they are inactive, by stimulating them to renewed exertion, thus reopening, as it were, a sluice for the escape of impurities whose regular channel of exit is the organs of urination. Among these are certain abnormal and inflammatory elements, productive of irreparable injury to the system if not entirely expelled. The kidneys and bladder themselves are also benefitted by this stimulus, as their inactivity is usually a preliminary to their disease and disorganization. They also experience, in common with other portions of the system, the potent invigorative effect of the Bitters, which further more correct disordered conditions of the stomach, bowels and liver.

Don't Dry Up your cough, but cure it root and branch by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Elevated Railroads, Lines of Stages, Places of Amusement, Depots and Steamers—all these radiate from, or are situated in, the immediate neighborhood of the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, New York, which is now kept on both plans, the American $2.50 or $3.00, and the European plan $1.00 per day, and upwards. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Grand Central.

Peace and Goodwill can only be felt when you are well. Don't get sick when you can cure that slight cold by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

It is intended for conveying trains across Carquinez Straits, will be 425 feet in length on deck, 116 feet in width and 18 feet deep in the hold. She will be provided with four tracks, running her entire length, of capacity sufficient for 48 freight cars or 24 passenger cars. The deck will be so supported as to be wonderfully strong and durable. About 1,500,000 feet of lumber will be used in building the boat. The boilers, engines, etc., are to be of the best construction and material. Otis steel will be used in the boilers. The steering apparatus, as well as the capstans, will be worked by steam, and the total weight of the machinery will be some 500 tons. As estimated, the cost of the monster, including the engines, will be upwards of $350,000.

The Physical Paradox.

It has been said that "the blood is the source of life." It is as truly the source of disease and death. No life, that is to say, no healthy tissue can be generated from impure blood, no organ of the body can normally perform its functions when supplied with impure blood. The fluid that should carry life and health to every part, carries only weakness and disease. Blood is the source of life, only when it is pure. If it has become diseased, it must be cleansed by proper medication, else every pulsation of the human heart sends a wave of disease through the system. To cleanse the blood of all impurities use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets, the most effectual alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies yet discovered. They are especially efficient in scrofulous disease.

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

THE
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery clears all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple, Tetter, Salt Rheum, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, thick coat on tongue, or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky vegetables. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.
Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Illness during about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping the beneficent impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge from the nasal passages, dropping in the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, pain in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed by one or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which full medical medicaments can be carried higher up the nasal passages, and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages. Therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge is generally purulent. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. DR. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" in a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all or which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened and and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share to pay the purchase of mines completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.

CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple or neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

IT can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what follows from persistent use of this remedy. The hard incrusted matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is cut away, the nasal membrane ceases to be a receptacle of inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membranous lining of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen.—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through one nostril. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy or it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored. I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made my familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. P. DERBY.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Daily Chronicle.

Old Maids and Old Batchelors.

Old maids are useful. They can cook, sew and take care of children, nurse sick people, and generally play the piano. Old bachelors are useless. They do not even know how to drive nails or split wood.

Old maids are amiable. If one wants anything done that requires patience and kindness of heart, a single lady is sure to be the one to do it.

Old bachelors are ill-natured. They snub children, despise babies, and hate young mothers, and are always so busily employed in seeing that other people take good care of them that they have not a moment to give to any one else.

Old maids are nice looking and "young for their years." Old bachelors generally have red noses, rheumatism in their knees, bald heads, and mouths that turn down at the corners.

Old maids can make a home of one little room, and cook delicious meals for one over the gas-jet in cunning little teakettles, besides making their own wardrobes. Old bachelors need an army of tailors, waiters, cooks, distant relatives and hotel landlords to keep them comfortable. When old maids are ill they tie up their heads in pocket-bankerchiefs, take homœopathic pellets out of two bottles, alternately, and get well again. When old bachelors are ill they go to bed and send for four doctors; have a consultation; a mantel-piece full of black bottles; all the amiable married men who belong to the club to sit up with them at night, besides a hired nurse; they telegraph to their relations, and do their best to impress the world with the idea they are dying.

When an old maid travels she takes a sandwich, a piece of pound cake, a bottle of lemonade in a hand basket, and lunches comfortably in the carriage. When an old bachelor travels he orders a dinner in courses at the station and raves because he has not time to eat it before the "fifteen minutes for refreshments" are over.

Old maids drink tea and it cures their headaches. Old bachelors drink strong liquor which gives them headaches.

Old maids are modest; they think their youth is over and their beauty gone. If, after a while, some autumnal love is given them, they take it as a sort of miracle, and hope people will not laugh at them for "marrying so late in life."

Old bachelors believe that all women are in love with them, and that they must carefully guard themselves from traps laid to inveigle them into matrimony. They also fondly cherish the belief that should they eventually become married men, the world expects them to exhibit great taste in women by their choice, and that the "other fellows" will laugh if their portion be not tender youth and beauty; also, that when they marry, many women will expire of jealousy.—Rural New Yorker.

Stimulate the Sluggish Kidneys.

In addition to its tonic and cathartic properties, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters exercises a beneficial influence upon the kidneys and bladder, when they are inactive, by stimulating them to renewed exertion, thus reopening, as it were, a sluice for the escape of impurities whose regular channel of exit is the organs of urination. Among these are certain abnormal and inflammatory elements, productive of irreparable injury to the system if not entirely expelled. The kidneys and bladder them eives are also benefitted by this stimulus, as their inactivity is usually a preliminary to their disease and disorganization. They also experience, in common with other portions of the system, the potent invigorative effect of the Bitters, which furthermore correct disordered conditions of the stomach, bowels and liver.

Don't Dry Up your cough, but cure it root and branch by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Elevated Railroads, Lines of Stages, Places of Amusement, Depots and Steamers—all these radiate from, or are situated in, the immediate neighborhood of the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, New York, which is now kept on both plans, the American $2.50 or $3.00, and the European plan $1.00 per day, and upwards. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Grand Central.

Peace and Goodwill can only be felt when you are well. Don't get sick when you can cure that slight cold by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

BUY IT IN BULK. We refer to the bay rum sold by C. B. Barrett & Co., 45 Market Street.

Ere 'tis too late and that cough has become galloping consumption, cleanse your lungs by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 35 cents.

Why Cough Nights? You can stop it with Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Portsmouth Chronicle

THURSDAY, MAY 9, 1879.

An Ancient and Honorable Establishment.

The University Press at Cambridge, the proprietors of which claim it to have been established in 1639, has been purchased by the widely-known book printing firm of John Wilson & Son, whose business for over thirty years has been to print some of the best books in the country. The former senior member of the firm, the late Mr. Wilson, published a treatise on punctuation, which since its appearance has been a standard among authors and printers. The firm has been strengthened by the association with the former members, of Mr. Charles E. Wentworth of this city, formerly a member of the law-publishing house of Soule, Thomas & Wentworth, at St. Louis. The house of John Wilson & Son formerly did the printing of the law and miscellaneous publications of Little, Brown & Co., and of the many books issued by Roberts Brothers and others of Boston. The building now occupied by Messrs. Wilson & Son is the former Brattle House hotel, a prominent landmark of Cambridge, and the name "University Press" will be maintained in the future as it has been in the past, as one of the prominent institutions of that educational city.

News and Notes.

"Red" Leary, the notorious bank-robber who has for months been confined in Ludlow street jail, New York, awaiting the dilatory action of the New York courts on a requisition of the governor of Massachusetts for his rendition on a charge of being concerned in the Northampton bank robbery, was rescued from jail on the night of the 7th inst. by confederates who hired rooms next the jail and dug a hole through the wall. Leary is the second of the Northampton bank robbers to escape from that jail. Criminal law as administered in New York city is especially for the protection of criminals.

Cox, the high-toned murderer of Col. Alston at Atlanta, Ga., has been found guilty of murder, and sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for life. The sentence was, however, suspended twenty days to allow counsel to prepare a motion for a new trial. Cox is the first murderer sentenced to imprisonment for life by a jury under the new law, which was introduced in the legislature by and passed through the efforts of Alston, whom Cox killed.

Joseph Esterbrook, editor of the Hingham, Mass., Journal, committed suicide on Thursday, while temporarily insane.

In the police court at Lee, Mass., on the 7th inst., John Bottomly, for an assault on Hon. Harrison, Garfield, was held in $10,000 until May 20th, to which time the case was continued to await the result of Mr. Garfield's injuries. Bottomly pleaded not guilty to the charge of assault with intent to kill, his wife becoming his surety for the sum named. He was also held in $1000 bonds to keep the peace. Garfield is yet in a critical state.

There is a man in Taunton, Mass., almshouse, who, a little more than a year ago, was assessed and paid $114 taxes on real estate.

The civil damages act passed by the late Massachusetts legislature proves to be, so far as Pittsfield is concerned, the severest blow liquor selling has ever received. There were sixty-six licenses issued last year, but up to this time there have been but two granted, as none of the other applicants have been as yet able to obtain the consent of their landlords as required by law. On one street where there are twelve saloons only three are able to get licenses, and these own the premises they occupy. Even the drug stores are having difficulty in getting the consent of their landlords, and only one is as yet licensed. As matters now stand not more than a dozen places in town can get licensed, against sixty-six last year. Similar reports come from other towns in that State, and organizations of the liquor dealers to secure the repeal of the law are probable.

Naval Matters.

The House naval committee has agreed on a bill providing for enlisting 750 boys, between fifteen and eighteen years of age, as apprentices in the navy.

The Senate has passed the bill appropriating $20,000 for a new propeller for the torpedo boat Alarm.

The Jamestown sails from San Francisco on the 15th inst., for Sitka, Alaska, to relieve the Alaska, now at that place.

New Hampshire Items.

The city government of Manchester has voted to exempt from taxation for ten years all manufacturing enterprises where not less than $50,000 are invested. This action is taken in view of important manufacturing enterprises in prospect.

About two years ago Thomas Gorman and Calvin Abbott of Henniker had a fracas, during which Gorman had a leg shot off by a gun in the hands of his companion. The matter was fixed up in some way, but last November Gorman, meeting Abbott near the house, demanded that he supply him with a new leg; and, intimating that it would be only fair for Abbott to lose a leg as well, Gorman drew a pistol, but Abbott seized his wrist and after a short struggle ran away, Gorham firing the pistol after him. Gorman has been convicted of an aggravated assault and sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

Political.

The Grant movement is "booming" yet. The latest indication is that that anti-American advocate of British interests, the New York Nation, has come out in opposition to a third term for Grant. The Nation is one of those influences which it is worth a good deal to have in opposition.

Our Washington correspondent writes as follows, under date May 5th: "The republicans have concluded to organize for the campaigns on the stalwart line, and with this view the Congressional Committee have chosen Hon. Wm. E. Chandler for secretary. Mr. Gorham was secretary last year, and it is generally understood did not want it again. It is a thankless position in any party. Mr. Chandler is by all odds the smartest campaigner in the country, and his election means sharp business. He has a wide acquaintance with, and the confidence of business men. The republicans' point with pride' to the campaigns that have been fought under Gov. Morgan of New York, as chairman of the National Committee, and Mr. Chandler as secretary, and confidently predict that this year and next they will repeat the triumphs of days gone by. The democrats will have to look sharp to their own organization, or they will be outgeneralled by the republicans thus marshalled."

—A change pitcher—The man who tosses pennies.

—There are two little girls of the same name in New London, Conn. The other night one of them said her prayers, and for fear they might be credited to the other child, she added, after the Amen, "No. 10 Orange Street."

—A North Carolina man committed suicide the other day. His neighbors had been trying to kill him for upwards of four years, and had fired altogether over a hundred shots at him. He left a note saying that he "had rather die than live in a community of such cussed poor marksmen."

—Referring to the moon, the radiant queen of night, we wrote that "the attenuated crescent hung in the western sky," and an erudite typographical artist made it appear "the assimilated overcoat hung on the Martin boy." That comp is now justifying lumps of coal in a basket with a shovel.—New Haven Register.

AROUND HOME.

A number of Newburyport firemen, hearing that a great fire was raging in this city Thursday, hired a team and drove over to help out boys out. They were hospitably entertained by the Portsmouth firemen.

An exhibition of the baking qualities of the New Empress Range will be made today, Friday, from one o'clock to nine P. M., at the store of John P. Sweetser, No. 46 Market street; everybody invited. If stormy, the exhibition will be deferred to following day.

Duprez & Benedict's Minstrels gave (as they always do) a really good variety entertainment at Music hall, Thursday evening, to a large audience. They furnish an evening's harmless amusement, and their fun does not depend on vulgarity for its point.

A saloon keeper who up to Thursday morning occupied a place which was burned by the fire of that date, finding that his business premises had got to go, procured another place right opposite, moved his stock of "groceries" across the street, and opened shop at his usual hour, while the fire was still burning briskly.

Mr. John Caswell left this harbor for the Isles of Shoals in his wherry at about one o'clock in the morning on Wednesday, the 7th inst., set his trawls after reaching the fishing grounds, and arrived back at the wharf at two o'clock in the afternoon of the same day, with about two thousand pounds of as handsome cod and haddock as has been brought in this spring.

The old Railway wharf, owned by Mr. Dennis Shea, has been leased by Mr. John Dixon for ten years, and is now undergoing thorough repairs. It will be extended to its original length, which was seven hundred feet, measuring from the street. The railway "ways" will remain as formerly. When the repairs are completed the wharf will be one of the most substantial ones along the entire river front. It will be used by Mr. Dixon for the fish business.

Major John D. Myrick, of Augusta, Me., a distinguished cavalry soldier of the late war and one of Maine's most eloquent orators, has been secured to deliver the address on the evening of Memorial day in Music hall. Major Myrick's published speeches are models of brilliant oratery, and as he uses no notes and has the same dashing manner as Kilpatrick, we predict for his hearers an intellectual treat, and for the speaker an enthusiastic audience.

On Monday evening next the justly-famed actress, Miss Charlotte Thompson, whose rendering of the part of "Jane Eyre" a short time since at Music hall gave such unqualified pleasure to all who witnessed it, will appear as "Julia" in "The Hunchback," supported by Mr. W. E. Sheridan as "Master Walter," and her select company of dramatic artists. Reserved seats can be secured at Preston's after nine o'clock this forenoon, at very reasonable rates when the usual unattractions offered are considered. See advertisement.

During Thursday morning's fire Mr. Timothy Sullivan, coachman for Mark H. Wentworth, Esq., discovered a little blaze just kindled on the roof of the house on the corner of Pleasant and Court streets, occupied by Mr. John H. Lowd. Finding on enquiry that Mrs. Lowd was alone, her husband being at the big fire, Mr. Sullivan mounted to the roof with a bucket of water and put out the little fire, which had caught from a large cinder. Mr. Sullivan's discovery and prompt extinguishment of the incipient conflagration averted what might have been another serious disaster, as the reservoir on Market square had previously been emptied, and the tide in the south pond was low.

An amusing incident connected with the big fire resulted from the eagerness displayed by two members of the fire department belonging to different engines, to get the suction hose of their respective machines into the reservior on Market square first—eagerness which soon culminated in their dropping the suction and pitching into each other with a hearty good will that promised a well-fought pitched battle. Some passing citizens, who rightly judged that the combatants would find a better cause in which to expend their surplus energy before the fire was extinguished, separated the irate firemen before they had decided which was entitled to first water.

Hon. Bainbridge Wadleigh is in town in attendance on the circuit court, and is in the best of spirits regarding future events.

The orders of Lieut. Theodoric Porter to the Kearsarge are revoked, and he will continue on duty at the Annapolis experimental battery.

The tableaux announced for this (Friday) evening at Miss Morgan's are unavoidably postponed to some future date, of which due notice will be given.

A committee of the Exeter post of the Grand Army of the Republic has been inspecting the cemeteries in that town, and found thirty graves of soldiers and sailors without headstones.

At the meeting of the trustees of the State normal school, on the 7th inst., Rev. George B. Spalding of Dover was elected president for the ensuing year. The course was fixed at forty weeks, divided into two terms of twenty weeks each, instead of one term of thirty weeks as previously.

The schooner Charles H. Trickey, 281 tons register, owned by parties in Dover and Boston, and intended for the Dover coal trade and general freighting, was launched by Goss & Sawyer, of Bath, Me., on Wednesday of this week. She will be commanded by Capt. Gustavus Kelley.

A well known fiddler, who is considerably patronized by "the boys," came very near losing his life Thursday morning. He had been generously "treated" over night, and was reposing quietly in the coal bin of one of the stores in Franklin block at the time of the fire. The police, learning where he was, burst in the door of the place with some difficulty, and pulled him out in a half-suffocated condition.

David Webster, the liquor spotter, was arraigned in Newmarket on Wednesday, the 7th inst., charged with engaging in unlawful practices connected with the business of the firm of Webster & Drake as spotters. Webster was ordered to give bonds in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the supreme court in this city in October next, in default of which Sheriff Kent brought him to Portsmouth jail. This will probably wind up the business of the firm for the present.

There was some growling, late in the season last year, about the quality of the substance used for sprinkling the streets, many people contending that it was typhoid fever in a palpable form, rather than salt water. And there was some ground for the complaint, too, as the supply tank was located at the foot of Brewster street, and the liquid which was pumped from the foul pool inside the railroad embankment was sometimes rank enough to have afforded Shakespeare a new simile, had it existed in his day and he ever happened to get to leeward of it. This year there will be no chance for a growl on that score, unless the entire Piscataqua should become corrupt, for the supply tank and pumping engine have been set up on the south side of steamboat wharf, and the water is now taken directly from the river. The efforts of the parties who do the street sprinkling to render satisfactory service in that line, should be recognized by a generous liberality on the part of citizens in general and storekeepers in particular. Our street sprinkling service was never so efficient as at present.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

The most destructive fire that has occurred in this city for many years took place on Thursday morning, the alarm being given at about quarter before five o'clock. The fire broke out in a building in the rear of Franklin block, and was first seen by Mr. Hussey of the bank watch, who passed the place about five minutes before and saw no sign of fire, but on his return discovered the flames and gave the alarm. The fire department turned out promptly, and worked hard to confine the fire to the place where it was first seen, but without avail, a brisk northwest breeze blowing the flames around in all directions, and it was not until Franklin block and a number of wooden structures were destroyed and several other buildings more or less injured, that the fire was got under control. A second alarm was sounded at about quarter to six o'clock, and was promptly answered by a steam fire engine, and company from the navy yard, which did good service in aiding the local department.

The reservoir on Market square was sucked dry at an early stage of the fire, and valuable time was lost in shifting the two engines stationed there to the reservoir in School street; this gave the fire a chance to catch Mechanics' block, by which damage estimated at $1000 was done to the building, and as much more to the stock of Joseph F. Berry.

The general impression is that the fire was the work of an incendiary, who laid his plans well, the rapid progress of the flames in several directions giving grounds for the suspicion that some inflammable substance had been spread for the purpose.

The losses and insurance, so far as could be learned up to Thursday evening, are as follows:

Alfred Stavers, loss on Franklin block and other buildings, about $30,000. Insurance on buildings, $15,000; on furnishings, stock in store, etc., about $4000; loss on stock not ascertained.

Norman Lord, saloon, loss $150, no insurance.

Howard F. Newman, saloon, loss $400, insured $500.

Burt D. Trafton, saloon, loss not given, insurance $500.

James F. Mahoney, saloon, loss $500, no insurance.

Henry Peyret, wines and liquors, loss not stated, insurance $500.

James White, saloon, no particulars.

George H. Atkins, Franklin house, loss $200, no insurance.

E. R. Leighton & Co., provisions and groceries, loss $400, insured.

Wilbur I. Trafton, watches and clocks, loss $1000, insured $500.

E. J. Tuckerman & Co., millinery, loss heavy, insured $3000.

William B. Hussey, boots and shoes, loss not learned, insurance $1300.

Francis W. Ham, watchmaker, loss small, no insurance.

Albert H. Tucker & Co., gentlemen's furnishings, loss $300, no insurance.

Daniel Webster, dining saloon, loss $800, insurance $400.

William H. Stringer & Co., barber shop, loss $50, no insurance.

John Malsbenden, merchant tailor, saved part of stock, insurance $1000.

Mechanics' Association block, damage $1000, insurance $8000.

Joseph F. Berry, hats, caps, etc., stock valued at $6000, damage $1000, insurance $2000.

The armory of Storer Encampment, G. A. R., was in upper Franklin hall, and all the furniture was lost; the records were in another place, and the charter and flags were rescued.

A number of buildings on the opposite side of Congress street from Franklin block were more or less scorched, the damages being roughly estimated as follows: Estate of Thomas Treadwell, $100; George Plumer, $300; George Abbott, Sr., $100; George Abbott, Jr., $50; George Lord, $100. Joseph Parry, house on Fleet street, $50. Estate of James Grant, on Vaughan street, $2000; property insured $3250.

Considerable quantities of goods that were rescued from the burning stores were badly damaged by water, or the inevitable rough handling; and it is said that considerable pilfering was carried on.

A stranger passing the locality of the fire at one time would have fancied that the city was on a general drunk, from the dozens of men and boys to be seen staggering around. There was evidently plenty of "free rum" about, probably from the burned or burning saloons.

After the fire was extinguished, Mayor Sise, on behalf of the city, sent a cordial acknowledgement to Commodore Beaumont, commanding the navy yard, for the assistance rendered.

CITY COUNCILS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening:

The monthly bills were ordered to be paid.

Nathan F. Mathes applied for relay of sidewalk corner of Ceres and Bow streets; granted.

Andrew Bodge was granted leave to open State street to lay a drain.

An invitation was received from the city government to participate in Memorial day exercises.

A petition of Daniel Marcy and others for the widening of Water street was accepted, and it was voted that the board visit the premses on Friday afternoon at five o'clock.

The committee on drains reported recommending that the request of L. K. Lydston and others for a drain on Hanover street be granted. A petition for a drain on Vaughan street was granted on recommendation of same committee.

Committee on gaslights reported the destruction of lamp post on corner of Vaughan and Congress streets, and it was voted to erect one on the opposite corner.

That portion of the chief engineer's report relating to a better supply of water for the use of the fire department was referred to the committee on fire department with power.

Consideration of Samuel P. Treadwell's resignation as city treasurer was postponed for one week.

Adjourned for one week.

A MUSICAL TREAT.

On Tuesday evening next, the 13th inst., Miss Lillian Chandler, the brilliant young violinist, will give a concert at Music hall, on which occasion she will be assisted by her sister, Miss Lucie Chandler, soprano; Master Robert Chandler, violinist, (nine years old); and the Eichburg quartette of young ladies,—two violins, viola and 'cello. Those who have had the pleasure of hearing Miss Lillian Chandler's playing will need no urging to attend this concert, where they will have a chance to hear her again, and in addition, songs by Miss Lucie, who is a very pleasing vocalist, and choice selections by the quartette, whose performances are spoken of as something of far more than ordinary merit. Mr. T. P. Ryder, of Somerville, Mass., one of the best known and most pleasing pianists in New England, will act as accompanist. The programme is a fine one, with variety enough to suit all tastes, and we feel safe in prophecying that the concert will be a rare musical treat. Reserved seats will be placed at fifty and thirty-five cents.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

MAY TERM; Clark, J.

The court came in on Thursday. The following-named gentlemen compose the grand jury: Dudley H. Lewis, Marlow, foreman; Uri Lamprey, Hampton; Geo. S. Merrill, Hampton Falls; James R. Connell, Joseph H. Emery, John S. Montgomery and Willis G. Myers, Portsmouth; Charles J. Brown, Rye; Jonathan A. Martin and Nathaniel Paul, Salem; Samuel Chamberlain, Chesterfield; William O. Kemp, Alstead; Frank Chapman, Charles W. Buckmiuster, Charles Holton and Gordon D. Harris, Keene; Abner S. Thompson and George W. Crowninshield, Hinsdale; Albert F. Nims and Charles Hooper, Walpole.

Judge Clark charged the grand jury, defining their duties and indicating the difference between the State and the Federal courts.

The following-named gentlemen, who had been admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of the State, were on motion of Hon. Albert R. Hatch admitted to practice in the Courts of the United States, viz.: Frank N. Parsons, William M. Barnard, John Hatch, Alfred F. Howard, William Russell Foster of Portsmouth.

The docket was called.

Case Roberts vs. city of Nashua was postponed.

In case in equity, Mence vs. Woodward, opinion was given. There are two questions, one of novelty, the other of infringement. The consideration of the first question governs the case. The defendant denies that plaintiff was the original inventor of the article referred to, a revolving steel cutter for cutting glass, described in the bill. The court so held, and ordered the bill dismissed, with costs. Barnard, and Mitchell (of Connecticut) for pliff.; Pike & Parsons, Blodgett, and Durgin (of New York) for deft.

The following jury cases were continued: Dearborn vs. Post; First National Bank of Newburyport vs. Jona. Dearborn; Herrick, admr., vs. Orient Insurance Co., Parker for deft., Burke for pliff.

Eben Wyman of Henniker was arraigned upon an indictment found at the October term, 1878, for an illegal use of the United States mails, pleaded not guilty, and was recognized for his appearance at the next term. Ray for U. S.; Hatch for deft.

The court adjourned to meet on Saturday forenoon to receive the report of the grand jury, and for other business to Tuesday forenoon, when it is expected Judge Lowell will be present.

The petit jurors have been excused until Tuesday at eleven o'clock A. M.

The Physical Paradox.

It has been said that "the blood is the source of life." It is as truly the source of disease and death. No life, that is to say, no healthy tissue can be generated from impure blood, no organ of the body can normally perform its functions when supplied with impure blood. The fluid that should carry life and health to every part, carries only weakness and disease. Blood is the source of life, only when it is pure. If it has become diseased, it must be cleansed by proper medication, else every pulsation of the human heart sends a wave of disease through the system. To cleanse the blood of all impurities use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets, the most effectual alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies yet discovered. They are especially efficient in scrofulous disease.

—Striking objects—Clocks.

—Making waistcoats at fourteen cents each, chevlot shirts at four cents a piece, heavy overalls at fifty cents per dozen, and woolen trousers at ten cents a pair, are some facts gleaned by a society of ladies who are investigating the condition of the sewing women of Cleveland, Ohio.

—Portable gas is sold and delivered in England like milk. People in the country and villages receive their gas in copper vessels from the city, and the German railroads are all lighted in a similar manner. This method derives much of its popularity from the fact that it dispenses with the erratic and depraved meter.

—Extract from a French mayor's report about an accident to a mule: "The aforesaid mule, on the way from Bagnieres to Z——, while crossing a bridge, timid by nature, made a slip and fell into a ravine, whose depth was instantaneous." This account is somewhat mixed, but a little study will doubtless straighten it out.

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned in this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mercurial Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have a sallow color of skin, or dizziness, brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects speedy and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and caused surprise among those who consider it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations, Sour Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, etc., take Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in clumsy wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, hot, feverish, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, vocalization, scaling of the voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total privation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, ticking cough, etc., are a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The blood remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is by far the most perfect instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried, FLOW UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the channels of eustachian communication therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, both directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures one severe attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. THE
Alpine Silver Mining Co.,
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the reduction of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, at Brooklyn, New York.
N. R.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in the country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: "The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

IT can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, in the worst form of Catarrh, is a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, incrusted matter that has accumulated in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the ulceration and inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membranous linings of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying at its core, through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen,—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through one nostril. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy or it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared since the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored, I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no dropping in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made my familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. P. DERBY.

Onion Growing.

Weeding must be commenced early; once let the weeds get well started and the onion grower will have a serious task. The crop will be greatly injured, first by the growth of the weeds, and then, when they are strongly rooted, by their removal. Pulling up large weeds in an onion bed is almost sure to injure many of the bulbs. If commenced early, and attended to often, weeding can be performed with something like compcsure, but if too long neglected it becomes a weary and discouraging operation.

In regard to the maggot there is need of saying but little. When it appears in full force it is a terribly destructive enemy, and I know of no remedy which can be used on any but a very limited scale. Hot water turned on the stems of the plants close to the ground is the most promising method with which I am familiar. The use of ashes for the destruction of maggots is not reliable. Many seasons these enemies take part of the crop, but leave the larger part of it undisturbed.

The first thing to do in preparing the land is to spread on a liberal quantity of manure; no matter if the land is already rich, it needs the manure all the same, and must have it or the crop will be small. If the land is not in good condition it had better be heavily manured and planted with corn or potatoes this season, and devoted to onions next year. The manure used for onions should be very fine.

Deep ploughing must be avoided, for it is ruinous to the crop; four or five inches is deep enough. Plough the land well, then sow on a large quantity of ashes; unleached ashes are much better for this crop than leached ones. Harrow the land until the surface is very fine, then rake it all over with garden rakes, remove all the stones, and pulverize all the lumps of earth. This is slow, hard work, but it is necessary that it should be performed. After it is done it is a good plan to roll the land, then scratch the surface enough to make a fine seed bed, and sow at once. The Yellow Danvers and Early Red Globe are the best varieties for this region. The seed should be bought of reliable men, as poor seed will not produce half a crop.—Dirigo Rural.

Betting on a Sure Thing.

A tough-looking citizen walked into one of the justice courts yesterday forenoon very much intoxicated, and requested that he be allowed to swear off drinking for a year. His Honor obligingly put him through the solemn motions, and the convert, with a confused rumble of well-meant but profanely expressed resolutions, stumbled out of the court room.

"Bet he don't keep it an hour," said one of the grinning lawyers.

"Bet he sticks to it a week, anyhow," observed the court with confidence.

"Nonsense!" cried everybody.

"What'll you bet?" asked the judge.

"Twenty to ten," exclaimed an eager attorney, producing the money.

"Done!" cried His Honor, and the stakes were turned over to a Chronicle reporter.

"Constable" said the court quietly, "go out and fetch that man back."

In a few minutes the reformed one was dragged in and the judge ascended his dais, rapped for order and looked severe.

"Charged with being drunk," said the court. "What's your plea?"

"Guess I'm full," admitted the prisoner, with an idiotic smile.

"Ten days in the county jail. Constable, lock up your prisoner. Mr. Reporter, hand this court that wealth. Court's adjourned. Boys, let's go and flood our lower levels."—Virginia (Nev.) Chron.

SATURDAY, MAY 10, 1879.

The California Constitution.

California has adopted the Kearney constitution by a majority of from 6000 to 10,000. The "sand-lots" of course voted solidly for it, and the farmers seem to have done about the same. Business men throughout the State opposed it, and predicted unexampled disaster if it was adopted. We shall now see what we shall see.

The constitutional convention was captured by the Kearney party, and the constitution is an attempt to put the theory of that faction into mandatory language.

Citizenship is, of course, restricted to persons not of Mongolian blood, and corporations are prohibited from employing Chinese laborers.

Delay in the administration of justice is to be prevented by a clause requiring every judge, before he can draw his monthly salary, to make oath that no cause remains undecided in his court, which has been submitted for decision for the period of ninety days. Three-fourths of a jury may render a valid verdict in civil trials, and the jury itself may be fewer than twelve, if the parties agree, while in minor criminal cases, not amounting to a felony, by agreement in open court, jury trial may be waived.

Stock-gambling is to be stopped by giving the legislature power to regulate "or prohibit" the buying and selling of shares in any stock board, exchange or market under the control of an association. Curbstone brokers are to do all this business.

"Lobbying," which includes the offence of seeking to influence the votes of legislators by intimidation, is declared a felony. This is to remedy the corruption of legislators.

For the regulation of railroads, a board of commissioners is to be established, who are to fix rates for passengers and freight. Whenever a railroad lowers its rates for the purpose of competition, there is to be no subsequent increase without the consent of the government. A mysterious provision forbids railroads to make contracts with vessels, "by which the earnings of the one doing the carrying are to be shared by the other not doing the carrying."

The legislature is empowered to pass laws regulating the charges of gas and telegraph companies; and charges for storage and wharfage, whether by corporations or individuals, may be regulated in the same way.

The old provision that taxation shall be "equal and uniform" is stricken out, with the avowed purpose of imposing taxes graduated not merely in proportion to valuation, but in an ascending scale as the valuation increases. All property is to be taxed, except growing crops, and school, city, State and United States property.

Other provisions make eight hours a day's work on all public works; give mechanics and laborers a lien on property for their labor or materials; declare that no public work shall be begun in any city until its cost has already been estimated, assessed and gathered into the treasury; declare the holding of large tracts of land by individuals or corporations inimical to public interests, limiting, therefore, to 320 acres the amount of State land hereafter granted to each settler; and throw open all lawful vocations to all persons—except the Chinese. The legislature is empowered to "provide the necessary legislation to prohibit the introduction into this State of Chinese"—whatever Congress may do on the subject. The legislature is also to delegate all needed power to municipalities to remove Chinese from their limits, or confine them to designated quarters within those limits.

The adoption and enforcement of such a constitution as this would lead by rapid steps backward to barbarism. No such tyranny is compatible with civilization. No such tyranny can long exist in a civilized State.

News and Notes.

The final vote of the Brooklyn Presbytery on the charges against Talmage, the pulpit circus performer, stood twenty-five against twenty in Talmage's favor. If one-quarter of the published reports of the "carryings-on" of the Presbytery during the trial are true, then the Brooklyn Presbytery can give a democratic caucus the odds at any time, and still come in ahead for disorderly and unchristian conduct and unblushing partisanship and trickery.

A freight conductor on the Boston & Albany railroad, named McGill, was run over by a train near Springfield, Mass., and his body cut in two, Thursday.

Parole, Lorillard's race-horse, won the great Chester handicap stakes at Cheshire, Eng., on Thursday, easily. He was badly beaten in a minor race on the previous day, having commenced to stagger about the course almost at the moment of victory. On Thursday he was the last horse in the race on the first round, and then ran past the other horses apparently without an effort, to the utter astonishment of the jockeys and spectators, and went past the winning post on an easy canter. The English betting men were badly "bitten," Parole's performance on the previous day having deceived them.

A peculiar sensation recently occurred in Bucksport, Me. A young man and young woman of that town, whose acquaintance had ripened into love, went to a justice of the peace, who is famous for the number of marriage ceremonies he has performed, and were married; but about a fortnight afterward the magistrate made the discovery that his commission had expired just before he married this couple. The discovery created quite a stir in the place, and it was the subject of considerable gossip. The sequel is, however, still more surprising. The would-be husband said to the woman, whom he had for two weeks considered his wife, they would go to some real magistrate and get hitched again, and be legally married. To his great astonishment she said she thought she would not; she had had enough of married life for the present. The next day she left for Boston, and the young man still enjoys all the pleasures of single blessedness.

It is reported that a thousand men are now involved in a strike on the Canada Pacific Railway on account of the reduction in wages.

At Chicago, on the 6th inst., Gray, who attempted to shoot Edwin Booth, pleaded guilty to assault with intent to kill, and was remanded for sentence. An inquiry into the mental condition of the prisoner will be made.

The great woolen house of Whittemore, Peet, Pest & Co., of New York, has failed, and there is no hope of a resumption of business. The liabilities foot up $935,000. It is feared that several woollen mills will be carried down in the disaster.

A colored boy, twelve years of age, has been sent to the Illinois State prison for shooting and killing a playmate. The young murderer owed his victim five cents, which he refused to pay, when a quarrel took place.

H. W. Love of the Burlington (Vermont) Review was assassinated in Brattleboro' on Thursday by William Waite, who was offended at an article in that paper on the Waite and Etsey organ case, recently decided against Waite.

New Hampshire Items.

William Emery of Rochester recently dug out thirty-five black snakes and adders from a hole in a meadow.

Mr. John C. Varney of Alton recently sold to John A. Dudley of Farmington five fat cows which dressed 4100 pounds.

Alanson S. Haynes of Wentworth, against whom there are four suits, two on civil processes and two on criminal, has not been seen or heard from for several days. He was held in $1550, which, if he does not return, his bondsmen will have to pay.

Naval Matters.

The U. S. S. Marion was officially inspected at Norfolk on the 7th inst., and was announced to sail for the West Indies next morning. The flagship Powhatan dropped down from Norfolk to the Farewell buoy on the 7th, and was to sail for Port Royal, S. C., on the 8th.

The Jamestown will go into commission at Mare Island navy yard on the 15th inst.

The Senate on Thursday passed the House bill providing for the enlistment of 750 boys in the navy. The President will sign the bill.

Political.

The House on Thursday tabled the bill in regard to the eight-hour law, by a vote of 103 to 52. A motion to reconsider was laid on the table by a very large majority, effectually killing the measure for this session.

Every candidate on the democratic ticket in Kentucky, is an ex-confederate, and a Bourbon editor in Louisville heads a report of the convention with these exultant words: "'On to Richmond'—that seemed to be the motto of the convention—a solid phalanx of Ex-Confederates nominated to fill State offices." Sketches are given by the same editor of the different candidates, and of one he says: "On one occasion when he was accused of being an Ex-Federal soldier, he immediately denounced the rumor as malicious and false." That "Okolona idiot" seems to have plenty of sympathetic brethren in all parts of the south.

An Astonished Burglar.

A locksmith in Providence has a big pet owl which he keeps in his shop. The other night an intruding burglar broke open the back window of the shop with a jimmy, and prepared to despoil the shop and probably the house, which is connected therewith. But as soon as he had got inside he met with a warm reception, for the owl, which is generally at liberty in the night time, seized upon the intruder, and there was quite a severe tussle, until at length the man succeeded in making his escape, leaving his hat and the implement used in opening the window. When the locksmith went to the store in the morning, blood was found on the floor, desk, near the window and other places, and the "jimmy" was covered with blood. The owl's feathers were bloody, as well as his claws, thus showing the faithfulness with which he had defended the property of his master. Nothing was missing. The amazement of the burglar, when, on opening the window in the dark, he found himself attacked by a silent winged thing that bit and scratched like a demon, must have been intense. The absurdity of the situation was increased by the fact that the owl, being able to see clearly, while the man was struggling blindly in the dark, had every advantage. It would have been amusing to hear the burglar's account of the adventure.

AROUND HOME.

Lieut. Lewis E. Bixler is detached from the hydrographic office, and ordered to the Kearsarge on the 15th inst.

The legal suasion league will meet this evening in the new Mission hall, corner of Bow and Market streets, at half-past seven o'clock.

Boys and girls interested in the reorganization of the children's Band of Hope society are requested to meet at the new mission hall, corner of Bow and Market streets, at three o'clock this afternoon.

The safe of Mr. Alfred Stavers, which had passed through the fire, was opened Friday afternoon, and the papers, though somewhat scorched and wet, were found to be in a fair state of preservation.

Chief Engineer Fletcher ordered the steamer Kearsarge out early Friday morning to throw water on the rubbish at the Franklin block fire, it having rekindled during the night. The engine was kept at work over four hours.

It is an unusual occurence for the secretary of the school committee to appear before the city government arguing in favor of a reduction in the appropriation for schools, but such was the case on Thursday evening at the meeting of the common council.

One of the selections which Miss Lillian Chandler will play at the concert on Tuesday evening is the "Otello fantasie" by Ernst, which Wilhemj played in Boston last winter, and which was such a favorite with the connoisseurs of music in that city and New York.

The members of Moses H. Goodrich engine company had themselves photographed in a group, Thursday forenoon, in the clothes they had worn at the fire, smut and all. They are rather a good looking looking lot of men, ordinarily, but they were a decidedly hard looking set just at that time.

The farm buildings of Stephen F. Butler, in South Berwick, were destroyed by fire on Tuesday morning, the 6th inst., with their contents, the family barely escaping with their lives. The fire is supposed to have been the work of a tramp. Loss $1200; insured $500 in the Kittery and Eliot Mutual.

A large number of housekeepers attended the exhibition of the baking qualities of the New Empress cooking range, at Mr. John P. Sweetser's store on Friday afternoon. The visitors were agreed that the exhibition was remarkably successful, and that the New Empress is an improvement on anything hitherto put on the market.

The Journal is "informed that the legacy of the late Thomas M. Coffin of Plymouth, Mass., to the 'Home for Indigent and Aged Women' in this city, has been paid in full to Hon. Wm. Simes, president of the board of trustees of that institution, for permanent investment according to the terms of the will. The tedious delay in the payment of the bequest was occasioned by the presentation of other claims, which have been proved groundless."

Edson Blodgett, station agent and telegraph operator at the Eastern depot in Saco, committed suicide Thursday night by taking laudanum. He was a young man about twenty-seven years of age. Unrequited love was the cause of the deed. The deceased has been in a moody frame of mind for several days. He called to see the lady to whom he was paying attentions on the previous Sunday evening, at which time some unpleasantness occurred, and he took no food from that time.

On Monday night, the 5th inst., the newly-built tow-boat George A. Deane, Capt. Doane, hailing from Baltimore, lying at the Eastern railroad wharf, East Boston, quitted that port rather suddenly, bound for this port, leaving a number of liabilities unsettled. It is stated that about $3500 is due to Lewis Osborne & Co., of East Boston, the contractors for the boat, and about $1500 to Mr. Malcolm Campbell, who took a sub-contract for the hull. Minor amounts are owing to other sub-contractors, for which the contractors are primarily liable, but for which a lien on the vessel could have been claimed. The owners of the tow-boat are George A. Deane of Baltimore, Captain Kent and Captain Doane of East Boston. The tug is now at this port, and it is said the work yet needed to fit her for service will be done here.

The old grist mill at Hampton has been taken down by Mrs. John T. Batchelder of Hampton Falls, the purchaser, and removed to the latter town, to be put up again at the mill dam near his residence.

The Masonic Grand Lodge of Maine met in Portland on Thursday last, and among other business transacted was the granting of a dispensation to Naval Lodge, of Kittery, and restoring the charter of Ocean Lodge, of Wells.

Dr. Pollock, the chiropodist who has so satisfactorily remedied defects of the feet for many of the best of our citizens during the week just past, leaves for Portland at three o'clock this afternoon. He will attend to all calls up to that hour.

The total invoice of residents Hampton foots up $666,788; non-residents, $54,605; number of polls, 328. Horses 258, value $15,222; oxen, cows and neat stock, 558, value $13,559; sheep, 166, value $435; swine thirteen, value $73; stock in trade, $10,875; money at interest, $98,014, about $80,000 more than last year.

Mr. Moses Yeaton, Jr., of this city, who last year had charge of the upper department of the graded school in South Seabrook, has again assumed that position, much to the gratification of the parents in the district. The school committee of Seabrook in their last report commended this school as the best one in the town, a condition of things of which the South Seabrook people may properly feel proud. Miss Merrill, of East Salisbury, Mass., has charge of the primary department of the school this term.

Mr. Jason Lamprey of Hampton took a cold bath one morning recently, while engaged in drawing his lobster traps off the point of Boar's Head. While in the act of drawing one that was fast at the bottom, the warp parted, letting him backward in such a way as to capsize his boat. Being a powerful man and a good swimmer, he soon reached his boat, but could not keep her right side up owing to the heavy swell going at the time. However, he managed to get on her bottom, where he remained, on and off, for an hour, before being discovered by John A. Dow, who rescued him.

The sons of Portsmouth residing in Boston will doubtless proceed en masse to the Boston theatre on the evening of Saturday, the 17th., inst to witness the performance of two native stars. Miss Norah Bartlett will make her first appearance before a Boston audience on that evening, in the character of Julia, in the Hunchback; and Mr. Barnabee, wishing to do honor to so marked an occasion, has consented to act the part of Modus, the amusing character taken so ably by Mr. Magginnis at Miss Bartlett's debut in this city. We think it likely that quite a number of Portsmouth's residents will have business in Boston on the 17th inst., and be detained in that city over night.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

Rev. I. S. Jones, of Rye, preaches at the Christian church on Sunday, exchanging with Rev. J. A. Goss.

Rev. Samuel Hoyt of Newington will preach in the Pearl street church.

Rev. Mr. Byington, of Exeter, will preach at the Middle street church.

Rev. George Sederquist, of Lynn, will preach at the Advent church.

Rev. Mr. Blakeslee will preach at the North church.

The reform club meeting, Sunday evening, will be held in Music hall, and will be addressed by Mr. C. L. Kirkland, of Augusta, Me., said to be a very able speaker.

CHARLOTTE THOMPSON IN "THE HUNCHBACK."

We have in store for Monday evening a rich entertainment in the play of the Hunchback. The play was written by James Sheridan Knowles in the year 1831, and at its first representation, Knowles acted the part of Master Walter with Fanny Kemble as Julia. Knowles, by the way, was an elocutionist rather than an actor. He was a writer of fourteen plays which the English critics claim to have been without a display of genius, while they were the best "acting" plays of any modern English writer. But it is of Miss Thompson we began to write. In this play Miss Thompson shows those extraordinary powers for which she is justly celebrated. If we were to judge of her superiority in any particular, we should estimate the power of her look, as the strongest feature in her composition. In Jane Eyre she acted with her eyes, and Rochester's blunt commands or peculiar enquiries were met with such a look that completely disarmed the untrammelled master of the house.

Miss Thompson seems to possess perfect command of herself, a thorough conception of the minutest detail of the part she assumes, and has the advantage of a beautiful person, a graceful carriage, musical voice, and a sweet, and at the same time] exceedingly interesting face. With these advantages, aided by an experience in the best theatres of the world, can we suppose that in the part of Julia there is anything approaching perfection that Miss Thompson has not attained? We judge of the interest our people will have to see her in Julia, from the highly satisfactory and enjoyable entertainment of those who had the good fortune to witness her in Jane Eyre recently. We base our expectations not upon the criticisms of our contemporaries in other cities, but upon our own enjoyment in seeing Miss Thompson in another part which developed alike her talent, her histrionic taste and her dramatic powers.

We have many commonplace entertainments during the year. This is one of the highest order. It is one of the best plays enacted by one of the most successful actresses of the present day, and to lose witnessing this is to miss an opportunity seldom to be enjoyed in Portsmouth. To-night, at Manchester, Miss Thompson plays Camille, a play adapted from one of Alex. Dumas' stories. Miss Thompson's second appearance in a city is invariably marked by an increased interest. We hope that the good taste of our people and their appreciation of a high order of dramatic ability will lead them to appear in goodly numbers at Music hall on Monday evening, to witness the Hunchback. The costumes worn by Miss Thompson as Julia are of a magnificent order; indeed, in the five changes, one for each act, the lady auditors will find much to admire in the works of the Parisian modistes, whose satins and silks will be appreciated and commended in that fertility of language which is only vouchafed to the fair sex in this particular. The support will be excellent. An agreement has been effected with Mr. W. E. Sheridan, an actor of acknowledged ability from the New York and Philadelphia theatres, who appears under an engagement commencing at Music hall on Monday evening; and the promise is that we shall witness such a representation of the Hunchback as is seldom seen in this part of the world.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The Grand jury were in session on Friday, and are expected to come in this forenoon to report to the court.

THE OLD FRANKLIN HOUSE.

The Franklin house (except perhaps the wooden part) was built by Langley Boardman, and was partly owned by his grandchildren, the daughters of Capt. George Boardman, two-thirds of it having been purchased of his daughters by Mr. Alfred Stavers. The wooden part, which was very much older than the rest, as long ago as we can remember was occupied in the upper stories as a furniture manufactory by Mr. Boardman, and the lower story by one Mr. Newhall and afterward by Leonard Akerman, Wm. D. Carter and others, as a grocery store. Mr. Boardman first built two four-story brick dwelling houses adjoining the wooden store, and afterwards in 1819 built the Franklin and Masonic hall building next to Fleet street. The Franklin hall was famous in its day. There the annual Washington and Franklin balls were held, the centennial ball in 1823, and the Lafayette reception ball in 1824. It was also used to some extent as an exhibition hall.

Soon after the building was completed, it was opened as a hotel, and was known as the Stage house. In it the two great lines of stages, running east and west, had their booking offices, and it was the stopping place of most of the travelling public. Afterward the wooden part was fitted up and connected with it, and the enlarged building, with the new name of the Franklin house, was successfully conducted for many years, by Willis Barnabee, the Hadleys and others.

Since Mr. Stavers bought into it, the entire lower story has been fitted up for stores, the brick stable on Fleet street has been demolished, and a new and larger hall constructed; the wooden building on Vaughan street in the rear was also fitted up with stores, and it is said that the annual rental of the property was about six thousand dollars. The hall, however, has not been a success; it lacked important qualities for a popular place for either showmen or audiences, and has been but little used.—Journal.

—Alaska, at all seasons of the year, is a furtile country.

—The average city man who makes a flower bed all himself in his yard displays more vanity in sitting on the steps and overlooking his handiwork than does his fashionable wife in her parades before the mirror. So we have been told.

The June Atlantic will contain an important and timely "Study of a New England Factory Town," by the author of "Dangerous Tendencies in American Life." He spent some weeks in Fall River, and has made a careful and deeply interesting study of its industrial, social, and moral condition. Buying a horse is proverbially a very risky matter. Its perplexities, technicalities, and humorous aspects are treated in a very engaging style by Mr. Howells, in this number of the Atlantic. Mr. W. J. Linten, one of the first of living engravers, has written for the same number an article on "Art in Engraving on Wood." It sharply criticises some recent publications, and can hardly fail to create a lively discussion.

The Physical Paradox.

It has been said that "the blood is the source of life." It is as truly the source of disease and death. No life, that is to say, no healthy tissue can be generated from impure blood, no organ of the body can normally perform its functions when supplied with impure blood. The fluid that should carry life and health to every part, carries only weakness and disease. Blood is the source of life, only when it is pure. If it has become diseased, it must be cleansed by proper medication, else every pulsation of the human heart sends a wave of disease through the system. To cleanse the blood of all impurities use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets, the most effectual alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies yet discovered. They are especially efficient in scrofulous disease.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough blood-purifying property, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption, including Scrofulous and Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution result. Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Scrofulous humors it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy foreboding, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only some of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Propr. World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, compoged of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seed. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over a great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escapes their sensative impress. Are does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are compounded and included in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Propr. World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge from the nares, sometimes profuse, watery, thick colorless, purulent, offensive, putrid. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, swelling, up, or under the eyes, nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to raise the mucus, offensive breath, impaired voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be applied, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument with which medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which cases and ulcers frequently arise, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy and Douche are sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Propr. World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE
Alpine Silver Mining Co.,
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety, and well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

It can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, incrusted matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with few applications; the ulceration and inflammation subdued and healed, the entire mucous membranous lining of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen,—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through one nostril. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy or it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of Sanford's Radical Cure. My hearing is fully restored, I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the Cure on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the Radical Cure.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.

Fitchburg, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the Radical Cure of me, and from time to time made my similar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. P. DERBY.

Fitchburg, Oct. 14.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

THE MALLORY

Patent Air Closet!

Superior to either Water or Earth Closets for General Use, and for the Sick Room, are indispensable.

They can be set up in any Room, Hall-way or Closet, or at the Bedside of the Sick, and are warranted to be Perfectly Odorless.

Being thoroughly ventilated from the front, and connecting with the chimney, the disagreeable odors and poisonous gases are carried off into the chimney, instead of escaping into the room.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 6th.

The passage by the House of the new bill for keeping the troops away from the polls whether as an adjunct of civil or military power, was rather unexpected by the republicans, and indeed by the public generally, who judged that the democratic caucuses had been so in harmonious as to make such summary action impossible. It shows to the country that the democrats are well disciplined, and are determined upon bringing their views to the front and engrafting them upon the government if possible. It cannot be denied, however, that in substance if not in form, the new bill is essentially the same as the troops provision in the old bill, and that therefore the democrats could not afford to open a general discussion in the House upon it, since that fact would be exposed. The republicans are confident that the President will stand by them in vetoing the meaure. His message on the appropriation bill seems to indicate that he will, for his objections to that apply to this one in almost every particular.

The debate in the Senate yesterday on the Louisiana senatorship had a good deal of political significance. The democrats now have a majority in that body of ten, the number being forty-three to thirty-three. But it is possible—indeed the republicans boast almost a certainty—that in '81 the changes in the north may be such that this showing may be reversed, since only six gains would have to be made to do it. The term of Senator Kellogg of Louisiana does not expire until 1883. Therefore, if he can be ousted to give place to his competitor, Spofford, the democrats will have one more majority for the republicans to overcome. The debate seems to indicate that the majority have determined to strengthen themselves by this expedient, and that Kellogg must go. If this is done there will be but one republican senator left in all the south, Bruce of Mississippi—for it is not likely that even democratic partisanship will be so reckless as to give his seat to some one who was never elected.

The diplomatic and hesitating denials of Sec'y. Sherman in Ohio as to his designs politically, are discounted here very generally. It is the general impression that he is there to feel the public pulse, and if there is a chance of success he will consent to be the "spontaneous choice" of the Ohio republicans for governor, that he may use that office to promote his aspirations for the presidency. I find also among republicans, except those in office immediately under Mr. Sherman, a feeling against him and largely in favor of Judge Taft for governor. And as to the presidency, there is not a large following for Mr. Sherman that I can see. Probably whatever there is of the movement, if it may be so identified, comes from the desire of some republicans to offset the Thurman presidential race on the democratic side, which appears to be making real headway against Mr. Tilden. But many republicans say that Judge Taft would be a stronger candidate against Thurman than Sherman would, since there is so strong a prejudice against the latter on account of his connection with the Louisiana business in 1876.

The Senate judiciary committee's report adversely to D. T. Corbin's nomination for chief justice of Utah, appears to be based upon a mistake. Never until now have there been charges of a serious character in a moral point of view against him, and he alleges that the charges now made are simply to gratify the spite of his political foes in South Carolina, who want to drive him from the State in disgrace. He is best known to the country as the man who was elected by the republican legislature to be United States senator, when Butler, at present holding the seat, was elected by the democratic legislature. KNOX.

The Physical Paradox.

It has been said that "the blood is the source of life." It is as truly the source of disease and death. No life, that is to say, no healthy tissue can be generated from impure blood, no organ of the body can normally perform its functions when supplied with impure blood. The fluid that should carry life and health to every part, carries only weakness and disease. Blood is the source of life, only when it is pure. If it has become diseased, it must be cleansed by proper medication, else every pulsation of the human heart sends a wave of disease through the system. To cleanse the blood of all impurities use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets, the most effectual alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies yet discovered. They are especially efficient in scrofulous disease.

—Jenny Lind is now a gray-haired old lady, who wears a cap and a white cashmere shawl.

Portsmouth Chronicle

MONDAY, MAY 12, 1879.

Dennis Exulteth.

Dennis Kearney, the gentleman who came over from the bogs of the "Ould Dart," fifteen years or so ago to teach the American people the true meaning of the word liberty, telegraphed from San Francisco to the New York Herald the following, when the result of the vote on the adoption of the new constitution of California was announced:

We have carried the election in the interest of the people against the combined forces of the democratic and republican thieves who coalesced with corporation swindlers, bank robbers, land sharks, stock manipulators, short-card players, abortionists, shoulder hitters, whiskey bummers, bludgeon murderers, religious hypocrites, worshippers of the devil and the golden calf. They employed every hireling scribbler, bought up ninth-tenths of the papers of the State, spent millions of money, and were routed, horse, foot and dragoons, on the day of election, by moral men and virtuous women. I am asked what will be the effect of yesterday's election? In answer, I will say that capital will be better protected, but will be taxed for such protection. Look at the present state of affairs! An English capitalist comes to our State, refuses to become a citizen, damns our flag and our laws, loans his money to farmers at a rate of one and one-half and two per cent a month, lives in a hotel, is protected by the police, firemen and courts; yet he pays no taxes for such protection. This is sapping the life blood out of the people. Interest must be reduced to the rate that it is loaned in England, France, etc. New industries will be prosecuted. The people will be comeprosperous, labor will be emancipated, and the unthinking majority, as we are styled, will do it. The Chinese must go, the "bread and water" Beecher must go, the screaming Talmage must go, the lecherous bondholders must go, Sherman, Shylock, Syndicate & Co. must go, as neither can exist under the new order of things, and intelligence, based upon virtue, honesty and common sense, will introduce principle that must survive and rule the world.

News and Notes.

Mrs. Ruth P. Southworth, a well known centenarian, of Plymouth, Mass., died May 8th, of old age. Mrs. Southworth was born in what is known as the Webster mansion at Marshfield, June 25th, 1777.

J. C. Spaulding, tax collector of Proctorsville, Vt., committed suicide Friday evening. He rode from Bellows Falls in the rear car of the evening train, and when he arrived at Proctorsville passed to the forward part of the train, got out on the opposite side from the depot, placed his neck on the rail and allowed the train to pass over him, cutting his head off. It is rumored that he was behind in his accounts as tax collector.

Ransom and Frank, editors of rival newpapers at Dutch Flat, Cal., fought a street duel. Seven shots were fired and four wounds made.

Barton Lowe, a prominent young lawyer of Camden, N. J., has absconded, charged with defrauding several persons to the amount of $25,000.

At Terre Haute, Ind., Charles Thompson, finding Daniel Chase locked up with Mrs. Thompson in her house, on Thursday, accused Chase of improprieties and shot him fatally.

Lieut. Kranze's detachment, hunting for Sioux war parties in Dakota, was surprised while sleeping, May 4th, by Sioux, who wounded three friendly Indians and ran off all the soldiers' horses.

If capital punishment for capital crimes is never enforced against white assassins in the southern States, the laws are at least faithfully carried out against the negroes. At Fayetteville, N. C., a colored burglar, Richard Lee, was hung on Friday in presence of 2000 persons. At Appling, Ga., Tom Jones and Henry McLeod, both colored, were hanged on the same day.

The Woodruff scientific expedition was abandoned on Thursday, the projected sailing day, on account of inadequate support.

Dobbs, the Manhattan bank robber who was last week captured in Philadelphia, arrived in New York on Friday. Which jail he will break out of has not yet been decided on.

Francis E. Hayden, of Fitchburg, Mass., has been arrested on a charge of poisoning his sister, who died on the 3d of May. He is also suspected of poisoning his father and mother, the former of whom died on the 10th and the latter on the 16th insts. The object of the suspected crimes is supposed to have been to get possession of an estate of about $8500.

The British ironclad Iron Duke is ashore at Shanghai. She is 6034 tons, 4268 horse power and carries fourteen guns.

Mrs. Maggie McCoy hanged herself at Pittsburgh, Pa., Thursday, making the sixth suicide in that city within sixty hours.

Five steamships, four British and one German, carrying freight, which sailed from the United States last winter, and one which sailed from England, are missing; also ten sailing vessels, grain laden.

George Rix and Tom Hartigan played poker at Rockland Station, Tenn., without any understanding as to how "straights" were to be counted. They quarrelled when the question was brought up in the progress of the game, and Hartigan shot Rix. Then Rix's wife took a revolver out of her dead husband's pocket, and mortally wounded Hartigan.

Yakook Khan, of Afghanistan, accepts all the British proposals, so the Afghan war is probably at an end.

There was a single-scull race on Lake Quinsigamond, Mass., Friday, between Edmund P. Livingston, champion sculler of Yale, and Warren N. Goddard, champion of Harvard. The latter was an easy winner.

Two human brutes named Dwyer and Elliott had a prize fight in Canada on Friday. Unfortunately neither one was killed.

Bennett Leroy, aged fifty-eight years, committed suicide by shooting himself in the mouth with a revolver, in a Boston drinking saloon on Friday.

The editor of the Burlington, Vt., Review was "assaulted," not "assassinated," last week by W. E. Waite, whom he had offended by articles in his paper.

The Chicago socialists, apparently by way of doing what they can to postpone a revival of business and block the trade of the country, announce that they are making arrangements with the trades unions throughout the United States for a general strike to begin July 5th and continue until the adoption of eight-hour system becomes universal; after which they will proceed to settle the question of wages. Congressman Murch, the Maine greenbacker, threatened something of the kind in a recent speech. Politicians of a certain school will egg on the movement, as a means of advancing themselves. Warning of a great uprising of labor was given last year, and it was expected by some observers, but the times did not prove ripe for it. The strikes, with rioting accompanying them, were confined to Canada and did not last long.—Worcester Gazette.

New Hampshire Items.

The Northern railroad pays a dividend of $2.50 per share, June 2d.

In the case of Alanson L. Haines of Wentworth, indicted for fraud, the indictments were nolle pros'd by the court at Concord on Friday, and bail was discharged. The report that he ran away and forfeited his bail was incorrect.

Naval Matters.

The Marion sailed from Norfolk on the 8th inst., for Key West. Commander Francis M. Bunce commands the Marion, with Lieut. Comdr. George A. Converse as executive officer, and Lieut. W. I. Moore as navigation officer.

The school ship Constellation started from Norfolk on the 8th inst., in tow of the Tallapoosa, for Annapolis.

Boatswain Charles E. Hawkins is detached from the Naval Academy, and ordered to the Constellation.

Patents Issued to New Hampshire Inventors,

May 6th, 1879; reported by Charles B. Tilden, patent attorney and solicitor, No. 22 School Street, Boston, Mass.:

Henry H. Ham, Jr., of Portsmouth, ship's-bell indicating clock.

Robert D. Mossman, Bristol, machine for making wood pulp for paper (reissue).

Political.

S. S. Cox, of New York, in a recent debate in the United States House of Representatives, alluded to the war of secession as "the so-called rebellion." This shows how complete is the surrender of the northern democrats to their ex-confederate allies.

The House on Friday passed a bill relieving of political disabilities J. C. Pemberton of Philadelphia, the rebel officer who commanded at Vicksburg, and surrendered that city to Gen. Grant.

The Indianapolis Journal says the result of the elections held in all the towns and cities of Indiana is a republican victory along the whole line, with the exception of one or two cities.

To the negroes, the supremacy of the democrats in the south is a cause for uneasiness, if not alarm. Curiously enough there is a steady flow of colored people from other counties to Beaufort county, the only county in the State which the democrats did not carry at the last election.—Charleston News and Courier, dem.

The point has been reached where the roads fork. The question is, which shall be travelled? The question is, whether the people interested in the material development of the Mississippi valley shall take charge of public affairs, retain the present laboring classes and add to them, or whether, under the continued reign of the professional politicians, backed up by the Bourbon press, the fairest, richest agricultural valley in the world shall be gradually converted into a wilderness. Either the people or the politicians who encourage the bull-dozers must go to the wall. That is the issue. Which shall it be?—Memphis Avalanche, ind. dem.

—A society has been organized in New Orleans for promoting an increase of the dimensions of beer glasses. At the first meeting 226 indignant Teutons pledged themselves not to touch beer until more of it could be had for five cents. As one of the leaders of the reform movement tersely summed the matter up, "Shentlemens, dere ought to be as much bulge in de beer glass ash dere ish in de barrel."

—It was a little girl of four years, in Winsted, Mass., who, having repeated the Lord's prayer for her nurse, got permission to offer a petition for herself, and then prayed to be made a twin to her sister, (who was seven years older,) and that she might wake up on the morrow and find her hair long.

—A German inventor proposes to make boots that will never wear out. He mixes with a waterproof glue a suitable quantity of clean quartz sand, which is spread on the thin leather sole employed as a foundation. These quartz soles are said to be flexible and almost indestructible, while they enable the wearer to walk safely over slippery roads.

AROUND HOME.

The Hunchback at Music hall this evening, with Miss Charlotte Thompson as Julia.

Ladies will find a large assortment of nick-nacks at Staples' store, No. 5 Market street.

Lieut. B. F. Gilman, U. S. A., of the United States signal service, was in this city on Saturday, inspecting the signal station.

Fire again broke out among the rubbish of the Franklin block fire, Friday night, necessitating the free use of water to extinguish it.

William Devine, complained of for malicious mischief, was before the police court on Saturday, but no one appearing against him he was discharged.

The Rockingham house is being put in order for the summer business; among other things, many of the rooms are being repainted, including the dining hall.

A meeting of the Grand Army and citizens' Memorial day committees will be held at the common council rooms at eight o'clock this evening. A full attendance is requested.

Mr. William B. Hussey, having taken the store No. 37 Market street, will on Tuesday morning open with a large stock of boots and shoes, which he will sell at the lowest cash prices.

The New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has just received an application for membership from a gentleman in India, and a postal order for the amount of two years' assessments in advance.

Mr. John Malsbenden, whose late place of business was destroyed by the recent fire, has taken the rooms over the store recently occupied by Mr. T. Frank Stackpole, and is ready to attend to all who wish anything done in the tailoring line.

Mr. Edward A. Locke, of the firm of Locke & Staples, marble workers, of Dover, committed suicide Saturday morning by jumping from the Boston & Maine railroad bridge into the Cocheco river. He was much respected, and leaves a wife and child. He had been in poor health and very low-spirited for some time.

At the dog show in Boston last week Mr. Joseph Locke of this city was awarded the first prize in the Irish setter puppy class, for "Dash Elcho." Capt. A. L. Emerson of York received "very highly commended" in the open class for imported Irish setters. Adolph Nelson of this city received "commended" in the open class of Irish setter dogs, on "Elcho III."

On Saturday morning, as Harry Lombard was showing two friends about the city in his team, so short a turn was made at the corner of Washington and State streets that one of the forward wheels of the vehicle was broken and all three of its occupants thrown out. Fortunately none of them were injured, and the horse stopped of his own accord the moment he found something had gone wrong. Mr. Lombard was not driving at the time of the accident; if he had been, no accident would have happened.

A disgraceful affair took place in South Newmarket on Wednesday night of last week, when a number of young men in a half-drunken condition called at a boarding house kept by Mrs. Ann Wiggin, and awakened the inmates by demanding liquor. When ordered off, the drunken crowd commenced breaking the windows and tearing off the blinds; and the officers of the law, who were called on for aid, were unable to disperse the crowd until one of the rioters, named Broderick, was wounded by a pistol shot and taken into custody.

To-morrow evening one of the most pleasing entertainments of the season will be given at Music hall—the vocal and instrumental concert by the Misses Chandler, the Eichberg quartette of young ladies, and others. Miss Lillian Chandler is an unusually skillful performer on the violin, not considering her youth at all, as is well known to all who heard her on her previous appearance here; her sister is a good singer; and it is safe to say that the young ladies' quartette is of much more than ordinary merit, or Prof. Eichberg would not allow his name to be used by them. The performances of the quartette have been enthusiastically received by audiences, and generously commended by the musical critics, in Philadelphia and other cities where they have appeared in concert. For price of tickets see adv't.

Strawberry Bank Encampment, No. 5, I. O. O. F., has voted to parade on Memorial day.

The floating stage has been towed to Appledore by the tug steamer Clara Bateman. This is indicative of summer trips to the sea-girt isles.

At Exeter, on Wednesday evening of last week, there was an amateur "olla podrida" entertainment given in aid of the Episcopal church, and netted $65. The Exeter amateur opera company repeated "H. M. S. Pinafore" on Thursday evening, to a large audience; part of the proceeds are to be devoted to the sprinkling of the streets.

There was a very unusual take in the weir off Gerrishe's island on Saturday, when a salmon—a real, live salmon—weighing twenty-five pounds, was found in the trap. The royal fish was on exhibition Saturday at the market of C. Sullivan & Co., who purchased it. We do not remember when a salmon was caught in the Piscataqua before.

The following officers ordered to the Kearsarge reported on Saturday, the 10th inst.: Commander Henry F. Picking, commanding; Lieut. Horace Elmer, executive officer; Lieut. Jno. E. Pillsbury; Passed Asst. Paymaster J. R. Stanton; Boatswain Edward Hughes. Lieut. S. H. Gibson, U. S. M. C., commanding the marine guard, reported on the 9th.

The services conducted on Monday evenings for three years past by volunteer city missionary Wm. A. Loyne, first in the house No. 17 Hill street, and in Faith Home since that institution was dedicated, will be hereafter held in the new mission hall on the corner of Bow and Market streets. Services at half-past seven o'clock. A general invitation is extended.

There was a thirty-six hours go-as-you-please foot race in Dover city hall last week, the winner making a little over 137 miles. Crowds of people attended the exhibition, and the managers pocketed about forty dollars apiece. Visitors in plenty were present from Great Falls, Salmon Falls, South Berwick, Rochester, Farmington and other neighboring towns. Portsmouth is not now afflicted with the walking mania, having soon convalesced after the first attack, which was not at all severe.

BAND OF HOPE.

The children's temperance service at the new mission rooms on Saturday was a very pleasant affair, consisting of singing, remarks by friends of the cause, and signing of the pledge. The committee have decided to furnish the children with a regalia for street parade, consisting of sash and belt, with military cap and spear for the boys, and sash and rosette for the girls. There will be a regular children's service every Saturday afternoon at three o'clock; at the next meeting the election of officers will take place, and all the old members are especially requested to attend; a general invitation is also extended to all friends of temperance.

DANNY LYNCH.

It is with sorrow that we record the recent sudden death of one of the carriers of the CHRONICLE, little Danny Lynch, whose singular faithfulness in the discharge of the duties entrusted to him, and his other good qualities, made him to be esteemed by us far above the average boy of to-day. Danny was the son of worthy Irish parents—Mr. John Lynch and wife, living on South Mill street—and was a bright scholar in Mr. Perkins' first class in the Haven school; and although only thirteen years old he would have been well qualified for entering the high school in September next, had he lived. He was a lad of studious habits, and possessed a quiet, amiable, obliging disposition that made him lovable and won the good will of all; yet he had abundance of boyish life and love of all innocent sports. His schoolmates testified their esteem for him by contributing on the occasion of the funeral a large and beautiful cross of flowers. The immediate cause of his death was congestion of the brain, induced, it is believed, by an improper amount of gymnastic exercise, which deranged the circulation and impaired the nerve functions, ending fatally.

CIRCUIT COURT.

SATURDAY, May 10; Clark, J.

The grand jury came in and reported four bills of indictment, and were excused.

The petit jurors are John S. James, Jona. Godfrey, Hampton; Nath'l Blatchford, Thos. G. Moulton, Hampton Falls; Joseph K. Duprey, Frank Sides, Geo. H. Dennett, Portsmouth; John O. Drake, Rye; Wm. C. Morrill, Salem; Henry O. Field, Chesterfield; Charles E. Cook, Alstead; Geo. S. Raymond, ward two, Warren Abbott, ward three, Keene; George Robertson, Hinsdale; Wellman J. Powers, Marlow; Oliver Martin, Walpole.

The petit jurors are excused until Tuesday morning.

Arthur M. Johnson of Newton was arraigned for being a retail dealer in malt liquors at Newton without license, and pleaded nolo contendere. The court enquired of the antecedents of the respondent, who has been in jail since Dec. 28th. Sentenced to a fine of twenty-five dollars, and to be committed until sentence is performed.

An indictment was found against Chester J. Willey of Conway, for illegal voting at Conway in November, 1878, he being then a minor.

The court will come in on Tuesday forenoon. Judge Lowell will be detained at Portland, and probably will not be able to appear here until he has opened the May term of the Circuit court at Boston, Thursday.

The trial at Portland before the U. S. Circuit court which has lasted so long is the action of Elisha W. Shaw et al., assignees in bankruptcy of Jos. F. Clement, vs. the Scottish Commercial Insurance Company, on a policy of insurance dated June 5, 1876, for $4500 on stock of dry and fancy goods at North Anson. Loss occurred June 19, 1876. Defence, fraudulent representations of the beneficiary.

This case is on trial and is exciting public interest to a high degree, the court room being filled hour after hour by a crowd who give close attention to the proceedings. The legal points raised, and ability of counsel, make the proceedings uncommonly interesting.

The case has been previously tried, with verdict for plaintiff.

The evidence was somewhat conflicting as to the actual value of much of the stock, one witness regarding the shawls in the store as averaging from $5 to $7 in value, while another set them at about $18 each.

REAR ADMIRAL ENOCH GREENLEAF PARROTT.

Rear Admiral Enoch Greenleaf Parrott died at the Fifth avenue hotel in New York on Saturday. He was a native of this city, and entered the naval service Dec. 20th, 1831; was commissioned Rear Admiral Feb. 12th, 1874, and had passed through all grades of rank to that of admiral and was retired under the act of Aug. 3d, 1861.

Admiral Parrott was the son of Enoch G. Parrott, a prominent citizen of Portsmouth, and at one time navy agent, and who was a son of Capt. John Parrott, who lived on the corner of Chestnut and Congress streets, the present site of the Kearsarge house.

When the Saratoga sloop-of-war was dismasted in a snow storm off this harbor Lieut. Parrott was on board, and having landed came to Portsmouth and started in a sleigh for Boston to secure a steam tug to assist the disabled vessel, riding through one of the severest storms ever seen on the coast.

He was a good officer and kind friend, and was noted for his discriminating charities and judicious gifts. He was never married. He leaves a brother, James B. Parrott, now at Chicago, formerly an iron merchant in this city, and a sister, Mrs. Lyman D. Spalding. His remains will be brought to this city for interment.

THE FISHERMEN BOTHERED.

The city will have another job to do after the alterations and repairs of the south millbridge are completed. Since the gates were taken away a large amount of sediment from the pond has been washed out by the tide and found a lodgment on the flats and in the channel on the eastern side of the bridge, and has in fact demoralized navigation in that locality. The coarse gravel with which the central pier of the old bridge was filled, was dumped into the water when it was removed, and has aided materially in the filling-up process. There are moored in sight of the bridge eighteen large whaleboats, the owners of which gain a livelihood by fishing; and they are now obliged to leave their moorings two hours before low water, or they cannot leave at all. The inner channel, which used to be four feet deep at low water, has been gradually filling up, and now there is only about eight inches of water in it at low tide. The fishermen are complaining, and not without reason; but a dredging machine would easily and quickly remedy the trouble. It is said that during the war of 1812 there was a shipyard on the southwest point, just outside the bridge, and that Capt. Abram Shaw repaired two vessels there, which were afterward used as privateers. One of them was cut in two amidships, and forty feet added to her length. The beach was then covered with gravel; now it is topped with soft mud, and preparing for a growth of thatch.

A Simple Night Clock.

Lamps are constructed in Paris so that they indicate the time during the night. The oil is contained in a tall, narrow vessel, placed vertically, and connected at the bottom with a wick of the lamp. This vessel is graduated, beginning at the top with VII. After one hour's burning the level of the oil will be at VIII, and so on. The lamp burns with perfect regularity, and a reflector is so placed as to throw the light on this cylindrical dial. The level of the oil, which can easily be seen, correctly indicates the time.—La Nature.

—The Burlington Hawkeye thinks there is nothing so painful at this season of the year as the disheartening spectacle of a nine-year old hen looking through the fence at a man digging a garden, while she exercises her rugged legs and incisive claws on the plank walk, just keeping in practice until the garden is ready.

—The elephant Bolivar, of Van Amburgh's menagerie, was attacked by a camel while the show was in progress a few days ago, and the elephant was badly punished. The camel caught the elephant's trunk in his teeth and severely lacerated it. He was choked with chains before he would let go. The elephant is still suffering from his wounds. During the fight the audience was panic-stricken, and the roar of the elephant could be heard a long distance.

—A curious story is told of Mrs Scott-Siddons' reading at Bratleboro', Vt., recently. Being disappointed at the slight applause which greeted her appearance, the reader said she regretted that her reception was not more beauty after her absence of five years. Then she began clapping her hands vigorously, remarking that New England could not afford to be less demonstrative than Old England had been to her, and from that moment to the close of the entertainment the applause was enthusiastic.

Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
—THE—
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.
(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:
HON. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. C. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms coming within the province of our several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those peculiar diseases incident to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we treat patients with chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Advisor" (1,000 pages, paper bound) for $1.50 or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (100 pages, in cloth and gold) for $1.
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Club Foot, (Bone in the Ankle) Cataract, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Clubfeet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Modern as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of women, studied it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficient remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single lady into whose hands it may fall, of the elements for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a religious office, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these topics can obtain the Two Pres'ptions, COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable information in regard to the management of these affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

GILMORE & CO., Successors to CHIPMAN, HOSMER & CO., Solicitors. Patents procured in all countries. No fees in advance. No charge unless the patent issues. No fees for making preliminary examinations. No additional fees for obtaining and conducting a re-hearing. Special attention given to Interference Cases before the Patent Office, Extensions before Congress, Infringement Suits in different States, and all litigation appertaining to Patents. Send stamp to GILMORE & CO. for Pamphlet of sixty pages.
Old Bounty Land Warrants.
The last Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows 2,897,500 acres of Bounty Land Warrants outstanding. These were issued under act of 1850 and prior acts. GILMORE & CO. pay cash for them. Send by registered letter. Where Assignments are imperfect we give instructions to perfect them.
Arrears of Pay and Bounty.
Officers, Soldiers and Sailors of the late war, or their heirs, are in many cases entitled to money from the Government of which they have no knowledge. Write the full history of your service, and state amount of pay and bounty received. Enclose stamp to GILMORE & CO., and a full reply after examination, will be given you free.
Pensions.
All Officers, Soldiers and Sailors wounded, ruptured or injured in the late war, however slightly, can obtain a pension by addressing GILMORE & COMPANY.
Cases prosecuted by GILMORE & CO. before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Court of Claims and the Southern Claims Commission.
Each department of our business is conducted in a separate bureau, under the charge of the same experienced parties, employed by the old firm. Prompt attention to all business entrusted to GILMORE & CO. is thus secured. We desire to win success by deserving it. Address

Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
A subscription for one stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company have had working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety, and well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

IT can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what follows a thorough use of this remedy. The best, accurated matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the ulceration and inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membranous lININGS of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen.—My case is briefly as follows: I have had catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through my nostrils. I had dropping in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy or it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored, I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no dropping in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. R. LAWRENCE.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made my familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. F. DERBY.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas; WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

New Hampshire Items.

Senator J. W. Patterson delivers the Decoration day oration at Keene.

George Kingman of Walpole, a temperate, unmarried man, forty years old, shot himself Saturday night, and will probably die. He buried his mother about a week ago.

☞ Timothy Wright of Brookline, sixty-seven years of age, after working all day in his field, drove home, and while alighting from his wagon in the door yard fell and broke his neck.

A four year-old son of William E. Mousley of Lyme found a bottle containing whiskey in a cupboard of his home on Friday morning, and, unseen by his parents, drank a pint of the fiery liquid, dying from the effects not long after.

The death of the late Joseph A. Gould of Enfield was found to have been caused by a splinter of bone about the size of a match which had been penetrating the brain since 1865. The wound was received in the army. The fact was developed by a post mortem examination, and it was a matter of suprise to the doctors that a man could live fifteen years with such an injury.

Lyman H. Walker, a resident of Acworth, but who of late had been living with his brother, Hammond Walker, of Claremont, on Tuesday, April 29th, left his brother's for the purpose of buying a horse. His body was taken from the Connecticut river at North Charlestown, Sunday afternoon, and though it had been in the water twelve days was easily recognized. The water was only two feet deep, though it was much deeper when he got in. The body was held down by a spruce log lying across its back. It was taken to his late home at Acworth. It is supposed in trying to hail some one on the opposite side of the river to take him over, the bank gave way and he fell in. He was a single man twenty-seven years old, of excellent habits, and highly respected by all who knew him.

The Physical Paradox.

It has been said that "the blood is the source of life." It is as truly the source of disease and death. No life, that is to say, no healthy tissue can be generated from impure blood, no organ of the body can normally perform its functions when supplied with impure blood. The fluid that should carry life and health to every part, carries only weakness and disease. Blood is the source of life, only when it is pure. If it has become diseased, it must be cleansed by proper medication, else every pulsation of the human heart sends a wave of disease through the system. To cleanse the blood of all impurities use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets, the most effectual alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies yet discovered. They are especially efficient in scrofulous disease.

Stimulate the Sluggish Kidneys.

In addition to its tonic and cathartic properties, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters exercises a beneficial influence upon the kidneys and bladder when they are inactive, by stimulating them to renewed exertion, thus reopening, as it were, a sluice for the escape of impurities whose regular channel of exit is the organs of urination. Among these are certain abnormal and inflammatory elements, productive of irreparable injury to the system if not entirely expelled. The kidneys and bladder themselves are also benefited by this stimulus, as their inactivity is usually a preliminary to their disease and disorganization. They also experience, in common with other portions of the system, the potent invigorative effect of the Bitters, which furthermore correct disordered conditions of the stomach, bowels and liver.

Don't Dry Up your cough, but cure it root and branch by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Elevated Railroads, Lines of Stages, Places of Amusement, Depots and Steamers—all these radiate from, or are situated in, the immediate neighborhood of the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, New York, which is now kept on both plans, the American $2.50 or $3.00, and the European plan $1.00 per day, and upwards. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Grand Central.

Peace and Goodwill can only be felt when you are well. Don't get sick when you can cure that slight cold by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

BUY IT IN BULK. We refer to the bay rum sold by C. B. Barrett & Co., 45 Market Street.

Let this too late and that cough has become galloping consumption, cleanse your lungs by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Free of charge—Sample bottle of Adamson's Cough Balsam at all drug stores. Owing to its perfect harmony in combination it is the very best mixture for the speedy cure and relief of croup, colds, throat or lung diseases. Large bottles 25 cents.

Why Cough Nights? You can stop it with Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

A CARD.

Another Veto.

President Hayes on Monday returned to the House without his signature the bill to subordinate the National authority to that of the several States, jocosely called "An act to prohibit military interference at elections." The State supremacy men are in a rage about it.

Grinding the Tools.

At the last congressional election Horatio Bisbee, Jr., was elected to represent one of the two districts of Florida, though the most outrageous frauds were perpetrated by the democratic election managers in favor of Noble A. Hull, the democratic candidate. the officials acting, as there is strong ground to suspect, at the direct instigation of Hull. But though Bisbee was unquestionably elected by the people of his district, and presented proof to that effect, the "democratic reform House" chose to elect Hull, and did so, and he now occupies the stolen seat in Congress. But some of the tools employed in doing his dirty work are getting a pretty rough grinding, and among them are W. F. Gale and E. T. Gibson, respectively clerk and inspector of elections at Long Swamp precinct, in Marion county, who were on Saturday convicted in the United States court, after a trial lasting three days, of taking from the ballot box one hundred votes that were legally thrown for Mr. Bisbee, and substituting one hundred ballots bearing the name of the "noble" democrat, Hull. By the "amended returns," after the ballots had been thus "cooked" by the democratic officials who had sworn to protect the purity of the ballot box, Hull had a majority of thirteen, so that without the unearthing of any other frauds it is proved that he lacked about two hundred votes of an election. It is to be presumed that Hull will immediately resign the seat which fraud secured for him; oh, yes; he will certainly resign at once.

"The Code."

Southern devotion to "the code" as a means of maintaining "honah, sah, honah!" is not confined to ex-rebels who have been elected to the supreme councils of the nation they attempted to destroy, for a duel was recently fought in Montague county, Texas, between two cattle thieves named Wiley and Jacobs, who disputed over a point of honor connected with the distribution of their stealings. The duel was fought with pistols, the combatants standing ten paces apart; Wiley fell mortally wounded at the third shot, but raised himself on his elbow and sent a ball through Jacobs' brain, killing him instantly. Were this the universal result of meetings on the "field of honor," the contempt of the north for "the code" would soon be modified.

News and Notes.

In the criminal court at Chicago on Saturday, Mark Gray, who shot at Edwin Booth, after the hearing of full testimony was declared insane. Medical experts testified that his attack on Booth was simply an outbreak of a lunacy which will eventually develop into epileptic insanity. He will be sent to an asylum.

Five seamen have arrived in England, having been rescued from the schooner Bennington, lost on the voyage from Boston to Havana with ice, the captain and two seamen having been drowned.

Two German war vessels have been ordered to the coast of Valparaiso, and will be permanently stationed in Chilian waters. It is not improbable that the maritime powers of Europe will unite in joint action, in case such a course is deemed necessary.

A steamer which sailed from New York on Saturday took out 300,000 cartridges and a large consignment of sharp-shooters, aggregating 10,000 rifles, destined for Peru and the Argentine Republic. Also a large lot of gunpowder for Chili.

Nicholas Mullen, proprietor of the Glendale house at Maynard, Mass., was shot through the bowels by his brother-in-law, Charles Flood, Saturday evening, and will probably die. A family quarrel was the cause.

Theodore S. Bailey and George S. Hatch, each about eighteen years of age, were missed from their respective homes in South Abington, Mass., on the 20th ult., and nothing was heard of them until Friday, when their parents received a letter from them announcing that they had gone west to see the country, and would not return for three years.

Gen. Sheridan is in receipt of despatches from army officers, which indicate that the immigration into the Indian Territory is by no means formidable, but is confined chiefly to small and poor families of a roving disposition, who are seeking a home.

In a recent performance of "Pinafore" by the Boston company at Halifax, N. S., the boatswain's mate of H. M. S. Griffon volunteered, and "piped the side" when Sir Joseph came aboard. A real sailor from the same ship ran up the signals; and the yard furnished ship's bell, binnacle and masthead light, six brass guns, piles of shot and belaying pins, with a bugler, marines and gunners. Then, when the piece had been played and the curtain had fallen, the Yankee vocalists were entertained on board the Griffon by the officers, and were afforded every opportunity of inspecting the ship, and of becoming familiar with the regulations of "the Queen's navee."

Advices from Yokohama, Japan, state that the American residents of that city are preparing to give Gen. Grant a dinner on his arrival there.

Not only have the experiments made in London with electric lights resulted in conclusions altogether unfavorable to the general substitution of that light for gas, but similar conclusions have been reached by competitive trials in Paris.

The Iron and Steel Convention held at Pittsburg, Pa., last week, adopted an address in which they express their conviction "that the causes of the distress which during more than five years has prevailed in all the walks of manufacturing industry, and has been especially grievous in the iron and steel trade, have spent their force; that the prolonged and apparently hopeless depression of business is past; and that there are signs of a healthful activity through which the country will again become prosperous." They also declare that it is largely owing to the policy of protection that our country is recovering from the blow which prostrated all industrial nations, and now begins to have confidence in the future while Free Trade is still paralyzed and despondent. The address throughout is of a most hopeful character in regard to the business outlook.

An Old Land Mark Gone.

THE STAGE OFFICE FIFTY YEARS AGO.

The Franklin House Block was built in 1816 by the late Langley Boardman, and was owned by him at the time of his death and for many years afterwards by his descendants. The interest of the other children of Mr. Boardman was a few years since purchased by Mr. Alfred Stavers, and the children of the late Capt. George C. Boardman. The Franklin Hall portion was built in 1819.

In the wooden part were stores in the basement. From its first construction Newhall's grocery was here. Leonard Akerman once kept here, and the late William D. Carter kept a store and did a very good business here forty years ago; subsequently John Hodgdon (then 2d) kept here and assessed the first internal revenue tax in the counting room. Up stairs before the building was made a part of the hotel the rooms were used for various purposes, and once the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE office was there. It has been used as part of the hotel for forty years. Around the corner on Vaughan street Mr. Sowersby kept a little saddler's shop and worked upon harnesses. He lived up Congress street and died forty-two years ago. Here also Mr. Boardman had the shop for display of furniture, while the work rooms were in the third story. His foreman was Edmund M. Brown, who finished his trade with Mr. Boardman, succeeding Mr. Dockum as foreman of the crew of apprentices; for in those days in all mechanical trades full terms of apprenticeship were required.

The first occupancy as a hotel of this spot was by John Davenport, who in the great fire on State street was burned out at the corner of what was then Ark, now Penhallow street, on the site of the store last occupied by the late Charles C. Akerman. Mr. Davenport then removed to Congress street, and opened his hotel there. Mr. Wildes then came there from Market street, bringing and continuing the name "Portsmouth Hotel," till he went to Boston to keep the famous Eastern Stage House.

The hotel was afterwards kept by Joseph E. Robinson, a former stage driver, and Locke & Robinson, again kept by J. E. Robinson, then for three years by Capt. Robert Neal, and for a short period of three months by a Mr. Hodgdon, who failed to succeed. The late Willis Barnabee, who had, as one of the most famous of the Eastern Stage Company's drivers, an acquaintance with every one travelling between Bangor and New York took the house in 1838 and changed the name to Franklin House. Mr. Barnabee, like many other drivers, seeing the occupation of his early years likely to cease, leased the hotel, which was across the street from his residence. The Eastern railroad ran its trains as far east as Salem, and the upper road afterward the Boston & Maine, had extended to Haverhill; there was likely to be a less encouraging prospect for drivers, and a new business had to be sought by some of the "whips." After Mr. Barnabee took the Franklin it was the scene of bustle, daily. Here, as years before all the stages arrived and left forty years ago. Accommodation stages left the door of the hotel at half-past seven and nine o'clock in the morning for Salem, at eight for Exeter and Haverhill, while the mail left at twelve, noon, and arrived at Boston at a quarter to eight in the evening. From this point also started the Concord stages daily, and for Dover and Great Falls daily, and also for South Berwick, a mail chaise left for Dover at eight o'clock in the evening, while the Portland accommodation stages left at one o'clock P. M., and the mail at eight o'clock in the evening. The mails between Boston and Portland went on Sundays as well as on other days, and sometimes the lines required several extra stages in which to convey their passengers. The arrival and departure of so many coaches of course occasioned no little stir on Congress street. The stages from Boston came in over the Lafayette road, down Middle street, and, turning into Congress street, brought up in front of the hotel. A ride of over fifty miles would be likely to afford passengers the luxury of a good appetite, and here it could be indulged. In Mr. Barnabee's day the bill of fare was, as were the viands, in plain English. Travellers had no time or inclination to translate French phrases on the menu, but attacked the dinners with a relish hardly known in these effeminate days. The Franklin House enjoyed a good reputation among eastern travellers. Indeed so many people travelled by stage and chaise along the coast in those days that on the route between Portsmouth and Boston many comfortable hotels of noted excellence abounded, such as the Merrimack at Newburyport, with its old Wolfe sign, and long kept in later days by Tilton from Hampton Falls, the old Stage House at Ipswich, and the Essex Coffee House at Salem, for many years owned and admirably kept by Jos. Stacy Leavitt from North Hampton, one of the shrewdest and ablest men of his time in the business. He knew every one from Portsmouth, and as the traveller before the projection of the Eastern railroad reached his door, the active and restless Stacy was everywhere finding a friend or acquaintance. Leavitt was the friend and traveling companion of David Pingree and other capitalists, who occasionally went down east to invest in wild lands and disburse some of the income derived from ventures to the East Indies in the good old times.

But it is of stage times in Portsmouth to which we are attempting to refer. How the Portsmouth boy of fifty years delights to recall the high stepping steeds which ushered forth from the stage stable on Washington street, driven by some of the ostlers full of the importance of the temporary post of honor on the box, called at the post office for the changed mails and swept up over the Parade, rounding into Congress street, and bringing up before the "General Stage Office" (as the white sign in black letters on the post read), with heads toward Boston. The passengers from the East took a fresh coach, as the eastern Stage Co. line extended no farther east, and the Portland Stage Co. operated no farther west than the stage office in this city. On some pleasant day at noon as passers-by on Congress street wended their way home to dinner, the well-fed passengers who an hour before had landed from the Portland mail on its arrival at twelve o'clock would be embarking under the guidance of Robert W. Annable, or that counterpart of the Senior Weller, Sam. Robinson, while on Sunday the sedate Elijah B. Young, afterward conductor on the Eastern road, would hold the ribbons.

Here would be Daniel Storey, who lived at the end of Fleet street on Hanover street, big with the care of way bills and pride of the company's horseflesh under his charge, as local agent, while Major Alexander Rice cared for the interests of the Portland company, which had been started by his father. The drivers mounted the box carrying with them up Congress street a sense of the magnitude of their position. The lucky holders of the outside seat had already tendered the customary conciliatory cigar without which no one would be so impolitic as to attempt the enjoyment of a fifty-six mile drive; for if the drivers did not smoke themselves their friends did, and the boy of the period looked on and wondered when the time would arrive when he too could have a stage ride to Boston with a seat on the box. There may have visited the imagination of some unheard of boy of that day and generation, visions of a higher happiness than this, but history fails to record the fact that he ever disclosed it.

Mr. Barnabee's career in the Franklin continued to his death in 1862 when, the furniture was sold to G. W. F. Convers of Manchester, who was succeeded by Hadley & Perkins, and also by Messrs. Fuller & Parker. But the palmy days of the hotel ended with the career of the genial, honest and gentlemanly host of the old school, who had so long maintained the repute of the Franklin. The employees under his kind management seemed to become fixtures, and boarders members of the family, so long and uninterrupted was their stay. There hung in the office of the "Franklin" an old picture of the establishment, now in possession of D. Webster Barnabee. It has the double house with its two doors side by side as they stood down to the time when the new entrance was made with the addition of the Franklin Hall part of the edifice. The stage office was until a modern period of the career of the house in the large room at the corner of Fleet street, around the ceiling of which during the winter were suspended a number of squashes for preservation. The dining room was located near the wooden part of the block, and afterward was removed to the old site of the office, and the room in the eastern part of the double house and west of the hall entrance selected for the office. Franklin Hall was a place where many a youth took his first step in dancing under direction of artists from abroad, who visited Portsmouth in the summer to instruct Masters and Misses in this accomplishment, while high above we presume many others took their first step in Masonry and began to participate in those rites known only to the initiated. On the site of Franklin Hall was a wooden building in which a Frenchman kept a confectionery shop. The building was removed, and Mr. Boardman executed a lease to the Masonic Fraternity for ten years for a Masonic Hall, at a rent of one hundred dollars per year. The hall was fitted up with ante-rooms, etc., for the convenience of the craft and was occupied for their meetings until they leased new rooms in the old Congress Hall in 1859. The hall in the Boardman building was dedicated on the 15th of September, 1820, the late Samuel Larkin, then we believe Grand Master of Masons of New Hampshire, being master of the ceremonies.

The hospitality of the hotel was shown not only to the guests in the dining hall, but during the career of Mr. Barnabee, the poor and the sick were the constant recipients of careful and constant attention from the kind-hearted landlady, who has ever been noted for her charitable disposition and christian virtues.

In fact the old building is full of pleasant memories of meetings, festivals, weddings balls, receptions and glad hours; a volume might be written containing interesting incidents that have occurred beneath its broad roof, but ours is the duty to suggest, not to rehearse these reminiscences, while we hope some of our readers of mature years will enjoy with us pleasant recollections of the former substantial structure now a heap of ruins.

It was here that Lafayette stayed during his visit to Portsmouth, and his address was made from the balcony in front of the hall. The umbrella held over the head of this patriot, so dear to America, was until a recent period carefully preserved by our City Treasurer Saml. P. Treadwell, but unfortunately ceased its historical career upon being unwittingly disposed of for a mere trifle to a travelling purchaser of such articles, by a member of his household, who had forgotten the peculiar associations that clustered beneath its expansive frame.

But like the old hotel our sketch must come to an end, and we will give place to another sketch by a correspondent, for which our readers may look in to-morrow's paper.

MEMORIAL DAY.

The general committe on Memorial day met at the common council room on Monday evening, Col. Sise in the chair.

Answers were read from the various organizations that have been invited to participate in the exercises of the day; also a letter from Gov. Prescott, stating that he was obliged by press of business to decline the invitation to be present.

Col. T. E. O. Marvin was added to the committee on finance.

Adjourned to meet at the same place next Monday evening.

The committees on programme and evening exercises are requested to meet at the common council room this evening.

The Portsmouth Cavalry at their meeting on Monday evening voted to parade on Memorial day, agreeably to invitation.

THE TEMPERANCE MEETING.

The temperance lecture at Music hall on Sunday evening by Rev. Mr. Kirkland, of Augusta, Me., was attended by a very small audience, though Mr. Kirkland is an earnest and pleasing speaker, and his address was well wortby a much larger attendance. The lecture was an appeal in favor of moral suasion in preference to legal suasion, and the arguments for moral suasion were strongly presented. The speaker said that moral suasion has closed up more liquor shops than all the penal laws that ever were passed. The statement is often made that no rum can be obtained, or if obtained only with great difficulty, in the prohibition State of Maine; this is false, as large quantities of liquor are sold and drank in that State to-day. Prohibition has simply driven the trade in a great measure into the secret den and to the licensed liquor agency; and if it is necessary to have a licensed agency or open traffic in alcoholic drinks, the speaker preferred the latter as the less pernicious and the most amenable to moral influences.

At the close of the meeting President Marden, of the reform club, who presided, gave notice that a business meeting of the club would be held on Wednesday evening, the 14th inst., for the purpose of electing a president, as he was discouraged and should resign.

SUPREME COURT.

TUESDAY, May 13th.

The court will come in this morning. Judge Clark is to preside.

Case John R. Poor vs. Hudson Insurance Company will be in order for hearing before the court, upon the defendants' motion to set aside the verdict obtained by the plaintiff at the last October term, of $2586.81, for amount claimed under a fire policy of insurance upon the Oceanic hotel. Frink for plaintiff; S. C. Eastman and Marston for deft.

J. Horace Kent, Esq., of Portsmouth, having been appointed last week a deputy of the United States Marshal for the District of New Hampshire, appeared before the court and was sworn into office and entered upon its duties.

AROUND HOME.

May training to-day. All the local companies of the National Guard are ordered out.

The next meeting of Storer Encampment, G. A. R., will be held at the old Mercantile hall, opposite the post-office, on Thursday evening, the 15th inst.

Do not forget the grand concert this evening at Music hall, by Misses Lillian and Lucie Chandler, the Eichburg instrumental quartette of young ladies, Mr. T. P. Ryder and others; it will be a rare musical treat. Tickets at Preston's; only 50 cts. for orchestra chairs, 35 cts. for balcony.

The insurance adjusters have awarded the Mechanics' Association the sum of $483 for the damage to Mechanics' block by the late fire.

The new lighthouse on the Nubble at York is rapidly approaching completion. It was plainly to be seen on Sunday from boats at the mouth of the Piscataqua.

The Exeter Gazette of May 10th says: "The dust flies in the street, but the remains of a winter snow drift are lingering still on the north side of the Unitarian church."

The beautiful lawn in front of the Lord mansion at the corner of State and Middle streets attracts the admiring attention of the passer-by, and the first instalment of flowers is promptly in place.

The yacht Una, having been rebuilt in her upper works at Littlefield's shipyard, has been rigged and sparred, and presents a very trim appearance. Her owner, Mr. Dow of Hampton, wants to sell her.

On Sunday the tenement house, barn and furniture owned by C. E. Miller, at Kennebunkport, and occupied by Wells & Seavey, were burned. Loss $2500; insured $1200. The fire was incendiary.

Lydia Thompson, aged about ninety years, living with Rev. I. Downing at Kennebunkport, was found dead in bed Monday morning. She was in her usual health twenty minutes before she was found dead.

Monday was more like a May day than any that had preceded it this year, the thermometer showing seventy-four in the shade at noon. Later in the afternoon the temperature was up to eighty degrees, and hung there for several hours.

Mr. Edward A. Locke, who committed suicide in Dover on Saturday morning, was seen to jump from the railroad bridge by two men, one of whom immediately swam in and brought ashore the body, which floated on the surface, life having evidently been extinguished by the fall.

Cyrus Batchelder of Loudon, who was probably fatally injured by the running away of his horse at Concord on Tuesday of last week, formerly for a number of years kept the best hotel in Great Falls, and afterward for several years was head clerk at the American house in Dover.

An audience fair in point of numbers greeted Miss Charlotte Thompson on Monday evening, when she appeared at Music hall as Julia in the Hunchback. The manner in which this excellent actress interpreted this exacting character drew forth liberal applause, Miss Thompson being called before the curtain at the end of each act.

Frank Hobbs, Esq., a prominent lawyer and citizen of Dover, was on Saturday taken to the asylum at Somerville, Mass., for treatment. Mr. Hobbs has suffered ever since the close of the war from a complaint induced by hardships and exposure in the army, and it is supposed he had also overtaxed his mental powers in the exercise of his profesion. There is hope that rest and skillful treatment will make him all right again.

Persons who want coal either for present use or for next winter's fuel, will find announcements of interest in our advertising columns, and we think will do well to lay in their stocks at once. Philadelphia advices of May 10th say: "Indications are that prices of coal are about on the bottom, for dealers were anxious at the last auction sale to take the lot at the same prices as the previous sale, and found agents unwilling to sell any large amounts at current rates."

The Henri Laurent Fifth Avenue Theatre Co., with Mlle. Blanche Corelli as Josephine and Mr. Laurent as Ralph Rackstraw, will present "H. M. S. Pinafore" at Music hall on Thursday evening, and also "Trial by Jury," another popular musical absurdity by Gilbert and Sullivan. This company has been playing at the Gaiety in Boston, and brings the same scenery, costumes and performers that have been so highly commended by the Boston papers. See advertisement.

The terrible "wild animal, black, about the size of a Newfoundland dog and accompanied by a cub," that recently frightened the people of the lower section of Biddeford into making walking arsenals of themselves, has been discovered to be a big Newfoundland dog belonging to a farmer, the "cub" being a puppy. The big dog's coat had been sheared so as to leave him with a shaggy mane and a tuft on the end of his tail, a la lion, and he had run away from home, being accompanied by the puppy. The pair had for some time lived on a dead horse in the woods, and the old dog, who had become cross, growled and showed his teeth when any one approached, his actions and appearance deceiving many persons who saw him into the belief that he was some new-fangled kind of dangerous wild beast.

Political.

Gov. Roberts of Texas has proved the quality of his democracy by vetoing a bill appropriating money for the support of the common schools.

In the United States Senate, Saturday, Hill of Georgia made a speech in which he claimed that a large portion of the present southern representatives were Union men, until actually "forced into war by the secession of their States," many of them working and speaking in favor of the Union up to the very last moment. This may be; but it does not alter the fact that they were Union men who bent all their energies to destroying the Union during the war, and that they still insist that secession was right in principle though unsuccessful in war.

John Allen and the Rum-Seller.

Camp-meeting John Allen tells a story about a man who came forward for prayer in the early days of his ministery, with red face and rum breath, not sober enough to understand the gravity of the occasion, but still seriously in earnest about his salvation. This man kept a little shop, and among other things sold a little new rum, but was his own best customer. Mr. Allen went to his shop one day and expostulated with him about the matter, but he said he could not afford to lose what rum he had on hand. Finally Allen agreed to buy if he would seek the Lord then and there, kneel down and pray for himself. As they knelt down the minister turned the faucet and set the rum to running. This was too much for the penitent, and he cried out on his knees, "it's wasting, it's wasting."

"Let it waste," said the old saint as he kicked it out of doors, and took a hatchet and burst in the end of the cask.

"It ain't measured," said the man.

"Guess at it, and be sure to guess enough," said Allen.

Thus the battle was won, and the man became temperate and religious. Next day some of the church members said they thought Brother Allen "came to preach the gospel, not to spend his time kicking out rum barrels."

"You can't get the gospel in till you kick the rum out," said the preacher.—Augusta Journal.

—What is so fair as a morn in May! now if ever come perfect morns. The goat calls the washing in lieu of bay, and butts the babe with his festive horns. The organ grinds to a tune infernal, and every influence seemeth vernal.

—Probably the most novel testimonial to an actress ever presented on the stage was given to Clara Morris at the Grand opera house, Cincinnati, the other evening. It was nothing less than a live, kicking Shetland pony, about the size of a Newfoundland dog, which was led prancing on the stage and nearly escaped over the footlights.

GAZETTE
Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1878. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:

Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty, and CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the practice of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably manned by a gentleman of undoubted merit and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior character for the care of all those peculiar ailments peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many Chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) "Invalids' and Youths' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform are those for Nasal Polypus, Hardin, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Fistula, Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Cancer, Stone in the Bladder, Deformities, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cataract, Crooked Spine, Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most efficient and positive remedy for those diseases.

To designate its natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, without a blush, placed its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, implied it was the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficient remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act intuitively, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectation, that I hesitate not to offer to the sick, for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and will it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before exhibited by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppression from from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Prolapsus. I wish it do not exist this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fills a single class of diseases, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the reproductive organism of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, postpaid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Old Bounty Land Warrants.

The last Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows 2,897,500 acres of Bounty Land Warrants outstanding. These were issued under act of 1855 and prior acts. GILMORE & CO. pay cash for them. Send by registered letter. Where Assignments are imperfect we give instructions to perfect them.

Arrears of Pay and Bounty.

Officers, Soldiers and Sailors of the late war, or their heirs, are in many cases entitled to money from the Government of which they have no knowledge. Write full history of service, and state amount of pay and bounty received. Enclose stamp to GILMORE & CO., and a full reply after examination, will be given you free.

Pensions.

All Officers, Soldiers and Sailors wounded, ruptured or injured in the late war, however slightly, can obtain a pension by addressing GILMORE & COMPANY.

Cases prosecuted by GILMORE & Co. before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Court of Claims and the Southern Claims Commission.

Each department of our business is conducted in a separate bureau, under the charge of a competent experienced practitioner employed by the old firm. Prompt attention to all business entrusted to GILMORE & Co. is thus secured. We desire to win success by deserving it. Address

CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.

The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.

Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Robinson mine construction will be within a short distance of this property.

The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.

Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.

N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879; The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

IT can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what may follow a perfect and lasting cure of the hard, incrusted matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the ulceration and inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membranous lining of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally the action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen,—My case is briefly as follows: I have had catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through one nostril. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy or it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored, I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no dropping in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.
FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made my familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. P. DERBY.
FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaler, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

At a town meeting at Candia, held on Saturday, a vote was passed to bond the debt, which is $23,000.

Mrs. G. D. Carr and her two daughters, while riding in the suburbs of Nashua, Sunday, with her husband, was thrown from the back seat of the wagon by the sudden starting of the horses. Mrs. Carr had both bones of her shoulder broken and was otherwise badly bruised, and the daughters were considerably injured, although no bones were broken.

The races in the New Hampshire circuit begin at Concord on the 27th inst., and continue three days, with $900 in purses at each meeting; at Farmington the races open June 3d, and at Dover June 10th.

Traveling is Extra Hazardous

If the tourist is unprovided with some medicinal resource. Changes of temperature, food and water of an unaccustomed or unwholesome quality, and a route that lies in the tropics or other regions where malaria exists, are each and all fraught with danger to one who has been improvident enough to neglect a remedial safeguard. The concurrent testimony of many voyageurs by land and sea establishes the fact that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters enables those who use it to encounter hazards of the nature referred to with impunity; and that, as a medicine adapted to sudden and unexpected exigencies, it is peculiarly valuable. Disorders of the liver, the bowels and the stomach, fever and ague, rheumatism and nervous ailments, brought on by exposure, are among the maladies to which emigrants, travellers and new settlers are most subject. These and others yield to the action of the Bitters promptly and completely.

Don't Dry Up your cough, but cure it root and branch by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Elevated Railroads, Lines of Stages, Places of Amusement, Depots and Steamers—all these radiate from, or are situated in, the immediate neighborhood of the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, New York, which is now kept on both plans, the American $2.50 or $3.00, and the European plan $1.00 per day, and upwards. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Grand Central.

Peace and Goodwill can only be felt when you are well. Don't get sick when you can cure that slight cold by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

The Same Old Contest.

The military interference bill just vetoed by President Hayes did not have its origin in any fear of the democrats that the army would be used to influence elections. There is not even any pretense of fear that the military power will be improperly used; the true intent of the measure is to elevate the State authority above that of the Union—in other words, it is the old State supremacy contest over again. The democratic bill would not absolutely prohibit the President from sending United States troops to the polls; it would only prohibit him from sending them there to enforce United States laws, while providing that he must send them there if called upon to do so by the governor of a State for the enforcement of State laws. And the southern brigadiers and their northern allies say that unless this theory of State supremacy is acknowledged to be correct—and the war in opposition to it of course a gigantic crime—they will "starve the government" by withholding all appropriations.

Insurance Commissioner's Report.

State Insurance Commissioner Pillsbury has just issued his tenth annual report, covering the business year of 1878. Having briefly alluded to the operations of the mutual fire companies of the State, and paid a flattering compliment to the New Hampshire Stock Fire Company, he gives an abstract of the statements of these several companies, from which it appears that they carry an aggregate of about $17,000,000 of risks, and have sustained losses to the amount of about $63,-000, or a little less than half of one per cent on the risks carried. This he regards as an unfavorable exhibit. He then gives the following summary of the operations of the companies of other States and countries licensed in the State:

Total risks written in the State in 1878, $33,816,838; risks in force Dec. 31, 1878, $50,646,552; premiums received in 1878, $417,764; amount of losses paid the same year, $360,848; percentage of losses to premiums received, eighty-six. Upon this the commissioner remarks:

It is with deep regret that I am compelled to make this sad exhibit of the insurance transactions of the year 1878. It is incredible that unavoidable accidents should make this startling record. Without attempting to account for this unfortunate result, he asserts that the cities of the State have been unusually exempt from destructive fires, and that aside from the two fires at the village of Suncook, where the companies paid about $50,000, there is nothing unusual to note except the frequent occurrence of fires in the larger towns and villages and the rural districts generally.

He deprecates the great loss of property by fire, and demonstrates that the losses really fall upon the community instead of the insurance companies, inasmuch as they graduate their charge to cover taxes, losses and expenses, and collect the same from the people in the shape of premiums.

Among other reasons enumerated, he regards over-insurance as the most prolific cause of fires, since it not only induces neglect and absence of timely precaution, but actually incites carelessness, and in case of weak moral fibre, coupled with financial embarrassment, family pride or inordinate greed for gain, affords an irresistible temptation. He states with pride that there has not been a dollar of loss to insured persons in the State for four years by any licensed company.

On the subject of life insurance the commissioner takes a hopeful view. No failures have occurred to alarm the public or create distrust during the year. He thinks the tide has turned, and that while mushroom companies have been sloughed off the companies of to-day are entitled to confidence and the patronage of the public.

News and Notes.

James Moore and two others, all drunk, were burned to death in a small house on the outskirts of Buffalo, N. Y., on Monday.

While under mental aberration, Sunday morning, Mrs. Walthrey took her six years' old child to Franklin lake, near Paterson, N. J., waded in, and drowned the child and herself.

Six men who crossed the river at St. Louis in a skiff attempted to land Sunday evening in a high wind, but the boat upset, and four of the six were drowned.

Henry Loomis, a citizen of Sidney, Neb., was killed on Saturday morning by a rough named Reed. The latter was captured by officers and jailed. At night the citizens gathered, took Reed out of jail, marched up street and hanged him to a telegraph pole.

Moy Jiu Kee, a heathen Chinee, started a "Chinese mission" in New York a few weeks ago. The concern has just been broken up by the arrest of the boss missionary and a half-dozen Chinese women, the police having discovered that their "mission" was to steal everything they could lay their hands on. A large amount of stolen property was recovered.

The dead body of a man has washed ashore at Kitty Hawk beach, N. C.; also many hogsheads and casks, and a piece of paper bearing the words "Schooner Roman, from St. Domingo, loaded with sugar, molasses and honey."

Fanny M. Brown, sixteen years old, in attempting to cross the Boston & Albany railroad track at East Boston on Monday, caught her foot between two rails and fell in front of a train, which horribly mangled her about the hips, causing fatal injuries.

The Talmage trial at Brooklyn was ended on Monday by the Presbytery dismissing the charge relative to Talmage's method of preaching. The Presbytery should be put on trial now for disorderly and unchristian conduct.

A CARD.

THE SUBSCRIBER takes this method of informing the public that he has purchased the Steamer JAMES SAMPSON, and will continue to run her as formerly between Portsmouth and Kittery. This boat was built in 1878, and is constructed of the best material; has double engines and is first class in all her appointments. It will be my aim to merit the public confidence, and I assure them that the boat will be in charge of reliable and competent men. Thanking the public for their generous support in making this a permanent institution, I shall as heretofore run the JAMES SAMPSON on stated times, and will inform the public of any change.

AROUND HOME.

The Heavy Artillery have voted to accept the committee's invitation to parade on Memorial day.

Elder Sederquest of the Advent church baptised six persons at Noble's island on Sunday afternoon, in the presence of a very large crowd.

The hot weather of Monday started vegetation right along, and on Tuesday the cherry trees were in full blossom, and the pear trees beginning to whiten with bloom.

Mr. Leonard McIntire, an elderly and highly respected citizen of York, is reported as being very dangerously ill, from the effect of getting cold in a felon on his finger.

Mr. William J. Doyle, of this city, has been doing some good jobs of plumbing in Great Falls, according to the Journal of that town, which adds that "Mr. Doyle ranks as one of the best plumbers in New England." He is a good workman.

Booth and Smith, the gospel temperance workers, commenced a series of meetings in Dover city hall on Sunday evening, the hall being packed with people, and a large and fine chorus choir in attendance. A large number of persons donned the blue ribbon.

Mr. John Grover of Beech ridge, York, an elderly gentleman, recently met with a painful accident. Jumping from a scaffold to a hay-mow he drove one tine of a hay-fork completely through his foot, but pulled it out himself, and no serious consequences are anticipated.

Workmen commenced laying brick upon Mr. Jones' new National block on Tuesday. The brick are the best Philadelphia pressed, are concave at top and bottom, and are laid in marble-dust mortar. Two first-class Philadelphia bricklayers are engaged in laying the outside courses.

Miss Rachel Noah of the Boston theatre company, an accomplished actress and an estimable lady, will have a benefit next Saturday evening. Her pupil, Miss Norah Bartlett, whose recent debut at Portsmouth was so successful, will appear as Julia in "The Hunchback," supported by the Boston theatre company; and Mr. Tom Karl, Mr. H. C. Barnabee, Miss. Mary Beebee and many other artists of note have volunteered and will appear.—Boston Post.

The American ensign was flying from the flagstaff at "Hotel Dow," Newcastle, on Sunday, indicating the occupancy of that pleasant summer resort by some of its owners. The tent which it is said somebody proposes to put up on Fishing islands for the accommodation of fishing and boating parties this summer was not in sight, though three poles were standing, and looked as if they might be intended for tenting purposes.

The "mowing-machine knife-sharpener" swindlers who operated in Rockingham and York counties last year are now said to be "working" Litchfield county, Conn. A patent pruning-knife has been substituted for the knife-sharpener, around this way, as a means of inducing farmers to sign what they suppose to be an agreement to act as agent, but which finally turns up in the hands of some third party as a promise to pay the bearer a goodly sum of money at sight.

The Dover Democrat is printing a correspondence from local contributors on the vexed question as to who wrote Shakespeare's plays, one side insisting that Shakespeare wrote them, and the other that he didn't write one of 'em. It would be a good thing to have this matter authoritatively settled; but sooner than our Dover brethren should get into a bitter dispute, we will confess that we ourself wrote the plays commonly attributed to Shakespeare.

Coup's great circus, combining half a dozen first-class shows in one, is on its way hither, and is now exhibiting on the Coliseum grounds, in Boston. This being the earliest show of the kind to make an appearance this season, the manager ought to reap a rich harvest from the expectant public. Such attractions as a real Japanese circus, the "Anaconda of the Deep," the walking fish, the learned sea lion, the hippopotamus, and almost an unlimited number of troupes of performing dogs and horse makes up a list of wonders which will furnish an enjoyable entertainment.

Joe Shallis of Great Falls shot over a hundred pounds of ducks at Wells beach, week before last.

Mr. Daniel Clark brought in 4000 lbs. of fish, mostly haddock, in his whaleboat on Tuesday, as the product of one day's fishing.

Mr. John S. LeGro of Great Falls has purchased the "Owen Davis place" at Wells beach, and put up a large dwelling, part of which is to be rented.

There will be a young people's union prayer meeting at the new mission hall, corner of Market and Bow streets, this evening at 7:45 o'clock. All are invited.

At a special meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Monday afternoon, on the premises, it was voted inexpedient to grant the request of the petitioners for the widening of Pleasant street from Water street, across the bridge, to near the corner of Salter street.

Tuesday, May 13th, being the regular "spring training day" of the New Hampshire National Guard, the Light Artillery, Heavy Artillery and City Guards turned out for drill, and all made a good appearance. The light artillerymen were mounted, some on the guns and caissons, and the rest on horseback. The Guards made a very handsome show in their new National Guards uniform, and marched nicely; they are a fine, soldierly-looking body of young men, and evidently pay commendable attention to their drill. The Heavies, as usual, appeared finely, marched splendidly, and executed with precision the various evolutions they attempted.

The Laurent Fifth Avenue Theatre Company, which will give Pinafore and Trial by Jury at Music hall to-morrow evening, is said to include much more musical ability than any other company now presenting Pinafore, with the exception of the Boston Theatre company, and to have better actors than any other organization without any exception at all. They have had flattering success in New York, Boston, Providence, Lowell and other cities. They bring the necessary scenery and abundant "properties" with them, and will present the popular Pinafore at least as well as it has been done in this city. Trial by July, another comic operetta by the same authors, will have its first representation in this city to-morrow night. See advertisement.

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, May 13; Batchelder, J.

After a considerable period of inactivity, spring business came in with a rush on Tuesday. George Tighe, Elizabeth Shaw, Jane Annie Parks and Bertha Stetson were all accused of having been drunk, all proved guilty, and each assessed $9.90, fine and costs.

Benjamin F. Brown, a job-wagon driver, was before the court on a charge of refusing to obey the orders of an assistant engineer at the time of the Franklin block fire. The magistrate held that at the time the alleged refusal took place the fire was so far under control that there was no necessity for the exercise of the emergency powers vested in the fire wards while a fire is in progress, and that the accused was not present at the fire within the meaning of the statute, being at the time of the alleged offence some distance away and actually engaged on a job in the ordinary line of his business; so the case was dismissed.

CIRCUIT COURT.

TUESDAY, May 13; Clark, J.

No. 57, Charles E. Benton, assignee in bankruptcy of Horatio N. Allen, vs. Betsey Allen, Horatio N. Allen, Willis Wilder, William H. Forbes and A. Richardson, was heard. This is a suit in equity brought to recover amount of a note fraudulently, as is claimed, held by Mrs. Allen, wife of the bankrupt, as against the assignee. The note in question was dated Oct. 16th, 1871, for the sum of $2100, payable to G. F. Fellows or bearer, and transferred to H. N. Allen and Wm. H. Forbes, and it is stated that H. N. Allen was indebted to his wife in the sum of two thousand dollars, and in payment of the indebtedness Horatio Allen transferred and assigned the note of Forbes to Mrs. Allen, through Mr. Willis Wilder, who agreed to pay the balance due on the note as fast as collected. The complainant says the transfer of the note was made to avoid the payment of H. N. Allen's debts, and is in fraud against the plaintiff and the creditors of H. N. Allen, and in right the note belongs in the assets of the bankrupt's estate. Benton is a creditor of H. N. Allen. The testimony taken in the case, and in another case between the same plaintiff and some of the above-named defendants, is very voluminous, making a printed book of 492 pages. Geo. N. Dale of Island Pond, Vt., and Henry Heywood of Lancaster, for plff.; Ray, Drew & Jordan, and Hatch, for def. The hearing of the arguments consumed nearly the entire day. Submitted.

Chesley J. Willey of Conway was arraigned upon an indictment found by the grand jury, charging him with voting for a candidate for Congress at Conway on the 5th of November last without having a lawful right to vote, being a minor under the age of twenty-one. Plea, not guilty.

Hiram Hall, Ames B. Tebbitts and Jeremiah Chesley of Barrington were arraigned on an indictment charging them with wilfully, knowingly and unlawfully refusing to insert the name of Frank O. McMahan, a voter of Barrington, upon the list or registration of legal voters entitled to vote at the election of a representative in Congress in November last, and each pleaded not guilty. A motion was made for a continuance, and granted on the ground that the indictment was the first intimation the defendants had of this proceeding. The respondents recognized in $500 each for their appearance at the October term. The witnesses were recognized and the case continued. Ray, U. S. Att'y, for the government; Frink for the respondents.

Willis and others vs. the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada. This was an indictment found by the grand jury of Coos county, April term, 1877, for killing J. E. Willis. The case was removed on the motion of the defendants, and a motion to remand to the State court is now pending. The question is whether this proceeding is in its nature civil or criminal. Is the cause of a civil nature or otherwise? It is criminal in the form of indictment. This is not a remedy at common law. The form is not a controlling feature of the case. The statute provides to whom the proceeds of the fine should go. The case went up to the full bench of the State upon the question of whether the cost of obtaining the indictment should be a charge upon the county. The court held that the fees of witnesses, etc., should be paid by parties seeking the remedy. That court held it was partly civil and partly criminal in its nature, the object not being the punishment of a party for the commission of a crime, but to obtain something for the heirs of the deceased, in case such surviving relatives exist. The supreme court have given an opinion in the case, Judges Doe and Bingham not sitting, adverse to the removal of the cause from the State courts, the opinion being by the majority of the sitting judges. Argued by Mr. Ray for the Grand Trunk Railway.

SCHOONER W. B. KEEN.

The new fishing schooner W. B. Keen, built by Capt. Charles H. Thompson of Kennebunk for Mr. Wm. B. Keen of Malden, Mass., arrived at Newcastle on Saturday last at one o'clock P. M., in charge of Capt. Hackman, an old shipmaster of Kennebunk, having left that port at four o'clock in the morning, and had light breezes throughout the passage. The schooner is apparently strongly put together, is of a fine model, and looks as though she would sail well and be a good sea boat, though this can only be told by actual trial in service; she is sixty-two feet long over all, 17ft. 4 inches beam, and 6 ft. 4 inches in the hold; registered tonnage, 31.75. Her foremast is 57 1-2 feet and the mainmast fifty-nine feet long, her mainboom forty-seven feet, and her bowsprit seventeen feet outboard. Her steering gear is the "Diamond," made by the Boston Machine Co., and said to be the best in use; her anchors, from the Cape Ann Anchor Works at Gloucester, Mass., are very smooth pieces of iron work, and everything about her is of the most approved construction. Her cabin is handsomely finished in black walnut and chestnut, and fitted with four double bunks; the forecastle, which has room for four sleepers, with place for galley stove, cook's lockers, etc., is finished in ash. She is now being fitted for fishing under the personal supervision of Capt. Henry Becker of Newcastle, who is to command her, and will probably start out at the end of this week to set her trawls for the first time in Ipswich bay. She will carry eight dories, and a crew of ten men all told. Her hailing port is Salem, Mass., though her port of general resort will be this one, and she will probably tie up at Newcastle as frequently as anywhere; she is a valuable addition to the fishing fleet, and unless her looks are deceptive will give a good account of herself under her experienced skipper, Capt. Becker. Wish her the best of luck!

FRANKLIN HALL

And the Interesting Memories connected with It.

With the exception of that once famed structure, the old Assembly House, on Vaughan street, the site of which is now occupied by the buildings in Raitt's court, no public edifice of Portsmouth, during the more than half a century of its existence, ever had so many pleasantly interesting associations connected with its history as Franklin Hall, so lately destroyed in the last of the great fires for which our city has had such an unfortunate notoriety within the present century. It formed a prominent feature in the building known as the Eastern Stage House in the days of stage travel, and in time took the place of the Assembly House as the scene of the winter assemblies and the Washington balls that were such conspicuous features for many years of festive life among the wealthier class of Portsmouth society; and which are still most pleasantly remembered as such by a few, who, in their youth, shared in them.

It was erected by Hon. Langley Boardman, among whose heirs were its recent owners. Of the interesting events connected with Franklin Hall was the ball given there in celebrating the two hundredth anniversary of the first settlement of New Hampshire, May 21st, 1823, when the walls were covered from the floor to the ceiling with the valuable antique portraits, among them those by Smybert, Copley and Blackburn, of which Portsmouth has so many, and that were then, for the first and only time, gathered beneath one roof. In the second volume of Brewster's Rambles may be seen a list of nearly three hundred of those who attended the festive occasion, or who were in other ways connected with the celebration; some of whom still survive among us to recall the time after so long a lapse of years.

On the first day of September in the year following, Lafayette was received by the citizens and addressed them from the balcony then projecting from the windows of the hall on Congress street; and in the evening a grand ball was given to him in the same favored locality, which was not less numerously attended and even more enjoyed than that of the previous year; inasmuch as "the Nation's Guest" was its recipient, and to whom all present were presented in turn; the occasion being second only in interest to the ball given to Washington, at the Assembly Room on his last visit here, in the century previous. A well-remembered festival was also the ball, at Franklin Hall, on the one hundredth anniversary of Washington's birthday, that occurred in the "city of notions," and which well repaid those who went even by stage-coach, from here to attend it.

A most happy annual event, for several successive years, when the winter assemblies and the Washington ball had been transferred thither was the celebration by the Mechanic Association, by a ball on Franklin's birthday; a remembrance of the "blue-stockinged philosopher" that seems to be left now-a-days entirely to his fellow-craftsmen, the printers.

It would take too much space to enumerate all the pleasant things of which "the Franklin" was the scene, from time to time, until the period when the dancing-hall was merged for a while in the hotel; but a few may be given as specimens of the rest.

A picture was exhibited there that greatly astonished the more youthful visitors, or those unaccustomed to such illusions of art. It was entitled "The Dinner Party," and represented a scene from real life in Boston. Though occupying but the space of six by five feet in dimensions, the spectator seemed to look through a large front parlor upon a table in that in the rear, from which the cloth had been removed, and which was surrounded by a party of gentlemen, whose faces, it was said, could be readily recognized as those for whom they were intended. The wine in the decanters; the fruit upon the dishes; the sparkle of "rare old Madeira" as it was held up to view; the glisten upon the mahogany; the shadow upon the floor of a waiter as it was held in the hands of a servant, and that of a towel as it lay across his arm,—even a cobweb in a distant corner, all seemed so real it was hard to believe the whole anything else than a reality, and that the party could not rise from their seats and pass from the hall.

At another time "the Destruction of Sodom and the Cities of the Plain" had been the subject of the artist in his much larger work than that of the other; and such his skill, a visitor, after looking upon the fire that seemed falling from the skies upon the doomed cities, could scarce believe the picture not illuminated, until, much to the amusement of the exhibitor, taking a peep into the darkness behind the canvas.

It served the best of purposes as a lecture-room, and was used as such on several occasions by Ezra A. Stevens, the father of our former fellow citizen of that name, in a popular course on astronomy; the same as he had delivered before President Monroe and both houses of Congress, in the hall of the House of Representatives, and to classes in the principal cities of the Union; he being among the first to enter the lecture field, when it was an almost unknown profession, after being for five years a popular schoolteacher at Portsmouth. Its platform was occupied besides, at a later time, by John Cleaves Symmes, who had a theory of his own that the world was hollow, and could be entered if what was termed by others "Symmes' hole" could be found by which to do so.

As a hotel the Franklin House had many happy associations with it as such when it was the best that Portsmouth had to offer; though there were others where travellers could find good accommodations, such as the Bell Tavern, where 'Squire Brown, as its landlord, was so long known. Who that can recall the days of stage-travel, does not remember the pleasure of going there to book their name for Boston, or do the same for others, and the scene it presented of an evening when the stage was late, and its arrival was looked for by anxious friends with the deepest interest. A volume might be written of the history of the various people who from time to time were guests, among whom may be mentioned the following for the novelty attached to them, and scores of others, doubtless, might be named whose history it would be curious to know. At one time a story reached us from abroad that two individuals had made a bet as to which would gather the most money as an itinerant musician within the period of a couple of years; the instrument of one to be the violin, that of the other the bag-pipe; the route of the former to be through several of the countries of Europe, that of the other the British possessions of North America and the United States. In the course of a year, one of them, after passing through the British Provinces, made his appearance at Portland, Me., and very soon thereafter presented himself as "Mr. Stewart" at the Franklin House. At Portland as well as smaller places before reaching there, he traversed the streets in Highland costume performing "auld Scotia's" national airs upon that anything but melodious instrument, the Scotch bagpipe. Gentlemanly in deportment and courteous in address, he took the money that was given him in the most quiet way, dropping it, with an "I thank you," into one of the pockets of his plaid. While at Portsmouth, instead of being seen in the street as "the Wandering Piper," that being the title by which he was known, he occupied Franklin hall for some hours of the day, where those who wished to see and hear him went to do so. Such as called on him at his hotel, here and elsewhere as upon a well-bred traveller, found him courteous and intelligent, and remembered him ever afterwards with pleasure. In Boston he was seen at a hall in Milk street, and when Charles Greene, then the editor of the Post, went to hear him perform upon his instrument, and in taking his departure laid half a dollar upon the table, he told him not to leave it there, adding thereto, though speaking, ordinarily, in the best of English and with but the slightest Scottish accent, "I'll tak what yo'll pit in mine hau', and if ye no like that fash, ye may gang awa wi'out giving me a bawbee." Wherever he went he left behind him with some suitable person whose acquaintance he had made, a sum of money to be distributed in charity as they thought best, and in some instances liberal in amount. What the result was of the several jaunts of the two travellers we never heard, but they made a little variety where they appeared, and gave people something to chat of for a time, which is always acceptable.

About the time "Old Hickory" was nominated for the Presidency, and before his face had been seen in New England, a man something over six feet in height, in citizen's dress of blue, but with the showy epaulettes upon his shoulders of a major-general, after having been seen at Portland, registered his name at the Franklin House as "General Jackson." Within a week he was arrested in Boston for stealing silk stockings from a Washington street store, when that well-remembered dispenser of justice, Judge Thatcher, before whom he was tried, never believing in making a plaything of the law as it is so common now-a-days to do, at once consigned him to safe quarters in the State prison. Not fancying the rather rough employment at which he was set, and thinking to get rid of it thereby, he took a broad-axe that lay in his way, and in the most deliberate manner chopped off one of his legs, but in a few months' time he was provided with one of wood, and some kind of work to keep him out of idleness. It would be curious to know what was his after history, as his offence could not have kept him long in prison.

Most happy memories might also be given of pleasant hours spent there when the hall had been transformed into the extensive place it was in its latter days; and of which nothing will be better remembered than the performance there before the Electic Club and their friends, of Goldsmith's fine old comedy of "The Good-natured Man, and scenes from the works of Dickens; both of which it was hoped would be at some time repeated. Though entirely by amateurs among the ladies and gentleman of Portsmouth, both would have been hard to excel by the most practiced professionals. J. H. B.

RYE LETTER.

RYE, May 13th.

The Congregational society has voted to invite Mr. C. P. Mills, of the senior class in Andover Theological seminary, to preach for them for one year, commencing the first Sunday in September next, at a salary of $800 and the use of the parsonage.

Miss Little, a lady from Washington county, Me., is teaching the centre school, which commenced on Monday, the 12th inst.

Between two and three o'clock Monday morning many persons in town were awakened by a loud noise which they have not yet been able to account for, and they think that perhaps it was an earthquake.

The bobolinks and golden robins have just put in an appearance.

It is getting to be very dry about here, and a little moisture would be welcomed by everybody.

A Word to the Corpulent.

Instead of regarding obesity asan abnormal condition many people have erroneously considered it as an evidence of health, and an agent that reduces fat is therefore at once suspected of being injurious. Starting to reason from the false position that fat is an evidence of health, it is not surprising that they should, very naturally, fall into the error of supposing that an agent possessing properties capable of reducing corpulency would prove injurious to the health. Reasoning, however, from the rational basis, that an undue deposition of fat, constituting obesity, is not healthy but a morbid condition, it is quite as natural for us to arrive at the opposite conclusion, which is sustained by experience and observation, i. e., that the reduction of fat in cases of corpulency is invariably followed by an improvement of strength, spirits, and physical comforts. Ailan's Anti-Fat will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. Sold by all druggists.

Andrew Manning of Elmville, Conn., killed his wife on Sunday with an axe in a drunken quarrel, and then filled his pockets with stones and drowned himself in a millpond.

—A little boy once called out to his father, who had mounted his horse for a journey, "Good bye, papa, I love you thirty miles long." A little sister quickly added, "Good bye, dear papa; you will never ride to the end of my love."

—A train boy got rather taken in the other day on the Pennsylvania road. He distributed the usual candy and cake packages through an emigrant train, but when he came back to gather them up again the foreigners had disposed of the goodies and thrown the empty boxes out of the window. They thought it was a free lunch furnished by the conductor, and could not be got to pay for it either.

GAZETTE

Established 1756.

The Gazette s published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to attend to it, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:

Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. P. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CONSULTATIONS free of all forms correspondence within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities a superior order for the care and cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent postpaid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Varicose Veins and Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Cure," Agents Wanted, sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the complaints for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked marvels, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions, Pain from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not exhaust this specific as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 300 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of their infections.

Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.

The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.

Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.

The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.

Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.

N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, search the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

IT can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, incrusted matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the ulceration and inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membranous lining of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen.—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through one nostril. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad at times I was obliged to take a remedy to sit upright before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored. I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.

PITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made me familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. F. DERBY.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas.

Rules for Making Gilt-Edged Butter.

Feeding. Select your cows with reference to the quantity and richness of the milk produced. The best cows are the cheapest for butter, so get the best you can of whatever breed you select. Give them good pasturage in the summer, and plenty of pure water, with frequent access to salt. In winter, feed sweet, early-cut hay, well-cured corn fodder, roots, cabbages, etc., and a ration of bran, corn-meal, ground oats, or middlings.

Implements. Have the best implements, and keep them scrupulously clean, well-scalded, and often exposed to the sweetening influences of the sun. The milk pail and pans should be of the best quality of tin. A reliable thermometer is a necessity to every good dairyman.

Milking. The milking should be done quietly and at regular times, and the utmost cleanliness observed. Nothing is tainted quicker than milk by foul odors, and surely at times with nearly all cows there is enough animal odor to it, without adding any more.

Setting. Strain the milk slowly into the pans, four to six inches deep. It is an excellent plan to strain the milk into a large can set in cold water, and cool down to sixty degrees before putting into the small pans. The milk must be set in a pure atmosphere, at such a temperature as will permit the cream to rise in from thirty to thirty-six hours after setting. In order to do that the room should be kept at about sixty to sixty-five degrees, and not allowed to vary much either above or below. In hot weather keep a large piece of ice in a tub in the room. Cover it with a thick blanket, and, if arranged so that the water will run off, it will keep a long time, and keep the room very uniform. In cold weather some arrangement for warming the milk room should be adopted.

Skimming. Skim as soon as the milk begins to turn sour. Do not neglect this rule, as it is impossible to make good butter from cream that has become old and sour. When you pour your cream into the cream jar, splash as little as possible. Stir the cream every time you add more to it, and wipe the sides of the pot. Keep the temperature at about sixty degrees, and the cream pot in the coolest part of the house, covered with a fine gauze netting strained on a hoop, not with a tight cover. If covered too tight, fermentation is often too rapid.

Churning. Churn often, as there is nothing gained by long keeping. Bring the temperature of the cream in the churn to fifty-eight degrees, and not allow it to rise above sixty-five degrees. Churn early in the morning, while it is cool. First scald the churn, turn the paddles a few times; then pour off, and pour in cold water, and turn the paddles; pour off, and pour in your cream. In churning revolve the paddles with an easy, regular motion, not to fast nor too slow. The butter should come in about forty minutes, a little more or less, if the temperature of the cream when put in was about fifty-eight degrees, ascertained by the thermometer.

Working and Salting. When it has "broken" and there is a difficulty to make the butter gather, put in cold water and give a few more turns. Some, and I think a majority, of the best butter-makers of to-day wash their butter with cold water before removing from the churn. Gather your butter with the paddle and lift it out into the tray, press it gently and incline it, and let the butter-milk run off. Work it gently with the paddle, with a cutting, gentle pressure, but not to mash it; or, better, put into the butter-worker. Salt it about an ounce to the pound, or to the taste of good customers; only with the best salt, and free from lumps and coarseness. Work the butter only so much as to expel the butter milk, but not to work it too dry. This can be done by the use of a weak brine prepared for the purpose. Put the bowl away in a cool place. After standing twelve or twenty-four hours, gently press out with a ladle or machine, the remaining butter milk, and any brine that will flow out with it, care being used not to work it too much. If this is done the butter has lost its grain and becomes salvy, and its keeping qualities are greatly injured.

Packing. Pack in vessels which will impart no impurities to the butter. Fill within half an inch of the top. Place a thin cloth wholly over the butter. Over that pour cold brine as strong as can be made of hot water and the purest salt, or cover with a layer of fine salt. The whole process of making the butter, from drawing the milk to the placing of the butter in packages, should be hurried, as milk, cream and butter are going to decay every moment when exposed to the air, however pure it may be. Such butter is ready to keep or to sell. If to be kept long before selling, surround every package with coarse salt, by placing them in boxes prepared for the purpose. This process keeps the butter cool and hard, and free from the sudden changes of air. When all these things are attended to promptly, and with as much uniformity as is under the power of man to control, there will be a near approach to uniformity in color, richness and purity. If the new beginner follows these rules, and keeps doing so, he will soon command the highest figures. Cleanliness and common sense applied from the beginning to the end are absolutely necessary to insure good butter that will bring the highest price in the market.—Rural New Yorker.

A Word to the Corpulent.

Instead of regarding obesity asan abnormal condition many people have erroneously considered it as an evidence of health, and an agent that reduces fat is therefore at once suspected of being injurious. Starting to reason from the false position that fat is an evidence of health, it is not surprising that they should, very naturally, fall into the error of supposing that an agent possessing properties capable of reducing corpulency would prove injurious to the health. Reasoning, however, from the rational basis, that an undue deposition of fat, constituting obesity, is not healthy but a morbid condition, it is quite as natural for us to arrive at the opposite conclusion, which is sustained by experience and observation, i. e., that the reduction of fat in cases of corpulency is invariably followed by an improvement of strength, spirits, and physical comforts. Allan's Anti-Fat will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. Sold by all druggists.

Andrew Manning of Elmville, Conn., killed his wife on Sunday with an axe in a drunken quarrel, and then filled his pockets with stones and drowned himself in a millpond.

—A little boy once called out to his father, who had mounted his horse for a journey, "Good bye, papa, I love you thirty miles long." A little sister quickly added, "Good bye, dear papa; you will never ride to the end of my love."

—A train boy got rather taken in the other day on the Pennsylvania road. He distributed the usual candy and cake packages through an emigrant train, but when he came back to gather them up again the foreigners had disposed of the goodies and thrown the empty boxes out of the window. They thought it was a free lunch furnished by the conductor, and could not be got to pay for it either.

GAZETTE

Established 1756.

The Gazette s published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of

$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or

$2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)

DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to attend to it, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers:

Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres.
JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.

NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.

CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.

LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities unsurpassed for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.

NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.

NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of treatment we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Advisor" (1,000 pages, sent postpaid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).

SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fibroids in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Strictures, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, by a new method without a surgical operation, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)

Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficacious remedy for the class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the complaints for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottles.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppression or Stoppage from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not call it this nor that kind of a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

There is further information in these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.

PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.

UNASSESSIBLE.

Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.

The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined bodies.

Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.

The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.

Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.

N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing; a one of the largest banks in the city. AROUND HOME.

The City Guards have accepted the invitation to appear on Memorial day.

Mr. C. A. Hazlett made a run to Exeter on his bicycle one day recently, in two hours, going over the hills with ease.

Storer Encampment, G. A. R., will meet at Mercantile hall on Friday evening at eight o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

Ellen Coyne, of Newmarket, was found dead in bed on Tuesday night of this week, with a jug of rum and two tumblers by her side.

Mr. George A. Deane has published a card in the Boston newspapers explaining why the tug G. A. Deane left the port of Boston at the time she came to Portsmouth.

At a meeting of the Reform club, held Wednesday evening, the resignation of President James Marden was accepted, and Edward F. Hall was appointed in his place for the unexpired term.

Miss Emily Keyes, of Exeter, aged fifty-two years, was found dead in bed on Wednesday morning, the 14th inst., by her sister. Deceased was out making calls on the previous evening, and retired in her usual health. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of her death.

Robert Durrell of Kennebunkport, with a dory-load of rock-weed, was recently overturned by a wave off Kennebunk point, but being a good swimmer reached the shore near the summer cottage of Judge Luques, nearly exhausted. The boat was washed ashore and stove up on the rocks.

The Fifth Avenue Theatre Co., an organization embracing superior musical and dramatic talent, will give Pinafore at Music hall this evening, with Miss Blanche Corelli as Josephine and Henri Laurent as Ralph Rackstraw. Trial by Jury will also be presented, for the first time in this city. See advt.

The Times says "Now is the time for eels to commence wandering through the water pipes." The frogs commenced that reprehensible amusement some time ago, for we know of one family whose water supply has been twice cut off within a month, and each time it was found that a frog in the pipe caused the trouble.

The young people's union meeting at the mission hall on Wednesday evening, the 14th inst., was very interesting. The singing was a pleasant feature. Remarks were made by the chairman, Mr. D. H. Montgomery, Dr. E. B. Goodall, Mr. J. H. Hutchinson, Amos S. Foster and others. There will be a similar service next Wednesday evening.

It is reported that petitions signed by a large number of navy yard workmen and others have been sent to the senators and representatives in Congress from this State, asking their influence to secure the removal of Mr. Tobey Burke from the position of foreman of boiler makers at the navy yard, and the re-appointment of Mr. Garry Reutan, who formerly held the position.

The keepers of hotels and boarding houses at York have made preparations for a larger influx of summer visitors this year than ever before, "considering themselves warranted in doing so by the unusual number of advance engagements. The Marshall house, at York harbor, will open two weeks earlier this year than last, enough guests having engaged rooms to make this action payable.

One of the features in the new management of the Wentworth house at Newcastle will be the increased comfort and convenience of travellers who visit that attractive spot. Messrs. F. W. Hilton & Co. have purchased one of the celebrated coaches built by the Abbott Downing Coach Co. of Concord, constructed for the Palmer house, Chicago, but secured by Messrs. Hilton & Co. for the use of their guests. This coach will carry twenty passengers, is one of the finest ever turned out by these celebrated coach builders, and will be one of the most comfortable and agreeable means of transportation upon the entire coast. The establishment, under the management of a careful and experienced driver, with a team in keeping with the style of the coach, will be a turnout of no ordinary character.

The Strafford Guards of Dover, and the First Light Battery, had their annual parade and target practice on the 13th inst., both companies turning out with full ranks.

Capt. Edgar B. LeGro of Great Falls died on the 12th inst., of consumption. He served in the army during the war, enlisting as a private and winning his way to a captaincy by actual service. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity and of the Knights of Pythias.

The picture of the old "General Stage Office," mentioned in a recent article in this paper as having for many years hung in the office of the old Franklin house, can be seen in the window of Mr. Wm. P. Walker's store on Market square. A look at it carries one many years back.

St. Michel's church (Roman Catholic) was dedicated at Exeter on Tuesday of this week, there being a large attendance to witness and take part in the ceremonies. The choir of St. John's church, of Concord, did the singing. After the dedication the rite of confirmation was administered by Rt. Rev. Bishop Healey, of Portland.

The funeral services of Rear Admiral Enoch G. Parrott, U. S. N., took place on Wednesday forenoon at the Episcopal church, Rev. Charles A. Holbrook officiating. In accordance with the desire of the family, the obsequies of the gallant and patriotic officer were conducted with an entire absence of display, though a large number of the most prominent citizens, and naval officers in undress uniform, attended to pay the last tribute of respect to the departed.

The Times says: "Elder Waite will not begin his next evangelical work in this city until about June first, at which time his gospel tent, which is expected to hold from 5000 to 8000 persons, will probably be ready. At the close of his labors in Worcester on the 11th inst. he stated that the sum of $72.34 had been added to the fund for the purpose of this tent, as the result of two meetings in that city. It will probably be pitched in one of the fields off Richards avenue, where it will be dedicated."

The concert at Music hall on Tuesday evening of this week was attended by but very few, but those who did attend enjoyed a rare musical feast. The gems of the evening were the "Otello fantasie" by Miss Lillian Chandler, and a concertante for four violins, by the talented Eichberg quartette, though all the numbers were good; the piano solos by Amy Balch, a girl of eleven years, were far superior to some of the public performances of noted adult pianists; and Robbie Chandler, only nine years of age, played a polonaise on the violin with a spirit and precision that was truly wonderful in one of his extreme youth. Though the entertainment did not nearly pay expenses it deserved a full house.

Mr. Editor: I noticed your item in relation to the large salmon recently caught in our river, and was glad to learn that salmon had again made their appearance in the Piscataqua. Salmon were occasionally—but only occasionally—taken in our harbor as long ago as when stages formed the only conveyance by land to and from Boston. Mr. John Mendum, one of the most enterprising stage drivers of that day, on one occasion bought a salmon fresh from the river, weighing twenty-three pounds, which he took to Boston and sold for one dollar a pound. Thus it seems that even then salmon were a rarity here, and in demand at the Hub. O.

The Dover Democrat describes the method of Booth and Smith, the gospel temperance revivalists, and adds: "Those who brought those two men here to convert the Dover heathen, no doubt acted honestly and in good faith. They are people whom we respect and honor always. We find not the slighest fault with what they have done. But we claim the same rights for ourselves that we concede to them, the right of opinion, and argument and reason. What they approve we have the right to disapprove, if we see cause. They have faith and confidence in Booth and Smith as advocates and preachers of real, genuine, permanent reform. We have none."

There is a little private war at Old Orchard beach. Thomas Googins some time ago commenced putting up a story-and-a-half summer cottage, and had got the building so near completion on Friday, the 9th inst., that it was plastered, he claiming to be the owner of the land on which it was erected. But other parties also claimed the land, and on Friday night, after dark, they commenced operations with jack-screws and skids, and on Saturday morning the cottage was found located a hundred and fifty feet from its original position, and on land unquestionably belonging to the parties who had so unceremoniously confiscated the building. When Mr. Googins found out, Saturday morning, what had been going on, he immediately "saddled Blackstone;" but now a third party, Mr. C. E. Staples, steps in and informs the contending parties that neither of them owns the land in dispute, as he has a deed of it himself. 'Tis a very pretty quarrel as it stands.

Happy Cal Wagner's minstrels were advertised to give an entertainment at Exeter on the evening of the 12th inst., but did not appear. It is rumored that the company disbanded at Farmington without a dividend, and that Happy Cal left the members in a very unhappy frame of mind, he having forgotten to share out the limited amount of funds on hand when he disappeared.

MATTERS NEEDING ATTENTION.

The fact that there was a scarcity of water at the Franklin block fire, necessitating the removal of engines from one reservoir to another just at the time that their streams were most needed, thereby causing a serious increase in the loss of property, and imperilling a vast amount more, should spur the municipal authorities into taking some decisive action, and at once. Chief Engineer Fletcher, in his reports last year and this, represented the state of the case in regard to a water supply and earnestly requested its consideration. At the last meeting of the board of aldermen a resolution relating to this subject was introduced, and referred to the committee on fire department; and it is to be hoped that the committee, or the board, or somebody, will at once do something to obviate a danger to which the business portion of the city is needlessly exposed from a lack of sufficient water to be used in fighting a large fire. No one will question that means should be provided for more quickly replenishing the Market square reservoir; and we think a six-inch pipe should at once be led from the aqueduct main to the reservoir, and a hydrant placed at the corner of State and Pleasant streets, near the post-office.

Another incident connected with the late fire and demanding immediate attention, was the bursting of fifty shots of hose, ten shots of which have been condemned as utterly worthless. The amount of really reliable hose now possessed by the city is but four thousand feet; in addition there is twenty-nine hundred feet that might possibly do fair service at an ordinary fire, but cannot be depended upon; and five hundred feet that is good for nothing. An addition to the stock of hose should be made at once, for no matter how well organized and efficient a fire department may be in other respects, it can be of little use without good hose—good hose and plenty of water to squirt through the same.

CIRCUIT COURT.

WEDNESDAY, May 14; Clark, J.

Joseph P. Morse, Esq., of Portsmouth, having been reappointed a Deputy United States Marshal for the District of New Hampshire, appeared and took the oath of office before Judge Clark.

Chesley J. Willey was tried on a charge of fraudulently voting at Conway for a candidate for member of Congress. The government introduced witnesses to prove the age of Willey, among others Mrs. Dame of Jackson, who had a felon on her finger at the time of his birth, and who said she remembered the event of his birth from the date of the felon, whose pain she never has forgotten. Eight witnesses in all were introduced on the part of the government. The defendant is a son of John Willey, who had a numerous family, but kept no record of the frequent births. He claims that by tradition he presumed he was twenty-one years of age, and did not knowingly vote without right, as he believed he was legally voting; the fact that he voted was admitted, but it was contended that on Willey's ballot the name of Willey's candidate for Congress was cut out, as the nominee of his party was not satisfactory to Willey. In Conway the whole number of votes for governor was 462; the whole number given for member of Congress was 461. Other candidates received 462, but there was one less vote for representative to Congress. Natt Head for governor and J. G. Hall for representative each had 189 votes, as did Granville P. Conn for railroad commissioner. Frank A. McKean had 218, and H. F. Norris had 217 votes. The deft. swore that he was born in Jackson; left home at the age of three years. He was unable to state definitely the number of his brothers and sisters. His father kept no record of his age. He believed he was of age, when he voted. He voted for all the candidates on the democratic ticket, except member of Congress. His brother and father did not think Norris the right man to go to Congress, and the family cut the name of the "War Eagle" from their ballots, and consequently he did not vote for any candidate for Congress at all. AUG[illegible]GS was not mentioned in the he[illegible]fore the United States comm[illegible] because supposed he was cl[illegible] with v[illegible] without being of lawful age. [illegible] cross examination Willey said [illegible] what he had said about his age to [illegible] Eastman, if he had said it, was [illegible] run! His brother testified that he [illegible] out Norris' name from his and Cheney's ballots, but on being assured by straight democrat that Norris was all right, and told to vote the whole ticket by Mr. Lycurgus Pitman, he voted it; but it was too late to change Chesley's vote, as he was close to the moderator and the crowd was large. The witnesses for the defence were the respondent and his brother. The case was given to the jury late in the afternoon. At ten o'clock in the evening the jury came into court, and being unable to agree upon a verdict were discharged. They stood nine for conviction and three for acquittal. Ray for the gov't; Hatch for deft.

The court took a recess until Judge Lowell's arrival.

Judge Lowell is expected to come in on Friday forenoon, to hear certain cases, and the court in Boston will be held by Judge Nelson until Judge Lowell finishes the session here. An adjourned term in June is expected, at which the case Roberts vs. Nashua will be tried.

naturally, fall into the error of supposing that an agent possessing properties capable of reducing corpulency would prove injurious to the health. Reasoning, however, from the rational basis, that an undue deposition of fat, constituting obesity, is not healthy but a morbid condition, it is quite as natural for us to arrive at the opposite conclusion, which is sustained by experience and observation, i. e., that the reduction of fat in cases of corpulency is invariably followed by an improvement of strength, spirits, and physical comforts. Allan's Anti-Fat will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. Sold by all druggists.

Portsmouth Chronicle

THURSDAY, MAY 15, 1879.

News and Notes.

Indictments have been found by the grand jury at Portland against Dr. Chas. H. Witham of Cape Elizabeth, a physician of good standing and considerable property, for murder and for adultery, it being charged that he murdered his illegitimate child. He had previously been arrested for criminal malpractice in causing an abortion. He is a married man, with a family.

Next month an unusually interesting conjunction of Mars and Saturn will take place, the space between the two planets being so small that it is quite probable that Mars will actually occult Saturn. An occultation of this kind is exceedingly rare, almost the only one on record being an occultation of Jupiter by Mars, on January 9th, 1591.

It is mentioned as noteworthy that although so many attempts have been made to kill crown-wearers during the present century, the only head of a State who has fallen in that manner was the president of a republic—Lincoln. There seems a little grim irony in the fact.

Public opinion may be the highest earthly authority, but there is no denying its fickleness. Just now it has veered round in England, to a strong opposition to the lately-vaunted system of school-examinations. It is complained that real education is swamped by preparation for examinations, that the be-all and end-all of school and university careers is nowadays not the acquisition of learning, but perpetual examination, which is injurious to real thought and study, and to learning for its own sake.

A few philanthropic citizens in Nebraska have brought before a United States court there the question whether the United States authorities have a right forcibly to remove Indians from their reservation to Indian Territory. During the trial Judge Doody remarked that he did not see why the government had any more right to take the Indian from a reservation and plant him in Indian territory than it had to take a Nebraska farmer and remove him to Texas. This is said to be the first case of the kind ever brought before a United States court.

A man giving the name of Thomas Roberts was arrested in New York on the 12th inst., for passing a counterfeit $5 note on the national bank of Pawling, N. Y. It is a finely executed bill and believed to be from the same plate as the counterfeit on the Tamaqua bank. Roberts was held to answer.

Benjamin Carter of Woonsocket, R. I., was on Sunday, the 11th inst., riding out with Mrs. Thomas Wilbur, when the pair passed the woman's husband on the road. Carter drew a revolver and fired twice at Wilbur, wounding him severely in the ankle, and has been arrested on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon.

The ironclad Canonicus has arrived at Pensacola from New Orleans, and been quarantined. She will be sealed up during the summer, and her crew sent north.

Frederick Douglas having come out in opposition to the southern exodus, Mr. George T. Downing, of New York, colored, prints a letter to Douglass, in which he says the negroes are now emigrating from the south for the same reason Douglass did—to escape the horrible brutality to which they are subjected.

New Hampshire Items.

A derrick fell at the Unitarian church, Concord, on the 13th inst., and Frank Symonds, a stone worker, was instantly killed. He was forty years old and left a family.

Emery Towle of North Danville broke his leg a few days ago by having it caught between the spokes of a cart wheel. It has been amputated, but his recovery seems doubtful.

A freight train, bound south from Hanover on the 13th inst., caught fire near Pompanoosuc station, on the Passumpsic railroad, one car, loaded with bobbins, being totally destroyed. Cause, a spark from the engine.

Tuesday, the 13th inst, was a hot day all over the State—uncommonly hot for May. At Lebanon the thermometer reached one hundred degrees in the shade, and few places reported anything under ninety.

The venerable and highly-esteemed mother of the editor of the Nashua Gazette, while crossing the street at dark on Tuesday evening, the 13th inst., was knocked down and run over by a passing team. Her collar bone was broken. She is eighty-seven years of age, and one of the oldest residents of Nashua.

Joseph Shanty has been sentenced by the supreme court at Plymouth to eight years in State prison for highway robbery, he having stopped on the road an old man named Stephen Labordeau, and made him hand over $6.49. Martin V. Dickey, for manslaughter in the first degree, was sentenced to seven years in the State prison. This proves that manslaughter in the first degree is only seven-eighths as bad a crime as stealing $6.49!

Gov. Prescott has issued a proclamation, directing the closing of all public offices, and recommending the closing of all places of business, on Decoration day.

A Dog's Ruse.

The other day, I witnessed an amusing instance of canine sagacity worthy of commemoration in print. I was staying with friends who have a varied collection of dogs—a Blenheim spaniel and her five puppies, a fox terrier, and two fine deerhounds. This happy family are allowed to spend part of the day in the drawing-room, provided they conform to certain rules as to boundary lines and an amicable agreement among themselves. The hearthrug is the favorite "coign of vantage" with them all. Zuna, the deer hound, sauntered in one morning and found every approach to the fire blocked by the slumbering forms of her companions. She tried gently to scratch a passage for herself, but was repelled with growls. So, apparently suffering from extreme lowness of spirits, she retired to a distant corner of the room, but not to sleep. For ten minutes she crouched there, pondering silently, then, suddenly bounding up, flew to the window and barked as if an invading army were in sight. Of course, every one, human and canine, followed in mad haste. The hearthrug was left unoccupied, and Zuna quietly trotted round, stretched her huge form before the fire, and in an instant was snoring heavily, leaving us all staring out into vacancy, emphatically "sold!"—Land and Water.

—Men of enter-prise—burglars.

—They are playing "Pinafore" at New Orleans, and Dick Deadeye is made up to represent a certain Massachusetts general who once caused so much stir in that city.

—"Then, doctor, mine is a hopeless case—I am indeed attacked by one of those awful maladies which science does not treat—which you do not prescribe for," "Not very, not so bad as that—we treat such complaints—we prescribe for them." "But do the prescriptions do any good?" "Not the least."

—They had gathered in tears in the ante-room to weep over and discuss the virtues of the beautiful Mme. de B., cut off in the flower of her age, whose body lay in the adjoining apartment. "What a pity," said a sympathizing friend, "for her to die in the flower of her age, at twenty-eight." "Thirty," said a cousin of the deceased, and burying her face in her handkerchief, gave way to a fresh burst of tears.

Traveling is Extra Hazardous

If the tourist is unprovided with some medicinal resource. Changes of temperature, food and water of an unaccustomed or unwholesome quality, and a route that lies in the tropics or other regions where malaria exists, are each and all fraught with danger to one who has been improvident enough to neglect a remedial safeguard. The concurrent testimony of many voyageurs by land and sea establishes the fact that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters enables those who use it to encounter hazards of the nature referred to with impunity; and that, as a medicine adapted to sudden and unexpected exigencies, it is peculiarly valuable. Disorders of the liver, the bowels and the stomach, fever and ague, rheumatism and nervous ailments, brought on by exposure, are among the maladies to which emigrants, travellers and new settlers are most subject. These and others yield to the action of the Bitters promptly and completely.

Fortune's Wheel.

"Turn, Fortune, turn thy wheel, and lower the proud;
Turn thy wild wheel through sunshine, storm and cloud—
Thy wheel we neither love nor hate.
"Turn, Fortune, turn thy wheel, with smile or frown;
With that wild wheel we go not up or down;
Our hoard is little, but our hearts are great.—Alfred Tennyson.

—A Washington correspondent thankfully notes that at the wedding of Miss Latrobe and Dr. Loring there was neither floral bell, horseshoe, nor glove.

—A gentleman was disturbed from his rest in the middle of the night by some one knocking on the street door. "Who's there?" he asked. "A friend," was the answer. "What do you want?" "I want to stay here all night." "Queer taste; stay there by all means," was the benevolent reply.

A CARD.

THE SUBSCRIBER takes this method of informing the public that he has purchased the Steamer JAMES SAMPSON, and will continue to run her as formerly between Portsmouth and Kittery. This boat was built in 1878, and is constructed of the best material; has double engines and is first class in all her appointments. It will be my aim to merit the public confidence, and I assure them that the boat will be in charge of reliable and competent men. Thanking the public for their generous support in making this a permanent institution, I shall as heretofore run the JAMES SAMPSON on stated times, and will inform the public of any change.

AROUND HOME.

The City Guards have accepted the invitation to appear on Memorial day.

Mr. C. A. Hazlett made a run to Exeter on his bicycle one day recently, in two hours, going over the hills with ease.

Storer Encampment, G. A. R., will meet at Mercantile hall on Friday evening at eight o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

Ellen Coyne, of Newmarket, was found dead in bed on Tuesday night of this week, with a jug of rum and two tumblers by her side.

Mr. George A. Deane has published a card in the Boston newspapers explaining why the tug G. A. Deane left the port of Boston at the time she came to Portsmouth.

At a meeting of the Reform club, held Wednesday evening, the resignation of President James Marden was accepted, and Edward F. Hall was appointed in his place for the unexpired term.

Miss Emily Keyes, of Exeter, aged fifty-two years, was found dead in bed on Wednesday morning, the 14th inst., by her sister. Deceased was out making calls on the previous evening, and retired in her usual health. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of her death.

Robert Durrell of Kennebunkport, with a dory-load of rock-weed, was recently overturned by a wave off Kennebunk point, but being a good swimmer reached the shore near the summer cottage of Judge Luques, nearly exhausted. The boat was washed ashore and stove up on the rocks.

The Fifth Avenue Theatre Co., an organization embracing superior musical and dramatic talent, will give Pinafore at Music hall this evening, with Miss Blanche Corelli as Josephine and Henri Laurent as Ralph Rackstraw. Trial by Jury will also be presented, for the first time in this city. See adv't.

The Times says "Now is the time for eels to commence wandering through the water pipes." The frogs commenced that reprehensible amusement some time ago, for we know of one family whose water supply has been twice cut off within a month, and each time it was found that a frog in the pipe caused the trouble.

The young people's union meeting at the mission hall on Wednesday evening, the 14th inst., was very interesting. The singing was a pleasant feature. Remarks were made by the chairman, Mr. D. H. Montgomery, Dr. E. B. Goodall, Mr. J. H. Hutchinson, Amos S. Foster and others. There will be a similar service next Wednesday evening.

It is reported that petitions signed by a large number of navy yard workmen and others have been sent to the senators and representatives in Congress from this State, asking their influence to secure the removal of Mr. Tobey Burke from the position of foreman of boiler makers at the navy yard, and the re-appointment of Mr. Garry Reutan, who formerly held the position.

The keepers of hotels and boarding houses at York have made preparations for a larger influx of summer visitors this year than ever before, considering themselves warranted in doing so by the unusual number of advance engagements. The Marshall house, at York harbor, will open two weeks earlier this year than last, enough guests having engaged rooms to make this action payable.

One of the features in the new management of the Wentworth house at Newcastle will be the increased comfort and convenience of travellers who visit that attractive spot. Messrs. F. W. Hilton & Co. have purchased one of the celebrated coaches built by the Abbott Downing Coach Co. of Concord, constructed for the Palmer house, Chicago, but secured by Messrs. Hilton & Co. for the use of their guests. This coach will carry twenty passengers, is one of the finest ever turned out by these celebrated coach builders, and will be one of the most comfortable and agreeable means of transportation upon the entire coast. The establishment, under the management of a careful and experienced driver, with a team in keeping with the style of the coach, will be a turnout of no ordinary character.

The Strafford Guards of Dover, and the First Light Battery, had their annual parade and target practice on the 13th inst., both companies turning out with full ranks.

Capt. Edgar B. LeGro of Great Falls died on the 12th inst., of consumption. He served in the army during the war, enlisting as a private and winning his way to a captaincy by actual service. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity and of the Knights of Pythias.

The picture of the old "General Stage Office," mentioned in a recent article in this paper as having for many years hung in the office of the old Franklin house, can be seen in the window of Mr. Wm. P. Walker's store on Market square. A look at it carries one many years back.

St. Michael's church (Roman Catholic) was dedicated at Exeter on Tuesday of this week, there being a large attendance to witness and take part in the ceremonies. The choir of St. John's church, of Concord, did the singing. After the dedication the rite of confirmation was administered by Rt. Rev. Bishop Healey, of Portland.

The funeral services of Rear Admiral Enoch G. Parrott, U. S. N., took place on Wednesday forenoon at the Episcopal church, Rev. Charles A. Holbrook officiating. In accordance with the desire of the family, the obsequies of the gallant and patriotic officer were conducted with an entire absence of display, though a large number of the most prominent citizens, and naval officers in undress uniform, attended to pay the last tribute of respect to the departed.

The Times says: "Elder Waite will not begin his next evangelical work in this city until about June first, at which time his gospel tent, which is expected to hold from 5000 to 8000 persons, will probably be ready. At the close of his labors in Worcester on the 11th inst. he stated that the sum of $72.34 had been added to the fund for the purpose of this tent, as the result of two meetings in that city. It will probably be pitched in one of the fields off Richards avenue, where it will be dedicated."

The concert at Music hall on Tuesday evening of this week was attended by but very few, but those who did attend enjoyed a rare musical feast. The gems of the evening were the "Otello fantasie" by Miss Lillian Chandler, and a concertante for four violins, by the talented Eichberg quartette, though all the numbers were good; the piano solos by Amy Balch, a girl of eleven years, were far superior to some of the public performances of noted adult pianists; and Robbie Chandler, only nine years of age, played a polonaise on the violin with a spirit and precision that was truly wonderful in one of his extreme youth. Though the entertainment did not nearly pay expenses it deserved a full house.

Mr. Editor: I noticed your item in relation to the large salmon recently caught in our river, and was glad to learn that salmon had again made their appearance in the Piscataqua. Salmon were occasionally—but only occasionally—taken in our harbor as long ago as when stages formed the only conveyance by land to and from Boston. Mr. John Mendum, one of the most enterprising stage drivers of that day, on one occasion bought a salmon fresh from the river, weighing twenty-three pounds, which he took to Boston and sold for one dollar a pound. Thus it seems that even then salmon were a rarity here, and in demand at the Hub. O.

The Dover Democrat describes the method of Booth and Smith, the gospel temperance revivalists, and adds: "Those who brought those two men here to convert the Dover heathen, no doubt acted honestly and in good faith. They are people whom we respect and honor always. We find not the slighest fault with what they have done. But we claim the same rights for ourselves that we concede to them, the right of opinion, and argument and reason. What they approve we have the right to disapprove, if we see cause. They have faith and confidence in Booth and Smith as advocates and preachers of real, genuine, permanent reform. We have none."

There is a little private war at Old Orchard beach. Thomas Googins some time ago commenced putting up a story-and-a-half summer cottage, and had got the building so near completion on Friday, the 9th inst., that it was plastered, he claiming to be the owner of the land on which it was erected. But other parties also claimed the land, and on Friday night, after dark, they commenced operations with jack-screws and skids, and on Saturday morning the cottage was found located a hundred and fifty feet from its original position, and on land sequestionably belonging to the parties who had so unceremoniously confiscated the building. When Mr. Googins found out, Saturday morning, what had been going on, he immediately "saddled Blackstone;" but now a third party, Mr. C. E. Staples, steps in and informs the contending parties that neither of them owns the land in dispute, as he has a deed of it himself. 'Tis a very pretty quarrel as it stands.

Happy Cal Wagner's minstrels were advertised to give an entertainment at Exeter on the evening of the 12th inst., but did not appear. It is rumored that the company disbanded at Farmington without a dividend, and that Happy Cal left the members in a very unhappy frame of mind, he having forgotten to share out the limited amount of funds on hand when he disappeared.

MATTERS NEEDING ATTENTION.

The fact that there was a scarcity of water at the Franklin block fire, necessitating the removal of engines from one reservoir to another just at the time that their streams were most needed, thereby causing a serious increase in the loss of property, and imperilling a vast amount more, should spur the municipal authorities into taking some decisive action, and at once. Chief Engineer Fletcher, in his reports last year and this, represented the state of the case in regard to a water supply and earnestly requested its consideration. At the last meeting of the board of aldermen a resolution relating to this subject was introduced, and referred to the committee on fire department; and it is to be hoped that the committee, or the board, or somebody, will at once do something to obviate a danger to which the business portion of the city is needlessly exposed from a lack of sufficient water to be used in fighting a large fire. No one will question that means should be provided for more quickly replenishing the Market square reservoir; and we think a six-inch pipe should at once be led from the aqueduct main to the reservoir, and a hydrant placed at the corner of State and Pleasant streets, near the post-office.

Another incident connected with the late fire and demanding immediate attention, was the bursting of fifty shots of hose, ten shots of which have been condemned as utterly worthless. The amount of really reliable hose now possessed by the city is but four thousand feet; in addition there is twenty-nine hundred feet that might possibly do fair service at an ordinary fire, but cannot be depended upon; and five hundred feet that is good for nothing. An addition to the stock of hose should be made at once, for no matter how well organized and efficient a fire department may be in other respects, it can be of little use without good hose—good hose and plenty of water to squirt through the same.

CIRCUIT COURT.

WEDNESDAY, May 14; Clark, J.

Joseph P. Morse, Esq., of Portsmouth, having been reappointed a Deputy United States Marshal for the District of New Hampshire, appeared and took the oath of office before Judge Clark.

Chesley J. Willey was tried on a charge of fraudulently voting at Conway for a candidate for member of Congress. The government introduced witnesses to prove the age of Willey, among others Mrs. Dame of Jackson, who had a felon on her finger at the time of his birth, and who said she remembered the event of his birth from the date of the felon, whose pain she never has forgotten. Eight witnesses in all were introduced on the part of the government. The defendant is a son of John Willey, who had a numerous family, but kept no record of the frequent births. He claims that by tradition he presumed he was twenty-one years of age, and did not knowingly vote without right, as he believed he was legally voting; the fact that he voted was admitted, but it was contended that on Willey's ballot the name of Willey's candidate for Congress was cut out, as the nominee of his party was not satisfactory to Willey. In Conway the whole number of votes for governor was 462; the whole number given for member of Congress was 461. Other candidates received 462, but there was one less vote for representative to Congress. Natt Head for governor and J. G. Hall for representative each had 189 votes, as did Granville P. Conn for railroad commissioner. Frank A. McKean had 218, and H. F. Norris had 217 votes. The deft. swore that he was born in Jackson; left home at the age of three years. He was unable to state definitely the number of his brothers and sisters. His father kept no record of his age. He believed he was of age, when he voted. He voted for all the candidates on the democratic ticket, except member of Congress. His brother and father did not think Norris the right man to go to Congress, and the family cut the name of the "War Eagle" from their ballots, and consequently he did not vote for any candidate for Congress at all. [illegible]s was not mentioned in the he[illegible] before the United States comm[illegible] because supposed he was c[illegible] with [illegible] without being of lawful age. [illegible] cross examination Willey said th[illegible] what he has said about his age to [illegible] Eastman, if he had said it, was [illegible] run! His brother testified that he [illegible] out Norris' name from his and Chesley's ballots, but on being assured by straight democrat that Norris was all right, and told to vote the whole ticket by Mr. Lycurgus Pitman, he voted it; but it was too late to change Chesley's vote, as he was case to the moderator and the crowd was here. The witnesses for the defence were the respondent and his brother. The case was given to the jury late in the afternoon. At ten o'clock in the evening the jury came into court, and being unable to agree upon a verdict were discharged. They stood nine for conviction and three for acquittal. Ray for the gov't; Hatch for deft.

The court took a recess until Judge Lowell's arrival.

Judge Lowell is expected to come in on Friday forenoon, to hear certain cases, and the court in Boston will be held by Judge Nelson until Judge Lowell finishes the session here. An adjourned term in June is expected, at which the case Roberts vs. Nashua will be tried.

—Short veils at the back of the head are preferred by American bridesmaids to the bonnets almost always worn by English ladies who appear in the same capacity.

—The town of Waltham, Vt., has no lawyer, doctor or merchant, no pauper, and money in the treasury and an increasing income from legacies and bequests. At the last town meeting $18 taxes were levied, and this was thought by many to be too much, $12 being held to be sufficient.

—A man in Jay, Vt., never a soldier, has made application for a gravestone from the government for himself. He asked to have the age and time of death left blank, otherwise marked for himself. He is probably one of those men for whom it would be worth the world's while to buy a gravestone, if he would only die.

—The Vermont Palladium says: "A young man in Jay threatened to kill himself the other night because a certain girl refused his escort. His ma was alarmed and tried to persuade the fair one to accept the young man's gallant attentions, but he still adheres to his terrible threat, tho' he has not yet put it into execution. We are anxiously awaiting to chronicle the horrible deed."

—William Morris, poet-decorator, says:—"Blue and whites plates and dishes are very beautiful in their proper places, on the table, but when suspended from the wall make the room look like a bric-a-brac shop. A vase or a jar or two give, it is true, lightness and prettiness to an interior, but regiments of blue and white plates stuck against the wall only prove poverty of invention and the absence of anything like real taste. To make art enter into the life of a people we must make beautiful the things they use, not merely those they gaze at as curiosities. Beautiful china and glass appear to the best advantage when in actual use, and not when stuck about all over a room."

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSABLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting free-milling pay-chute veins, good paying streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing; one of the largest banks in the city. CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms coming within the province of our several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially and exclusive of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.
Nervous Debility, Nervous Exhaustion, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without seeing the personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' Guide to Health, or Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully, Lateral Curvature, without mechanical operations, Cancers, Club-foot, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Cause and Cure," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 4 BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for those diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under a POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has proved a cure, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not exhibit this medicine as a "cure-all," but I admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a powerful remedy in all the critical diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 200 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

THE
Alpine Silver Mining Co.,
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSABLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting free-milling pay-chute veins, good paying streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing; one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, will pause at the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

IT can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, mucated matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the ulceration and inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membrane lining of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, during its course through the system it acts poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen,—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For five years I had not breathed through my nostril. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy or it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored. I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no dropping in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.

PITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

'Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made my familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. F. DERBY.

PITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

What's in a Name?

"It is of no use, papa! The idea of disposing of me in any such style—as if I were to have no voice in the matter!" And Edith tossed her pretty brown curls with an air of determination. "To have one's husband selected for one, is absurd!"

"Edith," said her father, "do try to be reasonable; you know I should never wish to force your inclinations in such a serious matter. You have often heard me speak of Mr. Chester; he was a very dear friend of mine at college, but after that we lost sight of each other for many years, until I went abroad, when I met my old friend, but only to lose him again in a few weeks by death. He left me the guardian of his only child, a son of nineteen, who was then studying in a medical college in Paris and heir to a large fortune. Before dying, my friend expressed a wish that you should marry his son. Young Chester was to know nothing of his father's wish until he should have finished his studies, when he was to come to Scarborough. That was four years ago. I have kept myself informed as to his character and have always received the most favorable reports."

"Oh, I suppose he is perfect!" said Edith, saucily, "But let me hope he has found his 'true love;' if not, he may object to having a wife selected for him. But you don't expect me to stay here to fall dutifully in love with this young doctor, I hope! Aunt Carrie starts for Scarborough soon, and I have made arrangements to go with her. When do you expect this prodigy?"

"Edith," said her father, sternly, "I wish you to understand, you are to treat Mr. Chester, while he is my guest, with respect, if nothing more, and not let your foolish love of romance prevent you from seeing his many admirable traits of character. It is one of my dearest wishes to see you married to him; but, as I have said, I shall not force your wishes. He will not come here until September, so that will give you plenty of time at Scarborough."

"Well, you are a dear good papa," said Edith, throwing her arms around his neck and looking up roguishly into his face. "I will be as fascinating as possible if I don't meet my fate in some one else at Scarborough."

"I'll risk it," said her father, pinching her cheek.

Edith Darling was the only child of Nathan Darling, a wealthy banker. Her mother had died when she was but five years old, and her father had not married again. So Miss Edith had been flattered and petted till I wonder she wasn't completely spoiled; I must confess she was rather fond of having her own way and generally managed to have it. She was just nineteen at the time of my story—not particularly beautiful, but with a bright, intelligent face.

Monday found Edith delightfully settled at Scarborough, in a charming cottage belonging to Mrs. Raymond, the Aunt Carrie before spoken of, and Mr. Darling's sister. She usually spent her summers there, with Edith and her son, a rollicking boy of fourteen, who had a great admiration for his pretty cousin, but liked to tease her occasionally, notwithstanding. Edith and Fred would go off in the afternoon to the cliffs, while Aunt Carrie was enjoying a comfortable doze at home. Edith generally carried a book of her favorite poems, while Fred managed to amuse himself in his own fashion. He was never to be found when it was time to go home, and after she had called him till she was hoarse, he would make his appearance with his trousers tucked in his boots and hat drawn over his eyes, and inform her "that he had got such a jolly fine crab down there and for her to make haste and see him kick."

One day they started off, and Edith found the nicest kind of a nook, and, having established herself to her satisfaction, prepared to enjoy it, Fred leaving her alone as usual. She had brought a book to read, but, leaning back in lazy enjoyment of the day, watched the white sails with a dreamy look in her eyes, as if her thoughts were miles away. She happened to glance down, and became aware that a pair of blue eyes, brimming over with fun, were regarding her with an amused look from an adjoining rock. The owner of said eyes was a young man of about three-and-twenty, who seemed to be taking life easy. His head was resting against a rock, while his feet were resting on another in true masculine fashion.

"Looks as if he had been a fixture there all the afternoon," thought Edith, trying to look as if she was not aware that he was looking at her, which attempt was rather a failure.

She prepared to start for home, when looking round, she missed her hat, which she had taken off. The wind had carried it away and lodged it in a crevice of the rocks far down.

"How unfortunate!" thought Edith. "I can never go down there."

"Can I be of any use?"

Turning, Edith saw the youth of the blue eyes.

"I don't see how you can," said Edith, looking dubiously at the unfortunate hat, which was resting peacefully on the rocks below.

After looking for some time they found a long branch, and the hat was fished up in triumph.

"A new and novel way of fishing," said he, with a smile, as he deposited it at her feet. "Perhaps you will thank me, though you did look dignified when you discovered me on the opposite rock. Really, to be candid, I thought seriously of asking you if I could come over and read to you; should you have been shocked if I had?"

"Of course," said Edith, with a roguish look; "it would have been very improper."

"Since the all-important ceremony of introduction cannot be dispensed with, then allow me," said he, at the same time taking a card-case from his pocket and handing her a card.

As Edith took it some one shouted "Edith?" and, looking down, they discovered Fred limping along with a doleful look. The interesting youth had sprained his ankle.

"How did you manage to do it?" asked Edith, as she and her new friend assisted him home.

"I was playing Robinson Crusoe on a desert island," growled Fred, "and fell off the rock."

They finally reached home, where it was found that the ankle had received a pretty severe wrench, which would confine Fred to the house for a few days. Mrs. Raymond thanked the young stranger for so kindly assisting her niece. He proved to be a doctor, and, after attending to Fred, he went away, promising to call in the morning and see his patient.

"How very fortunate he should have been near," said Mrs. Raymond. "I wonder who he is?"

Edith said nothing to correct the impression that her aunt had received, but after gaining her own room, drew the card from her pocket and read it.

"John Smith!" exclaimed Edith, with a grimace.

"Certainly not a high-sounding title."

* * * * * * *

The next morning found Edith established in the parlor, ostensibly to keep Fred company, but really in prospect of the handsome doctor's call. She had not long to wait before he was ushered into the room. After pronouncing Fred better he was interrogated by that youth as to when he would be able to walk.

"Not for four days," said the doctor. "Rather hard work for you, isn't it? Are you fond of reading?"

"Yes; I like books, if there are lots of bears, and alligators, and fighting in them."

"Well," said the doctor, laughing, "I think I have some works of that description; and if your mother will allow me, I will bring them over."

"Certainly," said Mrs. Raymond. "I shall consider it a great kindness."

So he called that afternoon, and Edith managed to get remarkably well acquainted with him in so short a time. After that there were morning calls and afternoon rambles to the "cliffs," and of course it was the old, old story. One day, just on the spot where they had first met, he told her he loved her, and won a similar confession from her sweet lips. And then—but of course you know—they forgot for the next hour that they were not the only persons in the world. Finally, Edith told her lover of Mr. Chester, and that her father expected her to marry him.

"But I shall not marry him now," said Edith, "unless," with a roguish look, "you particularly wish me to do so."

He did not answer, except to fold her more closely in his arms and kiss the red lips so temptingly near.

"And you will not marry that man?"

"Of course not!" said Edith.

"And you are sure you love me, darling?"

Having been assured on this point, he proceeded.

"Edith, I have a confession to make that may alter your mind in regard to Mr. Chester. I am the man that you have been vowing not to marry! No, I cannot let you go," as she tried to free herself from his arms. "The fact is, I saw you, before you started for Scarborough, and was desperately smitten with you, dear; and when your father told me you had rather romantic notions on the subject of love, we entered into a plot against you. Fate seemed to favor me; and, after all, it was much nicer, wasn't it?"

But Edith told him he was a wretch, and she would never forgive him. We rather think she changed her mind, though, as there was a wedding at Mr. Darling's in a few weeks, at which Miss Edith changed her name, not to Smith, but to Chester.

FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1879.

News and Notes.

In the U. S. circuit court at Portland, Me., in the case of Shaw (assignee) against the Scotch Commercial Co., the jury brought in a verdict against the company for $4995. A new trial will be moved.

Barney Cahill, of Rutland, Vt., has been sentenced to the house of correction for four months, for an assault. The belligerent Barney is eighty-three years old.

A little girl named Garrity was shot and killed by Richard Cook, a boy of weak mind, at Calais, Me., a few days ago.

A public hearing in Portland in regard to selling the city's interest in the Portland & Rochester railroad was held Wednesday, May 14th, at which it was decided that June 15th should be the limit for receiving bids for the city's interest.

A few days since a fellow named Thompson, belonging in South Durham, Me., got very much inebriated and drove his team down the Lisbon shore of the Androscoggin to the ferry. The ferry-boat was on the Durham side, but the inebriate concluded he would not wait. Accordingly he drove his horse into the river and was soon floating down stream. The horse and wagon sank to rise no more. The cold bath so sobered the driver that he swam over to the Durham side.

Dan Edmonds eloped from Livingston county, Ky., two years ago, with a neighbor's daughter, and went to Arkansas, leaving a wife and family behind. Recently he murdered the woman who went away with him, and her child. The bodies were found and the murderer has been taken back to the locality of his crimes to be tried—or lynched.

Nicholas Mullen, of Maynard, Mass., who was shot on the 10th inst. by his brother-in-law, Charles B. Flood, in a family quarrel, died on the 14th. Flood is under arrest.

George Shaeffer of Terre Haute, Ind., a wealthy German, was thrown from his carriage by a runaway on the 13th inst., and fatally injured. His wife and child was thrown down a thirty feet embankment and both killed.

The wife and five-years-old daughter of Martin Salzberger, a ranchman living near Yuba, Cal., were on Wednesday found hanging in an outhouse on the ranch. Sulzberger has been arrested on suspicion of murder, though he says his wife committed suicide after hanging her child.

While playing in a shed, Wednesday, at Toronto, Canada, three children, Richard Casey, aged five, John Casey, aged three, and John Emard, aged five years, were burned to death. It is supposed the fire caught from matches with which they were playing.

Miss Rebecca Nell was awarded $5000 damages in a breach of promise suit against Ludvig Blum, in New York on Tuesday.

Numerous destructive fires are reported from Russia, and are credited to the nihilists.

The plague is reported as raging terribly among the villages of the Caucasus.

At Frankfort, Ky., Wednesday afternoon, a difficulty occurred between Dr. W. H. Hall, a prominent druggist, and J. M. Stephens, in which Hall was stabbed in four places, and Stevens received a pistol shot through his clothing. Hall lies in a critical condition.

Thomas Dinkel, a German, aged fifty years, has been arrested at Buffalo, N.Y., on a charge of manslaughter in hanging or kicking his wife to death. He afterwards attempted to commit suicide in the cell. He claims she committed the act herself.

A singular phenomenon is observed at Pitcairn, St. Lawrence county, N. Y. On a farm located in what is known as the "Big Swamp," which was until recently composed entirely of level or low land, small hills are gradually rising; one or two have grown to be eight or ten feet high and about twenty-five feet in width. Rocks are also up-heaving all over the farm. A rumbling sound is heard and a quaking of the earth is constantly felt. The neighboring farmers have become alarmed and are trying to sell out at extremely low prices.

Miss Maud Miller, aged seventeen years, daughter of Joaquin Miller, the poet, and T. E. L. Logan, were examined in court at Portland, Oregon, a few days ago, charged with the abduction of Alice McDonald, aged twelve years. They were held for trial.

Orren Clemens, a brother "Mark Twain," has been publicly expelled from a Presbyterian church at Keokuk, Iowa, for heresy. He lately lectured upon "Man, the Architect of our religion." In the lecture he spoke of the last six commandments in the Decalogue as moral rules always practiced by mankind, the setting of which in a form of words was like naming a river or mountain. He disavowed the divinity of the Christian religion, and made other declarations contrary to the religious belief of his church.

The officers of steamers plying between New Orleans and the upper Mississippi deny having refused to transport colored refugees whenever the latter had money to pay their passage. They also deny that there has been any general disposition on the part of merchants and planters to withdraw patronage from the boats which carry emigrants. This has been done in a few instances, but the desire to prevent negroes leaving the south is changing, and now planters do not seem to care whether they leave or not. They say that the excitement is dying out.

New Hampshire Items.

On Friday, the 6th inst., Mr. Frank G. Bean of Raymond village was fatally injured by a horse, with which he was harrowing becoming frightened at the cars, and died on Sunday morning, the 11th. He was aged forty-eight years, and leaves a wife and two children. He was long a keeper of a hotel, and in 1876 and '77 was representative in the legislature.

The Concord (and Nashua) railroad corporation holds its annual meeting on Tuesday, the 27th inst., at White's Opera hall, Concord.

The railroad bridge on the Dover & Winnepiseogee railroad at Alton was burned Monday afternoon, the 12th inst. The fire was caused by sparks from a locomotive. The bridge was one hundred and eighty feet in length, and spanned the Cocheco river at a point between Alton and Alton bay. The loss is $3500; insured. The corporation will at once commence rebuilding. Trains will proceed as far as Alton, from which point passengers for the bay and points beyond are conveyed by stage.

The pay-roll of the State militia for a day's review is as follows: To all non-commissioned officers, musicians and privates, members of regimental bands excepted, $1; to all commissioned officers of the line, $2; to all field officers below the rank of colonel, $3; to all commanding officers of regiments, $5; to all regimental staff officers and the staff officers of a battalion, $2.50; to all non-commissioned staff officers, $1.25; to the brigadier-general or brigade-commander, $6; to all brigade staff officers, $4. The inspector-general receives $3 per day for all time actually and necessarily employed when ordered by the commander-in-chief, and all necessary expenses incurred, provided that such pay and expenses shall not exceed $500 per annum.

Thirteen boys ran away from the reform school on the night of the 14th inst., escaping from the dormitory in the fourth story.

—A bald Cincinnati woman does not cover the bare top of her head with false hair, or by combing her own hair over it, but appears to be proud of the distinction that it gives her in public assemblages, for she always removes her bonnet. The effect is striking.

AROUND HOME.

The train from Boston due in this city at about three o'clock Thursday afternoon was two hours and a half late, owing to an accident to a freight train at Newburyport.

The officers of the 1st Regt. New Hampshire National Guard will hold a business meeting in this city on Thursday, the 22d inst., when they will be entertained by the officers of the regiment residing in this city.

The tableaux representing scenes from Scott, the presentation of which was postponed from the time first announced, will be given this (Friday) evening at Miss Morgan's Seminary by the Eclectic Club, commencing at eight o'clock. Tickets at 35 cts. each can be procured at the door.

The singing class under the direction or Mr. S. W. Cole will give a concert on Wednesday evening next at Music hall, assisted by Messrs. G. Frank Monroe and Thomas Chase, Jr., Miss Emma J. Flander, Miss M. A. Dole, of Boston, the Music Hall quartette and Miss Alice J. Hanscom, accompanist. Tickets at popular prices. See adv't.

Passengers across the river in the steamer James Sampson will find the boat in charge of Mr. Horatio N. Trefethen, a gentleman who is thoroughly competent for the position, being an experienced and skillful pilot and seaman, and a careful and reliable man. When "Rashe" can't take the James Sampson across in safety, no boat will have any business to attempt the passage.

Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston, have published "The Gospel of Joy," a collection of hymns and tunes for gospel and devotional meetings, camp-meetings and Sunday schools. It contains 135 hymns and 120 tunes, about eighty of the latter being new ones. The "too prevalent dancing style of the so-called sacred music of the present day" has been carefully avoided. For sale by D. H. Montgomery.

Miss Charlotte Thompson (Mrs. Rogers) as Julia in the Hunchback, was actually not so good, on the whole, as our own Miss Norah Bartlett; she is too old and mature for the part, any way, and was altogether too stagy for the first act, while her long-trained dress was also as much out of place for a rustic maiden. Her clothes were very fine, but she was too evidently fond of showing them and herself. The little chit who personated the important male friend of Lord Rochdale, was a burlesque on the part.—Weekly.

Tenney, the painter of so many fine portraits, has just completed a second portrait of the late Col. Joshua W. Pieace. He is now engaged upon a copy of a portrait of Rev. Abraham Burnham, D. D., former pastor of the Congregational church in Pembroke, to be placed in Pembroke academy on the sixtieth anniversary of the founding of that school. Dr. Burnham was formerly president of the board of trustees of the academy.

Our friends of the Portsmouth Music Hall Quartette were promptly on hand last evening to give their musicale, but owing to the series of concerts, festivals, May fairs, ollapodridas, walking matches, Pinafore, dances, etc., which Exeter has sustained for a few weeks past, there was no adequate audience on hand to enjoy the rich music of our talented neighbors. Besides this, the thermometer had taken suddenly to ranging from 80 to 94 in the shade and many of our music-loving people were almost melted down, so that going out to be entertained seemed almost out of the question. Of the abilities of this quartette, and their assistant, Miss E. J. Flanders, we have a high opinion, and we trust they will again visit Exeter under the more favoring circumstances of which we can safely assure them.—Exeter Gazette, 14th.

Doane's wharf was very gay on Thursday with the flying of bunting, on the occasion of the arrival of two vessels belonging to the mackerel fleet; the Gov. Goodwin, with four hundred barrels of mackerel, and the Anna M. Nash, with three hundred and one barrels. Both of these vessels have been south as far as Cape Henlopen, where they caught their fares in three days' fishing. The largest catch at one haul was one hundred barrels, and the most caught in one day was one hundred and seventy-five barrels by the Gov. Goodwin, the Nash getting one hundred and fifty-three barrels. The vessels have been on a four weeks' cruise, and have experienced some heavy weather, which delayed their return. They sail this morning on another trip. The Daniel Marcy is expected every day, with a big fare.

Benjamin Pagé, a shifter employed at the Eastern railroad station in this city, had one of his fingers badly jammed on Thursday afternoon.

"Pinafore" was finely presented at Music hall on Thursday evening by the Laurent Fifth Avenue Theatre Company, to the largest audience that has assembled there for some time. This performance of the popular opera was the best yet given here, both as to singing and acting, and justified the high expectations entertained; Miss Blanche Corelli as "Josephine," and Henri Laurent as "Ralph," were excellent; the "Capt. Corcoran" was the best one we have yet seen, the other parts were well taken, and the chorus was a fine one. Trial by Jury, another amusing musical absurdity, was also given, and well; and the audience testified their approval of what was a superior entertainment throughout, by liberal applause. 'Tis a good show.

CITY COUNCILS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening:

The bill of Rufus K. Oxford, for wood, was ordered paid.

Complaint of Moses Tilton, of nuisance at the corner of Court and Washington streets, was referred to health committee.

Petition of John K. A. Hanson, for the privilege of speaking on Market square, was granted.

Communication from the Women's Temperance League, tendering their thanks to Aldermen Norton, Hodgdon, and Payne, for voting for the resolution presented by them to the board, was received.

Mayor Sise called the attention of the board to the dangerous condition of the railroad crossings, especially at the Creek, and had read an article published in the Boston Advertiser, in relation to a new method adopted on several railroads.

The committee on drains recommended that a sufficient quantity of drain pipe be purchased to lay drain on Brewster street, into North mill pond; adopted.

Committee on burying grounds, recommended that a fee of one dollar be allowed the superintendents of the different cemeteries, for the location of the place of burial.

James M. Rugg was appointed superintendent of the North cemetery.

William A. Hodgdon asked leave to encumber Fleet street, for the purpose of repairing Mechanics' block; granted.

THE REFORM CLUB.

It has been for some time understood that the Portsmouth Reform Club was in a moribund condition, many of those who were among its earliest members and active supporters having become apathetic, or positively opposed to the methods advocated by others of the club, and particularly with the "legal suasion" plan of advancing the temperance cause—not, as we understand the matter, because they are in the abstract opposed to legal suasion, but because they are opposed to the reform club's being run on a legal suasion platform, deeming it in direct opposition to the principles on which the reform club movement was founded.

The reform club movement, when it commenced, was an attack upon the liquor traffic, but it was an indirect attack, working only through the reclamation of drinking men by moral suasion; it was a movement, not of the prohibitionists or even of "temperate" men, but of drinking men who aimed to advance the temperance cause by themselves giving up the use of liquors, and inducing other drinking men to join in with them. The reform club, in its inception, was to be an inducement to the drunkard to give up his ruinous habits, and not a legal menace to the rumseller. This was the case with the club in this city, as with those elsewhere; and so long as it was conducted on that plan it was prosperous and beneficial, the good work it did being evidenced to-day by the number of former drinkers—some of them "hard drinkers," too—reclaimed through its means, and now total abstainers. Men whom arguments and denunciations had utterly failed to move, were drawn into the movement by the social influences employed and the example shown by their whilom boon companions, and became sober, steady-going citizens. And as before remarked, so long as the reform club was controlled by the reformed men, its membership and influence for good steadily enlarged.

But for some time past it has been evident that the club's course was being directed not by the ex-drinking men, but by those all-along-temperate men of whom very many advocate legal suasion—by those who aim to advance the temperance cause by the use of legal means against the liquor dealers rather than by moral suasion exercised upon the liquor consumers. And the decadence of the club's usefulness has been in exact proportion to the new element's preponderance in its councils, until now it has become a nonentity. We are not arguing as to whether legal suasion or moral suasion is the most effective in breaking up the liquor traffic, but merely stating facts which are patent not only to the reformed men who first composed the club but to the general public as well. The sale of liquor is illegal under the statutes of New Hampshire, and if those statutes could be strictly enforced there could be no liquor drinking; but the reform club was not initiated for the purpose of attempting to secure the enforcement of those laws, and the attempt to turn its aims in that direction has destroyed it.

The text on which the foregoing remarks are founded is contained in the following note, which has been handed us for publication:

PORTSMOUTH, May 15, 1879.

Whereas, The original purpose for which the Portsmouth Reform Club was started has been perverted and the Club become an organization wherein strife and inharmony prevail, thereby divesting it of its former noble and exalting influence and rendering it powerless for the accomplishment of good, we, the undersigned, hereby withdraw ourselves from its membership.

We are led to this step by no spirit of vindictiveness nor ill feeling of any kind, but for the sole reason that we do not wish to be either morally or pecuniarily bound to a Temperance or any other Club a part of whose members are constantly engaged in quarrels and strife. By this course of action we do not consider ourselves as absolved from our Temperance Pledge, but we shall ever strive to be true to and earnestly labor for the welfare and reform of our fellowmen.

Traveling is Extra Hazardous

If the tourist is unprovided with some medicinal resource. Changes of temperature, food and water of an unaccustomed or unwholesome quality, and a route that lies in the tropics or other regions where malaria exists, are each and all fraught with danger to one who has been improvident enough to neglect a remedial safeguard. The concurrent testimony of many voyageurs by land and sea establishes the fact that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters enables those who use it to encounter hazards of the nature referred to with impunity; and that, as a medicine adapted to sudden and unexpected exigencies, it is peculiarly valuable. Disorders of the liver, the bowels and the stomach, fever and ague, rheumatism and nervous ailments, brought on by exposure, are among the maladies to which emigrants, travellers and new settlers are most subject. These and others yield to the action of the Bitters promptly and completely.

You are disagreeable when you keep coughing and disturbing others. Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup will permanently cure you.

Don't Bark so much when a fifty cent bottle of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup will cure it.

On Broadway, New York, the great thoroughfare, a prominent feature of even that famous street, convenient to all places of interest, and noted for its luxurious appointments—is situated the Grand Central Hotel, which is now kept on both plans, the American at $2.50 to 3.00, and the European at 1.00 and upwards, per day. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Grand Central.

Fifty Cents will do it! What? Why cure your cold or cough by using a bottle of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Soothing to the Fevered Brow is the bay rum which can be purchased by the pint, quart, or gallon of C. B. Barrett & Co., 45 North Market Street.

Lung Fever is hard to endure, but you have no excuse for having it, when you can cure your colds and coughs which will surely lead to it, by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. A Word to the Corpulent.

Instead of regarding obesity as an abnormal condition many people have erroneously considered it as an evidence of health, and an agent that reduces fat is therefore at once suspected of being injurious. Starting to reason from the false position that fat is an evidence of health, it is not surprising that they should, very naturally, fall into the error of supposing that an agent possessing properties capable of reducing corpulency would prove injurious to the health. Reasoning, however, from the rational basis, that an undue deposition of fat, constituting obesity, is not healthy but a morbid condition, it is quite as natural for us to arrive at the opposite conclusion, which is sustained by experience and observation, i. e., that the reduction of fat in cases of corpulency is invariably followed by an improvement of strength, spirits, and physical comforts. Allan's Anti-Fat will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. Sold by all druggists.

A toper is a dram-er all by himself—a mellow-drama.

—A Texas chap shot five men and no attention was paid to it, but one day he stole a mule, and in less than an hour the infuriated citizens hanged him.

—"My darling," wrote a husband to his wife," "I shall not be home till very late this evening. Do not wait up for me. It's for thy dear sake I work by the light of the pale, effulgent moon, as if it were the bright, dazzling sunshine." She didn't wait; she went and got a detective and hunted him up.

—A Farmington, Me., man caught a young woodchuck last summer and kept it until it was as tame as a dog. Last fall it took to the ground and spent the winter like others of its kind. During the time the family moved to another part of town, but on going back to the old place the other day the woodchuck was out and seemed delighted to see his old friends.

(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business for exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers: Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JNO. F. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms come within the province of our several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgement and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—This department affords facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Advisor" (1,000 pages, text post-paid for $1.50) or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide Book" (100 pages, 10 cents post-paid).
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Ovarian and Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature and other Deformities. (See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.)
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing the positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician, and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a definite end. It is, perhaps, the most perfect specific for chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats fully upon many of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those diseases.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

American and Foreign PATENTS.
[ESTABLISHED 1865.]
GILMORE & CO., Successors to CHIPMAN, HODGES & CO., Solicitors. Patents procured in all countries. No fees in advance. No charge unless the patent is granted. No fees for making preliminary examinations. No additional fees for obtaining and conducting a re-hearing. Special attention given to Interference Cases before the Patent Office. Extensions before Congress, Infringement Suits in different States, and all litigation appertaining to Inventions or Patents. Send stamp to GILMORE & Co. for Pamphlet of sixty pages.
Old Bounty Land Warrants.
The last Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows 2,897,500 acres of Bounty Land Warrants outstanding. These were issued under act of 1855 and prior acts. GILMORE & CO. pay cash for them. Also, for any registered letter. Where Assignments are imperfect we give instructions to perfect them.
Arrears of Pay and Bounty.
Officers, Soldiers and Sailors of the late war, or their heirs, are in many cases entitled to money from the Government of which they have no knowledge. Write full history of service, and state amount of pay and bounty received. Enclose stamp to GILMORE & Co., and a full reply after examination, will be given you free.
Pensions.
All Officers, Soldiers and Sailors wounded, ruptured or injured in the late war, however slightly, can obtain a pension by addressing GILMORE & COMPANY.
Cases prosecuted by GILMORE & Co. before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Court of Claims and the Southern Claims Commission.
Each department of our business is conducted in a separate bureau, under the charge of the same experienced parties employed by the old firm. Prompt attention to all business entrusted to GILMORE & Co. is thus secured. We desire to win success by deserving it. Address

PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Spinne, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

IT can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. This hard, corrupt matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the ulceration and inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membranous linings of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is at once a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal disease.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen.—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through one nostril. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy or it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored, I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made me familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. P. DERBY.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all forms of catarrh. Price, $1. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

JOHN P. SWEETSER, 46 Market Street, PORTSMOUTH

Daily Chronicle.

"Pass the Perfesh?"

John Schofield, Lotta's manager, was standing in the street entrance of Hooley's the other evening, contemplating with extreme satisfaction the procession that was passing into the house, when his attention was especially drawn to two young men with noisily checkered ulsters and enormous diamonds, who were conferring in some earnestness with the junior Hooley, who presides at the box office.

"Want a pass, I suppose," thought he. "Don't get it this trip, all the same." Presently he saw the treasurer point him out, and directly after the pair approached.

"Say! your name Schofield?" asked one of them.

"Yes, sir."

"Are you the manager of this here show?"

"Yes."

"Do you pass the perfesh?"

"The what?"

"The perfesh."

"What's that?"

"Aw, don't screw yerself too high. Do you pass the perfesh?"

"Do you mean the profession?"

"Why, cert—the perfesh."

"That depends. Who are you?"

"We're Mc Glannahan and Mc Glaberty."

"What do you do?"

Each instantly put a hand to the other's nearest shoulder and danced three or four steps as they sang—

"Oh, I hate to tell,
But then I must,"

winding up suddenly, raising their hats and striking an attitude.

"Song and dance men, are you? Sorry, but I can't pass you."

"Wh—w—well, I'll be blamed," said one, incredulously astonished. "You don't pass the perfesh?"

"Why," exclaimed Mr. Schofield, "I can't let you in—I'm turning people away from the house that want to pay money to get in. How do you suppose I can afford to give you room?"

"Then you won't pass us?"

"No."

"That settles it. Your name's Schofield, is it?" [producing a piece of paper.]

"Yes, my name is Schofield."

"Got a pencil? Lemme take it."

Mr. Schofield let him take it.

"How do you spell that there name of yours?" [preparing to note the spelling.]

"S-k-o-w—— Do you know what I'm going to do?"

"No."

"I'm going to give it to you in the perfesh. I'm going to write you up strong and send it to my friend Frank Queen, of the Clipper."

"Oh! You are, are you?" And hereabouts Mr. Schofield began to look extraordinarily quiet.

"Yes, I am. S-k-o-hue!" I can't spell yer beastly old name—write it down yerself, I want to get it just right. I want to let you have it so nobody'll be able to mistake it."

"Gimme that paper and pencil," said Mr. Schofield, with sudden energy. "I'll write it for you, plain enough. There!" [writing against the wall.] 'J. B. Schofield? There! Send that wherever you like, and tell 'em I don't pass hamfatters nor beats in the 'perfesh' or out of it. D'ye hear?"

"All right; you will hear from us again."

"Not if I can help it, I won't."

"The dog-banged beats," soliloquized Schofield, when they had gone. "Write me up, will they?"

Mr. Hooley called him up stairs at this juncture, and the incident was soon forgotten. Half an hour later Mr. Nichols stopped at the door with Mr. Schofield, and said, "I thought you weren't giving passes this week."

"I ain't."

"Well, look at this. A couple of gluebrothers brought this in a little while ago."

Mr. Schofield looked at it. There was no mistaking the trick. The gentlemen of "the perfesh" had taken his wrathfully written signature and written over it the simple preface, "Pass Two."

"Where are they now?" he asked.

"Inside. Shall I fetch them out?"

"Not by any means. Go take 'em into one of the boxes, and send them a quart bottle at my expense."—Chicago Times.

—The other afternoon a lady called at a jewelry store in Portland, and before entering she left her baby in its carriage at the door. Having finished her purchases she went home. The jeweler finally was attracted by the child's crying, and took it into the store and amused it with some trinkets until its mother missed the baby and returned.

—Concerning Thomas Carlyle Mrs. Hooper tells this story: An American gentleman once called to see him, and was greeted in the following manner: "Weel, sir, and so ye come frae that big country where the vote of the grandest scoondral on airth is equal to that of Jesus Christ. And ye think much o' Jarge Washington, but he was no great mon—he was a good surveyor, maybe, but he was no great mon!"

—Mr. P. T. Barnum relates that on one occasion when Phœbe Cary was at his museum looking about at the curiosities, he preceded her on the stairs and had passed down two steps. She, intently watching a big anaconda in a case at the top of the stairs, walked on and fell. He was in time to catch her in his arms and save her from a dangerous fall. "I am more lucky than the first woman was who fell through the influence of the serpent," remarked Miss Cary, as she recovered herself.

Portsmouth Chronicle

SATURDAY, MAY 17, 1879.

The Lost Cause.

The address at Wilmington, N. C., on the confederate memorial day, was delivered by Capt. John N. Maffitt, formerly of the confederate service. After paying a glowing tribute to the men who fought to destroy the Nation, he said:

The cause defended was that of self-government and constitutional liberty. Statesmen have grasped the fundamental principles which, from the mere attraction of our armies, fell with their standard, and in the legislative halls of our country they are making a glorious effort for the preservation of the heritage bequeathed to us in 1787. * * We must not close our eyes to the vital importance of the present struggle—a struggle with the hope of rescuing the palladium of our liberties from the desecrating hand of selfish partisanship. We cannot sit idly by, mute and uninterested spectators.

From this it is evident that Capt. Maffitt regards the struggle now going on in Congress as being precisely what the republicans say it is—an attempt by the southern "statesmen" to gain by legislation what they failed to gain by the war against the Union. And he is not the only ex-confederate who has publicly asserted the same thing.

The South American War.

A letter to New York from Lima, dated April 24th, says that Peru has reduced the tariff on all breadstuffs, and other articles formerly received from Chili, fifty per cent. Large orders have been sent to California and Australia for wheat, etc. The Chilian squadron has destroyed all the loading apparatus, including the launches, at the guano ports of Pabellon de Pica, Huanillos and Punta De Lobos. All vessels loading there were ordered to leave in forty-eight hours. The town of Molliendo was shelled by a Chilian corvette, with considerable damage to the custom house, factories and their railway, but no lives were lost. The same vessel then went to Pisagua, on the 18th, where their landing force was repulsed by the troops of the garrison, but the Chilians soon destroyed the town with their cannon, the foreigners losing over a million dollars worth of property. The Chilians also seized an English ship with a cargo of coal. On the 19th, the same vessel went to Iquique and fired eleven shots into the town but with slight damage. The Chilians made no attempt to land, as the Peruvian forces were ready to meet them. The war spirit in Peru is still rampant.

The Peruvian fleet remains at Callao, causing some comment at its inaction. A boat from the American gunboat Pensacola, while bringing a family from shore to that vessel, had its ensign carried away by a shot from the Chilian gunboats which were shelling the town of Pisagua. Admiral Rodgers signalled the Chilian fleet, and their admiral immediately boarded the Pensacola and apologized. A card appears in Panama papers thanking Admiral Rodgers for taking two American families on board from the shore, and placing them under his protection.

News and Notes.

A record kept in Raleigh, N. C., in the closing Confederate days of February, 1865, shows that apples were $8 per dozen, bacon $7 to $9 per pound, beef $2.50 per pound, butter $10 per pound, corn $30 per bushel, coffee $40 per pound, eggs $4 per dozen, flour $475 to $525 per barrel, sugar $17.50 to $20 per pound, syrup $25 per gallon, sheeting $6 per yard, salt $75 to $100 per bushel, calico $15 per yard, wood $85 to $100 per cord.

Hattie Britton of Peekskill, N. Y., fell down stairs in a fit with a kerosene lamp, which exploded, burning her to death.

Henry J. Cross, Esq., city treasurer of Salem, Mass., hung himself in his office in the city rooms Thursday evening. He was a bachelor, about fifty-five years old, and had been treasurer of the city since 1865. He was highly respected, and there is nothing irregular in his accounts. A sudden attack of melancholy insanity is supposed to have caused the act.

Two large trading firms in Rotterdam, Holland, have failed, with liabilities of $3,750,000.

John Flynn, who was indicted with David Pender for snatching an earring from Mrs. De Bary in New York, has been sentenced to twenty years in prison.

The Omaha (Neb.) Bee says it is getting to be quite a "common practice" among Omaha lawyers to draw their revolvers in open court.

The New York omnibus companies find that the reduction of fares from ten to five cents has put money in their purses. One of the companies employs fifteen more stages than before the reduction, and each stage has about twenty-five per cent more in daily receipts than before.

A desperate criminal named Johnson knocked down the sheriff in charge of him on a train going thirty miles an hour, near Clinton, Ind., jumped off, and escaped.

Jay Gould's new telegraph company has applied for permission to set up its poles along the State canals in New York, and is likely to have its wires strung before the summer is over.

The New York and New England railroad offers the unusual inducement of only one dollar for transportation between Boston and New York to its patrons between the two great cities. The boats are first-class in all their appointments, and avoid all the rough weather experienced on the outside routes. A card with further information may be seen in another column of this day's paper.

Jack Waite was arrested at Hennipin, Ind., on the 14th inst., for counterfeiting; he made a desperate resistance and shot an officer, probably fatally.

Mrs. Phebe Small, wife of a well-known citizen of Baltimore, has been arrested, charged with enticing Ida Collett, aged fifteen years, from home for criminal purposes.

The libel case against the New Haven Union, brought by George E. Kelsey, which has occupied the attention of the superior court at New Haven for four weeks, was closed Thursday, the jury giving a verdict of $500 and costs to Kelsey.

In the case of Wesley Bishop of Norwich, Conn., accused of poisoning his wife and conspiring with Mrs. Kate Cobb for the murder of her husband, it is announced that the State's attorney will accept a plea of guilty of murder in the second degree, rather than press for conviction in the first.

Asa Broughton of Medina, N. Y., shot Levant Bancroft, killing him almost instantly, on the night of the 14th inst. Broughton went to Bancroft's house, just outside the village; Bancroft ejected him from the premises. When they reached the sidewalk Broughton fired twice, both shots taking effect.

The Baptists of Dover, Me., were without a pastor. A young man came along, and introduced himself as Rev. Mr. Stedman, preached a few trial sermons, made a favorable impression and was permanently engaged. He soon married a deacon's daughter, and his remarkably fine sermons sustained his popularity, although his wife and others observed that he was a little inclined to flirt with the girls. But the church is now agitated by the discovery that his sermons have all been stolen from Rev. Dr. Storr's works, and that he is no ordained clergyman.

Political.

The New York Sun predict that the democrats will be defeated if they pass the appropriation bills, and the New York World replies that democratic defeat is certain if the appropriation bills are not passed. This seems to leave the democrats a very poor show for success.

The following is clipped from the Boston Post: "The Cincinnati Enquirer says the idea of deserting a popular and successful candidate like Gov. Bishop, who has led the party to a glorious victory, and taking up some new man, is a policy that none but madmen would be guilty of. This opinion is largely entertained outside of Ohio, but it has a wide application on other important issues." That is evidently intended as a lift for the Great Defrauded, of cipher-despatch fame, toward the renomination which he has concluded to give himself.

A crowd of lobbyists are hard at work to get Congress to change the law relating to the appointment of public printer, so that the officer may be elected by the Senate instead of being appointed by the President, as now. There is a huge job in the movement, which is certain to fail in the Senate even if passed by the House.

As an evidence of the difficulty and danger of collecting the tax on whiskey and tobacco in certain districts of the southern States, the report of the commissioner says nineteen officers have been killed and thirty-four wounded in conflict with the "moonshiners," or by assassination. There is no other civilized country on earth that would submit to such insult to its authority without attempting to remedy it, but in this it attracts very little attention. The idea of the central government is so weak that these affairs are regarded as merely sectional disturbances, like the ordinarly brawls and encounters in the southern States, rather than as insults to the authority of the nation and weakenings of its power, so far as they go. The killed and wounded officers were in the service of the nation, and entitled to its fullest protection at whatever cost, and without reference either to the value or the importance of these operations. But nothing is done to strengthen the hands of the revenue and make such resistance impossible in the future, but the officers are still left to carry on the struggle for the execution of the laws after the manner of a scout in an enemy's country. It is no less than a national disgrace that the revenue force should be left in a condition in which it has to fight criminals on equal terms, and to risk the lives of its officers in every attempt which they make to enforce the laws.—Providence Journal.

New Hampshire Items.

The recent sentence at Plymouth of Joseph Shanty to eight years in the State prison for robbing a man of a few dollars on the highway, is deemed none to severe where Shanty is known. Shanty has a wife, Phœbe, and his brother Enoch, who have long been a nuisance to the community, keeping a disreputable house at Monroe, stealing everything they could get hold of and committing all sorts of crimes. Enoch was arrested a few days ago, and now lies in jail at St. Johnsbury, Vt., charged with larceny in Barnet. Phœbe was recently bound over to appear before the grand jury, charged with uttering a forged deed purporting to discharge a mortgage on her husband's farm. Martin V. Dickey, who was lately sentenced to seven years in the State prison for murder at Plymouth, wrote this forged deed. Dickey occupied the same cell while awaiting trial in Haverhill jail as Joseph H. Shanty, and wrote it at his request. Shanty's object was to free his farm from encumbrance, and then by mortgage again to raise money to defend himself from the highway robbery charge. The community at Bath is glad to be rid of this vicious trio.

At Plymouth, Judge Smith rendered a decision denying a petition for nullity of marriage between Charles F. Bardslee and Ella Ferrin. The case of Alonzo Jesseman was then called and the witnesses for the defence were put on the stand. Jesssman was indicted on two counts, one for maliciously killing a sheep, and the other for killing the sheep with the intention of injuring the owner. The jury found him guilty on the first count, and he was sentenced to two months in jail with $25 fine and costs.

The State Board of Equalization at Concord, Thursday, voted to hear towns in relation to their valuation until the 24th inst. The following resolution was adopted: Whereas, it has come to the knowledge of the board that the law of 1878, providing for the return of sworn inventory has either been wholly disregarded or very imperfectly administered in many towns, and thereby large amounts of money at interest have escaped assessment; therefore, Resolved, That the board will take that matter into consideration in equalizing the valuation of the several towns.

Burglars entered the house of Charles L. Eastman at Concord on the 14th inst., and stole a gold watch and $130 in money. The house of Mrs. D. A. Warde was also entered, but nothing of value was taken.

Royal J. Ellis, proprietor of the Lancaster file works at Lancaster, died suddenly May 15th, before medical aid could be summoned. The deceased was thirty-one years old and leaves a wife. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause.

—Charles Thorpe, the original "Champagne Charlie," has just died in England. He was fond of the social glass, and having an income of $50,000 a year, could afford champagne. He drank so much of it, however, that he died at the age of thirty-four, presumably from its effects, though that is not stated.

—If you were to accuse Miss Analine de Flunkey of overweening self-conceit, you would not abash her in the least; she would retort that one had a perfect right to admire the masterpieces of Nature. The day after the announcement of her engagement to Fred Dory, an old friend offered his congratulations. "Not me," she said, and she twiched her nose haughtily—"congratulate Fred."

AROUND HOME.

A number of large, handsome shad were taken in the Gerrish's island weir on Thursday.

A children's temperance service will be held at Bow mission hall at three o'clock this afternoon, and a general temperance meeting at 7:30 this evening.

The next regular business meeting of Portsmouth Grange will be held by invitation with Mr. Henry Bean at Newington, on Wednesday evening, May 28th, at half-past seven o'clock.

Mr. Theodore Keen, proprietor of the Kittery Point stage, on Friday put on the route between that place and this city a fine new nine-passenger Concord coach, and can now take his patrons through with more comfort to themselves than ever before.

Sam Lee, Esq., of China, has introduced two new industries in this city. One is the Chinese laundry; the other is looking into the windows of the establishment to watch the operations going on inside, the latter being highly popular and giving pleasant employment to many persons.

The News-Letter says: "We were in error last week in stating that Hervey Kent, Esq., was treasurer of the Pittsfield Manufacturing Company. He is treasurer of the Exeter Manufacturing Company, and has no connection with the management of the Pittsfield corporation."

The clerk of the weather served out a variety this week. On Monday the mercury was up to eighty-four degrees above zero in the shade, and on Tuesday it reached ninety; Wednesday and Thursday were cooler, and the temperature on Friday was such as to make those persons who discarded their underclothing early in the week wish they hadn't done it. Rain fell on Friday for the first time during the month, and was much needed; more of it would do no harm.

The following extract from the statutes of New Hampshire is reprinted for the special information and warning of small boys who own shot-guns, as it is not to be supposed that persons who have arrived at years of discretion will commit such a cruel piece of folly as to kill little birds: "If any person shall, at any season of the year, take, kill or destroy any of the birds called robins, thrushes, larks, blue birds, sparrows, finches, buntings, martins, orioles, swallows, fly-catchers, warblers, tanagers, bobolinks, vireos, nut-hatches, creepers, wood-peckers, humming birds, or any other of the song birds or insectivorous birds, he shall be punished by a fine of five dollars for each and every bird so taken, killed or destroyed, or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or both."

There were two accidents on the Eastern railroad, Thursday, both in Massachusetts. At Newburyport two freight cars were thrown down an embankment by a misplaced switch, but no great harm was done beyond the delaying of travel for about two hours and a half. At Everett, shortly before six o'clock in the evening, a boy named Richard Farren, nine years of age, son of Richard P. Farren, the well-known scene painter, was instantly killed. He was playing under the railroad bridge, and at intervals would stick his head up through the opening between the sleepers, hanging by his hands. While doing this and watching the inward train he did not notice an outward train that was approaching on the same track on which he was suspended. He was struck, and his head completely severed from his body, one of his arms broken, and his body terribly mangled. The head was found some twenty feet from the body.

The following from the Exeter News-Letter points to one—and a very important one, too—of the reasons why so many really good shows have been poorly patronized in this city of late. Speaking of a recent entertainment in Exeter it says that "owing to the very small audience assembled to listen to them, and the fact that nearly all present were dead heads, the performers decided to sing one number of the programme, which was pronounced excellent by those who heard it, and then close the hall. It is to be regretted that the company did not receive the patronage they deserve, but our people have had so many entertainments to attend lately that their pocket-books have become tired out even if they are disposed to attend.

Mr. Simeon L. Brackett, of Greenland, while riding between Newmarket and the junction on the night of the 12th inst., was thrown from his wagon through the frightening of his horse by a railroad train, and had his right leg broken in two places.

MEMORIAL DAY.

The Grand Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, Department of New Hampshire, has issued the following order relative to the observance of Memorial day:

NASHUA, N. H., May 5, 1879.

I. General Order No. 5, Headquarters, Grand Army Republic, relative to the annual observance of Memorial Day, May 30, is hereby promulgated in this Department.

II. Posts will make suitable arrangements for the proper observance of the day in its full extent and meaning; as "The perpetuation of the memory of our fallen comrades, not only among ourselves, but in the grateful regard of the whole people, by our annual processions to the resting places of the heroic dead, and the floral decoration of their urns is one of the most prominent and beautiful features of our Order," it is hoped there will be no innovation upon this custom, either by non-observance, or by dispensing with the tribute of flowers; let the floral offering, however humble, be deposited on each patriot's grave, even though it be but the violet's bloom or an ivy leaflet; it is by this tribute of love and respect we venerate the memory of our country's dead.

III. To all veterans and citizens generally, a cordial invitation is hereby extended to join with us in a proper observance of the day. In localities where there are no posts or Veteran organizations, it is hoped the resident veterans and friends will see to it that the day does not pass by unheeded.

IV. Post Commanders will forward to these Headquarters full reports of the exercises of their respective posts.

By Order.

GEORGE BOWERS, Commander.
W. H. D. COCHRANE, Asst. Adj't Gen.

CIRCUIT COURT.

—Queen Victoria is said to object seriously to the feminine fashion of wearing the hair in a fringe across the forehead. It is stated further that she instructed the bridesmaids who appeared at the recent wedding of her son that they would not be permitted to wear their locks in that fashion, nor to don high heeled boots, nor to wear tied-back gowns. Last year it is reported, one young lady who came to a drawing-room with her hair over her eyes was informed by the lord chamberlain that until her hair had grown she need not attend any more at the palace.

—Mr. Martin was a conductor on the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern railroad. He is a church member, and puts his faith in the Lord. He arose in a revival meeting at Pottsville the other evening and told what the Lord had done for him. Among other things, he said he ran his caboose car from Cedar Rapids to Pottsville without a flange on one wheel. He had faith the Lord would keep the caboose on the track, and He did. Not long after he received an epistle from C. J. Ives, general superintendent, which began thus: "Young man, I don't believe the Lord has anything to do with running freight trains;" and now Martin has no caboose to trust to the Lord.

Traveling is Extra Hazardous

If the tourist is unprovided with some medicinal resource. Changes of temperature, food and water of an unaccustomed or unwholesome quality, and a route that lies in the tropics or other regions where malaria exists, are each and all fraught with danger to one who has been imprudent enough to neglect a remedial safeguard. The concurrent testimony of many voyageurs by land and sea establishes the fact that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters enables those who use it to encounter hazards of the nature referred to with impunity; and that, as a medicine adapted to sudden and unexpected exigencies, it is peculiarly valuable. Disorders of the liver, the bowels and the stomach, fever and ague, rheumatism and nervous ailments, brought on by exposure, are among the maladies to which emigrants, travellers and new settlers are most subject. These and others yield to the action of the Bitters promptly and completely.

You are disagreeable when you keep coughing and disturbing others. Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup will permanently cure you.

Don't Bark so much when a fifty cent bottle of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup will cure it.

On Broadway, New York, the great thoroughfare, a prominent feature of even that famous street, convenient to all places of interest, and noted for its luxurious appointments—is situated the Grand Central Hotel, which is now kept on both plans, the American at $2.50 to 3.00, and the European at 1.00 and upwards, per day. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Grand Central.

Fifty Cents will do it! What? Why cure your cold or cough by using a bottle of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Soothing to the Fevered Brow is the bay rum which can be purchased by the pint, quart, or gallon of C. B. Barrett & Co., 45 North Market Street.

Lung Fever is hard to endure, but you have no excuse for having it, when you can cure your colds and coughs which will surely lead to it, by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City. eod&wnov29

An Odd Character.

John Age, known to all Nashuans who are posted in police matters as "Stub" Ago, died at his home in this city yesterday of consumption. "Stub" was a queer fellow in many particulars. He was his own enemy—he had no others. He drank hard at times and he was often exposed in inclement weather, and it is probable that his death is the result of this abuse of himself. He was a jolly, good natured soul, and when "on his beer" would often go to the police station of his own accord and request to be locked up. The last time he went down to Parker's it was at his own request He called on Assistant Marshal Tolles and said, "Willard, (he called everybody by their Christian name,) it's time for me to go down. I've been on a spree, I don't eat, I'm sick and I want you to send me." The assistant marshal was busy at the time, and so requested "Stub" to wait awhile. "Stub" waited until, as he remarked, "I'm not drunk enough to go down, that's what is the matter," and then he "dusted" for the purpose of "filling up." The assistant marshal then had the misfortune to hunt him up. But "Stub" had changed his mind and wouldn't go unless Willard would "knock him down and have a racket just to show the people that he was a hard boy to take." Capt. Tolles coaxed and then bluffed him, and his first request was granted. "Stub" never stole anything or did a mean thing; "drunk" was always the charge. He was a well-behaved man at the farm, and courteous when sober. It is cruel that rum should been a young fellow, who, had he never tasted it, might have been a credit and comfort to his family.—Telegraph.

A Responsible Man.

Dr. Samuel Miller, of Princeton college, was the pink of politeness. Life with him was a precise system, to be embellished as it might, but always a system. He walked, ate, rode, studied, and performed his duties as a citizen by rule, and whatever he did was done delicately, almost primly. There was an old negro in town who often worked for him, and who became so impressed with his courtesy that he undertook to imitate it. The negro's name was Peter, but after he had acquired the art of bowing and scraping he was known as Peter Polite. The courteous relations between Peter and Dr. Miller extended over many years, and it is said their meeting on the street was a sight for a Frenchman. Each was always anxious to give the other the whole sidewalk, and the manœuvres they would execute in passing one another were nothing less than stupendous. A notion lingered in Peter's mind for a long time that Dr. Miller rather surpassed him in graciousness, and the annoyance the thought gave him kindled an envious ambition in his breast. At last that ambition was gratified. He had a bill against Dr. Miller, and went to him for payment. Dr. Miller produced his wallet, and found that he was short in change nine cents on the amount of Peter's bill. "Well, Peter," he said, "I am sorry, but I shall have to owe you nine cents until to-morrow. I'm good for that amount, ain't I?" This was Peter's longed-for opportunity. "Oh, Lor', yaas, sah!" he exclaimed with a rapturous gesture of condescension; "you's good for free times dat 'mount."

A Word to the Corpulent.

Instead of regarding obesity as an abnormal condition many people have erroneously considered it as an evidence of health, and an agent that reduces fat is therefore at once suspected of being injurious. Starting to reason from the false position that fat is an evidence of health, it is not surprising that they should, very naturally, fall into the error of supposing that an agent possessing properties capable of reducing corpulency would prove injurious to the health. Reasoning, however, from the rational basis, that an undue deposition of fat, constituting obesity, is not healthy but a morbid condition, it is quite as natural for us to arrive at the opposite conclusion, which is sustained by experience and observation, i. e., that the reduction of fat in cases of corpulency is invariably followed by an improvement of strength, spirits, and physical comforts. Allan's Anti-Fat will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. Sold by all druggists.

—Scene: Cambridge high school, class in mythology. Teacher—Who was Hebe? First Girl—Wife of Heracles and first cousin to Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B.—Harvard Crimson.

—"Father," said an inquisitive boy, "what is meant by close relations?" "Close relations, my son," replied the father, "are relations that never give you a cent." The boy said the old man then, was the "closest" relation he'd got.

—A Washington paper, by mixing two items, said to its readers: "A big bell has been given to a Newark mission chapel, and on the bell is this inscription: Deckertown is supplied with milk at three cents a quart. Washington pays five cents a quart."

—A free use of spring fruits being recommended by physicians, very many people have thus early adopted the advice. They may be found at any hour standing at a counter taking their strawberries and piece of pine apple on the top of a glass of punch.

—This from Harper's Drawer: "A little seven-year-old girl was in the sitting room alone with her uncle, and dreamily looking from the window. Without turning her head she said, 'Uncle Horace, eight and seven make fifteen, don't they?' He replied that she was right. 'Then,' said she, in half soliloquy, 'it is only eight years before I shall have a beau, and, oh! I dread it!'"

—This is the joke the Yale collegians once played on the clown of a circus which visited New Haven. The boys went to the circus in a body and sat together, two hundred or more in number. The clown's jokes were laughed at by the audience lustily as he made his quips and sallies of wit. All except the students. Apparently they would be some minutes seeing the joke, and when everybody else had finished laughing they would break out with one accord into a loud, deep, regular haw! haw! haw! to the surprise and amusement of the audience and the disgust of the clown. This performance was continued until the audience became wild with merriment and the clown frantic with rage.

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

INCORPORATED JANUARY, 1873. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION. BUFFALO AND LONDON. CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000.
(Successors to R. V. PIERCE, M. D.)
DR. R. V. PIERCE, having acquired a world-wide reputation in the treatment of Chronic Diseases, resulting in a professional business far exceeding his individual ability to conduct, some years ago induced several medical gentlemen to associate themselves with him, as the Faculty of the World's Dispensary, the Consulting Department of which has since been merged with the INVALIDS' HOTEL. The organization has been completed and incorporated under the name and style of World's Dispensary Medical Association, with the following officers: Hon. R. V. PIERCE, Pres. F. D. PIERCE, V. Pres. JNO. E. PIERCE, Sec. LESTER B. SMITH, Treas.
NINE PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS of eminence and skill have been chosen as the Faculty.
CHRONIC DISEASES of all forms cured within the province of any several specialties.
LUNG DISEASES.—This division of practice is very ably managed by a gentleman of mature judgment and skill. Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Diseases treated with the most successful results.
DISEASES OF WOMEN.—Especially are our facilities of a superior order for the cure of all those chronic diseases peculiar to females.
NERVOUS DISEASES.—Paralysis, Nervous Debility, Epilepsy (Fits), Chorea (St. Vitus's Dance), Neuralgia, and other nervous affections, receive the attention of an expert in this specialty.
NOT NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.—By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases as successfully without as with a personal consultation. For particulars see "People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," (1,000 pages, sent post-paid for $1.50 or "Invalids' and Tourists' Guide" Book, 100 pages, 10 cents post-paid.
SURGICAL CASES.—Among the operations which we are called upon most frequently to perform, are those for Nasal Polypus, Harelip, Tumors, Fistula in Ano, Piles, Hernia (Rupture), Hydrocele (Dropsy of the Scrotum), Varicocele, Cancers, Uterine Tumors, Calculi (Stone in the Bladder), Stricture, etc., etc. We also treat successfully by a new method without surgical operation, Cancers, Club-feet, Spinal Curvature, and other deformities. See pamphlet entitled, "Motion as a Curative Agent," sent on receipt of 10 cents.
Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, BUFFALO, N. Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases peculiar to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and on that alone, I will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has effected cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Ulceration and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not offer this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a single aim of purpose, being a most potent remedy in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 300 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of reduction works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing; one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

It can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what any fellow a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, accrusted matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the ulceration and inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membranous linings of the head are cleansed and purified. Continually its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course the foul germs that make acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen.—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through one nostril. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy or it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored. I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made me familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. F. DERBY.

The Talmage Entertainments.

NEW YORK, May 16th.

The edifice (I won't say "church") is built just like a theatre, and has one semi-circular gallery; but there is no drop curtain, no "boxes," and you do not buy tickets, though you are made to pay before the sermon begins. The stage or platform is a long, narrow extension, projecting from the organ, which is stretched out the entire length of that side of the building, and above, the pipes are painted in loud alternations of red, blue and gilt. These last efforts were evidently thought beautiful, for the chandeliers suspended about at intervals are the bluest and reddest things I ever saw, the gilt being of course supplied by the blazing gaslights. The carpet is red, and red cushions are on the seats. The organist sits below the platform, and plays lively airs while the audience assembles. After a time a door opens on the right hand, apparently below the organ. A shuffling figure of medium height and build emerges; with a furtive air ascends a flight of steps, and seats himself in the solitary chair standing beside a small table which is used as a support to a bible. This is Talmage. His unkempt brown hair refuses to grow on the top of his head, but comes out in long shaggy tufts at the sides which quite conceal the ears, and form a combination with a pair of dried brown whiskers. The latter are a frame-work to a face in which may be noted an enormous mouth, a nose in keeping, extremly small eyes, set very far back under overhanging eyebrows, a receding forehead and a pallid complexion. There is a kind of Uriah Heep air about him, and I think the world has lost much from the fact that Dickens never saw him. If he had, Chadband would have been nowhere, and the pastor of the Brooklyn Tabernacle would have been immortalized. Uriah was remarkable for a peculiar use of his hands. So is Talmage, for he incessantly claws at everything about him; usually clutching the air, for he has no reading desk or pulpit to pound. For the latter purpose, however, his left hand is constantly made to do duty, spread wide open and the recipient of innumerable blows from the long fingers of the right. These preformances are added to also by numerous grimaces, the precise object and market value of which I was unable to determine. His voice is harsh and croaking, his pronunciation very bad, nor has he the slightest claim to eloquence. His "Amen" is the most remarkable sound I ever listened to, and may be classed as a cross between a groan and a bellow. But words (such as they are) bundle out rapidly enough, and this fact probably, together with the gesticulations and grimaces above mentioned, the whole being seasoned with a strong flavor of vulgar irreverence and flippancy, may cause some persons to regard him as an orator. I should set down the majority of his listeners as Bowery clerks, and sewing girls. A more ignorant assemblage of faces I never beheld, and if there were any cultured, well-dressed people there, I did not see them.

Taking the bible from the stand, he begins to read, but evidently supposing that the simple narrations of the gospel would be improved upon by variations of his own, he reads a verse and then makes some independent observations; going on afterwards to another verse, and so on. As an example of his peculiar style, I will quote his opening sentence, in something which was evidently intended as a prayer: "Oh, Lord! we thank thee that thou hast not turned us out on the commons to die." I must acknowledge I was unmoved, nor have I after much reflection been able to discover the point. The music has as little of music in it as any to which I have ever been condemned to listen; I suppose it would be classed as "congregational," though the sound of the voices was almost drowned by the piercing tones of the cornet which combined disagreeably (or rather didn't combine) with the organ. The music stand is placed on the platform at the left of the organist, and Arbuckle, the cornetist, emerging from some unknown depths, places his music thereupon, giving a signal with his right hand for the congregation to arise and follow him. He certainly lowers himself by having anything to do with such performances, but then he a married man, and one has to look out for dollars and cents.

A badly-shaped urn of flowers about four feet high stood on the right hand of the stage; this doubtless in imitation of the Plymouth arrangements. At Plymouth church, however, the floral decorations are very tastefully disposed. Fortunately Talmage did not tumble the urn over. Sometime, in consequence of his exuberance of spirits, I expect to hear that he has wrought devastation to everything within reach. Altogether the whole thing impressed me as a coarse and unattractive parody on Beecher. A desperate attempt at imitation. LUCY CARTER.

Portsmouth Chronicle

Six Men Killed.

On Friday six men were killed in accordance with the law. At Hillsboro', N. C., two white men, named Henry Alphonso Davis and Henry T. Andrews, and a colored man named Lewis Carleton, were hanged for burglary with violence, protesting their innocence to the last; they were a noted trio of scoundrels, and the evidence on which they were convicted was conclusive of their commission of the crime for which they were executed, and there was similar evidence against them in many other cases. Carleton spoke an hour on the scaffold, and said his salvation was sure. All were firm, and showed no signs of wavering. The hanging was badly botched. The ropes around the necks of Davis and Carleton were too long, and their feet rested on the ground. They were raised and the ropes retied, causing death from strangulation. A terrific thunder-storm raged during the whole proceedings, and the scene was wild and terrible. Fully 8000 people were present.

At Booneville, Mo., John I. West was executed for the murder of a tramp last October. The rope broke, and the criminal's body straightened out and turned over when he was picked up. The rope was retied and he was hanged successfully. About 6000 people were present.

At Plaquemine, La., Robert Cheney was hanged for a rape committed in June, 1878. The execution passed off quietly.

At Provo, Utah, Wallace Wilkerson was shot to death for the murder of a man named Baxter two years ago, the condemned man having elected to be shot instead of hung. He sat in a chair facing three guns distant thirty feet, without bandaging or closing his eyes. At a signal from the marshal, three concealed marksmen fired. Wilkerson leaped from the chair, exclaiming "O God," fell forward on his face, and continued writhing, breathing a few gasps, for twenty-seven minutes, when the physicians pronounced him dead.

News and Notes.

Dr. Rose and Mr. Canfield drank two glasses of whiskey in a drug store at Alliance, O., and found it so good that they called for more. As they raised the glasses again the physician said, "Here's your good health." "Oh! don't say that," said Canfield; "consider your business, and wish this stuff may make me sick." They drank, and within an hour both were dead, the druggist having given them poison by mistake.

Rev. L. S. French of Castleton, Vt., eighty-three years of age, and his eighty-year-old wife, are the parents of eleven children, eight sons and three daughters, all of whom are now living. Six of the sons were in the late war and all escaped death, though not wounds.

John Tracey of Columbus, Neb., shot his wife five times and then killed himself, on Thursday.

Four colored men and four white women were arrested at Terre Haute, Thursday, for being married against the laws of Indiana. Revs. Robert Jeffries and William H. Anderson, both colored, were indicted by the grand jury for marrying them.

The New York Graphic says Wm. H. Vanderbilt consents to pay a tax on half a million personal property.

F. Freeman, who was arrested as the robber of Stewart's remains last fall, is again under arrest for burglary in Brooklyn.

The Army and Navy Journal understands that a "ring" has been formed to obtain possession of the new military post at Pagosa Springs, Colorado, on account of its value in mineral deposits.

The registry department of the post office in Indianapolis, Ind., was robbed on Thursday of $450 and fifty registered letters. The robbery was committed after the safe was opened, and while the clerk, Benjamin Reed, was absent in an adjoining room for a moment. The thief was evidently familiar with the premises, and it is supposed expected to get a large quantity of four per cent certificates, which were expected during the night, but were not received. The stolen letters were found Friday morning in the cellar of the post office, unopened. The colored porter, Edward Stewart, has confessed that he took the packages.

The representatives of sixteen rubber manufacturing companies, having a capital of over $9,000,000, met in New York, Thursday, to consider the propriety and necessity of advancing simultaneously the prices of their manufactured goods, in consequence of the reagt advance of the crude materials. Mr. John H. Cheever of the New York Belting and Packing Company, was chosen chairman, and Mr. John P. Rider, of the New York Rubber Company, secretary. It was unanimously agreed that the present net prices should be advanced. A permanent organization was then effected, the permanent officers to be as named above. The meeting adjourned to meet the first Wednesday in June.

The annual report of the Boston city treasurer for the year ending April 30th shows the debt was reduced the past year $2,448,206.24, leaving the outstanding debt $42,359,816.23. The sinking fund now amounts to $15,794,035.69.

The Worcester Gazette calls the war talk of the Peruvians while their fleet and army lie idle and Chili's ships knock their coast cities to pieces, "Peruvian bark."

Schooner Ada Ames, of and from Rockland, Me., for Windsor, N. S., was wrecked on Cross island Seal ledges, on Friday, and schooner Almon Bird, of and from Rockland for St. John, N. B., was wrecked on the same ledges Saturday morning; crews saved.

A paragraphist of a London paper says: "The Duke of Beaufort, better known, perhaps, as Horsey Beaufort, goes the round of the United States with Mr. Sothern. Whether his grace acts as bill poster or private secretary, I don't know. What with dukes dancing attendance on theatrical valets, and earls slinging ink in fashionable periodicals, the peerage is getting quite useful in a small way."

Arthur Jenckes, son of Curtis V. Jenckes of Providence, a lad of nine years, got one of his arms broken in four places while riding a velocipede. He was going down a declivity, and becoming frightened attempted to stop by grasping the fore wheel with his left hand, when his arm became twisted in the wheel and he was thrown violently to the ground.

A queer journalistic suit has been commenced in Cincinnati by James L. Ryman, proprietor of the defunct Breakfast Table. He sues E. B. Brown for $5000, and charges that Brown was employed to furnish funny business for the paper, three columns per week for $10; that Brown suddenly stopped his funny work, and that the paper died in consequence.

Miss Annie Mason, of Pittsburg, Penn., has eloped with and married an ignorant negro named George Jones. There is talk of tar and feathers there.

Messrs. D. Low & Co., of Gloucester, have lost five vessels the past four months, viz.: The Joshua S. Sanborn and Mary Low on Georges in the February gale; the Ocean Gem at Cape Canso in April; and the Geo. S. Low and Trenton last week.

The New York legislature has passed a bill reducing the legal rate of interest to six per cent.

A letter has been received from Prof. Nordenskjold, of the Polar expedition, from Eastern Siberia, dated September 28, 1878, announcing that all the men connected with the expedition were well.

Cox of Georgia, the murderer of Col. Alston, whose wife has been distracted by his sentence to life imprisonment, was married in 1859, having eloped with Miss Louisa Watkins while she was a school-girl at Wilmington, Del. Cox met this young lady in the parlor of the school, and as she was a girl of romantic disposition a secret wooing was established between them, and they decided on an elopement. Their plans were well arranged, and one day when Miss Watkins went out to walk she met Cox and they were married. Until the murder the marriage is said to have been a happy one.

Recorder Hackett, for many years a conspicuous figure in the administration of criminal law in New York city, has utterly lost his mind through softening of the brain. He can never recover.

New Hampshire Items.

The Amoskeag Axe Co. has suspended business and sold its real estate. The managers of the company were some of the brightest men in Manchester, but the dullness of trade and sharp competition has brought the corporation to a ragged edge, and it goes off the handle.

Lyman Downs, a man about sixty years old, was detected on Thursday in the act of setting fire to the office of the Gilmanton Fire insurance Company. The building was saved and the man caught. He had quarrelled with the company about some land and sought his revenge in this manner. He was arraigned, waived examination, and in default of $1000 bonds was committed to jail at Laconia.

Seven of the thirteen escaped reform school boys have been recaptured.

A riverman of Colebrook, named Ross, fell off a log into six feet of water, and a comrade, knowing he could not swim, plunged in to save him. But Ross seized him around the neck and came so near drowning him that he was forced to abandon him to his fate. Ross was drowned.

As Conductor Nichols' train was between Franklin and Hill, on its passage to Bristol, Friday afternoon, a woman, who purchased a ticket from Concord to Hill, jumped off the train when it was going at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour. Conducter Nichols went back to Franklin with the engine in search of her, but no trace could be found. She was subsequently found at Franklin village, uninjured.

Arthur H. Baldwin of Newport, who graduated from the scientific department of Dartmouth college in 1877, has been appointed deputy United States mineral surveyor of Dakota, with headquarters at Deadwood.

In consequence of the refusal of the faculty of Dartmouth college to allow a public reading by a lady in the college church on a recent evening the students assembled before the residences of President Bartlett and Professor Lord, blowing horns, groaning and singing. Next morning there was an uproarous demonstration at prayers. Since then the faculty have been making investigation, resulting in the expulsion of two of the senior class. Much feeling is manifested by the students over this action, and the classes are holding meetings to consider the matter. Last Friday evening two students who are supposed to have given the faculty information respecting the demonstration were taken to the pump and given a soaking. One of them fired a revolver, but no one was injured.

Zachariah J. Crochett, committed suicide in Concord, Saturday morning, by shooting himself through the head. He left a letter stating that he was discouraged, being out of work, and having previously broken his leg. He was between fifty and sixty years old.

Miss Charlotte Stark, a niece of Gen. Stark of the revolution, is the heaviest tax-payer in Dunbarton.

By a bill which has recently passed Congress, Mrs. Elizabeth McNeil Benham of Washington and Mrs. Fannie McNeil Potter of this State will receive a pension of $20 a month each. These ladies are the daughters of the late Gen. John McNeil of Hillsboro, who was an officer in the war of 1812, and surveyor of Boston under President Van Buren. A measure has also passed Congress granting a pension to Abigail S. Tilton, widow of Benjamin Stevens, late of Gilmanton, who was a soldier in Capt. McCormell's company in General Stark's brigade in the war of the revolution. She remarried, but subsequently became a widow again.

Naval Matters.

The resignation of 1st Lieut. Wm. J. McDonald, U. S. M. C., has been accepted, to take effect Sept. 1st.

Private despatches were received in Philadelphia on Saturday, announcing the sudden death at Bloise, France, of Rear Admiral Sylvanus W. Godon, U. S. N. Admiral Godon was on the retired list.

Secretary Thompson has decided to order the practice ship Wachusett, now at Boston, to New Orleans, and then go up the Mississippi as far as St. Louis, touching at the cities and large towns on the banks to enlist boys.

Political.

The democratic New Orleans Times enters a formal protest against the renomination of Mr. Tilden on the ground that he is neither a great nor good man, and because he represents and is the product of the worst era and most corrupt methods of public life. This is sad—more especially so when it is remembered that Mr. Tilden has decided to nominate himself again as the democratic candidate for President.

In the United States Circuit court at Jacksonville, Fla., on Friday, the trial of Theodore H. Willard, the democratic sheriff of Madison county, charged with hindering voters at the polls in the late Congressional election, concluded by a verdict of guilty, with a recommendation to mercy. The case of Hull, the democratic Congressional candidate, has not yet come up in consequence of the absence of important witnesses.

Two members of the board of public works of Brooklyn, named Flaherty and Bennett, were on Friday convicted of defrauding the city of Brooklyn out of $50,000, by placing the names of persons on the pay roll who did no work. They were acting in the interest of the party of true reform and a pure ballot when they committed the offence of which they have been convicted, as all the men who drew pay they had not earned were democrats, and were in this way paid for voting the straight ticket every time.

This is the legend over Nast's latest cartoon in Harper's Weekly: "Let us have an honest vote and honest money. Don't let us have a government of ruffians, for ruffians and by ruffians, or we shall perish from the face of the earth."

AROUND HOME.

The U. S. S. Plymouth went out of commission at noon on Saturday.

Dr. A. J. Young of Dover has returned from a winter in Florida, where he is the owner of a valuable orange grove.

The Great Falls Journal of the 16th inst. says: "The Somersworth Machine Co. has cast a large part of the iron work for the past few weeks for Frank Jones' new building in Portsmouth."

The Biddeford Machine Works have just put one of their steam engines into Tibbetts & Glidden's last factory at Dover, and have contracted to build a ten-horse-power engine for Foster's Democrat office.

The legal fraternity of Dover are to be recruited by the removal from Boston to Dover of P. Webster Locke, Esq., a young lawyer already well known in the Granite State. Mr. Locke is a native of Kingston, and has been in successful practice for years.

The following from the Manchester Mirror will interest the National Guardsmen of this city, whose companies are assigned to the First regiment: "An effort is being made by Col. Dillon to have all the companies belonging to the First New Hampshire regiment, which pass through this city on their way to Concord next inauguration day, reach the city on a special train in the morning, and instead of waiting an hour in Concord before marching, give a public parade in Manchester."

The handsomest specimen of bricklaying ever seen in this city is that now being done by the two Philadelphia bricklayers brought here to lay the outside courses of the new National block, with pressed brick and marble-dust mortar. Two Boston bricklayers were engaged last week, but though they laid brick much more rapidly than the Philadelphians they only worked one day, and all the wall they built had to be taken down again, the contrast between it and that laid by the other men being ludicrous. Building a pressed-brick wall is an artistic job when compared with the ordinary work of the bricklayer, and it is also a very slow one.

The following from the Washington (D. C.) Capital will be of some interest to our readers, both the officers mentioned being well known in this city: "Admiral Alexander Murray, U. S. N., a bluff old seadog, was fined $5 and costs in the police court last Friday for an assault on Jesse Miller, a young man of aristocratic connections. The assault was made last Tuesday. The admiral and Lieut. Taunt were in an alley inspecting some horses. The lieutenant had a bleeded dog, which, during its rambles about the alley, was struck on the leg with a stone, and came back to the lieutenant yelping with pain and limping on three legs. The irate lieutenant, burning to avenge the outrage, began to abuse some colored coachmen who were disporting themselves on the sunny side of a stable. Young Miller appeared as the champion of the colored race, and drew the lieutentant's fire from the coachmen to himself. The lieutenant aimed a blow with his fist at Miller's head, which Miller evaded; at the same time, with a double-action only secured by constant practice, kicking and punching at the lieutenant. The admiral arrived upon the scene about this time, and seeing a possible serious conflict between the naval and civil authorities in prospect, settled the trouble by bringing his cane down with a sturdy whack on the head of young Miller. The result was a warrant. The admiral stood up before Judge Snell, Friday, and received the sentence of the court with meek submission."

MISS NORAH BARTLETT'S DEBUT IN BOSTON.

The Boston Sunday Herald pays the following compliment to Miss Nora Bartlett, who took the part of Julia in Knowles' play of the Hunchback, at the benefit of Miss Rachel Noah, her preceptress, at the Boston theatre on Saturday evening of last week: "An especially interesting feature of the performance of the play was the first appearance here (her second upon any stage) of a pupil of Miss Noah's, Miss Norah Bartlett of Portsmouth, to whom was intrusted the role of Julia. Her performance was remarkable, considering her youth (she is scarcely 17, we are told) and inexperience. Her faults were those common to novices, and to be expected in so young a debutante—an inability, at times, to accommodate her voice to the size of the house, a declamatory style of reading her lines in certain scenes demanding a more quiet and natural utterance, and an occasional awkwardness of gesture and pose—none of them serious, and all easy of correction, with a little more experience. Her conception of the character was good, evincing careful and intelligent study. She has thus early acquired the ability to identify herself with the part, and instead of mechanically reciting her share of the dialogue, and practicing the formal 'one, two, three' step, and rigid attention to the petty details of the 'business' which so often hamper the efforts of a beginner, she spoke every sentence as if she felt it, and acted with a freedom from constraint and staginess refreshing to witness. She brings to her work a fine enthusiasm, and is aided by many natural advantages, possessing a pleasant, sympathetic voice of considerable strength and compass, a pretty, expressive face and a shapely figure. Her marked success in her initial effort gives great promise of future high rank in her chosen art. She had an encouraging reception, was frequently applauded with a warmth approaching enthusiasm, had several calls before the curtain, and received many gifts of flowers. Mr. H. C. Barnabee, who was among the volunteers, gave fresh evidence of his histrionic ability as Modus, gaining much applause for his quaint personation, and winning a recall after the scene with Helen."

THE COLD WATER ARMY.

At the children's temperance service in the new mission hall, Saturday afternoon, the following named persons were elected officers of the "Portsmouth Cold Water Army and Grand Army Roll of Protection to the Dumb:"

Wm. A. Loyne, president;
Miss Annie Pettigrew, vice president;
Mrs. Holbrook, secretary;
Mrs. Daniel H. Spinney, treasurer;
Miss Mamie Reese, organist.

The pledge of the society is as follows: "I solemnly promise to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a drink, from the use of tobacco, and from all profanity. I further pledge myself to do all in my power to protect dumb animals from cruelty in any and every form."

MEMORIAL DAY.

The following is Gen. Order No. 5, issued from the Adjutant General's Office, Headquarters Grand Army of the Republic, at New York city, to all subordinate organizations:

1. In compliance with the requirements of the Rules and Regulations the 30th of May will, as heretofore, be observed as Memorial Day.

The Commander-in-Chief regrets that it is necessary to remind some of the comrades that the day is sacred to the memory of our heroic dead; and is not in any sense a time for pleasure excursions, or merry-making of any kind. He calls upon all right-minded members of the Order, and those who sympathize with us, to prevent by any and all means in their power, any attempt to use the day for any other purpose than that for which it was instituted.

2. Attention is called to the following resolution adopted by the National Encampment at Springfield, Mass., June 4th, 1878:

"Resolved: That all flags hoisted upon Memorial Day be at half-mast."

[Communicated.]

HOMES FOR THE HOMELESS.

How to care for and provide homes for poor children is a subject which at the present time engages the attention of good people throughout our country, and much has been done in that direction; many children have been provided with good homes, where it is not unreasonable to hope that they will prove a blessing to themselves and others. We may be glad that so much is being done in our own city, in this as in many other ways; within a few months past three children have been provided with homes in families that will be interested in their welfare. One, a little girl, writes to her friends, "I am delighted with my new home, the people are so kind and teach me so many useful things; I go to school, and have just as many privileges as I need." A boy writes, "I like my new home very much, and I am glad that my friends found me such a good home; the family are very kind to me." On the 15th inst., a third little boy was accompanied to a good home near Wolfeborough, where we trust he will grow up to be a useful and respected citizen. We recommend this work to the notice of our people, and trust we shall be enabled to assist other children who are very poor and worse than homeless in our midst. Some of the best and most prominent men in the land owe their success in life to the kindness of friends who provided for them when left orphans in their extreme youth, and in other ways took an interest in their welfare. There is plenty for all to do, and may not we do something in this direction and thus help the poor boys and girls? W. A. L.

Traveling is Extra Hazardous

If the tourist is unprovided with some medicinal resource. Changes of temperature, food and water of an unaccustomed or unwholesome quality, and a route that lies in the tropics or other regions where malaria exists, are each and all fraught with danger to one who has been improvident enough to neglect a remedial safeguard. The concurrent testimony of many voyageurs by land and sea establishes the fact that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters enables those who use it to encounter hazards of the nature referred to with impunity; and that, as a medicine adapted to sudden and unexpected exigencies, it is peculiarly valuable. Disorders of the liver, the bowels and the stomach, fever and ague, rheumatism and nervous ailments, brought on by exposure, are among the maladies to which emigrants, travellers and new settlers are most subject. These and others yield to the action of the Bitters promptly and completely.

You are disagreeable when you keep coughing and disturbing others. Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup will permanently cure you.

Don't Bark so much when a fifty cent bottle of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup will cure it.

On Broadway, New York, the great thoroughfare, a prominent feature of even that famous street, convenient to all places of interest, and noted for its luxurious appointments—is situated the Grand Central Hotel, which is now kept on both plans, the American at $2.50 to 3.00, and the European at 1.00 and upwards, per day. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Grand Central.

Fifty Cents will do it! What? Why cure your cold or cough by using a bottle of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Soothing to the Fevered Brow is the bay rum which can be purchased by the pint, quart, or gallon of C. B. Barrett & Co., 45 North Market Street.

Lung Fever is hard to endure, but you have no excuse for having it, when you can cure your colds and coughs which will surely lead to it, by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D., New York City. eod&wtnov79

—Sure of their crops—hens.

—There are now twenty-six females practicing law in this country. But the number of females who are laying down the law in this country passes computation.

—A man at Pawtucket, R. I., named James Chute, who tends a railroad crossing, owns a dog worth having. At the approach of a train the dog will seize the red signal flag in his teeth, and running out, vigorously shake it to warn any passer-by. The dog is as faithful in discharging this duty as a man would be, and she seems to know at just what time the train comes along.

—The photograph of Catherine Webster, as she appeared before magistrates on the occasion of the enquiry concerning the murder at Richmond, now creating such a morbid sensation throughout England, draws large crowds to the window of the stereoscopic company in Regent street, London. It is that of a woman of bold and resolute countenance, tawdry and overdressed, yet of unmistakably low origin. A boy looking at it the other day, said: "Well, she may not have done it, but I'm blessed if she could not have done that and much worse if she had a mind to."

—Von Bulow nearly went into convulsions at Dresden at one of his Beethoven recitals because a young lady at the back of the hall beat syncopated time with her thumbs. He broke off in the middle of one of the most delicate passages and trotted down to the front of the stage, where Otto Dresel was sitting, and requested him to go and stop that girl. Mr. Dresel objected. Von Bulow insisted, and finally went himself and spoke to the blushing criminal who had so aroused his ire. The audience was breathless with horror and sympathy, but before it could recover itself the doctor returned to the stage, sat down to his piano, and went on with his sonata from the very note at which he had left off.

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
—THE—
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Boils, Blotches, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the Cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of clean, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.
Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to the Head, use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total privation of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Nasal Syringe. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried high up and thoroughly applied to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or acrid drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting very fine fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, will the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for so disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and Consumption are frequently fat 1 affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple yet neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

IT can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by HARVORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, scurvy matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the ulceration and inflammation subdued and healed; the slimy membranous linings of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen,—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through the nostril. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy or I at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and cause me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of HARVORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored, I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.
FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made my familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. P. DERBY.

Rules in Etiquette.

We have been profoundly interested in a work that has just been sent us, the author whereof, Professor B. F. Fanning, aims to give the world easy lessons in etiquette for gentlemen. It is a useful work.

It says:—"When calling upon a new lady acquaintance, the hat should be taken to the parlor and held in the hand."

This is one of the instructions in the book. When you don't know all about the lady and her family, young man, freeze to your hat all the time. We once knew a young lady who kept her father and four brothers in nice, new stylish hats all the time, by simply instructing the servant to just skin the hat rack every time a young man with a guidy head was fresh enough to leave his hat in the hall. We'll bet a dollar Professor Fanning has been there. And then, besides, a "plug" hat is such a comfortable thing to hold in one's hand. When you can't think of anything to say, you can stroke the hat the wrong way, and then exert your energies during the rest of your visit to get it smooth again. And then, if occasion demands, you can use it as a cuspadore.

"A gentleman," says the professor, "never dances with his overcoat on."

And we may add that he hardly ever dances with his overshoes on, and the instances in the best society in which a gentleman has danced through an entire set with his ulster drawn closely over his head, his trousers stuffed into the legs of his India rubber hunting boots and an umbrella held over his head, are rare indeed. Society can not feel too grateful to the professor for mentioning this little matter of etiquette.

"A gentleman," continues the professor, "always wears gloves."

This is solemn, sober, earnest, inspired truth. When you meet a—a—person anywhere, in the street, in the cellar, at the lunch stand, in swimming, in bed, and you see he wears no gloves, shun that person. He is no gentleman, Professor Fanning knows. Why, a real gentleman wear gloves when he washes his hands and trims his nails.

"Use the fingers," remarks the professor, "with grace and delicacy."

Yes, try scratching your head with them, for practice. When you are able to do that gracefully and delicately you can let your fingers go their own ways at their own sweet will. They have attained the perfection of grace and delicacy.—Hawkeye.

A Word to the Corpulent.

Instead of regarding obesity as an abnormal condition many people have erroneously considered it as an evidence of health, and an agent that reduces fat is therefore at once suspected of being injurious. Starting to reason from the false position that fat is an evidence of health, it is not surprising that they should, very naturally, fall into the error of supposing that an agent possessing properties capable of reducing corpulency would prove injurious to the health. Reasoning, however, from the rational basis, that an undue deposition of fat, constituting obesity, is not healthy but a morbid condition, it is quite as natural for us to arrive at the opposite conclusion, which is sustained by experience and observation, i. e., that the reduction of fat in cases of corpulency is invariably followed by an improvement of strength, spirits, and physical comforts. Allan's Anti-Fat will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. Sold by all druggists.

A "Liberal" Decision.

Rev. L. K. Washburn, of Lynn, Mass., on Sunday preached a sermon on "The recent Christian tragedy at Pocasset from a radical standpoint." After maintaining that Freeman's crime was the legitimate outcome of "evangelical Christianity," with its creed "that a human being after being dead returned to life again," he said:

If Christianity survives this tragedy, which the faith it has taught inspired, it will be enough to convince every honest mind that there is no truth and sincerity left in the hearts of those who profess to believe it.

This decision of Rev. Mr. Washburn's is certainly liberal in its comprehensiveness; and yet it is possible that some perverse persons may keep right on believing in evangelical Christianity, and that some other men may have faith in their truth and sincerity, notwithstanding Rev. L. K. Washburn's ruling that only minds which agree with his can be "honest." We wonder what kind of a man Mr. Washburn would regard as an illiberal fool in religious matters?

"Unitarian Affirmations."

"Unitarian Affirmations: Seven sermons delivered in the early part of the present year at the new Unitarian church in Washington, under the auspices of the Unitarian Association," have been published in neat form by the association, making a book of one hundred and seventy-five pages.

An article in one of the leading daily newspapers of New York, recently, held to the opinion that although the Unitarian idea was full of truth and of practical value, yet its promulgation had so liberalized the faith of the evangelical sects that the Unitarian theory was, so to speak, functus officio, as all the wholesome parts of the doctrines held by the Unitarians had been either openly or tacitly adopted by the Calvinists, and that so many sects now were willing to abide by them there was neither room nor necessity for the Unitarians themselves longer to continue to exist as a denomination.

In these seven discourses, all but one of which were repeated on the same Sunday evenings at Baltimore, we have the views of such able clergymen as Drs. Frederic H. Hodge, James Freeman Clark, A. P. Peabody, Geo. W. Briggs and Rufus Ellis, and Revs. Brooks Herford and Samuel R. Calthrop, and such an able presentation of the views of these denominational celebrities is seldom to be found. The sermons were intended to be addressed not especially to scholars and theologians but to the people, and the overflowing audiences that went up to hear these discourses, and the interest they developed in Washington at the time of their delivery renders it probable that the interest to learn of the Unitarian tenets remains unabated.

News and Notes.

The steam yacht Louisa, owned by Charles Stenglein of New York, ran on a rock in Little Hell Gate, Sunday afternoon, and capsized. James Hall, a boy named Adams, and Miss Rosie Stenglein, aged sixteen years, were drowned.

Steamer Ashland, Capt. Hunter, of the Clyde line from New York, for Fall River in ballast, went ashore on Point Judith at 7.30 o'clock Saturday night in the fog, and will become a total wreck. Crew saved.

Mrs. Eva Taylor Lawrence, niece of President Zachary Taylor, who was divorced from Gen. Gallatin Lawrence at Newport, R. I., is said to have married Amedee van den Nest, who caused the divorce, at Paris.

The celebrated racing mare Nettie died at Philadelphia on Saturday, from blood-poisoning caused by sticking a nail in her foot.

One of the prettiest, wealthiest and most accomplished young ladies of the town of Beaver, Pa., has left her mother's house and deliberately married a negro, who is as ugly and ignorant as he is black. The only reason assigned for this act is that she quarrelled with her parents and sacrificed herself to spite them. The couple have gone to live in a small house which has only three rooms, two of which are already occupied by negro families.

Five persons were killed in a recent thunder storm in Washington county, Ind.

Frank Pierce is under arrest in New York for stealing $2000 worth of jewelry from a house.

Geo. W. Bonney, formerly of Boston, a hotel keeper, is dying at Buffalo, N. Y., from suicidal pistol shots inflicted Friday.

Chief Justice Waite and Ex-Gov. Chamberlain arrived at Charleston, S. C., Sunday, the former to preside and the latter to appear as counsel in the United States court which opened Monday.

Mrs. Kenney, the white woman imprisoned in Richmond, Va., for marrying a colored man, has filed, through counsel, a writ of habeas corpus to be released under the United States laws.

Three boys, named Edward Burns, John Foley and Timothy Cronan were arrested on Sunday for entering a freight car at the Eastern railroad station, and attempting to open a box of tobacco. On Monday forenoon Burns and Foley were before the police court for the offence, Cronan being used as a witness, and the accused were ordered to recognize in the sum of $100 each for their appearance at the October term of the supreme court.

During a thunder shower in Newburyport, Sunday afternoon, two houses were struck by lightning. The first was slightly damaged, and a boy paralyzed. The second was badly riddled, the fluid passing through every room and turning things topsy-turvy, while George F. Woodman was knocked senseless. The Catholic church was also struck, the fluid entering an open window, running along the alter, blacking the gilding, throwing the railing out of place and passing through the opposite wall. The damage is small.

Hattie S. Goodspeed, ten years old, was killed at Somerville, Mass., on Saturday, by a stone thrown by Edward Reardon or Thomas Murphy, both of whom are under arrest. The boys are each nine years old.

District-Attorney East, of Bloomington, Ind., cowhided the lawyer who, as chairman of a bar committee, had begun proceedings to remove him from office for drunkenness.

Rev. Robert Williams, a full blooded Nez Perce Indian, is a regularly ordained Presbyterian peacher in Idaho.

The eldest son of United States Senator Kernan of New York is to become a Jesuit priest.

The usher in a variety show at Paradise, Nev., stood where he obstructed the view of several persons in the audience. A remonstrance drew a shot from his revolver, wounding a quiet and popular young man. The usher was at once seized, taken out of the hall, and hanged to a tree.

J. T. Bidewell of Vicksburg, Miss., county assessor, was arrested on Saturday on an affidavit of Joseph W. Andrews, charging him with the murder of W. H. Andrews last March. Waiving examination, Bidewell was committed to jail without bail.

The grand jury at Worcester, Mass., on Saturday returned an indictment for murder—six counts—against Francis E. Hayden of Fitchburg, for poisoning his sister.

Rev. Dr. Withington of Newburyport, ninety years old, on Sunday performed the rite of baptism for an infant of his associate pastor, Mr. Folsom, in the First church at Newbury.

Sheedy McNamara of West Newbury, Mass., who had one uncle a high officer in the British navy and another many years a member of Parliament, and who himself once held a high office in Ireland, was arrested Sunday, and will be before the court for a common drunkard.

Alvan Grover of Foxboro', Mass., recently killed sixteen black snakes in his field. The longest one measured four feet and ten inches. He started, with a stick, to kill two that he saw, when he was attacked by the remaining fourteen.

A Miss Melville, eighteen years old and the daughter of Frank C. Melville, a wealthy merchant of St. Paul, Minn., eloped with and married a handsome cavalry private named Charles Mellier. The father has taken his daughter home, while Mellier is confined in a cell to await trial by court martial for being absent without leave at the time he went off with the girl to get married. Mr. Melville promised the soldier to do all he can to secure his discharge from the army.

New Hampshire Items.

Major Little and wife, of Easton, and their three-year-old daughter, were riding out Saturday when the parents got into a quarrel, during which the child was thrown out and killed.

At the Dartmouth college faculty meeting Friday evening an extensively signed petition was presented by the students apologizing for their recent action. Saturday morning President Bartlett addressed them, saying that in consideration of this expression there would be no further action respecting the expelled men, but they would be received back into regular standing. A rising vote was taken favoring law and order in the college, in accordance with President Bartlett's request, only a few refusing to rise. The pumped men threaten law upon their assailants unless action is taken by the faculty.

Political.

The spouting of the ex-rebel blatherskite who edits the Okolona Southern States has annoyed the democratic leaders to such an extent that they are doing their best to make out that he is in the pay of the republicans. In furtherance of this end a letter has been published in the democratic papers, professing to be written by the manager of the Southern States to the chairman of the Ohio republican committee; the forgery was so bunglingly done that the red-hot denunciation of the fire-eating editor was not needed to prove its falsity, but it shows how anxious the democratic managers are to ward off the damaging influence on democratic prospects of his peculiar advocacy.

Ex-State Senator Cornish, convicted at Belvidere, N. J., of conspiracy to defraud the county of $10,000, was on Saturday sentenced to one year in the State prison. J. H. Sweeney, ex-chief of police of Phillipsburg, convicted of raising a county bill, also received one year. Both these men belonged to one of the county rings that were overthrown by the republican victories at the last State election in New Jersey.

As a result of the adoption of the new constitution in California, several of the mining companies have transferred their base of operations to New York, and others are preparing to follow. In consequence the price of a seat at the New York mining board has risen from $120 to $350.

Traveling is Extra Hazardous

If the tourist is unprovided with some medicinal resource. Changes of temperature, food and water of an unaccustomed or unwholesome quality, and a route that lies in the tropics or other regions where malaria exists, are each and all fraught with danger to one who has been improvident enough to neglect a remedial safeguard. The concurrent testimony of many voyageurs by land and sea establishes the fact that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters enables those who use it to encounter hazards of the nature referred to with impunity; and that, as a medicine adapted to sudden and unexpected exigencies, it is peculiarly valuable. Disorders of the liver, the bowels and the stomach, fever and ague, rheumatism and nervous ailments, brought on by exposure, are among the maladies to which emigrants, travellers and new settlers are most subject. These and others yield to the action of the Bitters promptly and completely.

Storer Encampment extends a cordial invitation to all Soldiers and Sailors of the late war living in this city and vicinity, and also to the sons of soldiers and sailors, to participate with them in the observances of Memorial Day.

PER ORDER.

Soothing to the Fevered Brow is the bay rum which can be purchased by the pint, quart, or gallon of C. B. Barrett & Co., 45 North Market Street.

Lung Fever is hard to endure, but you have no excuse for having it, when you can cure your colds and coughs which will surely end to it, by using Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City. eod&w79

AROUND HOME.

Mr. Charles E. Boynton, No. 18 Bow street, has the exclusive right to bottle the Eldredge Brewing Company's lager beer.

Mr. James T. Fields will deliver a lecture on William Cullen Bryant at Miss Morgan's school, Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock. Holders of tickets to last winter's course of entertainments will be admitted free.

The schooner Union Flag, Frisbee master, from this port for New York, was running in to an anchorage at Vineyard Haven on Friday when the wheel-ropes parted and she collided with the smack Cal Wells, of Greenport, smashing her taffrail, stanchions and some of her stern timbers.

A large confirmation took place at Salmon Falls, Sunday, in the Catholic church, about one hundred young ladies being confirmed by Bishop Healey of Portland and their pastor, Rev. F. X. Bouvier, assisted by Fathers Blodgett of Dover, O'Callaghan of this city, and others. The church was filled to the utmost.

Tickets for the grand concert complimentary to Mr. S. W. Cole, at Music hall to-morrow evening, can now be procured at Preston's; reserved seats 35 cts. each. There will be some unusually good singing at this concert, as the names of the performers advertised will convince all who read the notice; and the very reasonable price at which the tickets are sold, with the attractions offered, should suffice to draw a large audience.

The Reform club held its meeting on Sunday evening at the new Mission hall, Vice President Hall in the chair. Remarks were made by the chairman and Messrs. Randall, Phillips, Davis, Janvrin, Hutchings, Crook, Foster, Haven, French, Thorndike, Hoyt, Sanborn and Pitblado. The speakers expressed their determination to stand by Vice President Hall for the remaining part of the term, and the service was one of much interest. There will be another meeting Wednesday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Harper's Magazine for June contains, among other entertaining articles, "Rye, and round there," with fifteen illustrations; "The Honorable Hudson Bay Company," fourteen illustrations; No. IV of sketches in Tyrol, ten illustrations; "The grand days of histrionics," by Olive Logan, with ten portraits; "A peninsular Canaan," second paper, twelve illustrations; "A free-lecture experience," by James T. Fields, six illustrations; "Young Mrs. Jardine," a novel, by Diniah M. Craik; "The draining of a village," six illustrations; with sketches, short stories, poems, and the usual full and interesting editorial departments. For sale by W. G. Myers and Moses Bros.

Our neighbor of the Times, in addition to looking after the moral and spirituous welfare of the community, proposes hereafter to attend to their corporeal needs as well, having entered into a partnership for the manufacture and sale of a "just splendid" pill, warranted to cure all the ills that flesh is heir to, and to give a tough pull to several new kinds of disease not yet made known to the public. Our reporter went into the Times office Monday evening, and tumbled over several large boxes of the new medicine at the head of the stairs. He barked his shin by the operation, but two of the pills not only healed the wound in twenty minutes, but also removed a large scar of ten years' standing from the back of his hand. We understand that the pills are identical with the "Little Giant."

There are now five weirs along the Maine side of the lower harbor, two additional ones having been put up last week, one extending from Fishing islands in a northerly direction toward the Kittery shore, and the other starting at the eastern end of Whale's-back ledges, and extending southeasterly. The weir off Pocahontas point runs out about a thousand feet, taking in a good part of the channel between Gerrish's island and White island bar. All the wiers, we are informed, have been doing well; whether they catch all the fish or not we cannot say, but not even a conner can now be caught with hook and line in places in the harbor that have swarmed with them and other fish in previous years. Should a big schooner or two go about in the middle of each weir and make a general average of the poles and nets, probably the disgusted amateur fishermen who fail to get a bite when they try for one would bear up under the disaster with a great deal of fortitude.

Eliza Weathersby's Froliques will appear in "Hobbles" next Monday evening, at Music hall.

Mr. D. H. Montgomery has been chosen superintendent of the Sunday school connected with the Middle street church.

Twenty men who have been working in the gravel pit at West Epping for the Concord railroad, at eighty cents a day, on Monday struck for a dollar a day.

At a special meeting of Moses H. Goodrich engine company, held Monday evening, it was voted that the company would parade on Memorial day, in accordance with the invitation of the joint committee.

The Mr. Hall who is president of the reform club is Mr. Ed. F. Hall, and not, as many people seem to suppose, Mr. Edward H. Hall, formerly clerk with the Trust & Guarantee Co., and now in the Mechanics & Traders' bank.

Several of the uncivilized of this community got together in Guppey's woods on the turnpike and had a miserable, cruel, and bloody dog fight Friday just before noon. A couple of ferocious bull dogs were set together by the teeth and they tore each other nearly all to pieces, while the two-legged animals worse than dogs looked on and saw the fun. They are all known and have got to answer to the outraged laws for their conduct. The penalty for each of them is a fine of $200, and imprisonment a year, and it is none too severe. Their names will appear in due time.—Dover Democrat.

"ELCHO III."

The reporter who "did" the recent Boston Bench Show for Turf, Field and Farm, after stating that the first prize in the class of "imported Irish dogs and progeny of first generation" was given to Derg, a dog belonging to the Baltimore Kennel Club, and winner of the first in his class at the New York and Philadelphia shows, says: "Derg is a good dog, but as we disagreed with his winning at New York we must again here. His head is not the true Irish dog's, and another disqualification is his pure white whiskers, which the demands of the standard require to be red. Personally, we should have given 1st to Elcho III., by Elcho, ex Rose, a dog only thirteen months old. We consider him the finest specimen of an Irish setter we have seen for years. So much did we fancy him, that if we had had the means we should never have left Boston until he had become ours. He was for his age a large dog, exceedingly long-headed, and well eared. The shape of his skull is as near perfection as can be had. Slightly roach-backed, he had a strong loin, capital legs and feet, not a white hair on him, dark eyed, dark muzzled, but not black; we fancied him much more than Derg, although he only got a 'commended.' We disagree with the decision of the judges, but know they looked honestly at his immaturity probably—for a year from now he will be still better—and on that account passed him over. Not filled out as he was, we liked him better than any other in his class. He reminded us more of the late Rodman's Dash than any other of his progeny we ever saw. Mr. Adolph Nelson, of Portsmouth, N. H., owns him, and no man ever owned a more typical dog of the strain than this same Elcho III. We shall follow the career of this fellow with interest, for if nothing happens him, he will be heard of often in the future."

MISS NORAH BARTLETT'S DEBUT IN BOSTON.

We find the following notices of this event in the Boston papers of Monday:

The chief interest centred in the metropolitan debut as Julia, in the "Hunchback," of Miss Norah Bartlett, one of Miss Noah's pupils, whose performance was remarkable considering her youth and inexperience, and was marred by few of those blemishes so generally noticeable in novices. She has a beautiful voice, an expressive face, and acts with enthusiasm, grace, tenderness and great intelligence. The audience was enthusiastic in its appreciation of her acting, and was generally impressed that a rarely gifted artist in embryo had appeared before them. Miss Noah played Helen with discreet humor and shared the applause with her pupil. Mr. H. C. Barnabee, who enacted Modus, was accorded a very hearty reception.—Post.

The chief event was the appearance of Miss Norah Bartlett of Portsmouth, N. H., as Julia in "The Hunchback." Miss Bartlett is only seventeen years of age, and has been a pupil of Miss Noah some six months only. This was only her second essay a acting, and it must certainly be regarded as a remarkably successful effort. To the natural advantages of a handsome and expressive face, a graceful figure and good voice, she unites intelligence, a good perception of the requirements of the part as well as the power to execute them, and much more than a fair degree of knowledge of stage business. The latter she has of course obtained from her excellent teacher. Her faults were such as naturally surround the novice, such as are easily corrected. She was at times too declamatory where quiet readings were called for, and her gestures were not always easy and graceful, but these defects, even, were exceptional. She exhibited a refreshing freedom from the constrained manner usually shown by novices, and in many ways displayed an aptitude for the stage. She succeeded in sinking her own identity in that of the character represented to a most remarkable degree, and her performance must be regarded as a wonderfully successful effort for one so young and inexperienced. A more promising debut has rarely been witnessed.—Journal.

Miss Bartlett's performance of Julia in "The Hunchback" was, for a novice, almost wonderful. Of course, from a critical standpoint, there were opportunities to take exception to it, but it is not too much to say that it is seldom that the debut of an actor or actress is so rich in promise of artistic success as was this appearance of Miss Bartlett.—Advertiser.

The Saturday Evening Gazette (issued Sunday) contained the following:

Those who did not attend missed a genuine pleasure that the acting of Miss Norah Bartlett would have given them. This young novice appeared as Julia in "The Hunchback." We do not hesitate to affirm that we have never witnessed a more promising debut than that of this young lady. She has a beautiful voice, an expressive face, and acts with fire, grace, tenderness, and great intelligence. She shows but little of the novice, her gesticulation being free and natural, her walk easy and unembarrassed, and her declamation fluent, expressive, and wholly undeliberate. The earlier scenes of the piece she acted with a charming girlish delicacy, and in the more serious portions of the play there were superb moments in her efforts. Now and then there were slight manifestations of the amateur, but these were surprisingly few. Miss Bartlett has undoubtedly a true genius for the stage, and if she should adopt it as a profession we augur for her a brilliant future, provided her rare talents are guided in the right direction.

LETTER FROM MRS. SOBER.

POTSMOUTH, May 17th.

Deer Childen: I hasen to lift my pen to rite. Sorrey I am to inform you that Potsmouth form Club has busted. It was a kind of awful dolful sound wen it bust. It skeered them temperance foks terible. I was just a hearn that they have been dryin poket hankercheefs ever since. It hapened thusly: Four old presidents and another nice gentelman left it, and so the poor thing got dizy, and some say died. But it must be terible confoundin to them gentlemen that they cant find no koffin to squeze it into. I have not hearn of its funral yet. Some peepul with good earsite thinks or conjectures that its heart begins to thump more helthier than ever. It rezembles Bungo's speeret (mebbe thats not rite) that the five gentelmen spoke of in their deth charge, it won't go out o' town. Mebbe it was needsum for them five gentelmen to sit down and rite an extended epistle to let the hull world know that they had solumly and without any fuss taken their names from that air reform plege. Them respectable citisenz required the nation to kno that they did not leeve the club throo spite, nor anger, nor nothin, but jest they was not a-going to give any more money and furthermore they was tired ov being amung sich rowdies and rows. Mebbe them finanshel five paid all expenses, and besides hed their hearts clean broke likewise with ranters. Well, childen, just think how five reformed, prudenshal, intellectshal gentelmen such as them is, put up with such cant about religun and onlawful rantin about closin saloons as some of them temprance fanatics get off. You will rejoise to heer the next thing I rite: Them five gentelmen hath proklamed aloud in the papers, them five had holard dredful loud that they wood not break there plege. Your mother wos verry glad to heer it. It wood be a most dollarous event or sercumstance to come about if them five leadin citisenz was as the orator saith, "to return to there cups." Everybuddy likes them five, yay, verrily, even the rummys luvs them five. Them five believs in what they call "abstract" prohibitation, but not in practicle prohibitation. Moreover the rummys dont like practicle prohibitation neither. Childen, "abstract" prohibitation never hurt nuthin. Your mother was a-guessin that them five protestin, influenshal gents orter start a bran new club and run it strait. If they want a quiet and modell club they can keep out all the crasy relijus peepul, and do the same with them mad legall critters. It might be some hard to fix up such a concern, but them five is very smart and will attend reglar.

YOUR MOTHER, MRS. SOBER.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 179.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

Dr. Benjamin Franklin was born in Boston in 1706. In 1714 he was sent to the grammar school. It was located in School street, and near where the city hall now stands, or perhaps about where the statue of Franklin now is. When he entered that school he was eight years of age. He continued a year, then went to a school for writing and arithmetic, and continued about another year. This was about the amount of his attending school. When he left his education was not much, but without a school one will become learned, if there is an ardent desire for improvement and the stores of knowledge. It was so with Franklin. His thirst for knowledge was intense, and he became one of the most learned of men, a sage, philosopher and statesman.

A so-called mass meeting of workingmen in Union square, New York, on Friday evening, was a fizzle. About a hundred people listened to an inflammatory address from one Conroy, who admitted that he had just served a sentence in prison; and resolutions laudatory of Kearney and the California constitution were adopted.

—The Congregationalist says that such exclamations as "goodness," "mercy," and "gracious" are almost profane.

—The Mormons have a patriarch, four high priests, five councillors of seventies, sixty-nine elders, twenty priests, thirty-five teachers, four deacons, and 387 members, in Scotland. The baptisms last year were 132, and 131 converts were sent to Utah.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial Disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has established the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of chum, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to any constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Disturbed feeling, Sick Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensitive impress. Are does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, coughing up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores are ulcerated frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

Alpine Silver Mining Co.,
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splans, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Application for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and Consumption are frequently the effects of an long-lived Catarrh, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

It can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, incrusted matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the ulceration and inflammation subdued and healed, the entire membranous linings of the head are cleansed and purified. Continuously its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the foul poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal disease.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen,—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through one nostril. I had dropings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy for it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored. I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no dropings in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I should feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made my familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14. JAS. F. DERBY.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Fun for all Concerned.

In Plymouth avenue the other afternoon, a boy and girl held a rope across the sidewalk, and accosted every one with, "won't you jump, sir, before you go past?" A gentleman settled his hat firmly on his head, looked around to see that no one was near, measured the distance with a practiced eye, jumped the flying rope with all the ease and accuracy of youth, and then marched on with a smile on his face. Not far behind him was a popular Main street grocer, who observed the performance, and at once caught the humor of the thing. He is bulky in form and short in wind, but when the inquiry came, "Won't you jump, sir?" he replied, "Of course I will," and forthwith spread himself in the air with an abandon that threatened to burst his coat, but which cleared the rope, to the infinite delight of the children. The next was the critical test. She was young and shapely, bright of face and stylish of apparel, and she had admired the aerial flights of her predecessors. It was her turn, and to the honor of the sex be it said, she did not shirk the responsibility. The trail was picked up and firmly grasped, the body swayed for a moment in time with the rope, then a swing, a flash of cardinal hose in the sunlight as she swept through the air with the greatest of ease, and she pursued her way without a misplaced ruffle to tell the story of her daring.—Rochester Democrat.

Ghosts.

Not Col. Ingersoll's "aristocracy of the air," but real human ghosts. Ghosts that were once healthy men and women, but are now simply the "ghosts of what they once were." As we meet them, and inquire the cause of all this change, they repeat the old, old story, "a cold," "neglected cough," "catarrh," "overwork," or "dyspepsia," "liver complaint," and "constipation," with unsuccessful physicians and remedies. In offering his Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets for the cure of the above affections, Dr. Pierce does not recommend them as a "sure cure" in all stages. For if the lungs be half wasted away, or there is a cancerous complication, no physician or medicine can cure. The Discovery is, however, an unequaled pectoral and blood-purifier. It speedily cures the most aggravated cough, or cold, and in its early or middle stages, consumption. By correcting all irregularities of the stomach and liver, it readily cures blotches, pimples, scrofulous ulcers, "bunches" or tumors. Hundreds testify that it has restored their health, after eminent physicians had failed. For constipation use the Pellets. As a local remedy for catarrh, use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

—We don't feel certain as to which letter of the alphabet is the fastest, but we have seen a decanter. We would add that any paragrapher who ventures to annex to the above statement a remark to the effect that he fears we have seen a decanter oftener than was good for us will make an enemy. You hear us? —Boston Post.

—John A. Sutter, the discoverer of gold in California, is living in comparative poverty at Litiz, Pa. A correspondent of the Philadelphia Times visited him recently, and found him a hale old man, fond of relating his Pacific coast experiences. He went to California in 1839, became the Mexican agent, acquired immense landed possessions, and was a for a while literally monarch of all he surveyed. He first saw gold there in the hands of playing children, and soon his land, to which he had no legal title, was taken by miners. Litigation completed his financial downfall, and he came to the east. The man who first found gold in Arizona is equally unrewarded, according to a correspondent of the Chicago times, who came across him at Horse Head. He is an old Spaniard, named Barrardo Treyes, and keeps a miserable tavern; but once he was wealthy, the yield of his first "find" being $60,000. Rascally companions robbed him.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 21, 1879.

Report of Concord Railroad Directors.

The annual report of the directors of the Concord railroad for the year ending March 31st shows that that gross receipts have fallen off during the year about 2 7-10ths per cent in the passenger department and nearly six per cent in freights. There has also been reduction of twenty-two per cent in the amounts received from the government for the transportation of mails, but the decrease in the gross receipts has been partially offset by a reduction in operating expenses. The usual ten per cent dividend has been paid the stockholders out of the net income. The total earnings during the year were $733,004.20; expenditures, $414,157.11; leaving a balance of $318,-847.09; from which was paid taxes on capital stock, $35,465.28; Manchester & Lowell railroad, $69,962.41; rent on Concord & Portsmouth, $25,000; Suncook Valley, $8094; Nashua, Acton & Boston, $11,000; rolling stock, Nashua, Acton & Boston, $18,707.68; leaving as a balance $150,617.72, from which two dividends of five per cent were paid, amounting to $150,000. The road-bed and track have been kept in thorough repair, and are believed to be in better condition than at the close of any previous year. There has been no injury to persons during the year. Total tonnage transported, 674,-856 tons, equal to 21,609,056 tons for one mile. Number of passengers carried, 489,904, equal to to 10,580,508 for one mile. Total train mileage, 613,619 miles. The annual meeting is to be held in Concord, May 27th.

Missing Steamships.

Five steamships which sailed from the United States for Europe last winter, with freight but no passengers, and one from England for America, are missing and will never heard of again.

The first steamship missing this season was the "Copia," from Barrow, England, bound for Montreal. She sailed from Barrow on September 11th, and has not since been heard from. The number of persons on board and the quality of the cargo are not known. She was an iron vessel, built in 1876.

The "Herman Ludwig," which sailed from New York for Antwerp on September 28th, with a miscellaneous cargo, has disappeared without leaving a trace. She was an iron screw steamer of 954 net tonnage, built in 1870, and owned in Antwerp.

The steamship "Homer" sailed from Boston for Liverpool on December 15th, with 43,000 bushels of wheat and other cargo, and no news of her has ever been obtained.

The next steamship which disappeared was the "Zanzibar." She belonged to what is called the Unicorn line, and was chartered by the State line to take the place of the steamship "State of Louisiana," which was wrecked in December. She sailed from New York January 11th for Glasgow, with 2,103 barrels and 6,-752 sacks of flour, 47,593 bushels of wheat, and other miscellaneous cargo. She was an iron screw propeller, of 1,-460 tons, built in 1877, and was owned in West Hartlepool, England.

The steamship "Surbiton" left New York for Rotterdam on February 18th, with a miscellaneous cargo, a large part of it being grain. The only clue of any kind concerning her was brought by the ship "Regent," which picked up a boat with the name "Surbiton" painted on the stern. The "Surbiton" was an iron screw steamer, built in 1867, of 883 tons burden, and owned in Newcastle, England.

The steamship "Bernina" of the Great Western Steamship Company, which sailed from from New York March 29th for Bristol, England, carried a miscellaneous cargo, including 66,650 bushels of grain. The "Bernina" was built at Newcastle, England, in 1876, and was owned in South Shields. She was of 1,151 tons burden. She too is missing.

Peculiar features in the loss of these vessels are that none of them carried passengers; that they were English built steamships, with water-tight compartments, and comparatively new; and that they were all of less than 1,500 tons in carrying capacity. The loss of property caused by these disasters is estimated at $1,500,000.

The Negro Exodus.

There are now 128 negro families in St. Louis awaiting transportation Kansasward, but the return current is nearly as strong as that from the Mississippi valley. The colored relief association cares for the outgoing refugees, and several St. Louis firms in the southern trade send back all those whose experience has led them to long for the old cotton fields again. The western sanitary commission, an organization which outlasted the war, has gone into the relief business independent of the St. Louis colored societies. Its members are opposed to the exodus itself, but propose to make better provision for the refugees, now poorly cared for in the city. An old foundry has been fitted up to accommodate 600, and such arrangements will be made as shall insure the health and comfort of the few who still come up the river from time to time.

Some of the Kansas papers say that there is employment in that State for all the southern refugees, and that the demand for them at present exceeds the supply.

The Direct War Tax.

Secetary Sherman has sent to the Senate a statement showing that the amount of the direct tax due and uncollected from eleven southern States which participated in the rebellion aggregates $2,725,104, and that the balances due from all other States and Territories amount to $445,-228. The principal items forming this latter total are $207,685 for Wisconsin, $162,648 for New Mexico, $62,382 for Kansas, $35,141 for Oregon, and $26,-982 for Utah. Offsetting war claims have been presented, but not yet adjusted, from Wisconsin and Kansas. The States which adhered to the Union assumed for themselves the collection and payment of their respective apportionments of the total amount of the direct tax levied, viz: $20,000,000. The amounts reported as still due from the eleven seceding States are about as follows: Virginia, $286,000; North Carolina, $199,000; South Carolina, $53,000; Georgia, $502,000; Alabama, $529,000; Mississipppi, $343,000; Louisiana, $71,000; Tennessee, $288,000; Arkansas, $108,000; Florida, $71,000; Texas, $174,000.

News and Notes.

Several Mexican officers captured recently in the ranks of a revolutionary party in Honduras are to be tried by court martial and shot.

Jacob Gettinger and John Hepperdezel, two German deserters from Fort Saunders, Wyoming, were hanged recently by the citizens of Kit Carson, Col., for horse stealing.

Three road agents entered Bull Dog ranch, twenty miles from Deadwood, Dakota, Saturday night, and compelling the proprietor to stand with his hands up, plundered the ranch of considerable money and jewelry.

Advices from India are to the effect that a savage state of outlawry and violence prevails in the Poona districts. Predatory bands are committing all sorts of excesses,—firing government buildings, the police offices and a large number of dwellings. A manifesto has been issued by the followers of Wassadoo Bulwund, chief of the outlaws, threatening to precipitate another mutiny, unless labor is furnished the people by the government. At last accounts the authorities were taking energetic measures to suppress the lawlessness of the brigands.

Edwin Booth says his assailant, Gray, is only a dangerous lunatic, and that the nervous shock to himself and Mrs. Booth has been so great that they have been able to do little more than play nurse to each other since the shooting.

The Summerside, P.E.I., Progress tells that when Capt. Dauphine, of the "Mystic" was fishing on the banks last month, in hauling the trawls he brought up the body of a man on the hooks. The corpse was dressed in a new suit of oil clothes, and had a white handkerchief round the neck.

Lieut C. M. Carrow, of the 7th U. S. Cavalry, blew out his brains with a navy revolver in his room at the Planters' house, at St. Louis, Mo., Sunday night.

L. Longbehm, a German, living on a vegetable ranche about five miles from Antioch, Contracosto county, Cal., last Friday beat his little boy and girl, aged respectively six and four years, to death with a club, cut their throats, and then went to the house and blew his own brains out with a shot gun. The family had always lived happily together, and the act is attributed to temporary insanity.

Mark Anderson, a negro barber of Columbus, Ohio, whose wife had left him, on Sunday last dangerously cut a white man with a razor on her account, and on Monday nearly severed the woman's head from her body with the same weapon.

The proprietor of the Pullman car invention reports that paper wheels have run 400,000 miles under his cars without repair, while the average running power of an ordinary wheel is from 55,000 to 90,000 miles.

All but one of the insurance companies in which Colonel Dwight of Binghamton, New York, was insured have agreed not to pay the claims of the estate against them, except by the process of law. They have resorted to every possible device to make it appear that the deceased committed suicide, but without success. They still think that they have an equal chance of resisting payment in the courts, and will band together in a common defense. The real motive of this plan is evidently to secure a compromise, which will save a considerable amount. The heirs of Colonel Dwight insist, however, that they will exact every cent, and have secured able counsel.

The body of Patrick Goggan was found on the track at Androscoggin station, near Lewiston, Me., Monday forenoon. Both legs were cut off and his person mangled. His hat was found on a flat car. Probably he fell asleep on the car and rolled under the train as it was being made up. No one on the road knew of the accident.

Thirteen and a half million gallons of beer were sold in New York city for the year ending May 1st.

Phebe Goodwin of West Newbury, Mass., is ninety-nine years old. She has lived a single life, and is so much accustomed to doing her own business that she has her gravestones all marked, with the exception of the date, which she is going to trust with her friends.

Admiral Selwyn of the British navy has designed the largest iron vessel yet built. Its displacement is to be 14,767 tons, against 11,000 tons of the "Inflexible," the largest iron clad yet attempted, although not yet launched. Its armor is to be thirty inches at the vital parts of the ship, while that of the "Inflexible" at those places is only twenty-four. It is to carry eight 100-ton and eight 80-ton guns, while the other will have when done only four 80-ton guns. The armor alone will weigh the enormous amount of 4,500 tons, equal to the full tonnage of a large ocean steamer.

Mr. E. Brooks Scovel, who married Miss Marcia Roosevelt, of New York, made a most successful debut at Brescia, in Italy, on the 26th of April, in the opera "La Traviata." The success of Mr. Scovel's debut was enhanced by the appearance with him of Miss Lilian Norton as "Violetta," a part which she sang and acted to perfection. After the last act the whole house rose, and the American artists were called out twelve times. The following morning a band came to the hotel and serenaded them, calling first for the tenor and then the soprano. The street was filled, and when Mr. Scovel and Miss Norton made their appearance they received the Italian ovation, with shouts of bravo! bravo! The next night the theatre was crowded from pit to gallery, and the enthusiasm was even greater than on the first night.

A strange story comes from the State prison at Thomaston, Me. Six years ago James A. Lowell of Lewiston was convicted of the murder of his wife, Lizzie, a skeleton supposed to be hers having been found in the woods. The defence claimed that Mrs. Lowell had eloped with a circus man, but this could not be proved, and her husband was sentenced to be hanged. This was afterward commuted to life imprisonment; and now David Stevens, who was committed last year for bigamy, claims to have seen Mrs. Lowell in a western city as late as 1876. He says she was living with one Spaulding, and during a quarrel in a beer garden the circumstances of her career were divulged.

The Fairfield, Me., Chronicle relates an anecdote of a singular dream that came to pass thirty years afterward. Two young men, residents of Norridgewock, met one morning, and one said: "Charles, I dreamed last night that you were a judge of the supreme court of Maine, that I was a minister, and that you called on me to open your court with prayer." Just thirty years after this, Rev. Dr. Charles F. Allen, late president of the State college, happened to step into the supreme court room in Augusta. Judge Charles Danforth beckoned to him and asked him to open his court with prayer, and the dream of thirty years before was verified. Rev. Dr. Allen is now pastor of the Methodist church at Fairfield.

Political.

The Warner silver bill now before Congress is a contrivance to sell silver to the treasury for sixteen per cent more than it is worth. The bill authorizes any one to take bullion to the treasury, and receive silver certificates for each 412 1-2 grains of silver. That is, if the bill was law today, for each 84 1-2 cents' worth of silver bullion the holder could receive a one-dollar certificate from the treasury. The government owns the bullion on which the certificates were issued, but by the bill it cannot coin it into standard dollars, and can only get rid of it by going into the market. It would then be obliged to sell what it paid a dollar for, for 84 1-2 cents. But the purchaser has the option to present it at the treasury again, and receive one dollar in certificates for each 84 1-2 cents' worth in bullion, and so the operation may be repeated ad infinitum. This bare-faced plan to rob the treasury is offered "in the interest of the taxpayers."

Eugene Hale says that "in Maine, in those parts where the republican defeat was the worst in 1878, the feeling is excellent, and everybody is eager for the canvass to begin."

The Aroostook, Me., Times thinks that "when Congress shall have succeeded in making eight hours equal to ten hours, and eighty cents equal to one dollar, it will have demonstrated the immense superiority of free institutions over the despotism which inspires the fundamental rules of mathematic."

Ex-State Treasurer Jones of Georgia is being sued for $325,000, misappropriated by him in office. Mr. Jones is the reform democrat who took charge of the State finances after Bob Toombs and his followers had succeeded in ousting the dishonest carpet-baggers from office.

AROUND HOME.

Rev. Moses Ballou, a Universalist minister of wide repute, who was formerly settled in this city, died at Acto, New Jersey, on Monday morning.

Tuesday forenoon the water wheel of R. W. Lord & Co.'s cotton mill at Kennebunk depot caused such a break in the gearing that the mill cannot resume operations for a fortnight.

The Whale's-back fog-horn has been tooting a large part of the time for more than a week. The two light-keepers there have no time to devote to the improvement of their minds just now, and not a great deal for sleep.

A small dog belonging to W. H. C. Follansby, while at Hampton beach the other day showed signs of hydrophobia, and was killed. A large dog last week had similar symptoms, frothing at the mouth and biting several smaller dogs.

The Folio for June has been received, containing eight pieces of vocal and instrumental music, a large amount of interesting reading matter and a full-page portrait of Arthur Sullivan, the musical composer of H. M. S. Pinafore. Published by White, Smith & Co., Boston.

The Eldredge Brewing Company's lager beer can always be found, fresh-bottled, at Butler & Laighton's, No. 1 Market square. They receive the beer direct from the brewery and bottle it themselves, consequently consumers are sure of getting the very best at all times.

A team belonging to Patrick Quill of Greenland, while being driven down Islington street, Tuesday evening, ran into a drain which was open, the horse falling to the bottom. With some difficulty he was got out without any material damage either to himself or the wagon.

Leonard Thornton and his brother Bernard have been arrested at Biddeford for stealing hens. They had their headquarters in an old house in the suburbs, and put the whole neighborhood under contribution. A harness stolen from somebody was found in the house by the police.

The Manchester Mirror of Monday says: "The gray trotting mare, Nellie Locke, with a record of 2:28, which used to be such a favorite with many New Hampshire horsemen years ago, and which has figured in many a race in this city, was sold at public auction this forenoon at the low figure of $80, to a Mr. Merrill of Wentworth." This is the mare of that name formerly owned by Woodbury Locke of this city.

Since Sunday night a quantity of material, evidently from a vessel, probably a schooner, has been washed ashore at and near York beach, some of which bears the initials, as far as can be made out, of "J. D." Fishermen have also picked up in the vicinity a considerable quantity of clothing, in the pocket of a coat being found an envelope addressed to John S. Smyth. A dense fog has prevailed off this coast recently, and it is presumed that some vessel has been wrecked.

Do not forget the concert complimentary to Mr. S. W. Cole, at Music hall this evening. In addition to the singing by the chorus class under the direction of Mr. Cole, Messrs. G. F. Monroe and Thomas Chase, Jr., the popular tenors, and Misses Emma J. Flanders and M. A. Dole, sopranos, and the Music Hall quartette, will take part in the concert. Miss Alice Hanscom will accompany. All who appreciate good vocal music can secure an evening's pleasure for 35 cents—the price of a reserved seat at the concert. See advertisement.

We notice that in other cities and towns battalions composed of the sons of soldiers and sailors in the late war have been formed, for the purpose of joining with the Grand Army of the Republic in the observances of Memorial day. There are in Portsmouth, of whose war record we may all justly be proud, enough sons of the defenders of the old flag to make a large muster, and we hope they will turn out a battalion that will be a credit to the city, to do honor to the memory of the patriot heroes who rendered the Union services in the dark days of the war.

The engagement of Eliza Weathersby's Frolicques for Music hall on Monday evening next has been cancelled.

A tent for the accommodation of boating and fishing parties, picknickers, etc., is now up on one of the Fishing islands.

Mr. L. G. Towle of Exeter has leased the Sackett house at Hampton beach, and it will be known hereafter as the Shore house.

The young people's union prayer meeting will be held on Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock, instead of Wednesday evening as previously announced. All are invited.

The report of the treasurer of Rockingham county shows that the debt during the year ending May 1st was decreased $12,721.32. The present indebtedness is $109,367.95. The amount expended for paupers during the year was $38,031.55, being an increase of $16,034.64 since 1875. The appropriation for paupers for the current year is $35,000.

The new "Pickering avenue" is bounded and fenced off in a temporary and somewhat rough manner, on the west side through the Marcy shipyard. And now a question presses hard, viz.: Do not the needs of our city require an opening further into Mechanic street, by which a continuous thoroughfare will be had from South Mill street to Point of Graves, which by gradual improvements would become one of the most beautiful of our city attractions as well as of permanent advantage in many ways? CITIZEN.

The body of Mr. Jeremiah Rogers, of Biddeford, was found in the lower canal at Lawrence, Mass., on Saturday, and taken to Biddeford on Sunday. There is a strong suspicion of foul play. Mr. Rogers left Biddeford for Lawrence on the 10th of this month with the intention of buying a farm near Lawrence. He first stopped at the Franklin house, but being dissatisfied started out at eleven o'clock Saturday night, the 10th inst., with a friend named Carr, for better quarters. This was the last seen of him alive. Carr returned to the Franklin house about two o'clock next morning. Mr. Rogers' body, when found, was badly bruised, and his head bloody and swollen.

Mrs. Maria Cilley of Saco has been carrying on a wholesale business in the clothes and house-plant stealing line for two years, but has at last come to grief. On Friday last she was tried on two complaints for stealing plants, and fined $10 and costs in each case. In her house the officers found thirty-five pairs of hose, over thirty each of napkins and handkerchiefs, twenty-seven pairs of drawers, nineteen sheets, a large number of chemises, ten night dresses, etc., all of which articles were stolen. As soon as this became noised abroad ladies began to go up to the house to see if they could find lost articles of clothing. The result was that ten different parties have recognized their clothing. On Saturday Mrs. Cilley was tried on ten or eleven warrants, and paid fines and costs amounting to nearly $150. One or two warrants are held over her.

Naval Matters.

The navy department has made an appeal to the supreme court, from the decision of the court of claims in favor of Commodore Temple, that naval officers are entitled to eight cents per mile for expenses while travelling outside the United States on public duty, instead of only the actual expenses, as the department holds.

The flag-ship Powhatan arrived at Port Royal, S. C., on Sunday last, from Norfolk, Va.

—The Gloucester Advertiser says circus lemonade is making its appearence, and adds that it was so weak last year that there were fears it would not be able to get around this season.

Protect the System from Malaria.

It is possible to do this even in regions of country where miasma is most rife, and where the periodic fevers which it causes assume their most formidable types. The immense popularity of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is very largely attributable to the fact of its efficacy as a remedy for chills and fever, bilious remittents, and as a preventive of the various forms of malarial disease. In those portions of the West and South where complaints of this nature] prevail, and in the tropics, it is particularly esteemed for the protective influence which it exerts; and it has been very widely adopted as a substitute for the dangerous and comparatively ineffective alkaloid, sulphate of quinine. Physicians have not been among the last to concede its merits, and the emphatic professional indorsements which it has received have added to the reputation it has obtained at home and abroad.

Storer Encampment extends a cordial invitation to all Soldiers and Sailors of the late war living in this city and vicinity, and also to the sons of soldiers and sailors, to participate with them in the observances of Memorial Day.

PER ORDER.

That Cold of Yours may run into consumption if you don't take Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

Avoid Fraudulent Imitations.

The many imitations of a good thing are the best evidences of its worth. No one ever saw a counterfeit note on a busted bank. So the imitators in plan and policy of the celebrated Louisiana State Lottery Company make a flourish in a way calculated to attrack some notice; but ten years' practical test has proven that this institution has always fulfilled its promises to the letter, and many hundred thousands of dollars have been distributed. For further information, apply to M. A. Bauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans.

That Hectic Flush Denotes Danger. Relieve yourself by using and at once too, Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

"Truth lies in a nut-shell," and "brevity is the soul of wit." To be brief, when the shell is broken, the truth will be discovered, that the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, New York, now kept on both plans, the American $2.50 or $3.00, and the European $1.00, and upwards, per day, gives more satisfaction for the same money, than any other first-class house in Gotham. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Grand Central.

In the cure of Consumption there is probably no known Medicine equal to the Syrup of Hypophosphites prepared by Mr. James I. Fellows, chemist, St. John, N. B. A number of cases have come under our notice the past year when the results which have followed its use have been astonishing. We write this unsolicitated by any one, and advise the afflicted to try it.

Lungs cannot be made but can be saved by the use of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup if taken in time.

BANISH THE HEADACHE by going to the headquarters for the sale of bay rum in Boston at C. B. Barrett & Co.'s, 45 North Market Street.

Great Joy over the fact that your cough can be thoroughly cured by Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. THE NEW MODEL

BUCKEYE MOWER.

THE SUBSCRIBER continues for sale this standard machine. Twenty years of constant and successful competition with the combined skill of all other makers has perfected a machine that may justly be called the standard. It is now the most simple and combines more practical and excellent features than any other machine, and will be sold at greatly reduced prices this year. It is time for farmers to purchase articles that have true and known merits and not be deceived by the plausible stories told by irresponsible parties; too much money has already been wasted in this way. Before purchasing please examine the NEW MODEL BUCKEYE at the residence of the Subscriber or at the store of FRED P. WILSON, Portsmouth, N. H. c6jy1

Pure Well Water.

A Tribune correspondent gives his method of insuring a supply of pure cold well water:

"After using tainted and dangerous well water some years I finally took out the stones of the well to the bottom; relaid the stones: when eight feet from the surface of the ground I leveled the stone and made a half bushel of hydraulic cement with a bushel of coarse sand, and plastered it at the outer edge of the stones and up against the ground six inches; in this placed good cloved stones around the well and leveled up the inner space. On this outer circle of stone and cement was placed another circle well bedded in cement, a trifle wider than the first, and so on up until the top was laid entirely in cement, taking care that every space where the stones and ground came together was filled in with cement. I laid four joints eight feet long two and a half feet apart; the space up to the top of the joints was filled in same as below, and while the cement was still wet the platform was laid down and nailed. The stones thus laid soon became like a solid rock, and no drop of surface water can reach the water reservoir except it first filter through eight feet of earth. Through all the seasons the water is as pure and sweet as the best filtered water. No angle-worms, bugs, toads, frogs or ants can possible get into the well, and the water remains several degrees colder in summer than when the top was laid with loose stones. Flour barrels of cement, costing about $1.25 each, are sufficient for the whole, and for this slight outlay with the necessary labor the inestimable treasure of pure, cold water may be secured the year round."

—An art critic, describing a recent collection of bric-a-brac, says:—"The visitor's eye will be struck on entering the room with a porcelain umbrella." This is the strangest inducement to visit an art exhibition that we ever heard of.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette s published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
—THE—
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a general constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have a sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no rival, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians prescribe it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS
"THE LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely large than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They act without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Fullness after the Meal, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Pain in the region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to the Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their alterative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharges falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total destruction of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, disturbed sleep, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

A GOOD PLAN
Anybody can learn to make money rapidly operating in Stocks, by the "Two Unerring Rules for Success," in Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s new circular; the combination method, which this firm has made so successful, enables people with large or small means to reap all the benefits of largest capital and best skill. Thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one vast amount and operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of the largest operator. Immense profits are divided monthly. Any amount, from $5 to $5,000, or more, can be used successfully. N. Y. Baptist Weekly, September 26th, 1878, says, "By the combination system $15 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $350, or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock, during the month, according to the market." Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th: "The combination method of operating stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent Sept. 12th: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles, and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." Brooklyn Journal, April 29th: "Our editor made a net profit of $101.25 from $29 in one of Messrs. Lawrence & Co.'s combinations." New circular (mailed free) explains everything. Stocks and bonds wanted. Governments bonds supplied. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, N. Y.

Alpine Silver Mining Co.,
OF COLORADO.
CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splans, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.
The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.
Three of the leading mines are well opened up and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.
The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.
Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 15, 1879: "The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, the money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing in one of the largest banks in the city." TESTIMONIALS.

I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

Boston, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and combined forms of diseases assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

IT can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what follows a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, incrusted matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the foul odor of the inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membranous lining of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionality its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system its dead poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen,—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through my nostril. I had dropping in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy for it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored, I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the CURE on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made my familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. P. DERBY.

Daily Chronicle.

An Unexpected Bequest.

A bright fireside, with fender and fire-irons shining like gold, windows hung with drapery of Turkey red, walls of crimson-flock paper, starred over with gold, and a little walnut stand of books opposite—Mrs. Milford's parlor was a cabinet gem in its way. Not that the Milford's were rich. On the contrary, Merton Milford was a bank clerk, on a salary so small that it sometimes became an almost insolvable problem to make both ends meet.

Almost, we say, but never quite; for Lucy Milford had learned the lesson of household economy, and it was her pride to be able to say that they had never been in debt. Yet Lucy had a woman's taste and a woman's cravings after the beautiful and the costly; and on this special evening, as she sat by the fire leaning one cheek on her hand, her foot mechanically agitating the rocker of her baby's cradle, she was thinking of the possible—the unattainable.

"If we were only rich," thought Lucy as she gazed across the room, "how I would like a Persian-patterned carpet, instead of this staring red and green ingrain. And a little oil painting, or a bunch of water-colored flowers over the table, where the map of the city hangs now. And then I could afford a Valenciennes cap for the baby, and a real poison silk for myself; and I could surprise Merton with half a dozen silk handkerchiefs, and I would send papa a new meerschaum, real sea-foam, with an amber mouth-piece and odd carvings on the bowl, and mamma should have an Indian-bordered shawl, and—"

Bang went the front door. Tramp, tramp, came a well-known footstep along the hall, with just enough pause to fling the hat carelessly on the little circlet of pegs, which in that unpretentious household took the place of a marble-topped, mirror-backed hall rack.

"It's Merton," said Mrs. Milford, starting up; and Merton it was.

"Hallo, Puss," said Merton, coming in, flushed and breathless. "And how is the little kitten?"

"Kitty is well," said Mrs. Milford. "Shall I order tea, dear?"

"Yes."

The little maid-servant—Lucy Milford only kept one—brought in the urn, and when she had tip-toed out again, Mrs. Milford looked her husband in the face.

"Merton," said she, "something has happened. I can read it in your eyes. What is it?"

"What a little fortune-teller you are, to be sure," said he. "Yes, something has happened. I've got a telegram from Fortley, and old uncle Jesse is dying. Uncle Jesse, the rich old miser. And Wirt informs me that his last will, made in a fit of pique against the directors of the Fortley Orphan Asylum, leaves everything to us."

"To us, Merton?"

Lucy drew her breath with a little gasping sound.

"Why, it must be half a million of money!"

"That, at least. We shall be rich people, Puss."

"Oh, Merton, it scarcely seems possible! It's like a dream."

"It's a dream with a pretty solid vein of reality running through it, you'll find, my dear," said the husband.

"And just before you came in, I was sitting here and thinking what I would do, and how I would ornament my home if only we were rich!" cried Lucy, clapping her hands.

Mr. Milford pinched her cheek, and laughed complacently. Evidently he was in the best of humor.

"Half a million, Lucy!" said he. "You shall have a set of diamonds that will rival those of Mrs. Merriwell, the banker's wife, and a real cashmere shawl. And I'll order a pony phaeton for your own driving, and you—"

"But we shall buy a country place, shan't we, Merton?" wistfully asked Lucy, the soft carmine shadows deepening over her cheek.

"A country place! What for?" said Merton, a little contemptuously. "What on earth should we bury ourselves in the country for, when we can buy a place at the West End, and surround ourselves with all the refinements of city life?"

A shade of disappointment came over Lucy's face.

"Oh, Merton, I have always dreamed of a country house," sighed she.

"With burglars and mildew and spiders thrown in, eh? Nonsense, my dear, nonsense! The city is the place to live in."

"And we can have papa and mamma to live with us, can't we?"

"W—well, I don't know exactly about that," said Milford, thoughtfully stroking his moustache; "I'll buy 'em a snug little place, if you say so, my love; but I never did believe in fathers and mothers-in-law living with their children. Every household is complete in itself. That's my notion."

"Oh, Merton, how can you talk so?" cried Lucy in a pained voice.

"Oh, well, Lucy, there's no use in sentimentalizing on these points," retorted her husband, a little brusquely.

"I don't care to be rich if I can't enjoy the pleasures of my money," said Mrs. Milford, pouting.

"So you may enjoy them if you only will be reasonable about it."

"And I've always thought so much of having mamma with me."

"Better leave off thinking of it then," said Milford, lighting a cigar and leaning back in a chair, the better to enjoy it.

"I suppose I can have a nurse and servants as I please, now?" hazarded Mrs. Milford, wisely steering the conversation off a barque away from the shoals of danger.

"Twenty, if you like, my dear," replied Merton.

"And a housekeeper, too?" [illegible]

ler's?"

"Not a housekeeper," said Mr. Milford, shaking his head. "No fine ladies for me, disguised as dependents. As many servants as you like, no one to domineer over them—a proxy for yourself."

"I will have a housekeeper," said Lucy, excitedly.

"No, you will not, my dear—not in my house."

"And can we have a cottage at Brighton?"

"Why do you say Brighton?" gravely questioned Merton. "To my mind, Puss, Brighton is nothing more than a hot-bed of folly and flippery. At Hastings, now?"

"I don't care for Hastings," said Lucy, moodily: "the air never did agree with me." Lucy burst into tears.

Mr. Milford got up and strode out of the room.

"Merton, Merton!" cried the wife, "where are you going?"

"To the billiard-room at the corner," said Milford, hotly. "I can find friends enough there, I dare say, to give to me the sympathy my wife seems inclined to withhold."

Lucy cried bitterly. In all the bright years of their married life they never had any serious differences until now. Was it possible that riches were destined to bring them only a meed of misery instead of the expected rush of happiness? Next came a feeling of bitterness and resentment. She would show Merton that she was not to be treated like a child. He came home, but Mrs. Milford feigned to be asleep. She did not come down to breakfast next morning, making an excuse of a slight headache, the effect of last night's tears, and Milford ate and drank alone.

"Humph!" commented he, swallowing his coffee in a succession of dyspeptic-breeding gulps. "A pretty sort of a life this."

For three days Lucy cried and Merton sulked. At the end of that time he came home with a curious expression on his face.

"Puss," said he.

Lucy looked up, her pensive face brightening at the old, caressing pet-name.

"I've just had a second telegram—Uncle Jesse is dead."

"Poor old man," said Lucy soberly. "Do you know, Merton, I begin to doubt whether Uncle Jesse's money will do us any good."

"I don't think it will," said Milford, "because you see the old man rallied at last, and made a new will in favor of the Refuge for Old Men."

Portsmouth Chronicle

THURSDAY, MAY 22, 1879.

Northern Railroad.

The annual report of the directors of the Northern railroad for the year ending March 31st shows the gross income of the road to have been $426,873.87. The expenses were $266,382.92; State taxes, $31,646.42; and new rails, $21,472.51, making a total of $319,501.85, and leaving the net earnings $107,372.02. Balance of interest account, $51,292.99, and balance of accounts added to this gives a total of $213,675.01. In December, 1878, was paid $74,932.50, and in June, 1879, a like amount in dividends, which makes the balance of the income account $123,-232.97. The directors say: "The operations of the road during the year have not met the hopes of increased business, and the receipts which circumstances at the commencement of it seemed to encourage. The actual result has been a falling off of $87,157.48 in the gross receipts, with a reduction of $27,389.69 in expenses, thus making a diminution of $9767.79 in the net earnings, as compared with last year."

News and Notes.

At Terre Haute, Ind., Wm. Nelson, colored, has been sentenced to the penitentiary for one year and a fine of $1000 for marrying a white woman. The prosecution originated in spite, but Nelson was convicted under the a law of 1856, which Judge Long held valid through a decision of the supreme court.

The schooner Hattie M. Howes, Captain Hawes, is reported at Baracoa, with the mate dead and others of the crew sick with yellow fever. The vessel is owned by Rowland Howe and others of Providence.

The salmon canning business on the Pacific coast has received a decided set back owing to being overdone, many of the small canneries have ceased operations. It is thought that the production in Oregon will be 150,000 to 200,000 cases less than last year.

A raid was made by North Adams, Mass., officers the other night on the notorious "State Line" house where Dailey committed his murder last summer. Charles Stevens, the proprietor, escaped into Vermont in his night-clothes, but the officers caught Adelbert Brown, who had enticed a young girl, an operative in one of the North Adams factories up there. In court Brown pl[illegible] of fornication and [illegible] costs.

Charles Cobb, pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree and was sentenced to State prison for life.

While Benjamin Jenkins of London, Ont., was driving to market Tuesday, 20th inst., the team ran away and he was thrown out, causing injuries from which he died soon after. His nephew, William Jenkins, and his sister-in-law, Miss Elliot, who were with him, were fatally injured.

Benjamin H. Snow, of Wellfleet, Mass., committed suicide on the night of the 19th inst., by drowning. He was found next morning on the flats at the South Wellfleet wharf with a rope around his neck, to which was attached a heavy stone. Supposed cause—despondency on account of the death of his wife a few weeks since.

Switzerland abolished capital punishment in 1874, but since that time the increase in the number of murders has been so great that capital punishment has been re-established, a majority of the people and a majority of the cantons voting for it.

The schooner Armada, laden with cord wood, sailed from Bear river, N. S., on Friday, May 16th, for Boston, with a crew of six persons and one lady passenger. Early Saturday morning, in the bay of Fundy, they were run down by a Norwegian barque, three of the crew succeeding in getting on board the barque at the time of the collision. The schooner filled with water rapidly, and careened over. The four persons remaining on board clung to the side till daylight, when the vessel's boat was bailed out and they succeeded in reaching the shore in an exhausted condition.

An eleven-years-old girl at Clyde, Ohio, jumped the rope 101 times, and was buried two days thereafter.

A woman named Marietta Breguglia, living at Vineland, N. J., took out naturalization papers last week. This is said to be the first time in the history of the country that a woman has been naturalized.

John Quinn is under arrest for a felonious assault on a girl seven years old at North Attleboro', Mass., the evidence being conclusive against him. He has served seven years in State prison for a similar offense.

The owners of the fishing schooner Ida E. Baker, of Gloucester, Mass., have given her up, she not having been heard of since March 14th. She carried a crew of twelve men.

The libel suit Kelsey vs. the New Haven Union was not brought to trial till over five years after the action was commenced, though the paper was ready all the time; at last, when the plaintiff was ready to go before a jury, defendant's counsel, who had for years unavailingly sought to secure a trial of the case, was sick and unable to attend, but a continuance was refused and new counsel had to act for the defence. The Union very naturally thinks there is a screw loose in the administration of law in Connecticut.

New Hampshire Items.

The drive of logs which annually goes down then Merrimac to Lowell is passing Concord.

It is understood that the cases of the parties indicted under the liquor law in Concord will not be tried at the present special term of the supreme court. The cases have been settled or arrangements made for settlement.

In Brentwood, one day recently, three children named Marshall, aged respectively twelve, six and four years, killed twenty-six black snakes, and the youngest boy dragged home as a trophy of victory one of the reptiles which measured five and a half feet in length.

William F. Parker, alias "Fatty Parker," has been arrested at Nashua for burglary, much to the satisfaction of the Nashuans. He is an old thief.

Gerty Shanley, three years old, was burned to death in Manchester on the 21st inst. Her father is in New Zealand, and Mrs. Shanley went to Lawrence on the 20th to attend a funeral, leaving her four children alone in the house, the oldest being eleven years of age. The fire caught from a lamp. Loss to the building slight.

Quite a sensation has been created by the sudden departure from Lancaster of George H. Colby, late editor of the Fairfield, Me., Chronicle, with some $3000 claimed by his wife as belonging to her. Colby left his mother's residence in Lancaster, where he has been stopping with his wife, on the night of the 18th inst., and passed through Woodville next day by train en route for New York. He was followed by an officer, who he managed to elude, and took the Passumpsic rain south. His whereabouts have been ascertained, and his arrest is considered [illegible]rtain.

Wm. Allen, alias Storey, of St. Louis, [illegible]ed with Jennie Atchley, wife of a [illegible]ter of Batavia, Ohio, a few days [illegible], and was captured in Cincinnati [illegible]laced in jail at Batavia. Wednes[illegible]morning a mob entered the jail, [illegible]vey, placed a rope around his [illegible] him to one of the timbers [illegible] Little Miami river. Af[illegible]utes the rope broke. [illegible] river and succeeded in gaining the shore, when he was taken to a hotel, where he now lies in bed in a bruised condition.

Political.

The democratic city committee of Boston has organized by the choice of Thomas F. Doherty as president, John A. Finnegan and John F. Dever as secretaries, and Michael Doherty as treasurer,—all Frenchmen, we judge from their names.

Congress contains eighty-five members who fought against the flag, and sixty-three who fought for the Union. All of the ex-confederates are democrats, and all but nine of the Union veterans are republicans.

The trial of Congressman Noble A. Hull and Eugene Goulding, democrats, on the charge of conspiring to defraud voters in Brevard county in Florida last November, commenced on the 20th inst. before the United States court, and was expected to last a week. Hull is the man elected to Congress by the democratic reform House, after he was badly beaten at the polls; Goulding is the fellow Hull wrote to, when he found he was defeated, asking him to "furnish two hundred majority" in Brevard county, which Goulding did.

Representative Atkins, chairman of the House appropriation committee, expresses the opinion that an adjournment will be had between the 1st and 10th of June. He expects there will be a break in the democratic ranks as soon as the legislative bill is vetoed, and intimates that the regular appropriations bill will not be passed, but a joint resolution extending the appropriations for the present fiscal year for six months. In this event the contest for the repeal of election laws will be renewed next winter.

Ghosts.

Not Col. Ingersoll's "aristocracy of the air," but real human ghosts. Ghosts that were once healthy men and women, but are now simply the "ghosts of what they once were." As we meet them, and inquire the cause of all this change, they repeat the old, old story, "a cold," "neglected cough," "catarrh," "overwork," or "dyspepsia," "liver complaint," and "constipation," with unsuccessful physicians and remedies. In offering his Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets for the cure of the above affections, Dr. Pierce does not recommend them as a "sure cure" in all stages. For if the lungs be half wasted away, or there be a cancerous complication, no physician or medicine can cure. The Discovery is, however, an unequaled pectoral and blood-purifier. It speedily cures the most aggravated cough, or cold, and in its early or middle stages, consumption. By correcting all irregularities of the stomach and liver, it readily cures blotches, pimples, scrofulous ulcers, "bunches" or tumors. Hundreds testify that it has restored their health, after eminent physicians had failed. For constipation use the Pellets. As a local remedy for catarrh, use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

—"What we want now," commenced a confused and timid speaker at a meeting of a debating society, "is—is—not—not so much what we don't want as that which we most require." His hearers agreed with him.

DIED.

☞ Funeral of the late Samuel Gilman Folsom will take place at St. John's church this afternoon at three o'clock.

SANBORN. In this city, May 15th Mrs. Caroline J. Sanborn, aged 69 years, wife of Mr. Truman Sanborn.

AROUND HOME.

Mr. G. F. Mosher, of Dover, editor of the Morning Star, will with his wife soon sail from New York on a visit to Europe.

Black, Rooney & Ward's Minstrels will give a variety entertainment in the city hall at Dover this evening. They always give a good show—better than most travelling companies.

Bernard and Leonard Thornton, arrested for stealing hens and a horse's harness at Biddeford a few days since, settled the matter by the payment of $77.98. Pretty dear poultry.

A lady named Locke, belonging in Kittery, on Wednesday of this week lost her pocket-book, which contained $60. Fortunately it was found by Mr. Edward H. Hall, clerk in the Mechanics & Traders' bank, and restored to the owner.

Ten thousand land-locked salmon have been placed in Kennebunk pond in Lyman. This pond, Swan pond and Baker's pond, have been leased by the York County Game and Fish Protecting Society; the two latter-named ponds will be stocked with Oswego bass.

The officers of the 1st Reg't. N. H. National Guard will meet in this city to-day, holding their business meeting in the armory of the Portsmouth Cavalry. They will be entertained by the resident officers at the armory of the Heavy Artillery, where a collation will be provided.

Mr. John P. Cooper has a notice to pensioners in another column. Mr. Cooper has had large experience in the preparing of vouches and other matters connected with pensions, as very many pensioners know from personal experience; and all business entrusted to him will be promptly and intelligently attended to.

Jewell & Chase, a new coal and lumber dealing firm of Exeter, have recently bought 1000 tons of coal, to be transported up the river from this city. This may give the "gundalow" men a job; their trade has been light since the construction of the Portsmouth & Dover railroad and the blowing out of the Cocheco river's bottom.

Circulars have been received from the headquarters of the New Hampshire National Guard by the company commanders, informing them that all expenses (excepting for dinner, which will be furnished by the people of Concord) of the companies visiting Concord on inauguration day will have to be paid by the companies themselves.

Col. Charles W. Pickering of Greenland has in his possession a fine oil painting of Prof. Morse, the discoverer of the art of telegraphing. This valuable work is by Prof. Morse himself, who, at the time it was painted, was a pupil in London of the celebrated American artist, Benjamin West. It is said that Prof. Morse was seated between two mirrors, and in this position succeeded in accomplishing the feat of painting his own picture. Col. Pickering is a nephew of Prof. Morse and highly prizes this valuable heirloom.—Times.

The benefit concert given at Music hall by Mr. S. W. Cole's chorus class to their director, on the evening of the 21st inst., was a very enjoyable entertainment, and drew a very good audience, though not so large a one as we had anticipated from the attractions offered and the very reasonable price of tickets. The choruses by the class shew careful and intelligent training, and the soloists and the Music hall quartette, whose services were volunteered, gave an agreeable variety to the exercises. Miss Hanscom was, as usual, a careful and satisfactory accompanist.

BRILLIANT SUCCESS.

A well known young man of this city on a recent evening made a call upon a young lady of his acquaintance, having previously laid a plan to test the depth of her affection for him. In pursuance of this plan he put a revolver in his hip pocket, and in another pocket a toy pistol such as boys use to explode percussion caps on. On presenting himself before the young lady she observed a disconsolate look on his usually cheerful features and naturally enquired the cause, to which he replied that he had lost his job and did not know where to get another, was wretched generally, and had just as lief die as live. His lady friend sought to console him with womanly sympathy, but in vain; and after a time she started to cross the room for some purpose, when he took the revolver from his hip pocket, making sure that she saw him do it, clapped the revolver in the pocket with the toy pistol, and snapped the cap on the latter. The success of the experiment was complete beyond expectation; the young lady fell to the floor in a swoon, and the astounded youth, after for some time vainly endeavoring to revive her, on hearing footsteps approaching the room grabbed his hat and unceremoniously abandoned the house, leaving the lady still in the fainting fit which the carrying out of his shrewd plan had caused. We are informed that he has not been seen in that neighborhood since.

THE SOLARGRAPH WATCH.

We have received from the "Eastern Manufacturing Co., Rockland, Mass., "a postal card bearing the following generous offer:

Dear Sir: If you will publish the notice below two times as reading matter, we will send FREE a sample time-keeper, on receipt of marked copies of your paper.

The "notice below," at our usual advertising rates, would cost $13.75 for two insertions; and in consideration of our publishing it gratis, the "Eastern Manufacturing Co." will send us FREE (the small caps are not ours, but a true copy) an article which they advertise to send by mail for one dollar! This is generosity indeed, and would be very gratifying did we have any use for the article they wish advertised; but we haven't. The "notice below" is a lurid puff of "The Solargraph Watch, only $1, a perfect time-keeper, hunting-case, and heavy plated chain, latest styles," which they "warrant for five years to denote time as accurately as a $100 chronometer watch," and which also "contains a first-class compass, worth alone the price we charge for the time-keeper." We are further informed that "The Solargraph Watch is used by the principal of the Somerville high school, and is fast being introduced into all the schools throughout the United States," and that it "is put up in a neat outside case, and sent by mail to any address for $1." The "notice below" closes with the following appeal:

We have made the price so low, please send two stamps if convenient to help pay postage.

We won't; it isn't convenient. Besides, we have no use for the Solargraph Watch, and if we did have we wouldn't pay $13.75 for it. We own a very good watch now; that is, we believe it is a very good one. It looks very well, at all events, and as a time-keeper is perfectly satisfactory, for we never look at it to see what the time is; in fact, a watch without any "inwards" at all would be as serviceable to us as any other. The only thing which could induce us to procure a Solargraph Watch is the fact that the principal of the Somerville high school uses one; but then we have not the honor of his acquaintance, and are never likely to meet him unless he should go down river fishing on Sundays, in which case we should at once put him down as being an improper person, and decline to accept his guaranty for cat's meat. We charge the Eastern Manufacturing Co., of Rockland, Mass., nothing at all for the foregoing free puff; we do not even demand that they "send FREE a sample time-keeper" therefor. We believe in liberality, in business matters.

P. S. We wonder if the "Solargraph Watch" is identical with the Dollar Pocket Time-keeper shown us a year or so ago by an aggrieved school-boy, and which consisted of a cheap compass and card, with a brass pin to stick up in the middle and throw its shadow on marginal figures to tell the time—in short, a flimsy, worthless, pocket sun-dial? That "beautiful and correct scientific time-keeper" was "put up in a neat outside case" consisting of a paper pill-box, and its cost to manufacture was perhaps five cents, its value being nix. We wonder if it has had its name changed?

THE LEYDEN'S CRUISE.

The United States steam-tug Leyden left the navy yard at half-past ten o'clock Saturday morning, the 17th inst., under command of Lieut. Wm. H. Turner, with Mates Hugh Kuhl and John L. Vennard as assistants, Mr. Edwin C. Neilley being in charge of the engines. Her mission was to take some of the late crew of the U. S. S. Plymouth to Boston, and she picked her way up through the dense fog, arriving at seven o'clock in the evening. The Leyden arrived back at about half-past two o'clock on the afternoon of the 21st inst., having left Boston at seven o'clock in the morning.

The intention was to start from Boston on the morning of the 20th at four o'clock, and the fires were spread at the proper hour to get steam; but before the starting hour arrived one man was taken down with intestinal cramps, and shortly after others were similarly affected, until six men were ill, leaving the vessel without a proper working force and causing her detention a day. Mates Kuhl and Vennard and Mr. Charles Duncan were among those thus taken down, the latter being still so weak on the steamer's arrival that he had to be helped to his home in Kittery. Mr. Duncan's pain was so great when he was first taken as to necessitate the injection of morphine under the skin to alleviate it. The trouble was a kind of cholera morbus, brought on, it is asserted by some, by the crew's partaking of the mysterious compound sold in Boston as milk, which almost poisoned stomachs accustomed to the milk sold in this region, and which is produced by cows. Whatever the cause the sickness was tough while it lasted, and told severely on the men attacked by it, as their looks plainly showed when they arrived home.

SEVERITY IN SCHOOLS.

There seems to be a mania for crimes of the various sorts periodically. Taking up the newspapers for perusal one may read constant reports of inhumanity in the schools. Several deaths are reported in different sections of the Union from this cause, which are too lightly passed over.

A short time since a female teacher was discharged from the care of a school at Manchester for putting red pepper upon the tongue of one of her pupils; which she undertakes to defend however upon the ground that it is a most delectable punishment.

Education is the life of a republic, but it is not necessary that murders should occur to maintain it.

Knowledge and information are quite important in the preparation of a teacher; but that is not all. Patience, coolness of temper and a natural aptitude for teaching are quite essential in the profession.

More particularly so is this the case in the primary schools among the young children, with whom the first impressions are the most lasting.

These remarks are called forth by the coming home of a young boy of six years of age with a big welt caused by a rattan across his forehead, from the primary school, where also he had been previously denied the right of performing the common functions of life.

Too young people are appointed to such important positions.

Quere: is the present "Board of Instruction" at all an improvement on the old fashioned "District committees?"

VIATOR.

—Common metre—One that registers more gas than is consumed.

—It is easier for a needle to go through the eye of a rich man than for an editor to please everybody.

—"Mistakes in Courtship" is the subject of a lecture. One of the most common mistakes is to miscalculate how long the old gentleman will permit the gas to burn in the front parlor before getting up and looking for his heavy boots.

—A Scotch piper in full Highland costume has been wandering through the Pennsylvania coal regions playing his bagpipe and gathering in the pennies of the miners. The other day he blossomed into a full fledged detective, when he recognized an escaped murderer whom he had been hunting for, for two years. He arrested this man and took him to Scotland, where the murder was committed.

Protect the System from Malaria.

It is possible to do this even in regions of country where miasma is most rife, and where the periodic fevers which it causes assume their most formidable types. The immense popularity of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is very largely attributable to the fact of its efficacy as a remedy for chills and fever, bilious remittents, and as a preventive of the various forms of malarial disease. In those portions of the West and South where complaints of this nature prevail, and in the tropics, it is particularly esteemed for the protective influence which it exerts; and it has been very widely adopted as a substitute for the dangerous and comparatively ineffective alkaloid, sulphate of quinine. Physicians have not been among the last to concede its merits, and the emphatic professional indorsements which it has received have added to the reputation it has obtained at home and abroad.

Storer Encampment extends a cordial invitation to all Soldiers and Sailors of the late war living in this city and vicinity, and also to the sons of soldiers and sailors, to participate with them in the observances of Memorial Day.

PER ORDER.

That Cold of Yours may run into consumption if you don't take Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

That Hectic Flush Denotes Danger. Relieve yourself by using and at once too, Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

"Truth lies in a nut-shell," and "brevity is the soul of wit." To be brief, when the shell is broken, the truth will be discovered, that the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, New York, now kept on both plans, the American $2 50 or $3.00, and the European $1.00, and upwards, per day, gives more satisfaction for the same money, than any other first-class house in Gotham. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Grand Central.

In the cure of Consumption there is probably no known Medicine equal to the Syrup of Hypophosphites prepared by Mr. James I. Fellows, chemist, St. John, N. B. A number of cases have come under our notice the past year when the results which have followed its use have been astonishing. We write this unsolicitated by any one, and advise the afflicted to try it.

—Winans, the American millionaire, is building in the Clyde a big cigar ship at a cost of about £200,000. She will be of between 4000 and 5000 tons burden, and it is believed by her owner that she will be able to cross the Atlantic in five days.

—The Lowell Vox Populi says: "Coal barges are arriving at Lawrence, five a day, from tide-water; and the Lawrence folks are rolling about their streets like so many Jack tars, chewing rope-yarns and full of strange oaths, as they report another scow in the offing."

—The Paris correspondent of the New Orleans Picayune writes: "Did you know that Mme. Catacazy, wife of the Russian minister at Washington, expelled by Grant and Fish, is dead? I was rather surprised at its incidental mention in a newspaper the other day. Another fevered life ended! Who had thought so little heart could go with so much beauty."

—Mr. Labouchere says that when he was an attache at Washington an Englishman died in the State of New York, and it became a question whether the legation at Washington or the consulate at New York ought to bury him. So he, or rather it, passed its time journeying between the two cities. "I myself directed it," he says, "a dozen times to the consulate, 'This side up with care.' Whether this uneasy corpse is yet buried, or is still lurking in the luggage-vans of an American railroad company, I know not."

—An amusing anecdote of the late Asa Otis of New London, Conn., has just come to light. He was at one of the fish markets on the wharf, clad in his customary overalls, when the captain of a sinking vessel rushed ashore, and, seizing Mr. Otis by the shoulder, shouted: "Say, old man, quick! Do you want a job?" Mr. Otis looked at him a little surprised, and turned away, whereupon the persistent captain followed him up and again demanded: "Say, you, don't you want a job to pump out my vessel?" but Mr. Otis remained silent, at which the exasperated captain exclaimed: "Well, old chap, if you are too lazy to work, you will die in the poor house, surer than thunder." This quiet man in his overalls was then the owner of more than three million dollars.

District Court of the United States.

DISTRICT OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.
In Bankruptcy.

THIS is to give notice that a Petition has been presented to the Court, this 10th day of May, 1879, by JAMES P. PACKER, of Greenland, a Bankrupt, praying that he may be decreed to have a full discharge from all his debts provable under the Bankrupt Act, and upon reading said Petition, it is Ordered by the Court that a hearing be had upon the same on the 10th day of June, A. D. 1879, before the Court at the U. S. Court Room in Manchester in said District, at 10 o'clock A. M., and that notice thereof be published in the Chronicle, a newspaper printed in said District, once a week for three weeks; and that all creditors who have proved their debts, and other persons in interest may appear at said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said Petition shou l not be granted.

GAZETTE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by mail from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

CHARLES W. GARDNER.

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Blotches, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy foreboding, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from "Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative influence. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick, mucous, purulent, offensive, etc., etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, ears, nose, or obstructed nose, with passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, weakness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc., etc. A few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or otherwise applied by the use of DR. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, also to the membranes or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. CAPITAL $2,000,000. 200,000 SH RES.
PAR VALUE, $10 PER SHARE.
UNASSESSIBLE.
Daniel J. Splane, Pres. J. L. Thompson, Sec.

The property of this Company consists of twelve mines and mining locations, located in Lake County, Colorado, in the vicinity of Leadville, upon all of which extensive work has been done, in all cases exhibiting true fissure veins, good pay streak, and well defined lodes.

Three of the leading mines are well opened and and have at the lowest computation over TEN THOUSAND TONS OF ORE IN SIGHT; by May 1st, the Railroad now under construction will be within a short distance of this property.

The Company proposes to sell a portion of its stock at $1.50 per share for the purpose of more completely developing its mines, and for the erection of works for the treatment of its ores.

Applications for the stock may be made to the office of the Company, 61 Broadway, New York.

N. B.—The Mining Record, of New York, the highest mining authority in this country, says Feb. 1st, 1879: The principal owners in this company are hard working men who by their own labor have uncovered large bodies of ore which they now wish to extract and send to market; our readers will do well to make a venture with these worthy men, this money will probably be returned to them twenty fold. The business management has been placed in the care of Mr. J. L. Thompson, an officer of high standing; is one of the largest banks in the city. CATARRH

IS IT CURABLE?

THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease named by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anxiety. And well they may. For no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Beginning, Asthma, Coughs, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections, such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may be referred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

IT can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by the RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, putrid matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications; the secretion and inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membranous lininge of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the foul acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen,—My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, growing worse with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through my nostrils. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy for it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of LAWRENCE'S RADICAL CURE. My hearing is fully restored, I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the Cure on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact, every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the RADICAL CURE.

Very respectfully, C. H. LAWRENCE.

FITCHBURG, Oct. 14.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist.

I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the RADICAL CURE of me, and from time to time made my familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular. JAS. P. DERBY.

MILNE vs. MILNE.

In Boston on the 21st inst., before Judge Endicott of the supreme judicial court, sitting in chambers, the libel of Lizzie E. Milne of Boston, (formerly of Kittery,) who petitioned for a divorce from her husband, Andrew Milne, a boatswain in the United States navy, on the ground of extreme cruelty, cruel and abusive treatment, and for striking, beating, choking and bruising her, was considered. She offered verbal and written testimony in support of her plea, and her husband presented contradictory statements. After some hours had been consumed in taking evidence, arguments were made by counsel as follows:

Mr. Joseph H. Cotton, counsel for Mr. Milne, said that the testimony showed that he was a kind and loving husband, and that the wife had never made any complaint of ill-treatment to any of her friends, with the exception of her mother. The husband gave her half his pay and made ample provision for her while he was away. The last time she went away he sent her $40, and afterwards $80. All the complaint in her letters was in regard to money. In one letter she states that he had brought the trouble upon himself, and that she would not have applied for a divorce had he kept his solemn vow to supply her with money. Money, money was the cause of complaint, and the only cause. The wife had $620 from the 15th of July up to the time she filed her libel, and the husband only stopped his remittances because he wanted her to come back. It was not in keeping with cruel and abusive treatment for the wife to live in Mrs. Jenkins' house so long and not make any complaint. The wife's own language was that, when she left Mrs. Jenkins' house, she had no idea of a divorce. Negotiations for money then ensued, and, failing to get as much as she thought she ought to have, she instituted proceedings for a divorce. Counsel then referred to the mother-in-law's affectionate letter to her son-in-law, which had been read in court. It was the only case he had ever seen where the husband had had a quarrel with his wife but what the mother-in-law was not against the son-in-law. If at the time the wife left she had no idea of suing a divorce, then she had no cause for one, and nothing had arisen to justify one. Nothing but little family jars had been shown, and they of themselves were not sufficient grounds for a divorce. There was no great difference between the parties; the husband was willing to support his wife and child, and if they should live together they would undoubtedly thank the court and counsel for their efforts. The only fault the husband found with the wife was with her roamings, and his desire that she should give up all ideas of the stage, as "gleaned from yellow-covered literature."

Mr. James W. Keith, counsel for Mrs. Milne, said that in an experience of thirty years at the bar he had never seen such a case. This young girl, at the age of fifteen years, a fresh, open flower, as free from knowledge of guile as it was possible for a maiden to be, had married a man of twice her age, and placed herself under his guidance and control for better or worse. Why shouldn't the husband give the wife one-half of his earnings, and what had he done with the other half? Counsel then drew a graphic and painful picture of the ship-life of the wife, and portrayed with great pathos the marines tramping above her, and the ropes and spars crashing through the deck and falling thick and fast around and upon her. His refusal to allow his wife to go out one evening was worse than cruel and abusive treatment, when she had been taking care of the baby one sweltering day and wished to get a whiff of the cool breezes. Then he had met her on the street, choked her, torn her chain off and cursed her. She made no complaints to anybody but her mother, because she did not wish to ventilate her family troubles to the world. The letters to the wife had shown the husband to be of a brutal disposition beyond comparison, and the insult he threw at her concerning her virtue, and saying she had lost it before she was fifteen years old, was what had destroyed her peace of mind.

The case was then taken under advisement.

—A child in Calais, Maine, fell twenty feet into a dry dock the other day. No bones were broken, but the shock caused the young one to throw up large quantities of orange peel which it had eaten, and which the doctors say would have killed it.

—A beautiful custom prevails in many parts of Europe of planting a tree upon the birth of every child. It saves wear and tear of slippers.

Portsmouth Chronicle

SATURDAY, MAY 24, 1879.

News and Notes.

Edward Reardon, the boy who threw the stone which killed Hattie Goodspeed in Somerville, Mass., has been held in $1500 for the action of the grand jury. The evidence showed that Reardon and a lot of other young roughs were engaged in stoning a party of little girls, several of whom were struck and bruised before Hattie was knocked down and killed. Here is another excellent chance for some Massachusetts gush over a "poor child"—not the one killed, but the malicious little scoundrel who killed her.

An infant about ten days old was found dead in the woods in Malden, Mass., on the 17th inst., having evidently been choked into insensibility, thrown from a wagon over a fence, and left to perish. John M. Buzzell of North Saugus, who keeps a drinking place in Lynn, has been arrested as the murderer. The Lynn police say the mother of the child is a young woman named Hannah Carey, and that the evidence against Buzzell, who has been keeping company with her, is very strong.

A menagerie was burned at Detroit, Mich., on Thursday, and a performing elephant, five lions, a zebra, leopard, stag and many other valuable animals were cremated.

Acting State's Attorney Pickett of New Haven, Conn., says the Broham case, in which W. W. Broham is charged with trying to drown his brother Edward in the Sound, to obtain his property, has not been and will not be settled.

A. O. Simpson and Lawrence Hayes of Lowell drank oil of vitriol by mistake for cider. The former will probably die. Hayes did not swallow, but burned his mouth badly. Foster Perham, a bystander, got some of the vitriol in one eye, injuring it severely.

Rev. A. A. Rolf, a Methodist pastor of Michigan, prayed that the Almighty might palsy the hands of every man who went to the ballot-box to vote and did did not vote for prohibition, and to palsy every man's tongue who spoke against prohibition. Mr. Rolf is evidently a very intemperate man.

Great excitement prevails over the discovery of silver at Brownwood, Texas, one hundred and twenty miles southeast of Dallas. The assay of the ore proves the vein a rich one. Specimens of one hundred and twenty grains of ore contain seventy-five per cent of silver. A daily paper has been started, claims are being located, and hundreds of people are rushing there.

The Boston & Albany locomotive Arizona exploded in the West Springfield, Mass., yard, Thursday evening, probably caused by rust in the iron. The engineer and fireman were considerably but not seriously cut.

Peter Brown and Nelson Peterson, belonging to the fishing schooner Frederick Gerring, Jr., of Gloucester, arrived at Halifax, N. S., on the 21st inst., from St. Pierre. They were attending trawls on the St. Pierre bank, and lost their vessel in a fog. After being four days in a boat, without food or water, they were picked up by a French schooner and landed at St. Pierre. They have been reported as lost.

Lillie Duer, the young girl who shot her friend and companion, Ella Hearne, at Pocomoke City, Maryland, some months ago, has been indicted by the grand jury for murder in the first degree. The two girls were bosom friends and moved in the best society, neither of them being out of their teens. Miss Duer claims that the shooting was accidental, but the State expects to convince the jury that it was a deliberately-planned murder, caused by jealousy of Miss Hearne's superior beauty.

Patents Granted to New Hampshire Inventors,

May 20th; reported for this paper by Charles B. Fillden, patent attorney, No. 26 School street, Boston:

Henry H. Ham, Jr., Portsmouth, calculating attachment for weighing scales.

H. L. Orrman, Berlin Falls, apparatus for evaporating and calcining alkaline solutions.

J. F. C. Rider, assignor to H. A. Rider, South Newmarket, water pipe.

New Hampshire Items.

At a late hour Wednesday Conductor Salters of the Concord railroad, while running into Concord on the top of his freight train, was knocked off while passing through a bridge, and seriously injured.

George W. Worthen of Lebanon, a prominent merchant and one of the largest property owners in that town, was thrown from a carriage on Thursday, dislocating his shoulder, and it is feared by his physician he sustained internal injuries.

Francis A. Faulkner, of the law firm of Faulkner & Batchelder at Keene, died Thursday. He was a graduate of Harvard college, served several years in the New Hampshire legislature, also in the constitutional convention, was United States commissioner for New Hampshire, and president of the Cheshire provident institution for savings.

Naval Affairs.

The U. S. S. Jamestown sailed from San Francisco May 22d for Sitka, Alaska, to relieve the Alaska on that station.

Master Charles A. Foster is detached from the Canonicus and ordered to the Pensacola navy yard.

Political.

"Republicans wasting the time of the House in filibustering" is a headline in the Boston Post. The idea of anybody "wasting" the time of the present Congress is decidedly rich.

The silver men in the House are not at all satisfied with the way things are working in regard to the Warner silver bill, as enough democrats act with the republicans to bother the inflationists on every move they make. It is certain that no bill to compel the United States to purchase silver of speculators at the rate of a dollar for every 84 1-2 cents' worth can become a law this session, for should such a bill manage to get through the House and Senate the President would sit on it.

It would do the south but little more harm to insist upon a southern man being chosen our next President than it would for her congressmen to refuse the necessary supplies to the government because the President exercises a clearly constitutional right.—Vicksburg Herald (dem.)

The School-Boys on Tyler.

A correspondent of the Louisville Courier-Journal relates that when John Tyler was President the whig party was displeased with him, and said many grievous things to his disadvantage. The President took a trip, and made a short stay at a small country village. The school teacher of the district school invited him to witness the culture which she imparted to her pupils. She drew them up in line and propounded the following questions:

"Who was the first President?"

"George Washington?" the boys sang out in chorus.

"Was he a good man?"

"He was!" the boys emphatically replied.

"Who was the second President?"

"John Adams."

"Was he a good man?"

"He was."

So she kept on through the list until she got to Tyler. Then asked:

"Who is the present President?"

"John Tyler."

"Is he a good man!"

"We are commanded by the Scriptures not to speak evil of our rulers," rolled out the little band of politicians.

—"Prisoner, why did you follow this man and beat and kick him so shamefully?" "I am sorry, your Honor; I was a little drunk, and I thought it was my wife."

—The Hartford Courant mentions the preparation of a game of "Scripture characters" by the widow of Dr. Gale. After describing where "the fun" comes in, the Courant says: "The game has the double purpose of keeping restless children in proper limits on Sundays and increasing the study of the Scriptures."

Protect the System from Malaria.

It is possible to do this even in regions of country where miasma is most rife, and where the periodic fevers which it causes assume their most formidable types. The immense popularity of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is very largely attributable to the fact of its efficacy as a remedy for chills and fever, bilious remittents, and as a preventive of the various forms of malarial disease. In those portions of the West and South where complaints of this nature prevail, and in the tropics, it is particularly esteemed for the protective influence which it exerts; and it has been very widely adopted as a substitute for the dangerous and comparatively ineffective alkaloid, sulphate of quinine. Physicians have not been among the last to concede its merits, and the emphatic professional indorsements which it has received have added to the reputation it has obtained at home and abroad.

Storer Encampment extends a cordial invitation to all Soldiers and Sailors of the late war living in this city and vicinity, and also to the sons of soldiers and sailors, to participate with them in the observances of Memorial Day.

PER ORDER.

That Cold of Yours may run into consumption if you don't take Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

That Hectic Flush Denotes Danger. Relieve yourself by using and at once too, Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

"Truth lies in a nut-shell," and "brevity is the soul of wit." To be brief, when the shell is broken, the truth will be discovered, that the Grand Central Hotel, on Broadway, New York, now kept on both plans, the American $2.50 or $3.00, and the European $1.00, and upwards, per day, gives more satisfaction for the same money, than any other first-class house in Gotham. An elegant Restaurant, at moderate prices, is conducted by the Grand Central.

In the cure of Consumption there is probably no known Medicine equal to the Syrup of Hypophosphites prepared by Mr. Jacob L. Fellows, chemist, St. John, N. B. A number of cases have come under our notice the past year when the results which have followed its use have been astonishing. We write this unsolicited by any one, and advise the afflicted to try it.

EDITOR "COLONIAL FARMER."

Lungs cannot be made but can be saved by the use of Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup if taken in time.

BANISH THE HEADACHE by going to the headquarters for the cure of by rum in Boston at C. H. Barrett & Co.'s, 45 North Market Street.

Great Joy over the fact that your cough can be thoroughly cured by Dr. A. J. Flagg's Cough and Lung Syrup.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. AROUND HOME.

Juvenile temperance service this afternoon at three o'clock, at the new mission hall; address by a friend of the children.

It is stated that the schooner Christie Campbell, of Gloucester, of 53.25 tons register, has been sold to parties in this city.

Sheriff Kent has appointed Thornton B. Hoyt jailor at Exeter, in place of James W. Odlin, now holding that position, and whose term expires June 1st.

Messrs. Booth and Smith the gospel temperance evangelists, received $100 in money, and the payment of their board bill of $35, for their week's labor in Dover.

Wilbur I. Trafton, who is agent for the Bell telephone in this city, has completed a line leading from his shop on Daniel street to his residence on Middle street, and it works first-rate.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wilde, administratrix of the estate of John Wilde, who was killed by a runaway horse in Biddeford last winter, has accepted the sum of $400 in full settlement of all claims against the city for the accident.

The report of the treasurer of Rockingham county shows that the county debt on the 1st day of May was $109,367.95, a decrease since the last report of $12,721.32. The county tax last year was $84,000; the amount appropriated for the current year is $81,500.

Senator Rollins has presented in the proper quarter the petition of David Wingate of Roebester, for compensation for several years during which he was a prisoner in Dartmoor, Eng., during the war of 1812, he having been impressed in 1811, and having refused to fight against his native land.

A man at Rye beach has carried a potato in his pocket for five years to keep off rheumatism. He must have a powerful imagination, or else that must be a powerful potato; or possibly the Rye beach variety of rheumatism may be of a very inferior sort. We wouldn't give shucks for rheumatism that can be kept off by a potato pocket-piece.

John A. Emerson of Dover was seriously injured on the 21st inst. by the accidental explosion of a blast, his face, arms and the upper part of his body being shockingly burned and scarred with gravel; his eyes were badly hurt, but his physician has hope of saving his sight. The charge was an old one which had been in place several days, and was supposed to be harmless on account of moisture.

The Rye correspondent of the Exeter News-Letter writes: "William C. Walker, known as 'Nat,' the able and popular correspondent of the Portsmouth CHRONICLE, from this town, has gone to reside in Andover, Mass. Mr. Walker is a gentleman, a genial writer, and takes an active interest in church, school and town affairs. He leaves numerous friends here." Just so; the number of Mr. Walker's friends, wherever he may be, is exactly equalled by the number of persons who knew him.

The Maine supreme judicial court for York county opened at Alfred on the 19th inst. In the list of grand jurors are the names of Warrington Paul of Kittery, Samuel Clark of Eliot, Humphrey C. Weymouth of North Berwick, David Chick of Wells, Isaac Varney of Kennebunk, and Horace Smith of Kennebunkport. As traverse jurors or supernumeraries, Cyrus Fernald, Albert S. Wilson, Kittery; Augustus T. Shapleigh, Eliot; Alvah Trafton, York; Joshua Blaisdell, Philander H. Fall, South Berwick; James Clark, Berwick; George H. Wentworth, North Berwick; Ambrose M. Littlefield, Benjamin H. Jones, Kennebunk; Alexander Maxwell, Wells; Albert Perkins, John L. Stone, Kennebunkport.

Foul play having been suspected in the case of Charles H. Thompson, formerly of Dover, who on or about April 26th was picked up alongside the Boston & Maine track at Wilson's crossing, near Derry depot, and who died shortly after, the case was submitted by County Solicitor Harriman to Sheriff Kent for investigation. The result showed conclusively that Thompson died from excessive drinking and persistent exposure night and day to the severe storms of winter, whereby his limbs were badly frozen, peremptorily refusing to take food, and carelessness generally.

Two dogs, supposed to be suffering from hydrophobia, have recently been killed in Exeter.

The staff appointed for Memorial day by Chief Marshal S. C. Whittier will have a meeting at his office next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock.

The Rockingham county farm expenses for the year ending May 1st, were $26,430; Portsmouth jail expenses, $3575; Exeter jail expenses, $1647.

First Lieut. Fred L. Dodge, of the 23d U. S. Infantry, is detached from duty with Co. I and ordered to report to the governor of the military prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

John H. Bailey is selling, at his hardware store, No. 16 Market street, Salem white lead, warranted pure, at seven cents per pound, or $6.55 per hundred for five hundred pound lots.

Patrick Collins attempted to swim across the river at Salmon Falls on Friday, to escape the police, who had a warrant for his arrest. When two-thirds across he sank, and was drowned, the body being recovered a few hours later.

Mr. John L. Amazeen has returned to this city from Florida, where he has been engaged during the season just ended in running a steamboat. He will we understand again take charge of the landing stage at Star island, Isles of Shoals, which position he filled last season so acceptably to his employers and their guests. Isn't he black, though!

It is generally understood that many of our business men favor the request of Gov. Prescott to close the stores on the afternoon of Memorial day, and as it is generally done in other places we hope that our city will not be behind the rest in paying tribute to the memory of the noble dead who died in defence of their country. All State offices are ordered closed on that day.

Burglars entered the house of Joseph G. Decring, in Saco, some time during the night of the 20th inst., and stole silver spoons, knives, etc., to the value of about $100; they also stole Mr. Deering's pocket-book from the pocket of his pants, by his bedside, but got only $3.50 in money. The thieves were apparently well posted as to the value of table ware, for a service of Gorham plate—the best plated goods in the market—was not disturbed. It is supposed the job was done by tramps, who secreted themselves in the house at an early hour in the evening, and after the occupants were asleep made the grand rounds. Half-burned matches were found scattered in various rooms, and the thieves helped themselves to a lunch from the pantry.

AMERICAN LEGION OF HONOR.

Another secret organization was added to the generous supply already existing in this city on Friday evening, when a number of gentlemen met in Dr. S. C. Whittier's office and formed a subordinate council of the American Legion of Honor, with officers as follows:

Samuel C. Whittier, Past Commander;
Edwin A. Tilton, Commander;
William P. Walker, Vice Commander;
Oliver M. Knight, Orator;
J. R. Curtis, Secretary;
A. C. Hoyt, Collector;
Samuel Barrett, Treasurer;
Charles A. Holbrook, Chaplain;
D. J. Spinney, Guide;
J. F. Berry, Warden;
Charles P. Abbott, Sentinel;
S. C. Whittier, Medical Examiner.

This organization is designed to secure to its members a life insurance of from $500 up to $5000, according to the number of degrees the member has taken—there being six degrees—at the lowest possible rate of premium; to establish a fund for the aid of sick and distressed members; and for social intercourse.

THE CITY VALUATION.

The assessors have completed the valuation of the city for 1879, and made returns to the State board of equalization, of which the following is an abstract. It will be seen that there is an increase of $85,118. A shrinkage in shipping of over $100,000, has largely offset a very considerable increase in money, bonds, etc.

	Value.
2205 polls
619 horses	$34,242
534 cows	19,905
56 oxen	4,145

Against a valuation in 1878 of	6,383,486
Increase	$85,118

City Solicitor Foster, with Messrs. Nathan F. Mathes and Henry F. Wendell, on Friday went to Concord to look after the city's interests in regard to its valuation for the purposes of taxation, and to make such representations to the State board of equalization as may be proper and necessary in the premises. Two years ago a million and a half dollars were added to the assessors' valuation of the city by the board of equalization, increasing the city's proportion of the State tax to a large amount, and it is claimed to a larger amount than was just; and it is reported that the board now propose to equalize some more, by still further increasing the taxable valuation of the city. It was to remonstrate against such action, and to present arguments showing why it should not be done, that the gentlemen named appeared before the board.

THE APPROPRIATIONS.

The changes by the board of aldermen, Thursday evening, in the appropriation bill as received from the common council, were as follows:

The appropriations for streets were raised from $6500 to $7925; for street lights, from $2300 to $2400; for repairs and rents of school-houses, from $1500 to $2500; for sewers, from $1600 to $2500; repairs of almshouse, from $50 to $100; contingent fund, from $500 to $4000; discount on taxes, from $6500 to $6600; for new hose, from $1000 to $1184.43—the hose having already been purchased at that price; total increase, $6259.43.

Reduction was made in the following items: For repairs of bridges, from $250 to $100; schools, in addition to literary fund, from $21,500 to $20,000; total reduction, $1650—making the net increase in the appropriations $4609.43, of which increase $3500 is in the appropriation for contingencies.

A SAD CASE.

Charles Goodwin, who has been for some time laboring under mental aberration induced by religious excitement, was on Friday morning taken to the insane asylum at Concord by Officer White. Fears have been entertained that Mr. Goodwin might during one of his periods of hallucination commit some act of violence to himself or some member of his family, as he has declared that the Lord had made known to him that it was his duty to sacrifice his two children; and to prevent his carrying this or any other horrible fancy into effect, the city authorities deemed it necessary to place him under proper restraint. Mr. Goodwin, until his mind unhappily became so unsettled, had always maintained the reputation of being a good citizen and neighbor, a kind and considerate husband and father, and a very quiet, worthy and respectable man. It is quite possible that his mania was led into the channel it has lately taken by his reading the accounts of the doings of Freeman, the Pocasset maniac. It is a sad case indeed, though we understand that there is considerable ground for hope that skillful treatment at the asylum will restore him to his family and society.

There are now in the asylum from this city two persons whose minds have been thrown off their balance by undue excitement regarding religion, the other being a young lady who graduated last year from the high school with the highest honors, and who was taken to the asylum some weeks ago, her mania being of a violent type.

LANGDON PARK.

Of about 600 trees set in this beautiful little inclosure three years ago, by the live citizens generally, more than 400 are now alive and growing well, though many others have died and been replaced—among these, twenty-five sweet chestnuts, each, last year and this, by the trustees of the park. There are also thirty large old elms and willows. Mr Clarke, of the high school, determined to have his institution represented there, has just re-set his tree, this time an elm. The maples have lived here even better than the elms. The park is coming to be very beautiful, and much frequented, and the trustees could expend a few hundred dollars to good advantage, if contributed by appreciative citizens. Mr. H. M. Clark is treasurer.—Weekly.

We took our first stroll in the park one day this week, and were surprised and pleased to find it such a pretty place, and so capable of being developed in its beauty; once it is made easy of access from the centre of the city, we have no doubt it will be well peopled during the warm season with health and pleasure seekers. It should be—and at some time will be—much larger; but even as it is it will prove of value in a sanitary and we believe in a moral point of view, in giving the people, and especially the young, a beautiful place to which they have a right to go, and will have an inclination to go as soon as the way is made easy.
